SOCIETY NOTES

A birthday anniversary could scarcely be kept with a more appropriate and memorable observance than that which graced the 22d birthday of Miss Katherine Ayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ayer, of "Avalon," Pride's Crossing, last Tuesday morning. Without Miss Katherine getting a hint of what was going on, Mrs. Ayer arranged to have the Salem Cadet band in the garden at "Avalon," under the window of Miss Katherine's room. When all was ready, the band began playing, very subdued and gently at first, that beautiful old air of Irish devotion, "Kathleen Mavoureen." It was the strains of this love-melody that woke Miss Katherine from her dreams. Thinking it strange that such music should be heard about the place at that early hour, the young lady hastened to the window—when she was greeted by the glad voices and smiles of about forty of her young friends who had come along with the band. At first she was quite overcome by the sentiment expressed, but she quickly recovered herself and, dressing hastily, went down to meet her guests. The entire company, band and all, came in to breakfast, as a special birthday feast had been prepared. After breakfast, the morning passed very happily with music and dancing and Mrs. Ayer had luncheon served to the merry party about one-thirty.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Vaughan (Miss Loring), whose wedding took place at Pride's Crossing in July, sailed last week to continue their honeymoon trip. They had visited Mrs. Vaughn's parents, the Augustus P. Loring at Pride's previous to sailing. They will be abroad six weeks, during which time they will travel through a part of Scotland and Europe. They will make their home at Beverly Farms this winter, joining the increasing colony of young married people who are making year-round homes in that section of the shore.

The Francis W. Fabyans returned Tuesday from their bungalow at Buzzards Bay, which they keep open all winter and where they go for week-ends very frequently. The house at West Manchester will be kept open until mid-October.

Gordon C. Prince and his friend Leon Little of Newburyport are expected back from a two weeks' cruise along the coast to Jonesport, Me., the first of next week. They made the trip in Mr. Prince's 28-foot yacht, as is the young man's custom of spending his vacation for the past two or three years. Mr. Little and Mr. Prince were both of the Class of '10 Harvard. Mr. Prince's mother, Mrs. Gordon Prince is spending the summer at her large summer cottage at West Manchester and expects to remain on the Shore well along in the fall.

Lieut. and Mrs. George Patten returned from their European trip last week and are with Mrs. Patten's family, the Frederick Ayers, at "Avalon," Pride's Crossing, to remain throughout September.

SOCIETY NOTES

Gordon Auchinclos, whose marriage to Miss Janet House takes place at Beverly Farms Sept. 14, will have as his best man his brother, Reginald Auchinclos, and his ushers will include Walter G. Davis, Jr., Raymond Ives, J. W. W. Struthers, all of New York, and Randolph Tucker of Brookline, whose wife is Miss House's sister. Mr. Auchinclos will give his bachelor dinner on the evening of Sept. 12 at the Essex County club in Manchester.

Mrs. William F. Draper plans to go to Hopedale, Sept. 20, for the unveiling of the monument she has had erected to the memory of her late husband, Gen. Draper, which is to be presented on Sept. 25. This will be a general holiday in the town. She will go from there to New York.

The dancing party which Mrs. Geo. von L. Meyer of Rock Maple farm was to give at Hamilton Town hall last Monday evening, for the younger set, was postponed on account of the death of Dr. Charles T. Parker at Wenham.

The C. Howard Clarks are expected back to West Manchester the last of this week after a trip to Bar Harbor. Mr. Clark and his son-in-law, John P. Hollingsworth made the trip in the Savarona, the Clark yacht, and Mrs. Clark and daughter, Mrs. Hollingsworth motored as far as Rockport, Me., where the yacht met them and from there the party went on to Northeast Harbor and Bar Harbor.

Mrs. W. Scott Fitz left Manchester this week to spend the autumn at her mountain camp, at Jackson, N. H., where her sister-in-law, Mrs. Edward Wigglesworth has been spending the entire summer. Her cottage at Manchester, "The Narrows" will be closed, as Mrs. Fitz will go direct from the mountains to her Boston residence. Her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Holmes sailed recently for a short vacation in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson Taintor left Manchester the first of this week, where they have been spending the summer with Mrs. Taintor's mother, Mrs. Charles P. Hemenway, for their country cottage at Topsfield. They will spend the early autumn there, as they did the early summer, and will return to Boston about the middle of October.

Edward S. Grew of the West Manchester colony has gone to the Berkshires to spend a month amid the environs of that delightful hilly country. He is registered at the Curtis in Lenox. Mrs. Grew will join him there a little later, after closing "All Oaks." Randolph Grew their son, has been spending the summer with them at West Manchester. Their son, Joseph Clark Grew, first secretary of the American embassy at Vienna, and his family, did not come over this summer.

OCEANSIDE HOTEL, MAGNOLIA

Labor Day is usually the end of the season at most of New England's seashore hotels but, so far as appearances go, it is only the beginning at The Oceanside, Magnolia. The large number of August guests that always depart on September 1 have gone, either to their homes or the mountains, but the house-count shows that there are still more than 500 guests at Magnolia's big hotel and more than half of these have made reservations until the close of the season. This is only one of the facts that have made this season the greatest and most successful in the 32 years of the Oceanside's existence.

Added to the guests for the month, there are many more transients so that the hotel is very nearly filled. This is the best season of the year for touring New England with a motor-car and the touring parties that stop at the Oceanside are many and from a hundred different points. Cars from most every state this side of the Mississippi River can be found in the big garages connected with The Oceanside and, here and there, one will be found from some state far beyond. In most cases the entire journey to Magnolia has been made overland and, after Magnolia, the course is on up the coast to the White Mountains.

Among the motoring parties at the hotel early in the week was one made up of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Smith and their daughter, Miss Judith, of Chillicothe, O. They came all the way from their western home in their fine big Peerless, visiting at Buffalo, Rochester and Albany on the way. They are bound for the Bretton Woods. They stayed at The Oceanside three days.

John Davidson of Elizabeth, N. J., is making his second visit to The Oceanside this season. He came on early in July, then, after a few weeks at the shore, went on to the White Mountains, visiting at Bretton Woods, Poland Springs and other places. He will be at The Oceanside until the season closes.

Mrs. C. F. Murray of Cleveland, O., a guest of several weeks at The Oceanside, is entertaining Mrs. H. B. Judson of Troy, N. Y.

Walter H. Fell of Trenton, N. J., is spending a week at The Oceanside.

Among the "up-state" New Yorkers who come to The Oceanside every summer are Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Tower of Troy. They are now at the big hotel for their third visit this season. They will remain through the month.

Professor A. J. DuBois of the Sheffield Scientific School, at Yale, and Mrs. DuBois are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ives of Bridgeport, Ct. The DuBois' have been at the Oceanside since the season opened.

Miss Isa E. Gray of Boston is spending several days at The Oceanside.

Miss E. R. Rice of New York City, Miss Ella Meday of Buffalo and Miss E. W. Prince of Philadelphia make up a trio of long-time friends who have come on to The Oceanside to spend a fortnight together at the sea-shore.

General and Mrs. George A. Garrettson of Cleveland have been coming to The Oceanside for more than a decade. This year they are here to spend the month of September. With them is their charming young daughter, Miss Margaret, and son, Master Hardin.

W. L. Hearn of Kansas City has come on from the West to spend the remainder of the season with his mother, Mrs. Frank J. Hearn, who has been at The Oceanside since early in the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Almore L. Baggett and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Talbot, of New York City, are motoring through the mountains of New England. Early in the week they stopped over for two days at The Oceanside. From Magnolia they go north along the shore to Bangor, Me., when they strike inland and visit all the resorts in the White Mountains. Then they will cross over into Vermont, following the western route of the Ideal Tour to New York City.

Gail Thompson of Chicago, who has been at The Oceanside for several weeks, is entertaining his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Percival Thompson of Coronado, Cal. for a few weeks at the big hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Woolston of Philadelphia, spent several days at The Oceanside late last week on their way to the mountains. They are making the trip in a touring car.

Mrs. Frederick L. Bailey of Ardmore, Pa., and her daughter, Miss Edith, are among the late arrivals at The Oceanside and will remain until the big hotel closes.

One of the many motoring parties to stop over the week-end at The Oceanside was that made up of Mr. and Mrs. A. Wesley Stetson and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hamilton of Brockton. They started away early Monday morning for the White Mountains and the sea-shore places in Maine.

General and Mrs. George L. Andrews of Washington have been at The Oceanside since its opening day. They are among the jolly company of elderly Washington folks who have been coming to the Oceanside for fifteen years and more. They come early and stay late and make a large number of friends during the season. Miss K. L. Andrews, their daughter, joined them this week and will stay with them until the hotel closes and they return to the capital.

E. B. Bacon of Louisville, Ky, who has been at The Oceanside for a month or more, entertained Russell C. Weit of New York City, a long-time friend, over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Elliott, Mrs. John Elliott and Miss Mary Elliott of Scranton, Pa., are touring New England in a big motor-car and spent a few days early in the week at The Oceanside.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brainard and Mrs. Brainard's brother, William W. Heaton of New York City, spent the week-end at The Oceanside. Early in the week they left for the Maine resorts.

Mrs. Hugo Scherer of Detroit, Mich., who has been a guest at The Oceanside for several weeks, is entertaining her brother, Edward J. Smith for a fortnight.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Kountze of New York City and their son, Leslie, accompanied by a governess and maid, spent the week-end at The Oceanside on their way to the White Mountains. Mr. Kountze is the head of the firm of Kountze Brothers, one of the largest international banking houses in the world. "Orchard Hill Farm," the summer-place of Mr. and Mrs. Kountze at Katonah, N. Y., is one of the show places of that part of the country.

One of the long-time guests of the Oceanside to return for her annual visit is Mrs. A. D. Deming of Chicago. Mrs. Deming and her beautiful young daughter, Miss Adele, arrived Saturday in time to dance at the mid-summer's ball and to participate in a little entertainment following the ball. They will remain until the hotel closes.

The death of one of Manchester's oldest summer residents took place Sunday morning when Mrs. Louise W. Rogers passed away at her summer home at Smith's Point. Mrs. Rogers was the widow of the late Major Charles O. Rogers, at one time owner of the Boston Journal. She was born ninety years ago, June 21, at Portland, Maine, the daughter of Deacon William Coe. Mrs. Rogers is survived by a son, Thomas O. Rogers, and two daughters, Mrs. F. M. Stanwood and Mrs. F. Blackwood Fay, both well known summer residents at Manchester-by-the-Sea. Funeral services were held at noon Tuesday.

The Masconomo at Manchester closed this morning after the most successful season it has had for years. The spacious hotel has been wonderfully improved, not only about the house itself, but about the grounds and gardens. There is every indication that next summer will be even busier than this, for every one of the cosmopolitan crowd which has gathered here during the entire season has been most favorably impressed with the house. The attractions of the Masconomo are such as cannot fail to recommend themselves to the lovers of beauty and of sea-shore life. The house is situated very near the sea; in fact, its lawns reach to the edge of Singing Beach. Broad verandas make the house pleasant and tennis courts, a fine pool room and nicely kept, spacious grounds add much to the enjoyments of the place. For years the place was neglected, but under the new management (Messrs. Ripley & McPeck) everything is done to make the Masconomo what it was in the old days—one of the finest hotels along the Shore. During the last week most of the guests have been transients owing to the preparations which were being made for the closing of the house. Among them have been: Miss May O'Connell of Brookline; Mrs. A. Goodrich and Miss Constance Goodrich of Boston; Norman I. Elsas of Atlanta; Miss Victoria and Miss Alexandra Robertson of St. Paul; H. A. Wetherbee of Mamaroneck, N. Y.; Christopher J. Galvin of Brookline; W. H. Conant of Boston and Miss Crane of Oklahoma City. G. A. Sullivan of Salem joined his people, who have had one of the Masconomo cottages all the season, and remained here with them until the close of the house.

WEEKLY MARKET LETTER

W. C. LANGLEY & CO.

53 State Street

BOSTON

THE OCEANSIDE HOTEL, MAGNOLIA

Members of the New York and Boston Stock Exchange

The bank statement last Saturday showing a very small excess reserve at a time of year when money for crop-moving is becoming necessary cast a temporary chill over the market. The bears tried to make use of this as an argument for lower prices but with very little success. They were able to depress the market but failed to bring out stock on which to cover their contracts. It is becoming increasingly evident that real owners of stocks refuse to be scared by any political news or by prospects of high money. Probably the fact that scarcity of money is not due to over-speculation but is merely a proof of unusual business activity and prosperity has much to do with their attitude. All lines of husbandry and industry are making wonderful showings and the tide is not yet at its highest. Orders already booked by the mills of this country are sufficient to keep them running full for five months and new business is coming in in increasing volume in spite of the higher prices forced by the competing demand for early deliveries.

In the face of such conditions no wonder political conditions are ignored. Politicians as a rule are not men who would cut their own throats for the sake of an opinion. They advocate the policies that will get the votes and in view of present prosperity would hesitate to actually jeopardize it by destructive legislation. They preach high-sounding nostrums but actually do very little, for the cry that a politician fears most is the cry of the empty dinner-pail.

Even Wilson does not expect to see complete free trade during the present generation and advocates cutting the dog's tail off by inches. So why worry about tariff reductions which at the worst can only begin to be operative in two years.

The activity in the copper stocks continues with New York much more enthusiastic than Boston. In fact the local market lacking leadership is merely following New York. It is a new experience for Boston not to be the whole show in a copper boom, but the large investments in the porphyries and the listing of many issues in New York has shifted the market away from Boston and local interests and trades are only just beginning to realize this. Up to now they have been sceptical of the movement in coppers because it did not originate according to precedent in the time-hallowed halls of the Boston Stock Exchange. Increased dividends are beginning to show that estimated earnings are not mere stage money and a buying movement is beginning to develop. So far coppers have not discounted 15 cent metal but we are confident they will very shortly do so.

Joseph L. Nelson, room-clerk at The Oceanside Hotel, Magnolia, New England's largest summer hostelry, was one of the guests of honor at the meeting of Tyrean Blue Lodge, A. F. & A. M. of Gloucester, Tuesday evening. A special entertainment, followed by a banquet, had been arranged and, before the evening was over, three candidates had been initiated into the third degree. Tyrean Lodge is one of the oldest in this country. Paul Revere was one of its charter members and Col. Joseph Warren, who fell at Bunker Hill was its first master.

Gnat Wins Again

Six boats were out Saturday for the race of the Manchester Yacht club one-design class. The Kiowa got the best of the start, the order being Minx, Gnat, Bluegrass, Clarise and Shad. It was a beat out to weather mark and the boats split tacks, the Minx, Kiowa and Bluegrass going over on the Baker's Island tack and the others taking a long seaward tack. The Gnat gradually worked up to first place and finished with a lead of almost two minutes on the Minx. The summary:

| Boat and Owner | El time |
|----------------------------|---------|
| Gnat, O. Ames | 1:52:06 |
| Minx, H. S. Grew | 1:53:58 |
| Kiowa II, J. Jeffreys | 1:55:04 |

"The Quaker Girl" at the Colonial

Fresh from its all year run in New York, "The Quaker Girl," daintiest of musical comedies, has settled down for a long stay at the Colonial Theatre, Boston, and has taken the city by storm with its lilting melodies and fresh untainted comedy. Headed by Ina Claire and Percival Knight the big organization of 100 singers opened the Colonial's season Labor Day evening and was welcomed by an audience which packed the theatre and since then there has not been a single performance that has not been sold out. All Boston is whistling and humming the catchy, dreamy "Come To The Ball" waltz and is enthusing over the fresh beauty of Ina Claire The Quaker Girl who was last season's "find" in musical comedy and is conceded to be the legitimate successor to Edna May, having all the demure charm and elflike grace of that famous artist. Seldom have the Boston critics been so unanimous in their praise of a musical play and the fact that seats are already on sale for the next eight weeks and going fast insures a long and successful engagement for the newest musical comedy triumph.

HELENE AMES MAKES A HIT

Her Dramatic Recital at the Oceanside Hotel Very Largely Attended

HELENE AMES
The Dramatic Reader

Helene Ames' dramatic recital at The Oceanside, New England's largest summer hotel, last Friday evening, was the most clever and artistic bit of entertainment done at Magnolia this summer. Miss Ames is not a mere reader—she is a teacher and a strong one. Behind every one of her numbers, there is some principle or problem of life, and she reveals and expounds it with consummate art. Her efforts were rewarded by the attendance of more than 200 of the Oceanside's guests and cottagers, who applauded her warmly.

Miss Ames first read several charming little story-poems in French-Canadian dialect. One would think she had spent a part of her life in quaint, old Quebec, so startlingly real are her characterizations of its quaint, old folk. These went very well with her audience and brought a very responsive applause. Then Miss Ames read Bernard Shaw's "How He Lied to Her Husband," a piece which afforded her opportunity to show her art and the wonderful power of imitation which her long training has given her. Another number was Fenn-Pryce's "'Op-o-Me-Thumb," a one-act play which Maude Adams often uses with splendid effect as a curtain-raiser. The mingled humor and pathos of the piece appeal to every heart that's human and, in this number, Miss Ames made her deepest impression. She is a reader of exceptional sincerity and is at her best in pieces which give outlet to her earnestness.

Miss Ames comes from Chicago, where she read very extensively at last winter's affairs of the fashionable Chicago smart-set. This winter she will have a studio in Boston.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Washington B. Thomas with their daughter, Miss Margaret, have forsaken the charms of "Netherfield," their attractive home at Pride's Crossing, for an extended trip abroad. They sailed Wednesday from New York on the "George Washington." After leaving France, they will go directly to Switzerland to enjoy the season in the mountains, and then some time will be spent travelling on the Continent and on to India. Finally after visiting Japan as an end of the tour, they will return to the United States by way of the Pacific. The trip will last during the winter months into the middle of May.

◆ ❖ ◆

Dr. Franklin Dexter and his daughter, Miss Harriet, of the Pride's colony, sailed from New York Saturday for a short trip abroad.

William M. Wood, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Madison Wood of Boston and Pride's, has recently returned from an extended trip abroad. He sailed during the early part of the summer.

◆ ❖ ◆

Mrs. Levi Z. Leiter of Washington and Beverly Farms, sailed Tuesday on the Franconia for England, where she will be the guest of her daughter, the Countess of Suffolk.

Miss Hope Malcolm has as her guest at the home of her mother, Mrs. George J. Malcolm, at Beverly Farms, a charming Newport girl, Miss M. Seigfried. Miss Seigfried has many friends among the younger set at the Farms and will be much entertained while here.

◆ ❖ ◆

H. V. Morgan of Philadelphia has concluded a visit with the Sidney E. Hutchinsons at Beverly Farms.

◆ ❖ ◆

J. S. Curtis has returned to Beverly Farms after a several weeks' yachting trip along the Maine coast.

Mrs. Henry W. Stevens gave another of her delightful luncheons at "Pinethwaite", Pride's Crossing, last Sunday, where she is spending the summer. The Stevens family is from Detroit and in true Western style their hospitality is as enjoyable as it is free. There are two very charming girls in the family, who have enjoyed to the fullest extent the out-of-door pleasures of the Atlantic coast this season. They have the distinction of having motored East all the distance from Detroit.

Miss Dorothy Wilmot of New Orleans has left the North Shore after a month spent at "Avalon," the seashore home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ayer at Pride's Crossing. Miss Wilmot by her winning way became a great favorite with the young people here and all regret her departure.

SOCIETY NOTES

Services for Dr. Charles Thorndike Parker for many years a summer resident of Beverly, and who died at his home "Cote Shabie" in Wenham, Saturday, were held from the Wenham Congregational church Tuesday afternoon and were attended by a large number of friends. He was in his fifty-fourth year, and had been ill only about a week, succumbing finally to pneumonia into which his illness developed. Dr. Parker was born in Boston and was the son of the late Martha S. Thorndike and Richard T. Parker. He received his medical education at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York, and then became connected with the staff of Dr. McBurnie's hospital in that city, where he remained for eight years. He later was attending surgeon at the Hoodwright Hospital in New York, and had been connected with the staff of the Chambers street Hospital and other hospitals in that city, where his entire active professional career was spent. He retired from practice because of ill health. Dr. Parker was a member of the Somerset club, the Myopia Hunt club at Hamilton, Automobile club of America and other clubs. He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Susan de Forest Day.

MYOPIA HORSE SHOW

More than 3000 People Attend Annual Labor Day Event at Hamilton

North Shore society was very much in evidence at the 18th annual open air horse show and gymkhana of the Myopia Hunt club at Hamilton, Labor Day, with a program opening at 10 in the morning and lasting until after 5, with a polo match put on for an added attraction.

Weather conditions were disagreeable but this did not dampen the enthusiasm of the spectators and the winners in the various classes were applauded. President Taft did not go over for the show in the afternoon as he expected that he would. He was a bit lame after his golf game in the morning and did not care to risk a three hours' stay in the open in the afternoon.

Many of the blue ribbons went to the Mandell horses, S. P. Mandell, 2d, getting two, T. P. Mandell one, James H. Proctor two, C. G. Rice, two, Miss Leslie Bradley one, and Miss Gail Stephens one.

There were 59 entries for the Master's cup, the biggest field for many years, and the trophy was won by Lucy Long, a fine acting bay mare owned by C. G. Rice and ridden by Neil Rice. In the jumping for the Master's cup, Mrs. John S. Lawrence, riding High Point, was thrown from her mount at a jump, but pluckily finished and had another narrow escape when the girth loosened a bit.

The gymkhana proved interesting. Frank Appleton and Gerard Bement judged the saddle horses and T. H. Symington, M. F. H. of the Elk Ridge, Md., Hunt Club; Capt. C. J. Ross of Ireland and Dr. Lester Jones of Culpepper, Va., judged the jumpers. The summary:

Junior riders, jumpers—Won by Colette, T. P. Mandell; second, S. P. Mandell; 3rd, Inconnue, C. G. Rice; fourth, Raffle, Miss Pauline Fenno.

Saddle horses for junior riders—Won by Tricotrin, James H. Proctor; second, Success, J. H. Proctor; third, Defender Boy, J. L. Frothingham; fourth, Colette, T. P. Mandell.

The Abbott cup, for best green hunters—Won by Tavvia, S. P. Mandell, 2d; second, May Apple, C. G. Rice; third, Thistledown, R. L. Whitman; fourth, Dixie, C. G. Rice.

Polo ponies—Won by Comfort, J. H. Proctor; second, Bree, F. V. Willey; third, Radium, James H. Proctor.

Qualified hunters up to carrying 175 pounds—Won by Leaton Belle, S. P. Mandell, Jr.; second, Third Mate, T. P. Mandell; third, Ginger, J. Rush Street; fourth, Sandy, C. G. Rice.

Qualified hunters up to carrying 200 pounds—Won by Lucy Long, C. G. Rice; second, Buckthorn, C. G. Rice; third, Nightgown, Myopia Hunt club, fourth

SOCIETY NOTES

With the great, full harvest moon to light them on their way, more than one thousand of the North Shore's fashionable smart-sea motored over to Magnolia Saturday evening to attend the Oceanside's big mid-summer ball. The day preceding had been ideal. The night itself was an inspiration to motoring and jollity. And the result was that, from Rockport to Nahant, scarcely a family chronicled in the blue-books but sent its company of two or three or more to dance out the month and the season in the big ball-room that looks out upon the sea.

There are not words sufficient to express the loveliness of that ball room. The mid-summer ball is the one big dress event of the season along the shore and, when the prelude of the orchestra called the first dancers out on the floor, the room contained many of the most distinguished men of America and scores of the most beautiful matrons and daughters of New York, Washington, Boston, Pittsburg, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, New Orleans and other cities of the West and South. Besides the hotel guests and the cottagers, there were many there from distant points who came specially to attend the ball. Many of the cottagers had invited guests from home to come on for the ball and these became the center of many little festive affairs at the North Shore Grille Club and the Essex County Club, before and after the ball. When the ball was at its height, the dancers made up as cosmopolitan a company as ever assembled at Magnolia.

One of its prominent constituents were the members of the foreign embassies and legations now summing along the shore. These, with their beautiful wives and daughters made a gala show. Then there were a number of the smartest of New York's smart-set, wearing the very latest creations of Paris and London in gown and hat. Among the men were noted some of the stern-faced financiers whose names are known the world around. Among the younger element were some of the dainty debutantes of the coming season who will cause many a social flurry in the big cities this coming winter. Among the matrons and younger women present were:

Mrs. James C. Barr, Boston, Emerald green, Beer model, rhinestone trimmings, antique pearl brooch.

Mrs. David A. Loring, Brookline, pearl satin with chiffon over dress, pearl necklace.

Mrs. E. W. Speck, Pittsburg, blue satin, diamonds.

North Shore Residents Witness Fire At Sea.

"The Lark," a 28-foot power-launch owned by Walter Martin, 23 years old, of Salem, caught fire from a gasoline explosion, burned and sank two miles east of Baker's Island and five miles off-shore early Thursday evening. Martin and his cousin, Stanford Squires, 18 years old, of Chicago, who were in the launch, were both rescued by a party from T. C. Hollander's private yacht "Torino" that put out from Mystery Isle to their air.

Martin and Squires were returning from Gloucester, where they had taken about 25 gallons of gasoline. At the approach of dusk, Martin went forward to light the riding lights, using matches.

A terrific explosion followed the lighting of the match and Squires was hurled into the ocean. The boat immediately became enveloped in flames and Martin was obliged to jump for the small tender. He rescued Squires with some difficulty as the latter was almost helpless, being stunned slightly by the explosion.

The burning boat was plainly visible from Singing beach and soon attracted attention. The fire was very spectacular and had every appearance of being much larger than it was. From the beach it looked like a fishing schooner. Mr. George Wigglesworth's daughter telephoned to town and several motor-boats started from the town wharf. In the meantime after considerable difficulty, the town life-boat at Singing beach was put off and a quick row was made in the direction of the burning boat, which was then headed toward shore, apparently at full speed. When the life-boat got about two miles out, the burning craft suddenly went under, leaving everything in darkness.

Later it was learned that the "Torino" had come up and put out the blaze, but not until the craft had burned to the water's edge. The rescue party picked the two young men up and they were put up for the night at the Misery island home of Mr. Hollander. The launch sank as she was being towed toward shore. It was valued at $1500.

Antiques At Private Sale

A permanent resident of Manchester, Mass., has a few pieces of rare furniture, silver, china, etc., which he wishes to dispose of, and among which may be mentioned an exceedingly rare and genuine specimen of an early Sheraton 3-piece sideboard, of rich figured San Domingo mahogany. A Louis XV Secretoire of Kingwood with finely chased Ormolu decoration. Two Dutch Colonial highboys, burl walnut fronts and herring bone inlay, and a Sheraton card table also inlaid, and in fine condition.

A few exceedingly rare Chinese porcelain of the Ming period, a carved rock crystal ewer and patten, and a number of Oil Paintings of great antiquity and guaranteed authenticity, including works by Moretto de Brescia, D. Teniers the younger, Sir Peter Lely, Hogarth, Largilliere, Tocque and others.

A few rare old portrait miniatures, Italian wood carvings and a small but choice collection of drawings by old masters of the Italian, French and Dutch schools are also for disposal.

The whole of the above were purchased abroad with discriminating taste and judgement, from well known collections and are of particular interest to the Connoisseur and advanced collector.

Further particulars and appointment to view, may be obtained by calling up Telephone 78-4. Manchester, Mass.

NOTE

The original drawing for Paul Revere's famous engraving of "The Boston Massacre" may be seen by those interested in rare Americana.

Fire Warden's Notice

Town of Manchester, Mass.

Chapter two hundred and nine of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and eight is hereby amended by striking out section one and inserting in place thereof the following:—Section 1. It shall be unlawful within any city, or within any town which accepts the provisions of this act, for any person to set a fire in the open air between the first day of March and the first day of December except by the written permission of the forest warden; that debris from fields, gardens and orchards, or leaves and rubbish from yards may be burned on ploughed fields by the owners thereof, their agents or lessees; and provided, further, that persons above eighteen years of age may maintain a fire for a reasonable purpose upon sandy or barren land, if the fire is enclosed within rocks, metal or other non-inflammable material. In every case such fire shall be at least two hundred feet distant from any forest or sprout lands; and at least fifty feet distant from any building, and shall be properly attended until it is extinguished. The forest warden shall cause public notice to be given of the provisions of this section, and shall enforce the same. Whoever violates the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than one month, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

VOL. X Sept. 6, 1912 No. 36

The Panama Canal Bill

The Taft memoranda on the canal bill was strong. The bill had aroused the protests of Great Britain because in its provisions were made by the United States to subsidize the American merchant vessels by the granting of free passage to them through the canal. The English government in protest claimed that such a course was in violation of the treaty made with the United States, in which the equality of national rights to the canal had been agreed to. But Congress passed the bill and in his memoranda President Taft very justly and keenly presented the position of the United States on the question. Clearly the British government must agree to the United States government's right to legislate as it has. All foreign powers have the right now to subsidize their own merchant vessels using the canal to the extent of the charge made by the United States. If a foreign power should do this it would off-set any advantage in competition for the world's trade which the United States marine will enjoy. In the face of this possibility any other course of action than was taken would have been stupid on the part of the United States. If the present bill had not passed and what Great Britain desired had passed it would have been possible for Great Britain to have subsidize the ships using Panama Canal to the amount of the charges made by the United States. In this event the United States would have discriminated against itself. The position Great Britain wishes the United States to take is untenable theoretically and practically. Mr. Taft's state papers are models of fairness, precision in language and honesty and penetrating in reasoning. The Panama Bill memoranda is no exception. The passage of this great bill has been of great service to American commerce.

Ethics and The Eyes

The new state board of optometry is at work and has already rendered great service. The ethical advice it gives to optometrists, the confidence your patient shows by consulting you should under no circumstances be abused. No exaggeration of a patient's visual imperfections should ever be made to influence a sale. The welfare of a patient's eyes should be paramount, and if glasses are not necessary he should be frankly told so. Cases that in any way indicate the need of medical treatment should be referred to a physician at once. It is unethical, unprofessional, and unlawful to recommend medicine in any form. These are positions of high honor to be taken by a state board and are worthy of the inherited dignity of our commonwealth.

The Typhoid Germ

The problem of suppressing the typhoid germ is rapidly being solved. The two principles underlying the campaign as set forth in Dr. Laughlin's already famous Suffolk District Medical Society thesis, are, the "safe disposal of human wastes and the disinfection of the hands of those who have the handling of the food of others." These two attacks upon the enemy do not displace the old safe guards against impure water and milk but force the battle still farther into the enemies territory. The public owes an unpayable debt to the devoted men of science who are giving their brains, time and often their lives that others may live. Public service has many lives of activity.

The New Voter

Two million young men will vote this year for the first time. It will be a friendly help that is given them if an older man will explain the present political status in national affairs. The state that now exists is not a contest of men but of principles, the question is government by a constitution as advocated by Mr. Taft or a rule of persons as advocated by Mr. Roosevelt. The American Republic has been wisely governed by the constitution for over one hundred years and there is no real reason for a change. The new voter will be wise in following the dignified sane leadership of Mr. Taft.

Pennsylvania Breeze Reaches North Shore.

"North Shore Breeze, North Shore, Mass.," is the address attached to a new exchange to reach our desk this week. We were interested first of all to know that the North Shore Breeze is well enough known outside the North Shore to have mail matter addressed as above reach our office in Manchester without delay. Secondly, that there is another Breeze, than the North Shore Breeze. Our new namesake and friend is published at North East, Pa., and is called the "North East Breeze." It is a newsy little sheet of eight pages and like the North Shore Breeze is published on Fridays. It is in its 20th year. L. B. Yale is its editor and publisher.

Work is being rushed on an extensive addition to the Ananias Club building. The capacity will be doubled, and the recruits from the present campaign will be more than enough to fill the additional room, judging from the activities of the past few days. If anybody prominent in politics has not been called a liar within the past month, he will please stand up and be counted.—North East (Pa.) Breeze.

Which goes to show that the Breeze in that section of the country blows much in the same direction as the North Shore Breeze.

It will be to the interests of the central part of Beverly, Manchester and Magnolia to have the bill for a tractor for the new steamer at Beverly Farms pass the Board of Aldermen. In the event of a tractor being purchased, the steamer will be available for service in ten minutes time from Manchester, fifteen minutes time from Beverly and twenty minutes time from Magnolia. It will be to the best interests of the North Shore to have Mr. Loring's bill pass.

The anti-fly campaign in Manchester, Magnolia and Beverly Farms inaugurated early in the season and prosecuted with such vigor has revealed the good of the work. The campaign was not so great as in Washington, where 20,000,000 flies were killed by the children, but the work has been well done under the direction of Health Boards and Improvement Societies.

The diocean council of Massachusetts is rendering incalculable service to the present generation and to posterity in sanely renovating and preserving the historic old North Church, the Paul Revere Church, in Boston. Only good fortune, not good care has spared the old church from the flames.

The splendid exhibit of North Shore children of their own garden-grown produce and flowers reveals the splendid educational value of the school gardens. The school gardens in Manchester and Beverly Farms never were better.

Community building should be a science and not left to chance and disorder. The North Shore has failed much in this way. You are interested in your business but look about and ask what your business means to the Town? Does it build or destroy?

Efforde', "dig" was the lucky charm hat brought a fortune to one of Hawthorne's heroes but the Alberta farmer that dug up a million dollar asphaltum bed on his land grant repeats in fact what would be strange as fiction.

Some wide awake, well informed organization should issue a small pamphlet guide to the North Shore showing the places of historic interest and local fame.

The interest of Manchester folk in the interesting store of the Industrial School for Crippled Children is gratifying.

The schools have opened again and, Shakespeare to the contrary, thousands of happy children, ambitious boys and girls, and enterprising young men and young women have begun their labor with their books. Oh happy days are these, and wise are the lads or lassies who apply themselves with diligence and fervor to the tasks and opportunities at their hands. Wise is the parent that will sacrifice for an ambitious boy or a studious daughter.

The spirited way in which two of the negro lawyers wired their resignations of membership after the contest in the American Bar Association left nothing to be desired. After Mr. Lewis has been vindicated by election he will doubtless follow suit. Who wants to belong where he is not welcome?

The "recall" has not proven an unmixed blessing. For it has placed a weapon in the hands of evil men to harass a good man. What is to hinder an unthinking populace being influenced by evil men from recalling a good man in office. This very embarrassment has risen in the west.

The yellow newspapers of the country are cutting a considerable figure in the presidential campaign this year, and the parties are furnishing their writers plenty of material upon which to work.

The martial complications in Nicaragua do not have half the dangers that might be lurking in the incident if we did not have so safe, tactful and peaceable a President.

A plain pine coffin, ordered by General Booth to be used at his funeral, carried the simplicity and humanitarian instincts of the great leader to the grave.

Any business enterprise which fails to contribute to the personal or social well being of the residents of the shore violates the laws of community building.

CONG. GARDNER REPLIES TO SENATOR SCHOFIELD

Hamilton, Mass.,

September 4, 1912.

Hon. George A. Schofield,
Editor of the Ipswich Chronicle,
Ipswich, Mass.

My Dear Sir:—

A few weeks ago in your paper you accused me of hiring workers to help Mr. Crowley in his candidacy against you. I denied it and offered you $25 per head for each worker you could show up. In your next issue you shuffled and shifted and insinuated that I was lying. Thereupon, I offered you $250 to pay for an investigation of your own charges.

In your last number you again shuffle and shift and you babble a long rigmarole composed of the hodge-podge of ordinary political gossip. You say that "a prominent Haverhill Republican" informed you that my friends in that city were trying to get a candidate against you. Who was the man who gave you that interesting misinformation? Name him! What Haverhill Democrat were my friends trying to get? You speak of secret meetings in Salem about the first week in July. I never heard of any. Who told you of them? When and where did they take place? Who were present?

Now, Senator Schofield, what are you trying to insinuate by this surfeit of slurs? Are you trying to insinuate that I directly or indirectly encouraged or aided Mr. Crowley to become a candidate against you? Your words seem to bear that construction. If that is what you mean, blurt it out like a man. Don't insinuate it any more. If that is not what you mean, what the Dickens is it that you do mean?

One subject at a time. When you have cleared up this matter, I shall take up the rest of the question raised in your public letter to me.

Yours truly,

Augustus P. Gardner.

The investigators who have been uncovering the good cash which Lieutenant Becker had saved from his graft have done a fine turn for Becker's lawyers. It is not to be imagined for a minute that they will leave any of it for him.

Saturday the Boy Scouts returned from their camping trip in New Hampshire, where they have been spending two weeks. The boys have all acquired a healthy tan that tells the story of their out-of-door life in camp.

MANCHESTER

Miss Josephine Rand of Portsmouth, N. H., was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Rand over the holiday.

Miss Jennie Proctor, her sister, Mrs. Everett Griffin and brother-in-law, Everett Griffin, of Derry, N. H., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Floyd Sunday. They motored down in their car and Miss Abbie Floyd returned with them to Derry, where she joined Mrs. Frederick L. Smith and Miss Helene Sherman who had arrived there Friday. They remained in Derry over the holiday, returning to Manchester Tuesday morning.

Walter Bell has been enjoying a few days' vacation from his work at his stores in Central square and on Beach street.

Among those who have recently returned from vacations spent at Nova Scotia are Mr. and Mrs. Matheson, Mrs. James Kehoe and little daughter Jessie, and Mrs. Levi Harvey and son, James.

Clifford Goodwin and family have moved from their cottage, corner of School and Brook streets to Vine street in order to be with Mrs. Goodwin's mother. Chief of Police Converse and wife will occupy the cottage which they have vacated.

Willard Rust is enjoying a fortnight's vacation from his work in Boston.

Rev. and Mrs. A. G. Warner are spending the remaining two weeks of Mr. Warner's vacation in Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Rose and family, who have been Manchester residents for a number of years, have moved to Lynn.

Miss Louise Hoff of New York City is visiting her sister, Mrs. Hans Dahl.

The many friends of Bruce Chapman, a former Manchester man, will regret to hear of the accident with which he met recently. Mr. Chapman fell from a forty-foot pole after receiving a shock of 2300 volts of electricity. His condition is serious. Mr. Chapman is now located in Western Canada.

A. W. Webber of Ipswich spent a day with his daughter, Miss Helen Webber, an employee at the Brownlands, this week. It being Mr. Webber's first visit to Manchester, he was greatly impressed with the beauties of the place. Mr. Webber and his daughter enjoyed a carriage drive to Magnolia and Gloucester.

Mrs. Theodore Rowe is entertaining her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Toppan at her home on School street. Samuel Rowe is also at home for a short visit.

What Manchester Young People Are Doing.

It is interesting to note the progress made in educational lines as the years go on, especially in the number of young people who seek higher education after leaving the high school. Ten or fifteen years ago it was the rare thing for a graduate of the local high school to go to college. Today a large percentage of the graduating classes do not end their studies with graduation. Out of this year's class, for instance, fully half are continuing their work, by attending some other higher institution of learning. The plans of the fourteen members of last June's graduating class are as follows:

Francis Marshall Andrews, Jr., is to enter Massachusetts Agricultural college at Amherst.

Sarah Gertrude Coughlin undecided.

Roland Hayden Knight is to become a member of the firm of Samuel Knight Sons, Co.

Lilla May Lewis, who has been clerking in a dry goods store in Lynn for the summer months, will take up a course in trained nursing this fall.

Beatrice Lennan Long will take a course at the Posse Gymnasium, Boston.

Rufus Wilfred Long will return to the High school for a post-graduate course.

Dora May Marshall will enter Wheaton Seminary at Norton, Mass.

Allen Goodwin McKinnon will enter Brown University at Providence, R. I.

Catherine Elizabeth Meaney has a position as a telephone operator at the Manchester exchange.

Hazel Torrey Semons is to take a course at a Boston Commercial college.

Adele Bertha Sjolund will enter the Children's Memorial hospital, Chicago, for a three years' training course.

Marion Frances Spinney and Margaret Louise Walsh undecided.

Helen Clifton Wing will take a post graduate course at the High school this year preparatory to entering Mt. Holyoke college next fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade Brooks are receiving congratulations on the recent birth of a son.

Mrs. Frederick L. Smith, School street, is entertaining today Mrs. Herbert H. Hosmer, a former schoolmate, and Mrs. Hosmer's mother, Mrs. Caroline Avery, both of South Lancaster.

MANCHESTER

The last band concert of the season was held Wednesday evening, instead of Thursday evening, the regular night. The concert drew, perhaps, an even larger crowd than the other concerts this season. The Common and square were filled with people and both sides of Central street were lined with carriages and machines.

Born Wednesday, Sept. 4, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Alimo, Forest street.

Miss Louise Walsh is entertaining her friend, Miss Esther Griffin, who was formerly a Manchester girl.

Clarence Mackin of Manchester Cove has a position with the United Drug company of Boston.

Mrs. Stewart Macdonald returned this week from a visit of a month at Glace Bay, Nova Scotia.

Roland Kitfield has a position with the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad.

Mrs. John Weir and little daughter, Ruth, leave Tuesday for a visit with relatives in Nova Scotia.

Garrett Coughlin is seriously ill at his home on Norwood avenue.

John Carter who has had a position as private secretary to Mrs. Russell Tyson of the Manchester summer colony for the last few months, will again take up his studies at the Bryant & Stratton Business college, Boston, this fall.

Rev. Howard N. Brown of King's Chapel, Boston, will preach Sunday, Sept. 8, at the First Unitarian church, Manchester-by-the-Sea.

Henry Pearson of Byfield is spending a few days with his son, Lyman W. Floyd.

Mrs. Harriet Perkins left for Los Angeles Monday. Mrs. Perkins is a delegate to the National Convention of the ladies of the G. A. R.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Bullock had as a guest over Labor Day, Mrs. Bullock's brother, Lewis Catheron of Needham.

The school committee has awarded the contract to construct a concrete curbing about the Priest School grounds, to replace the old iron railing, to Senter Stanley. The committee intends to ask for an appropriation to put a concrete curbing around the lawn and walks of the Primary school the coming year. The lawn at this school by the way, is very attractive, and makes a decided improvement to the surroundings in that section.

Born this morning (Sept. 6) a son to Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Gay, 84 School street.

MANCHESTER

Miss Gwendolen Glendenning, who was graduated from the Story High school with the Class of 1911, will enter Smith College at Northampton this month.

Miss Elizabeth Cardwell of Brooklyn, N. Y., who has been visiting at the Congregational parsonage for several days has returned home. Miss Cardwell and Mrs. Ruge have been lifelong friends.

Mrs. W. R. Allison of Steubenville, Ohio, who was one of the party that attended the Boy Scout camp at Lake Province, N. H., has returned to Manchester for a further stay at the home of Rev. and Mrs. L. H. Ruge. During their stay at Lake Province, Mrs. Ruge, family and friends were fortunate in securing a cottage near the boys' camp, where guests could secure larger comfort than the tents at times afford. All report a most delightful trip to and from the lake by automobile tour.

Revere Pulsifer, who is working under Professor Peabody of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is enjoying a short vacation before taking up his fall work. Mr. Pulsifer was graduated from Tech in June, having been one of the very few pupils who took the course in naval architecture. The class completed a model boat to be used in the work of the classes to follow, and Mr. Pulsifer has been working on that all summer.

The annual cradle roll of the Missionary Society was held Thursday afternoon in the chapel. Fancy crackers and lemonade were served by the following committee: Miss Beth Jewett, Miss Mildred Hannible, Miss Abbie Floyd, Miss Nina Sinicks and Miss Helen Cheever.

Miss Nellie Jackson of Summit, N. J., who has been visiting Miss Isabel Mackay, School street, has returned to her home.

Next Tuesday evening Professor Krumpeln will give an organ recital at the Congregational church for the benefit of the District Nurse Fund, under the auspices of the committee of the Manchester Woman's club. Professor Krumpeln needs no introduction to Manchester audiences for all have grown familiar with his name and his fame as the blind organist during his many seasons at Magnolia, where he gives many recitals at the Oceanside hotel each year. He is also the organist at the Village church, Magnolia during the summer. Doubtless the affair will be largely attended. Mrs. Raymond C. Allen will assist as soprano soloist. Mrs. Abigail O'Keefe.

The funeral services for Mrs. Abigail O'Keefe were held Tuesday morning from the Sacred Heart Church. Mrs. O'Keefe died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Barry, the latter of whom was her daughter. Mrs. O'Keefe was born in County Cork, Ireland, nearly ninety years ago and made her home in Rockport after coming to America. Later she moved to Salem and finally in 1889 settled in Manchester and has since made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Barry. Besides this daughter, she is survived by two sons, John A. O'Keefe of Lynn, a lawyer, and Daniel O'Keefe, also of Lynn, an electrician, and another daughter, Mrs. William Barton of Lynn.

The removal of two stately elms near the junction of Pine and Bennett streets recalls to the minds of many of Manchester's oldest residents the existence of town pumps that were located at various points about the town, prior to the installation of a water system twenty years ago. Even since that date the pump that had been located at this point for a century or more, was in use. Not until the stable located there was out of use and had given way to a garage, was the pump and trough removed, and a little structure to store gasoline was put in its place. Anyway, the two large trees were slowly dying, and they were removed a week or so ago. They were said to be a hundred years old. The broad entrance to the property left by the removal of the trees is quite an improvement.

Will Close Postoffices Sundays

A general order has been sent out by C. P. Grandfield, the first assistant postmaster general, to close all first and second class postoffices Sundays. The order says:

"Under the law you will close the general delivery, carriers' windows, and lock boxes and discontinue all deliveries by carriers on Sunday.

"The department desires to reduce Sunday work to the minimum so that as many of the employees as possible may enjoy a complete day of rest on Sunday.

"That hereafter postoffices of the first and second classes shall not open on Sundays for the purpose of de-

SCHOOLS OPEN

Four New Teachers Take Up Work.
List of Teachers.

The public schools of Manchester opened Tuesday morning for the fall term. A total of 439 pupils are registered in the three schools including 93 at the Story High school, 240 at the G. A. Priest school and 106 at the Price Primary school. This number will be increased slightly as the summer season closes and some who are unable to enter on the opening week are at school.

During the summer vacation all the buildings were overhauled and cleaned and the customary changes were made. The G. A. Priest school has been painted. A new fence has been built in the rear and the committee at their last meeting voted to replace the old wooden post and iron railing fence by a concrete curbing, six or seven inches high, to surround the lawn. The ventilating system at the Primary school has been changed so as to give better results.

Four new teachers have been added as follows:

Leon McKusick will have charge of mathematics and athletics at the High school, to take the place of Ralph Hayward. He is a Bates 1910 man. Last year he taught at the Kimball Union school, in New Hampshire, a private institution.

Miss Blanche Bragdon will have charge of the French and German department at the High school, to succeed Miss Mae Stenhouse. She is a Bates '06 graduate. For the last two years she has been teaching at Dalton, Mass.

Miss Lida Ladd, a graduate of the Farmington (Me.) Normal, succeeds Miss Alexander as 6th grade teacher. She has been teaching at Bar Harbor the last year.

Miss Gertrude Gray of Lowell, a graduate of the Lowell Normal, succeeds Miss Lola Durrell, as teacher of Grade 5.

The complete clientele of the school department for the present year is as follows:

School committee: Edward A. Lane, chairman; Albert Cunningham, secretary; Waldo H. Tyler, purchasing agent.

Superintendent: John C. Mackin.

Truant officer: Charles R. Peart.

High school teachers: A. L. Saben, principal; Leon McKusick, sub-master, head of mathematics and athletics; Miss Edna Parker, science; Miss Bella C. Porter, English; Miss Blanche Bragdon, French and German; Miss Lilla Alger, commercial department.

G. A. Priest school teachers: John C. Mackin, principal; Miss Edith Folsom, asst. prin., teacher 8th grade; Miss Anne Clark, 7th; Miss Edna B. West, 7th and 6th; Miss Lida Ladd, 6th; Miss Gertrude Gray, 5th; Miss Teresa Walsh, 4th and 5th; Miss Lila Goldsmith, 4th; Miss Lena Jones, 3d.

Price Primary school teachers: Miss Audrey Caldon, principal, teacher 1st grade; Miss Fannie Knight, 1st; Miss Alice Sides, 2d; Miss Nellie Leonard, 2d.

Director of manual arts, Lawrence F. Loring.

Director of sewing, Grace B. Ketchum.

Director of music, George E. Wales.

Boy Scouts.

Troop No. 1, Manchester Boy Scouts returned last Friday in the best of health and spirits reporting that their camp on Lake Province in the foothills of the White Mountains was a great success. There was not the least sickness nor any accident of any kind. Every precaution for the health and happiness of the boys was carefully planned and carried out and those that had this movement in charge are to be congratulated upon the successful outcome of the most ambitious plan now inaugurated for the boys of Manchester and vicinity.

It appears that with the financial assistance of some of the wealthy North Shore colonists the Boy Scouts Movement ought to found something permanent in the form of a building in Manchester and a camp at Lake Province, where the situation seems to be ideal for all outdoor life such as is embraced in this movement. The situation is beautiful, surrounded by the lesser peaks for climbing. The lake is stocked with bass and pickerel and other fish. The bathing is very safe, the waters warm. Here freedom to roam, build bungalows, study nature, etc., is at its best, the situation being as yet untrammelled by the conventionalities of other places, and it seems to be a spot chosen with unusual care.

The camp life was devoted to camp duties, instruction in bungalow building, athletics, hiking, swimming, fishing and other outdoor diversions.

Some time was devoted to reading and games and one of the features of mental drill was a mock trial that proved most interesting and instructive.

MANCHESTER

A. A. Cushing went to Rockport, Me., Tuesday to get his two young sons who have been spending the summer vacation in Maine. Another son, Raymond, spent most of the summer at Hingham, on the South Shore.

The funeral of Mrs. Solomon Rowe who died recently at Gloucester was held Wednesday from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Amanda Smothers, Lincoln street. She was buried in the Rosedale cemetery.

Last Saturday D. Elmer Butler, a carpenter employed by Roberts & Hoare, fell from the staging where he was working at the Putnam estate and broke a bone in his leg. Dr. Washburn attended him and he was removed to his home. It is feared that he will be disabled for a number of weeks. This is the second time Mr. Butler has met with an accident of this nature.

After a few weeks' visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Soulis, Lincoln street, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Soulis have returned to their home in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Greenough of Beverly spent Labor Day in town with the former's parents.

The moral influences brought to bear upon the boys were carefully thought out and considered. The boys attended the local church in a body on Sunday mornings. At the close of the evening's camp fire story telling had a moral point in which Rev. A. G. Warner, who assisted the Scout Master Rev. L. H. Ruge, was very effective.

The boys traveling and transportation expenses to and from the camp were paid by the proceeds of entertainments and the liberality of a few of the North Shore summer residents and only a very nominal sum was charged each boy for board during the camp.

There is a looking forward to larger things in the establishment of some permanent building in which the work of this great movement in boy development of comprehensive character may be more fully carried out.

Rev. L. H. Ruge, pastor of the Congregational church, who is the founder of this movement in Manchester, and Scout Master, will be glad to give such information as may be desired to further explain the work and the plans proposed.

A Novelty Attraction.

If a wholesome, honest, cleanly play that alternates pathos and laughter with gattling gun rapidity is what theatre goers want, they will not fail to see the great Western comedy Drama, "The Angel of the Trail" at Town hall, Manchester, Monday, Sept. 9.

It is somewhat different from the ordinary Western plays and advantageously so.

Up-to-date musical numbers are interpolated and vaudeville features introduced, making an attraction that is bound to suit all tastes. Everybody that is interested in the coming Presidential election should hear the great campaign song "Fall In and Follow Me" especially arranged for this production. No matter what your politics are it will hit you right. The play itself is cleverly written and has been pronounced equal to "The Girl of the Golden West." Popular prices will prevail.

ESSEX IS RIGHT IN THE CENTRE OF The Summer Residence Zone

It has high hills, beautiful woodland drives, a charming lake, a salt water-river which "like a ribbon of silver" flows to the sea. Boating, fishing and bathing abound. Although it has water on all sides it seldom if ever has the disagreeable fog which is so prevalent in other places. The high hills covered with dense forests which surround the town keep the fog away. We have many desirable places aggregating about 2000 acres for sale. One feature of Essex is, our valuation is so low that the addition of but one million would halve the tax rate.

The much advertised game of baseball between the Big Essex club and Perkins Box Factory club of Gloucester was played on the Town hall grounds Labor Day. Two games were played. A purse of $50. was put up for the winner of two games out of three. Quite lively games were expected, but they turned out to be quite tame affairs. But two games were needed and were both won by Essex by a score of 23 to 3 and 25 to 5. Veteran Wardie caught both games and filled that position as he only can. Rolfe and Fletcher took turns at pitching. Jacob Story developed great strength as a striker. He started in with a home run with three men on bases and made several more during the game, besides a number of good base hits. A large crowd witnessed the games.

MAGNOLIA

Harry Lycett of Waltham is enjoying his annual vacation as the guest of his parents Mr. and Mrs. John C. Lycett.

Dr. Eaton will deliver a sermon on "The Law of Harvest" at the morning service at the Village church on Sunday. The subject of the evening sermon will be "The Neglect of This World."

Joe Hood, an expert pool player gave an exhibition at the Men's club last Friday evening. He played an exhibition game with Mr. Taylor, chauffeur for Mrs. H. G. Curry. Mr. Taylor won. Wm. Howlett of the North Shore Grill club won a very close match in the pool tournament with Mr. Kavanaugh on Tuesday evening. Henry W. Butler, Jr., won the prize for bowling last week.

Miss Anna Sullivan of Boston is enjoying a short vacation in town as the guest of her brother John Sullivan.

It was a very pleasant surprise party at the Woman's club on Friday evening. A minstrel show by the members was first on the program at the close of which Mrs. McCarthy of Magnolia stepped forward and presented Mrs. Foster, the popular matron of the club, with a prettily decorated cake with a golden filling. Refreshments of cake, ice cream and punch followed. After the refreshments the minstrels did a cake walk the cake being handed to Anna McCashin, who later, it is said cut the cake in Virgin Row. The minstrel show was one of the best of the summer entertainments. Miss Louise Lynch was Interlocutor, Anna McCashin, Topsy, and the End Men, Gertrude McCabe, Anna Stromblad and Helen McCashin. The members of the chorus were May Sullivan, Helen McCabe, Grace Bennett, Anna Callahan, May McCaffery, May McEviloy. The Goblin dance by Barbara Drummey, Mabel Flaherty knocked down the house.

The last "Gentlemen's Night" of the season will be held at the Woman's club on next Tuesday evening.

The ball given by the chauffeurs at the Men's clubhouse on Monday evening in aid of St. Joseph's chapel was well patronized, the large hall being filled. Dancing was enjoyed until twelve o'clock, with Chane's orchestra in attendance. About $85 was realized after expenses were paid. The committee are grateful to those who helped make this a success.

MAGNOLIA

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Richardson who were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Richardson last week returned to their home in Peterboro, N. H., Saturday.

About forty members of the Sunday school enjoyed a very pleasant day's outing at Salem Willows on Thursday of last week. They were accompanied by Dr. Eaton and their mothers, one and all of whom report a very enjoyable day. Through the kindness of friends a sufficient sum was contributed to pay all the expenses of the day and a balance of $9 will be expended for supplies for the Sunday school during the winter.

MAGNOLIA

Charles Chane who is employed in Boston was in town over Labor Day.

Miss Bessie Cudmore of Gloucester is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott.

The Christian Endeavor topic this evening at the Village church will be "The Prince of Peace."

Miss Mattie J. Burke returned the first of the week from a very pleasant visit in Maine.

Henry W. Butler, Jr., and Leon T. Foster are enjoying camp life at Harrisville, N. H., this week.

Misses Mary Boyd, Ruth Scott, Clara Corrin and Gladys Norman began their studies at the Story High school at Manchester on Tuesday.

Mrs. John McKay and daughter Jennie returned Sunday from an extended visit with friends in Nova Scotia.

Tickets are selling rapidly for the dance at the Men's club tomorrow evening for the benefit of the winter club. Long's full orchestra will furnish music. All are cordially invited. The usual dances will be held on Wednesday and Saturday next week.

Misses Lizzie Brown and Mabel Sampson are taking a course at Salem Commercial school. They began their studies on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Foss of Somersworth, N. H., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Butler the first of the week.

Mrs. James D. Brown returned from a very pleasant trip to Nova Scotia last Sunday.

BEVERLY FARMS

The Beverly Farms playground closed this week, it being practically the end of the season, although the place would have been kept open a while longer had there been sufficient funds. Besides, the instructors who have completed their duties here, include police officer and caretaker John C. McCarthy. The laying off of the latter is to be regretted, as there is need of Mr. McCarthy's services for some time to come. All of the apparatus which the children have enjoyed this summer, such as the swings, slides, etc., have been taken down and put in storage. This spot has indeed been a popular one and thoroughly enjoyed. Each day there has been large parties of children enjoying themselves, and they have reaped not only pleasure and delight, but the fact that the children were there has been the source of much comfort to the parents, in knowing that their loved ones were off the streets and at a place of safety.

William Swan, formerly at the Mrs. Lathrop Brown (R. C. Hooper) estate, West Manchester, has commenced his new duties as superintendent of "Edgewater," Mrs. Leiter's estate at Beverly Farms. His family is to move into the gardener's cottage early next week.

Miss Eleanor Connolly, who has been a Beverly High school student, is to attend the Girls College at Hookset, N. H., at the beginning of the fall term of that institution.

Harry P. Cole, chief stenographer at the U. S. Shoe Machinery Co's. plant in Beverly, will start on his annual vacation next Monday. He will go to Bethlehem, N. H., accompanied by Mrs. Cole.

Arthur C. Davis and Charles McCarthy have returned from a vacation trip to some of the Maine summer resorts.

Last evening the Beverly Farms band gave another of their popular open air concerts at Bartlett's field, which was enjoyed by an audience that completely filled the surrounding space. Every number received merited applause.

Ernest Townsend, who for the past eight years has been the superintendent of the Henry S. Pierce estate at Pride's Crossing, is to commence his new duties at the Mrs. Lathrop Brown (R. C. Hooper) estate at West Manchester next Monday. John Walker, who has had charge of the Quincy A. Shaw estate at Pride's is to be the successor of Mr. Townsend at H. C. Pierce's.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Publicover have returned from a pleasant two weeks' visit to Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Colby of Huntington, Long Island, have been among this week's visitors to Beverly Farms.

Edward C. Leahy is to have his chauffeur's license returned to him by the State Highway commission.

John West colony, Pilgrim Fathers, will entertain the Pilgrim Wanderers this evening. No doubt there will be a large number of out of town guests present, and arrangements have been made for their entertainment.

The mission for ladies at St. Margaret's church all this week has been largely attended. Next week the meetings will be for men.

Mrs. Robert Chisholm of Vine street left the Farms Tuesday for a three weeks' visit at her former home, Yarmouth, N. S.

The U. S. S. Mayflower was anchored off West Beach on Tuesday for a few hours before leaving for New York. Many of the crew were ashore renewing acquaintances. The ship is expected back in a few days and will probably stay several weeks.

The wedding of Miss Marion Caroline Kimball of Beverly Farms and East Wenham to Henry Herriek Kent of Beverly is to take place at 39 Bridge street, Beverly on Wednesday evening September 18th, followed by a reception from 7.30 to 9 p. m.

Miss Florence McDonald of Antigonish, N. S., a former Beverly Farms young lady is visiting her aunt, Mrs. John L. Pierce, Hart street. Miss McDonald has accepted a position in Boston for the winter.

Frank S. Gainley of Beverly Farms passed away in Lynn last Saturday at the age of 96 years, 11 months, 19 days. He has lately made his home with his grandson, Louis Gainley, Vine street. He was a veteran of the Civil War, serving throughout the war from '61 to '65; a member of company F, 10th Vermont regiment and later of the 17th Vermont. He was a carpenter by trade and had many contracts for large edifices, especially those of churches, many of which he has built in large cities in New England and elsewhere. He was a native of Swanton, Vt. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon and interment made at the Lynn Pine Grove cemetery. Six of his grandsons acted as pall bearers.

Frank E. Cole is occupying his new home on Hart street, the estate of the late Jesse Pierce, which he recently purchased. The cottage on Webster avenue made vacant by Mr. Cole has been taken by George Chipchase.

The Beverly Farms firemen are to hold their annual afternoon outing and picnic Saturday, September 14th at the Wyatt and Trowt field on Hart street. The firemen from the Central station will be their guests.

The primary election will be held on Tuesday, September 24th. The polls will open at 6 a. m. and close at 4 p. m. In Ward 6 the annual polling place is provided—the GAR hall.

Italian Lecture Given at the Farms To A Large Audience

There is a movement inaugurated at Beverly Farms that if consummated will be far reaching. Already excellent results have been achieved. It is the work being done by Rev. Clarence Strong Pond and his corps of assistants with the Swedes and Italians in Ward Six.

Rev. Mr. Pond has started the movement with evening classes for the Italians, and here English is taught and the principles of good living, good housing and good citizenship. These classes meet in the chapel of the Farms Baptist church, but religion is not taught it being deemed wise to teach these people the English language first.

Classes of twenty and oftentimes larger, have responded to the invitation and after several months, quite a few of these are able to speak English understandingly and quite fluently.

Saturday evening, through the courtesy of Miss Louisa P. Loring of Pride's Crossing an illustrated lecture was given in the chapel, some seventy-five Italians attending.

Some fifty views were thrown on the screen of Italian subjects, showing the principal cities and towns of the country, some of the people and points of interest in the cities, ending with pictures of the King and Queen of Italy, which were vociferously cheered.

The lecture was given in Italian by Mrs. Maynard Ladd, wife of a Boston physician, who is summering in Manchester. Mrs. Ladd is a sculptress of note and spent six years in Italy, where she mastered the language and speaks it fluently. She described the various pictures as they were thrown on the screen and the large audience listened most intently.

At the Swedish service at the Baptist church this evening the Rev. C. W. Lindstrom will preach. It is expected there will be a large audience present.

Miss Frances Connolly left this week for a month's stay at Hanover, N. H. She went with a large party of classmates from the Sargent school of Cambridge, who are to enjoy a month's camping. During the last summer Miss Connolly was an instructor at one of the Salem playgrounds.

Mrs. Katherine Hilyard has started in business for herself by opening a hand laundry on Corning street.

The Girl's club of the Beverly Farms Baptist church are quite pleased over the receipt of a fine oil painting which they will hang in their room. The gift was from Mrs. John D. Mutch and was the work of her own hands.

Patrick J. Mitchell has commenced his new duties as gardener and caretaker at the H. D. Chapin estate, Beverly Farms. For several years Mr. Mitchell has occupied a similar position at the L. D. Ahl estate at Pride's.

Rev. Clarence S. Pond started Tuesday on his much deserved vacation and with Mrs. Pond the time will principally be spent at Mrs. Pond's former home, Pocasset, Mass.

The Beverly Farms ball club will play the Manchester Crickets tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon at the playgrounds. A close and interesting game is looked for.

Albert J. Downey of Jamaica Plain, the popular high school boy and the all round athlete returned Wednesday of this week to his home after a vacation at Beverly Farms where he spent three and one half weeks.

Monday afternoon the Orioles of Danvers played the second game of the season with the Beverly Farms team at the playgrounds, and defeated the local nine by a score of 6 to 5. The home team was "off" in its fielding and made a number of costly errors, while at the bat their hits were usually fielded by the opponents. The visiting team put on a good all round game. The affair was a holiday event and a large audience was present. Before the game and at times during its progress the Beverly Farms band played popular music which was thoroughly appreciated.

The Scandinavian Sewing circle will hold a fair at the home of Mrs. Hakanson, 4 Everett street, Thursday, Sept. 12th, afternoon and evening. Useful and fancy articles, cake and refreshments will be for sale. Music will be furnished by an orchestra.

The Ladies' Sewing circle of the local Baptist church have taken charge and will bear the expense of improvements now being made to the kitchen of the chapel. Included in the work are new electric lights and painting. Mrs. Elmer Standley is president of the circle.

The Beverly schools opened on Wednesday for the fall term. At the Farms there is a large registration and the same corps of teachers are in charge as last year.

There is a movement on foot to organize a general committee for the purpose of conducting a series of popular lyceum lectures and entertainments to be given at the assembly hall of the Beverly Farms school house during the coming fall and winter months. The first one will probably be given in October and on the second Friday evening of each month from October to the following May. The program has not yet been finally arranged, but if the present plan is carried out it will prove a great benefit to the social interest of all Beverly Farms people. There has been a great need of such a course of lectures and entertainments which in the past have been given by the local churches or organizations. These have been of much social advantage, but only to a limited number. The possibility of holding a general course of events in previous years has not been realized mostly because of the expense involved. This modern social movement now suggests the use of the school house which will work to much advantage. James B. Dow of the school committee has been requested by the committee to secure the free use of the assembly hall, which it is expected will be granted. No charge will be made for admission to these lectures as other arrangements will take care of the necessary expense.

Letters remaining unclaimed at Beverly Farms post office for week ending Sept. 4, 1912: Mr. P. Davies, George S. Barr, Charles Bailey, Mrs. Louis Baer, Mrs. Mary A. Drinan, B. U. Lissington, Jr., Thomas J. Kenney, Miss Mary H. Parker, Miss J. H. Thompson, Peter Wood.—William R. Brooks, Postmaster.

Lucy Daly at B. F. Keith's.

One of the most notable engagements made by Mr. B. F. Keith this season for his beautiful Boston playhouse, is the return of Lucy Daly to vaudeville, after an absence of several years. Miss Daly is without question one of the cleverest dancers that ever stepped on an American stage. She will appear in a new act especially written for her by Hap Ward, and entitled "The Different Phases of Life," supported by a company of pretty girls and clever comedians. Aside from this brilliant star, the week will be also notable for the first American appearance, after a tour of the entire civilized world, of the Six American Dancers, who begin their season at B. F. Keith's Theatre next week after a year's absence on foreign shores. This splendid combination of dancers will present many new and novel stunts. Still another big feature will be Blackface Eddie Ross and his famous banjo, in a new version of his now celebrated speciality. Other great acts on an excellent bill will be Goldsmith and Hoppe, the "Two Commercial Drummers," who combine comedy with music in the most interesting and entertaining fashion; Barley's Dogs, a wonderfully trained troupe of intelligent canines; Tom Kyle and Company in their amusing farce, "A Doctored Widow," which is said to convert seas of trouble into waves of laughter; and Corin-Allyn and Tyler, in a novel act called "The Entertainer."

Bogy Tourney at Manchester

A bogy competition was the feature at the Essex County club links last Saturday. E. B. Chandler won the medal with a score of 4 up. The summary:

E. B. Chandler, 4 up; A. W. Stickney, 2 up; J. H. Kampmann, 2 up; E. M. Pickman, 2 up; George R. White, 1 up; H. H. Stevens, 1 up; C. A. Pierce, 2 down; T. H. Warner, 1 down; A. D. Cook, 3 down.

Telephone Talks

Remember: One fare for the Round Trip—for the the message and the answer. It may cost a little more—but so does the Twentieth Century Limited.

A Chain and Its Links

In telephoning there are three links in the chain that constitutes "good service": 1. The person calling. 2. The operator. 3. The person called.

No matter how much any one or any two of these links do to develop good service, the result is determined by the measure of co-operation of the third. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link.

If the person calling fails to consult the directory and gives a wrong number, the operator inevitably repeats the error. If the person called fails to answer promptly and the caller leaves the telephone, naturally "there is no one on the line."

Being human, the operator—the other link—is liable to err occasionally, but careful analysis demonstrates that she is not fairly chargeable with many of the difficulties frequently ascribed to her.

If Link No. 1 Gives the Right Number and Calls Distinctly, and Link No. 3 Answers Promptly, the Telephone Company will be responsible for its part of the chain. If no higher motive actuated it, the motive of economy, or self-interest, would suffice.

From any Pay Station you can speak to any one of 425,000 telephones in the territory of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

If he is not a subscriber, a message will be sent at your expense to ask him to come to the nearest Pay Station.

New England Telephone and Telegraph Company

Boston Theatre

Seldom in the history of the Boston Theatre has a larger audience greeted an opening than that which attended to witness the Boston premier of Wagenhals and Kemper's latest and best dramatic offering, "The Greyhound" written by Paul Armstrong and Wilson Mizner. "The Greyhound" came to Boston's jaded theatregoers as a refreshing novelty. It has all the thrills and excitement of a powerful drama with the relief which comes from genuinely funny comedy and characterization. The four crooks who dominate the story go about their work seriously enough, but the authors have drawn them in such a unique way and supplied them with such laughable but thoroughly natural and characteristic dialogue that their nefarious scheming is attended always by spontaneous laughter on the part of the audience. The attractiveness of "The Greyhound" comes from the fact that although its main story deals with the plans and ways of criminals it does not introduce any low bred people, but moves in an atmosphere of gentility and refinement; even the archerook himself, who is known as "The Greyhound," being a person of exquisite manner and most gentlemanly speech and appearance. The setting of the play on a great ocean liner adds to its interest and permits of much novelty in scenic display. The cast is a very large one comprising nearly 50 people.

Good Work of the Motor Boat Muffling Association

That the Massachusetts coast will soon be thoroughly freed from the nerve racking and ear splitting noise of the power boats is evident from the continued activity of State Officers Grady, Daley and Nelligan on board the Motor Boat Muffling Association cruiser "Kasagi". The campaign to exterminate this nuisance is in full swing and arrests are still being made and will continue to be made until the owners of power boats realize that the State Police mean business and are determined that every boat now in use shall comply with the law.

The "Kasagi" has already visited the harbors of Winthrop, Nahant, Marblehead, Salem, Beverly, Manchester, Gloucester, Rockport, Lanesville, Annisquam, Newburyport and the Merrimac River and arrests have been made in Salem, Nahant, Gloucester and Rockport.

One peculiar feature of the campaign thus far is the fact that at many places scores of motor boat owners have personally visited the "Kasagi" with a request that their boats be tested to see if they were complying with the law, and most of them have expressed a ready willingness to install whatever muffler may be needed.

Following the completion of this strenuous campaign along the entire North Shore and Merrimac River, the "Kasagi" will shortly visit the South Shore where a repetition of the raids will be made.

With Captain Hird successfully enforcing the law in Boston Harbor, and Captain Proctor of the State Police Boat, Lexington, doing the same in Buzzard's Bay, only one result can follow and that is the extermination of this pest and the quieting of our shores and harbors.

Here's a Carload of Brass and Iron BEDS

That's just got in and they're handsome, too. The Iron ones are enameled and the enamel is "flowed on" so's not to chip off. The brass ones have a finish that's guaranteed not to tarnish or spot. Then there's the brass and iron Cribs, too. Lots of surprises in store for you this autumn. The following prices show the great economy—which profits you—of our enormous buying and selling.

Several Seasons past have added materially to the popularity with women of the mannish wrappy coats of English type. After this degree of permanency our buyer was able to discriminate and select only from such makers whose forte is the designing of just such mannishly smart and stylish garments as these.

Of course, Polo-like clothes lead in favor. You wouldn't want to give them up. Their chinchillas and rough tweeds. And this season we have added to the selection soft spongy like Steamer Rug clothes that are warm, cozy and next to no weight at all. Then there are the new Knickerbocker tweeds and bruce cloths. Many of the collars are three times convertible, being worn open, closed and inside effect—a decided novelty

"Old Place," the seashore home of the Frank B. Bemises at West Beach, Beverly Farms, is one of the most picturesque in that section of the North Shore. Though not as extensive as many others, it has many charming features, including a beautiful Italian garden, built this last summer on the opposite side of the street from their cottage. A pretty green house, on modest lines, has just been erected at the farther end of the garden and a gardener's lodge has also been built. Mrs. Bemis returned recently from a motor-trip along the South Shore. She is now at Lenox for a visit with Miss Heloise Meyer. Mr. Bemis is expected home shortly from a hunting trip to Vancouver, where he has been a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra C. Fitch of Boston and Manchester announce the engagement of their daughter Helen to Mr. Julian P. Fairchild of Brooklyn, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Agassiz Shaw returned Monday to their country estate at Beverly Farms after a month's visit at Peterboro, N. H. Mrs. Shaw was Miss Bird of East Walpole, before her marriage, and her sister married Governor Bass of New Hampshire, who lives at Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander S. Porter, Jr., are at their Manchester cottage for the autumn. They returned this week from a short trip to Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Sawyer Wilson, Jr., of Baltimore, have concluded their season's stay at Beverly Farms and have gone to Stevenson, Maryland, where they have a country estate "Wilton Wood", not far from Baltimore.

Mrs. Richard J. Monks will open her house at Manchester Cove, next Monday, for the autumn season. Miss Grace Monks has been visiting Mrs. Charles P. Coffin at Chocorua, N. H., but will return to the Shore to-morrow to attend the Auchinclos-House wedding at Beverly Farms.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parsons King, of the Pride's Crossing colony, who are in Europe for a brief holiday, were at Aix-le-Bains, France, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hooper, after a visit of many weeks at Bar Harbor, have returned to West Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Livingston Hoyt, and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Weldon, are spending the autumn at Staatsburg-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., where they went early in the season, after closing their New York house. Mrs. Hoyt was one of the Appleton girls of Ipswich, before her marriage. They have been occupying the William Endicott, Jr., cottage at Beverly Cove this summer.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. E. C. Wheeler, Jr., was the winner last week of the Ladies Handicap Challenge cup (golf), at the Essex County club. The eight contesting for the cup were Miss Harriot Curtis, Miss Mellus, Miss Covell, Miss Tucker, Mrs. E. C. Wheeler, Jr., Miss Margaret Curtis, Mrs. Spencer Borden, Jr., and Miss Frost. Mrs. Wheeler played from scratch, and made the 18 holes in 90. Miss Frost made the round in 121, but her 35 handicap gave her a net score of 86. In the playoff between these two, Mrs. Wheeler won, and thereby became possessor of the cup, presented by H. H. Stevens. Miss Stevens won the cup last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Gibson came up from Newport over the week-end and were guests of Mrs. William F. Draper and her daughter, Miss Margaret Preston Draper at Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Tyson, of Sea street, Manchester, gave a very pretty dinner-party of sixteen covers at the Essex County Club last Saturday night. Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Lester Leland, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Waller, Dr. and Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Weld, Mr. and Mrs. Proctor, George Tyson, Mr. Cowles, Miss Bradley and Miss Dalton.

Rear Admiral H. G. O. Colby, who has been at "Red Lodge", Harbor street, West Manchester, all season, leaves to-morrow on his annual trip to the Rangeley Lakes. He will be accompanied by his brother-in-law, Charles E. Cotting, who is also of the West Manchester colony.

A dance is to be held at the Hamilton Town hall this Friday evening in aid of the Beverly Hospital. Mrs. George von L. Meyer and Mrs. Rudolph Agassiz are in charge of the affair. Tickets are $3 and $5 each. Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock. Byrnes will furnish the music. Supper will be served.

Mrs. Samuel Powel of Providence, who has a country estate at East Greenwich, R. I., is at Manchester for a short visit with her mother, Mrs. John Pickering Putnam, who is still at The Brownland cottages.

J. R. Hodges of the Beverly Farms summer colony has gone to Garrison, N. Y., for a visit at the summer home of the Richard C. Colts. He is visiting his young friend Samuel Sloane Colt, who was on the North Shore this summer for a visit with young Hodges.

The Frederick Princes have concluded their stay at Newport and are again at their country estate, "Princemere" East Wenham, where they will do more or less entertaining this autumn during the polo matches at the Myopia Hunt club and especially during the holiday season. For the winter, they will go, as usual, to the Southern part of France.

SOCIETY NOTES

Miss Janet House, whose marriage to Gordon Auchincloss is to take place at the St. John's Episcopal church Saturday, gave a dinner to sixteen of her young friends Thursday evening at the home of her sister, Mrs. Randolph F. Tucker at Beverly Cove. Mrs. Tucker will be matron of honor at her sister's wedding. Mr. Auchincloss arrived on the North Shore from New York Thursday morning and gave a dinner at the Essex County club Thursday evening. Miss House will give a dinner at the same club this evening.

Pinethwaite, the beautiful summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Treat Paine at Pride's Crossing, was the scene of a large dinner party Wednesday evening.

H. S. Vanderbilt is spending the week-end on the North Shore.

Miss Martha Silsbee, the well known Boston artist, who has been abroad this season, has returned to Beverly, where she makes her home summers with her brothers, Arthur and Thomas Silsbee. Miss Silsbee, whose work has created considerable comment in the art world in the past few years, has a Boston studio, where she devotes her time to her chosen work during the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dexter are entertaining Mrs. Dexter's sister, Miss Susan Amory, at their summer home at Beverly Farms. Miss Amory has been spending the summer months at Bar Harbor.

A card party was held Wednesday afternoon at the Pride's Crossing home of Francis J. Cotting, at which Miss Alice Cotting was hostess. The Cottings are soon to close their house and return to Boston.

William Wood, Jr., who very recently came from abroad, has been spending a week at Enfield, Maine. He returned to Pride's Crossing Thursday.

Paul Moore and his family have concluded their visit with Judge and Mrs. Moore at Pride's Crossing and have returned to New York.

J. N. Willys, president of the Willys Overland Automobile company, has been a member of a yachting cruise along the Maine coast during the past week.

One hundred and eighty odd guests were registered at The Oceanside, Magnolia, last night. The hotel will close next Saturday—the 21st, after breakfast. It is a fact that The Oceanside has had a longer and more successful season than any other hotel in New England this summer.

Miss Anna W. Patton came on from New York Thursday to be the guest of Miss Katherine Ayer at "Avalon" the Ayer estate at Pride's.

Q. A. Shaw McKean, who has been at Pride's Crossing all the season, has gone to Penllyn, Pa., for a while.

Mrs. Richard Mortimer is the guest of Mrs. Emily Sloane at Newport for a few days. Mrs. Mortimer is at the "Pump Cottage," Beverly Farms.

Dr. Samuel A. Eliot, president of the Unitarian association, will preach Sunday, Sept. 15th, at the First Unitarian church, Manchester-by-the-Sea.

Boston Theatre

Boston has capitulated to Wagenhals & Kemper's production "The Greyhound" the great modern drama of life on an ocean liner. Every newspaper in Boston welcomed the play of thrills and laughs and gave it the highest praise.

The Transcript over the signature of its distinguished critic Mr. Parker, says, "The Greyhound" reaches into the higher realms of melodrama and is portrayed by modernized acting which is right up-to-the-minute." The Herald says: "It is up-to-date drama, full of exciting incidents and played with great spirit." The Post asserts that "The illusion of a gigantic ocean greyhound has been marvelously achieved," while the Globe announces that "The Greyhound" is an absorbing melodrama which was witnessed by a large audience and received with much enthusiasm. The Journal says: "No wonder 'The Greyhound' played New York to capacity audiences for six full months." It is its dissimilarity to other plays that is so appealing. It carries a strong story of love, intrigue and moving incident through an ocean voyage and in four or five different localities aboard the ship. The play is in four acts and each one of them affords opportunities for elaborate and unconventional stage settings. There are fifty people in the cast.

SOCIETY NOTES

Hon. G. H. Lyman of Beverly Farms left yesterday for his annual five weeks' hunting and fishing trip in New Brunswick.

The Green Gables Inn at Magnolia is still open. Hot toast and tea will be served on the porch until Oct. 1st. Luncheons will also be served.

Tuesday evening a dinner was given for ten at the summer home of Herbert M. Sears at Pride's.

Mrs. Robert S. Bradley was hostess for a dinner company at her Pride's residence Tuesday evening. The guests were entertained by a group of "Children's Songs," charmingly rendered by Miss Katherine Hunt.

Miss Elaine Van Dyke, daughter of Dr. Henry Van Dyke of Princeton, N. J., is on the North Shore for a short visit. She is visiting Miss Alice Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Harry Brown, at Beverly.

Miss Helen Clay Frick is already spending in charities a portion of her father's fortune. Mr. Frick is credited with donating to Pittsburg a splendid park site, which is said will rank among the greatest playgrounds of America. It was, however, really the gift of his daughter. Miss Frick is especially interested in the work and life of shop girls. She has taken a splendid farm near the Frick summer home, and has turned it into a vacation place for women workers. For several summers now, she has opened its hospitable doors to scores of girls who come from the city.—L. A. (Exchange).

A. Edward Ahls, who has been summering at Little Moose Lake, is a guest at Selwood, the summer place of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McKee at Beverly Farms.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Sidney Stone of Boston are spending the week with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Stone at the A. W. Hale Cottage, Land's End.

The Magnolia branch of "The Indian Store" of 186 Boylston street, Boston, located on Fuller street, near Magnolia, post office, will close Sept. 21st. Special bargains are offered in baskets, jewelry, pottery and other interesting articles.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. John Silsbee Curtis opened their attractive residence at Beverly Farms last Friday evening for a dinner-party.

G. C. Caner won the men's singles scratch tennis tournament at the Essex County club recently. Snydam Cutting was the runner-up, having defeated Chas. E. Cotting, Jr., in the semi-finals. Mr. Caner's opponent in the semi-finals was R. S. Lovering. Mr. Caner beat Mr. Cutting, 1-6, 6-3, 6-1, 6-3. Caner and Cutting won the men's doubles scratch tournament by defeating Matthew Bartlett and R. S. Lovering, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3, 7-5, 12-10.

Mrs. Walter Alexander gave a farewell dinner at the Brownlands, Manchester, on Monday evening, to a few of her friends who are closing the season at this popular hostelry. In the party were noted Mrs. H. M. Hubbard, Mrs. Josephine and Catherine Dorr and Miss Bradley. Mrs. Hubbard and Miss Bradley left Manchester this week after being at the Brownlands all the season. They motored as far as Lenox and, to-morrow, will join Mrs. Hubbard's little daughter at New Canaan, Ct. After a short stay there, Miss Bradley will go to her father's estate on the Hudson and Mrs. Hubbard to her western home.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Chase returned to Manchester last Friday from a visit at the Kineo House, Moosehead Lake, Me. They will not close their cottage at Old Neck until the 24th of this month. Mrs. Chase's sister, Mrs. Brown and Dr. Brown, closed their cottage at Manchester last week and returned to Worcester. Her brother, Richard Wigglesworth is expected home from his western trip about the 15th of this month, in time to take up his work as coach of the Harvard football eleven this fall.

Emmanuel church, Masconomio street, Manchester-by-the-Sea, was the scene of a brilliant wedding last Friday afternoon, when Miss Emily M. Richardson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Francis Richardson of Boston, was married to Charles Huntington Porter of Boston by Dr. Emery Porter of Newport, and Dean Hodges of the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge. In the bridal party were Mrs. William T. Pickering of Providence, matron of honor; Miss Anna F. Wellington, Boston and Manchester, maid of honor. The flower children were the bride's niece, Eleanor Brown of Wellesley, and Charles J. Prescott of Boston. Charles J. Prescott, Jr., of Boston, served Mr. Porter as best man, and the ushers were Prof. Harvey N. Davis, Cambridge; Clarence Leslie, Albany; Dr. John Hartwell, Allan McNabb, Boston, and William T. Pickering, Providence. At the conclusion of the ceremony the 150 guests who attended the wedding drove to "Seabrink," the summer home of William F. Wellington of Boston at Smith's Point, Manchester, where a reception was held. Mr. and Mrs. Porter will reside in Boston.

MARBLEHEAD

The September season is proving a most successful one at the Rock-Mere. The mid-summer guests have gone but there are still about a hundred, who are enjoying the ideal September days here. Mrs. B. K. Field with her daughter of Berlin, Ct., and Miss Bourland of Van Buren have been making a fortnight's visit here. Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McNeil of Brookline have also been guests here. They had their fine motor car with them and thoroughly enjoyed the unlimited opportunities for driving that North Shore roads afford. Mr. McNeil is of the firm of Thayer, McNeil and Hodgkins. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barnes with their daughter, Marguerite and their son, Robert, have been here for some time.

OCEANSIDE HOTEL, MAGNOLIA

After the greatest season in its history—a season made memorable by large expansion of accommodations, by a patronage that crowded the hotel to its capacity and by a continuance of that patronage sufficient to keep the house open long after the great majority of summer hotels had closed—The Oceanside, Magnolia, the biggest summer hotel in all New England, will close for the season of 1912 on the morning of Saturday, Sept. 21.

With the closing still a week off, there are still new arrivals. Not a few of the Oceanside's guests in years ago have found that September in New England, and, especially, at Magnolia, is one of the most beautiful periods of the year. And there are still a few coming for their first visit this season—from New York, from Washington, and even from faraway Kansas City to spend that last week at Magnolia, by the sea.

Of those who are leaving Magnolia, some are going to the mountains for a continuation of their rest and recreation. The majority are homeward bound. The Oceanside is a great "home hotel". Its guests, many of whom have been coming there for a generation, are generally elderly people with good-sized families of sons and daughters, ranging from 30 years down to four. Now these families are bound for the city, where the girls and boys will go back to school, the elderly sons and daughters to college and the first daughter of the family to prepare for the winter's society season soon to come. Next June will see them all bound for Magnolia again.

One of the very late arrivals is Miss Elizabeth Welsh of Chicago. Miss Welsh is a great friend of the George H. Crockers of Pittsburg, who have been at The Oceanside since its opening. She is their guest at The Breakers cottage until the end of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Robson and Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Swan, represent two of the best known families of Rochester, N. Y. They are touring New England by easy stages and are at The Oceanside for a week or ten days.

Mrs. G. H. Thompson and her two beautiful daughters, motored over from their home in Brockton, early in the week and spent the night at The Oceanside, on their way to the Bretton Woods. With them, as their guest, they had Miss Catherine Goss, also of Brockton.

A happy party made up of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. S. Prentiss Baldwin and Mrs. H. R. Hatch, all of New York City, arrived at The Oceanside on Tuesday to stay until the season closes. This is their second visit to the big hotel this summer. All came early in July and spent the month. Then they went on to the Bretton Woods. Now they are motoring back to New York, expecting to reach there about Oct. 1.

Just at present The Oceanside has a very distinguished guest in Walter Raymond of Pasadena, California. Mr. Raymond is owner of the Raymond Hotel at Pasadena, the most famous hotel on the Pacific Coast. He is also the originator of the Raymond-Whitecomb tours. Mr. Raymond is accompanied by Mrs. Raymond and their son and daughter, Arthur E. and Miss Mildred Raymond. They have just returned from Europe where they have been traveling the continent all summer. They will stay until the house closes.

M. R. Bryan of Brookline has joined his family to remain with them until the close of the season.

L. B. Fletcher, of Boston, who has been at the Oceanside since early in July, is entertaining Newell Bent and J. Duke Smith also of Boston, until the house closes.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Beech of Providence, R. I., motored over to Magnolia Sunday and are spending the week at the Oceanside.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Larue Munson of Williamsport, Pa., are touring New England in their big, new car. They arrived at Magnolia last Friday and spent the week-end at the Oceanside before going on up the shore to Portland and the Bretton Woods.

Mr. and Mrs. O. U. Edwards, Mrs. O. B. Wetherell and Howard B. Wetherell, all of Pittsburg, are spending a week at the Oceanside.

Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Hollister of New York City come to Magnolia every summer and are now enjoying a ten-days' stay at The Oceanside.

Among those who left Magnolia this week was Mrs. Frank L. Herne of Kansas City. Mrs. Herne has been at The Oceanside since early in June. She became quite distinguished, among the fashionable North Shore set, for her stunning gowns and winning manner. Before starting West for the winter, she will spend several weeks in New York City.

Another Kansas City family to leave was that of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Withers. The Withers have been coming to the Oceanside for many years and have many friends among the perennial guests of the big hotel. This year they had apartments in the Tennis cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Malivy and Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Amston of Portland, Me., are motoring to New York City and spent three days at The Oceanside early in the week. From New York they will take the western trail of the Ideal Tour back to the mountains and Portland.

Mrs. Gerald D. Bramwell of New Yory City is numbered among those who are leaving the Oceanside for home this week. Mrs. Bramwell is one of the most beautiful of the younger matrons that visit the Oceanside every year. She has always been a great favorite both with the young and old and is often the center of attention at the Oceanside dances. Before her marriage she was Miss Faithful Ames of Boston.

Mrs. Emmet Queen and daughter, Miss Philippa, have returned to their home in New York City, after a season's stay at The Oceanside, as Miss Philippa is to return to school. She has been a great favorite among the younger set at the Oceanside this summer.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Saltonstall sailed from London Wednesday on the Adriatic and will soon join the colony at Beverly Cove, where they now make their year-round home.

Mrs. W. C. Loring returned to her summer home at Pride's Crossing the first of the week after a ten days trip to the mountains.

Mrs. Amory A. Lawrence has with her at her Beverly Cove home her niece, Miss Laura Amory of Boston and her nephew, George Amory of Wilmington, Del.

Dr. and Mrs. Malcolm McBurney, who have had the Barlow cottage at Beverly Farms this season, returned the latter part of last week from a short visit at Stockbridge, Mass., with the former's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Charles McBurney. The McBurneys are among the newly-married couples on the North Shore this season and have been very popular among the younger set. Dr. and Mrs. McBurney were married on June 18th at the Church of the Incarnation, New York City. Both are very enthusiastic devotees of the life out-doors and have taken part in many of the tennis and golf events at the Essex County Club, Magnolia and other rendezvous of the fashion along the Shore.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra C. Fitch of the Manchester colony have gone to the mountains for a short stay.

WENHAM

At the Village church Sunday morning the minister, Rev. F. M. Cutler, conducted the communion service and preached a sermon appropriate to the occasion.The Y. M. C. A. boy scouts held their hike and camp-fire council Saturday afternoon. This program will be followed as long as the fair weather continues. Although the scouts have not been meeting regularly during August, they have made considerable progress. Several engaged in archery and javelin practice. One qualified in swimming.
Conary, Knowlton, Sawyer and Trott passed in second-class signaling. The Y. M. C. A. ball team continued its season through August, playing almost every Saturday, and won a good proportion of victories.The home missionary societies of America unite in observing the third week of November as Home Mission Week. By way of preparation they provide a series of twelve interesting charts of illustrative and important themes. One of these charts will be exhibited and explained each Sunday in the village church.The Wenham tea room continued its prosperous career during August, gaining an especial reputation for jellies, preserves, marmalade, pound cake, fudge cake and griddle-cakes.
Saturday week was the record day in point of attendance, sixty-nine patrons being present, and nine automobiles being counted standing before the door at one time. Thursday Mrs. Haskell entertained a party of friends. On Friday Miss Kate Dodge similarly acted as hostess in the tea room. A Franklin stove is to be set up, in order to ensure comfort during the autumn.Rev. Mr. Cutler and his family spent their vacation in week-end journeys to different places. Visits were made to Gloucester, Salem,
Portland, Me., and Asbury Grove.
Mr. Cutler returns in the best of health and spirits.The sewing school maintained by the Village Improvement society concluded its work last Thursday after a highly successful season. The gifted teacher, Miss Mary Prince, has instructed forty girls in the use of the needle. Prizes in the form of silver thimbles and other articles useful in sewing are given for perfect attendance.The Y. P. S. C. E. purchased a stereopticon last week, and will soon commence a series of entertainments.
The stereopticon will also be available for use Sunday evenings.

WENHAM

The Y. M. C. A. building was cleaned last week and rendered more serviceable for the fall season. The officers and local committee met and made arrangements for resuming the work.

In the death of Dr. Charles T. Parker last week Wenham lost one of its respected summer residents. The funeral services in the Wenham Neck church drew a large attendance of neighbors and friends. When Mrs. Parker selected the old Wenham cemetery as the place for the interment, she gave silent testimony to the strength of Wenham's hold upon her and her husband's affection.

Installation of New Telephone System at Wenham

All along the North Shore new telephone exchanges and improvements on the old order of things are being provided. Last Saturday week the new exchange at Wenham Center, which will serve Hamilton as well as Wenham, was opened. The new office is just across the street from the old and is much more commodious in many ways. The light system, has taken the place of the magneto system here, too. The cut over took place in five seconds, which is something of a record. Joseph Cawthorne of Manchester had the honor of taking the first call at the new board. Now that a new central office has been opened in Wenham, there are greater facilities for good service. The town has a wire chief of its own, now, whereas, formerly, it had to depend on Beverly. Miss Robbins is as before, the chief operator, Joseph Costello is the night operator. Already many have spoken of the great advantages of the installation of the new service with highest praise.

B. F. Keith's Theatre.

One of the greatest bills of the season, with practically every act new to Boston, is promised for B. F. Keith's Theatre next week. With Joseph Hart's latest and best production, "Honor Among Thieves," the Great Jungman Troupe, and Robbie Gordon, the posing Venus, the week will be exceptionally notable in novelties. This comedy tells a most interesting and amusing story of life among the crooks and thieves of New York City. Two eminently respectable bachelors share an apartment. A burglar attempts to rifle their rooms. He is captured, and then recognizes the two bachelors as two well-known members of his own profession. They attempt to rob the would-be robber. The latter gets a policeman, and upon the discovery that the officer also is an ex-crook, the four decide to divide the spoils equally among them. Robbie Gordon is one of the most beautiful young women on the stage. She will present a startling series of studies in living marble, including "The Lion's Bride." The Great Jungman troupe is a fine company of high wire artists and aerialists, and others will be Van and Schenck in a novel act; Mullen and Coogan, two funny comedians; Puck and Lewis, a clever boy and girl; Will Setron, the double-voiced vocalist, and others yet to be announced.

SOCIETY NOTES

Congressman and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth (Alice Roosevelt), have concluded their annual visit with Mr. and Mrs. Guy Norman, at Beverly Cove. Among the several informal entertainments in their honor were several dinner parties at the Normans'. They were also invited to several little luncheons and dinners at the Essex County and other clubs. Mrs. Bryce J. Allan, a sister of Mrs. Norman, arranged a dinner of 20 covers for the Longworths, but invitations for this function were withdrawn on account of the sudden death of Dr. Parker of the Hamilton summer colony.

He is succeeded as manager by a cousin, Hamilton Allan, from the Montreal office, who, by the way, was one of the ushers at Mr. Allan's wedding 16 years ago to Miss Anna Palfrey, at Beverly. The Allans have a Boston house at 255 Beacon street. Their summer home at Beverly Cove is one of the most attractive houses on the Shore. It is kept open the year-round, as Mr. and Mrs. Allan entertain week-end parties there very frequently throughout the winter, especially around the holiday season.

THE OCEANSIDE HOTEL, MAGNOLIA

Members of the New York and Boston Stock Exchange

Higher money rates, on the one hand, and good news on the other. The first meaning only temporary embarrassment, the second meaning prosperity and continued business activity. That is the situation that has ruled during the past week. The day to day traders have sold stocks and the more far sighted have taken what was offered at slight recessions. On any cessation of selling pressure the market became absolutely dead showing that bear activity had failed to start any liquidation of real stock.

It should be borne in mind that the money stringency will only last till the middle of October and that if it should become at all acute the new currency legislation affords speedy and ample relief to say nothing of the fact that the government is in a position to deposit over 50 million in the banks at a moment's notice. Bankers have been forehanded this year and currency was shipped to the West much earlier this year than usual and in greater quantity. We wish to repeat again our opinion that under present conditions when money is in demand for the legitimate uses of business and not for speculation such stringency is an evidence of prosperity and can only work for higher prices of stocks ultimately. The professional traders may do what they like with prices within a narrow range. Below a certain figure the large interests are willing to absorb them and above a certain figure they stand ready to put on the brakes to prevent any active speculation which would divert funds from crop-moving. The government figures show a larger aggregate tonnage to be moved than in any previous year and owing to some crop failures abroad prices average higher than in other bumper years.

We thus have for a backlog to the market the certainty of good railway earnings for some months, and the steel statement of unfilled tonnage taken as an index of general conditions in the metal industries assures prosperity to the industrials. For a long pull we can see nothing serious in the present situation even allowing for political unrest. The copper stocks could of course only decline in sympathy with the general market, consequently when we consider the last copper producers statement we then think the greatest speculative opportunities lie in those issues.

AT THE ROCKPORT HOTELS

The delightful September days are making Rockport more than ever a place of beauty and the colony seems to feel a shade of regret that the summer season must close so soon. The Ocean View closed Monday. During the last week of the season a party including J. W. Turner and P. M. Foote of Cortland, N. Y., and Katherine Driscoll of Boston were at the hotel. Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Patrick of Elyria, Ohio, were also included among the week's guests. Others at the Ocean View have been: A. H. Pingree of Norwood; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Phillips of Swampscott, Mrs. T. Martin of Cambridge and Fred Butt and party of Boston. Many of the guests will spend a few remaining weeks of the summer at Rockport at other houses.

The Granite Shore is still open and busy. W. W. Wells, son and daughter of West Newton are among the recent arrivals. Mrs. Mary Hume with her two popular daughters, Miss Margaret and Miss Harriet Hume, of Ayer are at the hotel to make an extended visit. Judge Charles W. Parker and Mrs. Parker are among the recent arrivals. Tremont L. Pugsby of Melrose Highlands has been here for a few days. The Granite Shore will doubtless be open until the first of October.

The Headland House has been the headquarters for a delightful party consisting of Mrs. George Kennedy of Berlin, Germany, her sister, Mrs. Harriet P. Sawyer of St. Louis, her brother Robert Price, also of Berlin, Mrs. Louise Price Parker of Brookline, who was joined over the week-end by her husband, and Mrs. E. W. Price of Kent, Ohio. Mrs. Kennedy and Mr. Price sailed Tuesday for Germany. Mrs. Sawyer will be at the Headland House throughout September and her mother, Mrs. Price, will be here at least a week longer before returning to Kent, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. L. Rainford of E. Lynn have been at the hotel for a short visit.

The Clifford House at Pigeon Cove will be open until the first of November. There are nearly as many guests here as in the height of the season. Among the latest to leave will be Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, who have been here practically all summer. Mr. Murphy is a government inspector working on the breakwater at Rockport. Miss Laura Brooks of Gardner is among the latest to arrive here.

Thro' this toilsome world, Alas!

Once, and only once, I pass.

If a kindness I may show,

If a good deed I may do,

To my suffering fellow-man,

Let me do it while I can;

Nor delay it, for 'tis plain

I shall not pass this way again.

—Joseph A. Torrey

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. Randolph Tucker will send out invitations in a day or two for an informal Suffrage meeting at her house, Ober street, Beverly, on Monday morning, Sept. 23, at 11 o'clock. Mrs. McCormick, Miss Stanwood and others will speak.

United States Department of Agriculture. New Experiment Station To Be Established

Secretary Wilson of the United States Department of Agriculture has decided to establish an experiment station on the Manti National Forest near Ephraim, Utah, for the study of grazing and water protection problems. In fact bids for the construction of the necessary buildings have been received and it is expected to have the station in working order before winter. Already the gathering of observations on the relations of erosion and runoff to the forest cover have begun.

The Manti National Forest was chosen as the site for this experiment station because it offers exceptionally good opportunities for investigating problems of practical value in connection with regulated grazing. Ephraim and other towns in its neighborhood have suffered severely from floods following violent rainstorms in the mountains, and it has been already proved conclusively that the overgrazed condition of areas on which the natural vegetative cover has been seriously altered is responsible for the formation of torrents and the rapid discharge of debris-laden floodwaters. In a recent destructive storm the water ran clear from a part of the watershed which was within the National Forest, and in good condition as a result of well regulated grazing, while from other areas it swept down sand and boulders. One of the objects of the study will be to learn how the maximum of grazing use of Natural Forest land can be obtained without injury to forest reproduction and stream flow.

The National Forests provide range during a part of all of the year for a considerable part of the stock produced in the western States. Approximately one and one-half million head of cattle and horses and seven and one-half million head of sheep and goats occupy the Forest lands each year. These figures do not include nearly three hundred thousand calves and over four million lambs and kids for which permits are not required..

More or less complaint is being heard about the new arrangement of mails between Rockport and Gloucester, and Manchester. No mail now arrives from Gloucester and Rockport on the 10:30 a. m. train; nor does a mail depart for these points on the 11.45 train. It is probable that if a petition were presented to the postmaster for a continuation of these two mails, that the department would take the matter under consideration.

The prosecuting attorney of Chicago is disgusted with the task imposed upon him by law of trying women murderers before a jury of men. He has had four cases of that sort and in every one thought he had made out a clear case of first degree, but the jury either acquitted or disagreed. Others agree with him in the opinion that it is a practical impossibility to secure a jury of twelve men who will convict a pretty woman of a capital offense. If she is homely of feature or of colored complexion, the case is different, and evidence counts; but when a pretty woman weeps and turns her appealing eyes to the jury box, the prosecution might as well quit and go home, as all the law and evidence that can be brought in counts for nothing. This is not merely the opinion of an attorney who is bitter over losing a fight, but Jane Addams and other philanthropists agree with the conclusions; and urge that woman juries to try cases involving murder by women is the only way to secure justice and stop the epidemic of this kind of crime now going over the country.

Antiques At Private Sale

A permanent resident of Manchester, Mass., has a few pieces of rare furniture, silver, china, etc., which he wishes to dispose of, and among which may be mentioned an exceedingly rare and genuine specimen of an early Sheraton 3-piece sideboard, of rich figured San Domingo mahogany. A Louis XV Secretoire of Kingwood with finely chased Ormolu decoration. Two Dutch Colonial highboys, burl walnut fronts and herring bone inlay, and a Sheraton card table also inlaid, and in fine condition.

A few exceedingly rare Chinese porcelain of the Ming period, a carved rock crystal ewer and patten, and a number of Oil Paintings of great antiquity and guaranteed authenticity, including works by Moretto de Brescia, D. Teniers the younger, Sir Peter Lely, Hogarth, Largilliere, Tocque and others.

A few rare old portrait miniatures, Italian wood carvings and a small but choice collection of drawings by old masters of the Italian, French and Dutch schools are also for disposal.

The whole of the above were purchased abroad with discriminating taste and judgement, from well known collections and are of particular interest to the Connoisseur and advanced collector.

Further particulars and appointment to view, may be obtained by calling up Telephone 78-4. Manchester, Mass.

Fire Warden's Notice

Town of Manchester, Mass.

Chapter two hundred and nine of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and eight is hereby amended by striking out section one and inserting in place thereof the following:—Section 1. It shall be unlawful within any city, or within any town which accepts the provisions of this act, for any person to set a fire in the open air between the first day of March and the first day of December except by the written permission of the forest warden; that debris from fields, gardens and orchards, or leaves and rubbish from yards may be burned on ploughed fields by the owners thereof, their agents or lessees; and provided, further, that persons above eighteen years of age may maintain a fire for a reasonable purpose upon sandy or barren land, if the fire is enclosed within rocks, metal or other non-inflammable material. In every case such fire shall be at least two hundred feet distant from any forest or sprout lands, and at least fifty feet distant from any building, and shall be properly attended until it is extinguished. The forest warden shall cause public notice to be given of the provisions of this section, and shall enforce the same. Whoever violates the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than one month, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

The Panama Bill

It has been charged that Mr. Taft made an error in signing the Canal Bill and that he should have vetoed it in order that it should come to him in the other form as suggested by Senator Frye. According to this process the government would have reimbursed the American ships. This would have been a subterfuge, pure and simple. By this method the United States would practically acknowledge to the world that it was violating the terms of the treaty and knew that it could not safely trust its case to arbitration and resorted to the Frye policy to avoid the testing and consequent losing of its case. To the contrary the United States refused that underhand questionable method of dodging the issue but took an honorable stand for free tolls as in accord with the Hays-Pauncefote Treaty. Having aligned itself in favor of arbitration the United States will not on its honor shirk the responsibility in its own case. To have resorted to the subterfuge would have been a self-evident fear of the necessity and consequences of arbitration. Instead of committing a diplomatic blunder Mr. Taft has signed a bill that is in keeping with a code of ethics that is creditable to the honor and dignity of the United States. If a call is made by Great Britain to have its merits tested by arbitration the United States will not be found wanting. If the United States loses its case before a tribunal of the nations there are honorable ways of obtaining the justice which it believes due to its own shipping. No nation or individual can in the long run fail by taking high ethical ground.

The Vermont Returns

The widely varying deductions made by the various parties from the results of the Vermont elections show the folly of such hard and fast interpretations. The Democrats claim, it means Wilson, the Progressive Party sees the success of Big Bull Moose Teddy, the Socialist the inevitable breaking up of the old parties, the Prohibitionists detect the value of their work in the unrest in the other parties. As a matter of fact it simply tells on the face of it that despite the Bull Moose secession, the Prohibition and Socialist developments, and the Democratic gains that the Republican Party is still far from being dead. As for the weather vane down in Maine that is as erratic and will contribute little to the problem. Maine went for Roosevelt in the Primaries, hands down but the National Convention went for Taft. Many things can happen between now and November and the results of Maine and Vermont are but small factors in the great result. The appeal to the figures of the past are coincidences and not laws.

The Milk Question

The residents of the North Shore have been spared many of the inconveniences due to unsatisfactory service in milk and butter in the larger cities, particularly the city of Boston. The high price of grain, the discriminating railroad rates, the rigid inspection method of supply and production and the steady increase in the population of that city has had a tendency to drive out the local state producer of milk and has opened the market to "long haul" milk. Every one believes in the modern sanitary methods demanded in the care of milk in Massachusetts, but it has opened up the state to milk produced beyond the jurisdiction of the state. But this is no reason why the modern progressive methods should not continue. A temporary pessimistic spirit may be inevitable but the organizing ability of some business genius and the co-operation of the neighboring state legislatures will soon dispell this spirit and the City of Boston and other cities will receive a pure and adequate supply of milk. In the meantime a service can be done the farmers within the state and the consumers by passing sane and scientific laws that will insure a pure milk, unadulterated by preservatives. As it is now the laws merely regulate the purity of the milk and provide for the percentage of butter fat, but no regulations exist relative to the use of preservatives or the age of milk. These two neglects in the law will speedily be remedied to the advantage of the producer and consumer.

The Foreign Problem

The response made by the Italians to the announcement of a lecture provided by Miss Loring in the chapel of the Beverly Farms church to the number of sixty-two opens an avenue of approach to these men who by their labor have contributed so much to the welfare of the Shore in doing the rough work on estates and constructive work on the roads, that augurs well for the future. The time has come to inaugurate and to continue a definite community building policy. The school systems of our towns should be supplemented by other social agencies to better the conditions of these people. Every day of labor by an Italian on the shore is shore betterment. He may send the money earnings of his labor back to Italy but he cannot send back the results of his work. These are left in sewerage systems, railroads, good roads and well ordered estates. After all does not the public owe them the knowledge that has made our modern life wholesome and sanitary?

Office for Public Service

The public may not be justified in attacking Mr. Roosevelt, politically, for his personal disloyalty to Mr. Taft as a man, nor justified in accusing him of being a party to campaign contributions, which while not being corrupt, violate the ethics of good government, nevertheless the public is justified in refusing to support a man who has not been great enough to be a good citizen and loyal to the President of the United States. They are justified in not supporting a man that has violated the simplest implications of his own professed doctrines of the "square deal" and "office for public service" by dragging the dignity and honor of the highest office in the gift of the people down from the high level of service for the people to the low level of satisfying the ambitions of a self-seeking man who has not only sacrificed his own honor but that of his party for selfish personal ends.

Indictments and Politics

It is a pity that the high office of Governor of Massachusetts is subject to such indignity by the unworthy way in which the processes of law, intended to be used for the protection of the rights and liberties of all, are used as a means of gaining publicity to further the political aspirations of a candidate rather than as powers to be executed for the public good. The attacks being made upon organized industry have ceased being virtues and are rapidly becoming as obsolete as the "high cost of living" slogan of two and three years ago. Is the man who will use the powers of a small office unjustly for his own ends worthy of the governorship of Massachusetts?

Cheap Politics

The puerile spirit in which the guerilla warfare on the present incumbent of the Congressman's chair from this district is being waged by the democratic aspirant for that office reveals qualities that make the democratic candidate, as the representative of this district, impossible.

Mr. Hilles' announcement that Mr. Roosevelt's propaganda is "any thing to beat Taft" is certainly true but whether Mr. Taft or Mr. Roosevelt loses or gains it is more evident that T. R. has lost the place he had in the hearts of his countrymen.

The improved condition of Manchester's streets, now that many of the telephone poles have been removed, is very apparent. The telephone company is fast placing its wires under ground in the principal streets of the town, as well as at other places along the North Shore.

CONG. GARDNER WILLING TO MEET SENATOR SCHOFIELD IN DEBATE

Amqui, P. Q., Canada,
September 6, 1912.

My Dear Sir:

I have read your letter in the newspaper challenging me to debate the issues of this campaign.

I had not heard that Mr. Crowley had withdrawn from his contest for the nomination; but I assume that you do not concede him any chance. I therefore accept your challenge for a debate to be held before October 20th. I specify an early date for two reasons: first, on account of my physical condition which is always uncertain under the strain of a campaign, and second, on account of your bitter complaint at the lateness of the date which I suggested on a former occasion.

In order to avoid the unseemly wrangle over the conditions of the contest such as occurred the last time, I leave them entirely for your decision. You shall open the debate, or close it, or both, just as you please. The date of the debate prior to October 20th you may select. The place, the hour, the time to be consumed, the hall, the presiding officer, all shall be according to your wishes. All I ask is that you shall notify me of the time and place, and that you shall send me one half of the tickets.

I do not propose to discuss this proposition further with you. You may take it or leave it, as you like; but I shall not permit you to boggle over it.

I do not, of course, overlook the fact that you suggest that we both cut loose from our party rallies and hold a series of joint debates. I hardly think that your proposition can be meant seriously, and, after all, is it not noticeably one-sided? Since I entered politics, I have never pretended to be anything but a straight out Republican. You and Henry M. Whitney, on the contrary, have been the candidates of the Anti-Bryan, Pro-Merger wing of the Massachusetts Democracy. As the Bryan wing is now in control, it may not seem to you to be vital whether or not you adhere to your party's rallies; but personally, I do not propose to abandon the Republican ship in a storm.

As the best way of reaching the public, I counter-challenge you to continue until Election Day the interesting joint debate which we have been carrying on by means of public letters addressed to each other. However, there will be plenty of time to discuss the question after you have apologized for your slander or proved that I have paid workers in my employ.

On the occasion of our joint debate, I shall answer your question about the Panama Canal, and moreover, then or sooner, I shall ask you some questions as to your votes in favor of "holding companies". I believe that I can throw a new light on your championship of the New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R. "holding company" bill which will make your answer interesting. Let me say, however, that I believe that you were led astray on this question of "holding companies" by your political alliances with the Whitney crowd and I readily admit that you may not have understood the full measure of what you were doing until Governor Foss' scathing veto drove you to the realization of public opinion.

Very truly yours,

Augustus P. Gardner.

S., were united in marriage last Saturday afternoon at the parochial residence in Manchester, by the Rev. Fr. Mark Sullivan of the Sacred Heart church. The young people were attended by Miss Adelaide Porter of Medford, a cousin of the bride, and Gordon Slade, a brother of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Slade will make their home in Manchester, where Mr. Slade is in the fish business.

Professor Krumpeln's Recital Largely Attended

Professor Krumpeln, the blind musician and composer, gave a recital on Tuesday evening at the Congregational church, Manchester, which drew a large crowd. Professor Krumpeln is well known along the Shore. He summers at Magnolia, giving several concerts each season. The recital Tuesday evening was given under the auspices of the District Nurse Fund committee of the Manchester Woman's club. The club has never had any entertainment of such a character, nor one which drew so large a crowd. Mrs. Allen S. Peabody was in charge. Professor Krumpeln's interpretation of his selections is wonderful and his original composition, "Death and Resurrection", which he played at King Edward's "Memorial" at London in 1910, gave an unmistakable conviction of a spirit of courage and faith. The program was as follows:

- Grand Processional Gounod
- Overture to "William Tell" Rossini
- (in four movements)
- a. "Solitude in the Alps"
- b. "The Storm on Lake Lucerne"
- c. "The Alpine Shepherd"
- d. "The Victory Over the Austrians"
- Melody Rubenstein
- Song—"Ave Maria" Gounod
- Mrs. Raymond C. Allen, with violin obligato by Miss Marian Scott

"The Cuckoo and the Nightingale" Handel
"The Angel of Love" Waldteufel
Improvisation on "Favorite Hymn-tunes" Krumpeln
Pilgrims' Chorus Wagner
Song—"The Rosary" Nevin
Mrs. Raymond C. Allen
Sextette from "Lucia" Donnizetti
Soldiers' Chorus Gounod
"Death and Resurrection" Krumpeln
Mrs. Raymond C. Allen's solos were very sweetly rendered and "The Rosary", in particular, appealed to the audience.

After the closing number of the program, Professor Krumpeln was applauded with such enthusiasm that he was induced to return to the organ and give a number of selections. Finally the crowd rose to the inspiring notes of "The Star Spangled Banner" and each one who had been present left the church with a new feeling of appreciation for the national song.

Playground Work at Manchester

Lawrence F. McCarthy, instructor at the Brook Street playgrounds, Manchester, is to remain until the 15th of this month. He has been here since the middle of April. Few people of the older residents of the town know of the actual work being carried on under the direction of the school committee at the playgrounds. In a general way they know there is a playgrounds and that somebody is in attendance to look after the children. They do not know that Mr. McCarthy has been giving regular courses in instruction all summer, thus doing much to improve and benefit the members of the younger generation.

For instance, the program carried out each week, is somewhat as follows: Monday forenoon, tennis lessons, 10-11; baseball; afternoon, swimming classes, 8 to 14 years, at Singing beach, 2.30-4.30. Tuesday forenoon, tennis lessons, 10-11; afternoon, two classes in folk dancing, one class 8 to 12 years, the other 12 to 15 years. Hours, 4-5. Wednesday forenoon, tennis lessons and games; afternoon, swimming lessons 2.30 to 3.30 at Singing Beach. Thursday forenoon, gymnastic work on apparatus, 10-11; afternoon, folk dancing, 4-5, in Assembly hall. Friday forenoon, tennis lessons; afternoon, swimming. Saturday forenoon, gymnastic work on apparatus.

The work deviates from the above as the occasion and demands arise. Much good has come of these lessons and the work in general and it is hoped that the good work can be carried on. Mr. McCarthy will probably go to Palm Beach, Fla. this coming winter, though he has been made several offers to remain in Boston.

Portland Division of The B. and M. To Have New Superintendent

William F. Ray, who has been for sometime superintendent of the Portland Division of the Boston and Maine railroad, has been promoted to the office of general superintendent. His place will be taken by W. C. McMullan of New Haven. Mr. McMullan is a very capable railroad man, having risen rapidly in the last few years. The change goes into effect September 15th.

Mrs. Lucinda Baker entertained a party of ten at her camp at Chebacco lake last Saturday.

Miss Alice Haraden and Miss Clara Sargent leave tomorrow for Cape Breton, N. S., where they will spend their annual vacation together.

MANCHESTER

Philippe White, who has been working in the navy yard at Mare Island, California, for the last three years, arrived in Manchester last night for a month's visit with his brothers, Timothy and Louis White.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis L. Dodge of Beverly, held a picnic at their wood lot, Pleasant street, Manchester, last Sunday.

"The Angel of the Trail" was presented at the Town hall Monday evening. There was a fairly large sized attendance and all pronounced the show a decided success.

Tuesday evening Miss Hester Rust was hostess at a chafing dish party given in honor of Miss Adele Sjolund and Miss Gertrude Ryan, who leave Manchester for Chicago Monday morning. There were about a dozen young people present and music formed a part of the evening's enjoyment. A welsh rarebit was served.

Miss Grace McFadden has sailed for Ireland after a two weeks' visit with her sister, Mrs. Alexander Gillis, Bennett street.

Mrs. Ezra Crombie was a guest of her sister, Mrs. Henry Ward Andrews, South Essex, the first of the week.

News has been received of the death of Charles A. Burnham of Essex this week. He leaves a widow and two sons. His widow was formerly a Manchester woman, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William James of this town.

Douglas McKim concludes his engagement at the Baker Farm to-morrow evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Torrey have closed their cottage, Union street, and are now with their son-in-law and daughter, Prof. and Mrs. Charles L. Norton at Hudson, N. H.

Miss Florence Wadwell of New London, Ct., formerly of Hudson, Mass., is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. James Beaton at their home on School street.

Wednesday noon an alarm was rung in from Box 52 for a slight fire at the boat yard belonging to Timothy White. It was thought at first that there was considerable danger, not only to the boat yard but to the numerous other wooden buildings near. The damage was very slight, however, and the flames were extinguished in about a quarter of an hour.

Mrs. Hodgdon, wife of the letter-carrier, had the misfortune to fall one day this week, while at Magnolia, and break a bone in her arm.

MANCHESTER

Another of the delightful barn dances which the residents of Manchester Cove and Magnolia have been giving for their help, was given one night recently by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smithers, who have a cottage at Manchester Cove.

Miss Ethel Mason returned Sunday from a week's visit at Rockland, Maine.

Beverly Farms Nine Victor Over Manchesters

The baseball game at the Beverly Farms play-ground last Saturday afternoon between the Manchester and the Beverly Farms teams resulted in a victory for the Farmers. The score was 11 to 0. Both teams played pretty even until the 6th inning, when a few errors allowed several runs for the Farms team. Many of the Manchester "fans" complained that the Farms team was composed of star players from the Gloucester and Rockport teams, but as a matter of fact the Farms team was almost to a man what it has been all summer. A return game will be played on the Brook street diamond, Manchester, a week from to-morrow, and it is safe to say it will be the hottest game of the summer.

ECHOES FROM CAMP PROVINCE

Province Lake, N. H.

For the Boy Scouts of Manchester, "Camp Province, 1912," lives in memories of delightful experiences met with on the attractive shores of the beautiful Province Lake, N. H. Having shared these experiences, the writer believes the narration of some of them will be of interest to the citizens of Manchester.

Thursday, August 22, was Visitor's Day. The camp welcomed visitors from nine a. m. until three p. m. Summer residents from the countryside arrived early to see the Scouts and to inspect the camp. The Boy Scout movement was new to many but a keen interest in it was aroused as its origin, method, scope and development were described. The three classes of Scout work were explained fully. The order of life in camp was described and the visitors saw the Scouts tidying their tents, building their bungalow, assembled at dinner and quietly performing their several duties with the precision of soldiers and enjoying their recreation period in the way natural to normal, healthy, growing boys, living near to Nature's heart. Visitors were present from Port Tampa, Florida; Washington, D. C.; Weymouth, Mass.; Cambridge, Mass.; Kittery, Maine, and Topsfield, Mass; also the town of South Effingham showed its appreciation of the camp, by sending a large delegation to see the boys in camp and to learn about the Boy Scout movement. One good lady with the interests of the boys at heart, brought a generous donation of delicious doughnuts. Later the boys called at her home and expressed their thanks by three cheers in which "Doughnuts" were specially emphasized.

Saturday, August 24, was another day the Scouts marked in their calendar. For the second time they crossed bats with the South Effingham baseball team—a team whose average age was about thirty years and whose average weight was 160 lbs. They made up in strength what they lacked in baseball experience. The Scout's team averaged in age about 15 years, in weight about 120 lbs, but they tackled their proposition with their characteristic courage, energy and grit and, by superior playing, led until the ninth inning, when with the bases full, a lucky hit by a man who, hitherto, had been unable to hit the ball gave the game to South Effingham. Score: 11 to 10.

cheering goodbye to the victors when they heard a sound that made their spirits most exuberant,—the call to a banquet specially arranged for the boys by the expert cooks of South Effingham. A charming spread greeted the boys when, in marching order, led by Master Sherwood Clark, an expert drummer of the Cambridge, Mass, Boy Scouts, they arrived on the lawn before the Taylor residence. The camp yell was given with a vim that showed the ladies the gratitude of the boys for their kindness. The tables were bountifully laden with the good things of the countryside. The ladies by their careful attention and splendid service saw that the boys were abundantly supplied with the best that their culinary skill could suggest.

At the close of the banquet Rev. A. G. Warner voiced the formal thanks of the Scouts to the ladies for the enjoyable occasion and introduced Miss Alice Kerr of Malden, Mass, a charming young maiden of ten summers, an elocutionist of ability, who, greatly to the delight of the boys, gave in her graceful manner, two selections. A hearty cheer for Miss Kerr, and the boys were again on the march for camp.

One of the most precious experiences of the Scout in camp is the camp fire in the evening. Camp Province is ideally situated for this most important part of the daily program. A large open field makes a fire safe except on unusually windy nights and an abundance of dry brushwood makes preparation of the fire convenient and easy. The pile was arranged so as to be as spectacular as possible, giving the flames all convenience to assume their wonted spectral shapes. After the pile had fallen, while the glow was still on the boys, seated on the grass, listened to stories. The moral and spiritual truth brought to the boys in camp was from incidents personally known to the story tellers. After the stories the boys joined in popular, patriotic, and religious songs, then returned to tents for a social hour to be followed by evening prayers.

The last camp fire made a lasting impression on those who participated in it. The day had been an eventful one. The erection of the bungalow was completed and the event celebrated with an excellent chicken supper prepared by Mrs. Ruge and her assistants. The display of the fire was beautiful. The afterglow was such as to hold the soul enraptured. Stories bearing specially on what had been accomplished in the camp and furnishing incentive to live the life of a true Scout had been told by Rev. S. H. Ruge, Scout Master, and Rev. A. G. Warner. Then a circle was formed around the glowing coals. All joined hands and sung "America," "The Star Spangled Banner" and "The Scotch Highlanders' Farewell" and then one boy said: "Sing 'Nearer My God to Thee.'" The full moon, in its brilliancy rising to its place, the sacred hush of that beautiful starlit night, deeply touched and impressed those twenty-two boys and their leaders as they stood, hand in hand, out in God's Acre. After prayer by Rev. Warner and Rev. Ruge, all joined in the Lord's Prayer. The Manchester Boy Scouts had broken camp in the light of that lovely autumnal evening.

But another light was there and it is to grow brighter and brighter in the formation of worthy youth and manhood. The theory of the camp has become a workable plan. Faith has given place to Sight. Castles, somewhat in the air, have been given firmer foundations upon which the citizens of Manchester and the friends of Manchester's boys can build an enduring structure that will be efficient in producing virtuous manhood and competent citizenship.

MANCHESTER

Mr. George Forster Allen observed his 86th birthday Tuesday by passing the day very quietly at his home, Elm street. Mr. Allen has not been in the best of health of late, but he is surprisingly active for one of his years and condition. "I never expected to reach 86 years of age", said Mr. Allen to the Breeze man Tuesday. "If anyone had told me I would be this old I would never have believed them." Mr. Allen is planning a visit to his nephew in Danvers in the near future. For half a century Mr. Allen was closely identified with the town's activities, and until a year or so ago he was proprietor of the historic "Old Corner Store", now removed.

Andrew M. Stone of Marblehead has been reappointed deputy of the Odd Fellows lodges at Manchester and Ipswich, by Grand Master John W. Roberts. The new Grand Master intends to vary the prevailing custom of recent grand masters by confining his official visits to lodges which request his attendance. He says the "lodges have been visited to death," and for the present, at least, he will await their pleasure.

With the close of summer and the approach of autumn new life is being evinced in the various lodges and secret orders. The Odd Fellows have several candidates on which the degrees will be worked as soon as the lodge is in condition to perform the work.

To-night a dance under the management of William Cook will be held in the Town hall.

ABOUT LOANS

The loaning capacity of the Manchester Trust Company is great on account of its capital, surplus deposits and banking connections.

A customer keeping an account here and carrying good average balances may be readily accommodated by a loan when he needs it.

To secure a line of credit at this bank is necessary for a depositor to make us a statement showing that he is entitled to it or else to place with us collateral of value to cover the amount which he borrows.

Of course, in granting a line of credit to depositors it is expected that they will carry deposits with the bank sufficient to justify the accommodation. The amount generally required by all banks is about 20 per cent. of the line desired.

Owing to our large resources and banking connections we are able to secure capital for meritorious enterprises, by bringing those desiring the accommodation to people who have funds for that purpose.

The launching of "The Mary" into Essex River from the ship yard of A. D. Story, Essex, March 19, 1912.

ESSEX IS RIGHT IN THE CENTRE OF The Summer Residence Zone

It has high hills, beautiful woodland drives, a charming lake, a salt water-river which "like a ribbon of silver" flows to the sea. Boating, fishing and bathing abound. Although it has water on all sides it seldom if ever has the disagreeable fog which is so prevalent in other places. The high hills covered with dense forests which surround the town keep the fog away. We have many desirable places aggregating about 2000 acres for sale. One feature of Essex is, our valuation is so low that the addition of but one million would halve the tax rate.

A sale of building lots will take place in Overlook Park, Saturday afternoon, September 21. Fifteen lots will be sold to the highest bidders and one lot will be given away to the one holding the winning number after the sale. Alex. W. Andrews, auctioneer, will officiate at the sale.

Isaac H. Andrews of Gatun, Canal Zone, Panama, who is spending his vacation as the guest of his mother Mrs. H. E. Andrews of Concord street will give an informal talk at the YMCA, Gloucester, to members and friends next Monday evening. Mr. Andrews has been employed on the construction of the Canal nearly seven years and is well qualified to give an excellent description of the great ditch. Over two hundred views will be used to illustrate the talk.

ESSEX

Rev. H. M. Goddard occupied his pulpit at the Congregational church Sunday. Mrs. Goddard is gradually improving and there is every hope of full recovery from her illness.

The public schools started in Monday for the fall term with the following teachers: Falls—Miss Effie G. Armstrong, primary; Miss Helen L. Pierce, grammar. High school-principal, Eugene Thrasher, and Misses Annie M. Curry; Frances Cook and Miss Wetherston, assistants. Central district—Mrs. Belle D. Rogers, grammar; Miss Florence Norton, primary. Thompson Island—Miss Emma F. Anderson, grammar, Ruby M. Adams, primary. South district—Miss Pauline Wass.

Miss Grace Hart is attending the Gloucester High school.

Monday the people of Essex were startled by the report that Charles A. Burnham, the village blacksmith had dropped dead while at his work. Investigation proved the report to be true. Mr. Burnham was at work putting a tire on a heavy wheel, and after striking a blow to the tire fell over, gasped several times and died. The coroner was called. He pronounced death due to heart disease. Mr. Burnham leaves a wife and two children besides a host of friends to mourn his loss.

Miss Genie F. Kimball has been re-elected musical instructor for the Essex Public schools for the coming year. Miss Pulsifer will fill the position of drawing teacher.

Miss Mary Burnham has returned to her position as assistant superintendent of the public schools of Norwood.

Miss Edith Mears has returned to her school in Chelsea.

Miss Ellen Riggs, a graduate of Essex High school, 1912, will take a post graduate course this year.

Miss Ruth Low has resumed her duties as assistant teacher at the Reading High school.

Frank E. Raymond, Esq., was in Gloucester on legal business Saturday.

On Tuesday Miss Helen G. Mears gave an afternoon tea at Orchard Home. About fifty of her friends were present. Miss Georgia Story poured tea and Mrs. Louis B. Burnham presided at the chocolate. The company were entertained by vocal solos by Mrs. H. J. Connah. Mrs. Dr. Ellis and the hostess Miss Mears. The affair was wholly informal and everyone thought it a delightful occasion.

There has been a great change in the geography of the oil business within a few years past. For a long time after the oil industry was established in this country, it was confined to the eastern states, but now California produces more oil than all the rest of the country, with Oklahoma easily second in rank. In the past fifty-two years about two and one-half billion barrels of oil have been taken from wells in the United States, according to an estimate by the geological survey.

"Not Loud Voiced Attacks So Much As Adverse Votes Which Corporations Fear," Says Gardner.

Hamilton, Mass., Sept. 5, 1912
Dear Sir:

In the Haverhill Record of September 1, 1912, you have a large first page advertisement assailing me. You avow that I never attacked any great corporations, and you challenge the Salem News to show what corporations you have supported.

I have frequently attacked great corporations, the Harvester Trust, for instance, the Steel Trust for instance and I have attacked the great steamship companies for their continual opposition to legislation for the restriction of immigration. I attack corporations for that which is bad in them. I never attack either corporations or men indiscriminately.

But, after all, it is not loud voiced attacks so much as adverse votes which corporations fear.

I have hurriedly looked through your record for this year in the State Senate, and I find that you voted for the New York, New Haven and Hartford "holding company" bill which was denounced by the Massachusetts Railroad Commission and vetoed by Governor Foss. You also voted to pass the bill over Governor Foss' veto. You voted against the bill for determining the true value of shares of stock in consolidated railroads and street railways. You voted against the bill requiring railroad companies to bear the cost of the abolition of grade crossings. You voted in favor of the railroad "merger" bill, in addition to the "holding" bill mentioned above. You voted against the Washburn Railroad Control bill. By your vote against the appointment of a Conference Committee you helped defeat the bill to forbid officers of Trust Companies from accepting gratuities for making loans.

This is a somewhat noteworthy finding for a hurried inspection of your corporation record for one year only.

Yours truly,
AUGUSTUS P. GARDNER

Hon. Arthur L. Nason,
Haverhill, Mass.

P. S. Except for the New Haven R. R. "holding company" bill, which I believe to be most improper legislation, I am not familiar with the particulars of the other bills. You voted on the corporation side. It is for you to show that the corporation side was the right side.

OUT FOR REGISTER OF PROBATE

James J. Tierney, Salem Attorney, Candidate on Republican Ticket
For Essex County Position

James J. Tierney, the Salem attorney, and son of Sheriff P. F. Tierney, is backed by the Republican forces in Essex County for the position of register of probate. Mr. Tierney is well known among the members of the Essex bar, and is known politically as the chairman of the Republican City Committee of Salem.

Mr. Tierney was born in Salem, March 10, 1881. He was educated in the Public Schools graduating from the Salem High School in the class of 1901. During his high school days he was well known throughout the county for his activities in athletics, being a member of all the athletic teams of 1900.

Upon graduating from the High School he entered the Boston University Law School from which he graduated in 1905, and immediately associated himself with former District Attorney Alden P. White, in the practice of law. He remained with Mr. White until 1907 when he opened new offices in the Kinsman block Salem, Mass., where he has since been located.

He is one of the best known of the younger members of the Essex Bar and has enjoyed a large and increasing practice in the Probate and State courts. He was admitted to practice in the United States Courts in 1906.

In his candidacy for the position of Register of Probate he has the backing of a majority of the members of Essex and Salem Bars, the members of which recognize in him a man ably fitted for the position through experience and education.

Mr. Tierney early became interested in politics, and took an active interest in the Republican party. He was elected to the City Committee from Ward Four, and three years ago, the members recognizing his ability, elected him Chairman of the City Committee which office he has since held and filled with credit to himself and the Republican party.

While there is comparatively little interest shown as yet in the primary election which is less than two weeks off, there is much local interest in the candidacy of Hon. Charles H. Trowt for Representative, and the evident sincere desire for his receiving the Republican nomination for one of the places. To the Beverly Farms voter it is not necessary to rehearse his fitness for the office except to say that he has in the past rendered splendid public service.

The local team defeated the Manchester Crickets by a score of 11 to 0 last Saturday afternoon at the playgrounds before the largest crowd of fans of the season. Up to the fifth inning it was a pretty contest with neither scoring. After that point the Farms boys got to the opponent's pitcher and did some good batting. This, with a number of errors made by the Crickets, easily gave the game to the local team. The visiting team were unable to hit the pitching of the Farms' twirler, McNair, who received good support from every member of the team. The visitors were accompanied by a large number of "rooters" who in the early part of the contest did some good "rooting" for the Crickets, but was not in evidence after things commenced to go Beverly Farms' way.

The U. S. S. Mayflower arrived at her anchorage off West Beach last Saturday, since which time many of the officers and crew have been ashore renewing acquaintances. The daily band concerts given on the ship are plainly heard ashore, and enjoyed by the visitors at West beach.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. McGarry of Norwich, Conn., have been visitors at Beverly Farms the past week.

The Misses Johanna and Elizabeth Toomey of Haskell street are enjoying a two weeks' respite from their duties as stenographers in out of town offices. Last Monday they went to Sandwich, N. H.

The Central Square club, composed of a party of Beverly Farms young men will conduct a public dance in Neighbor's hall Monday evening, Sept. 23rd. Miss Frances Connolly is located at the Sargents' School camp at Peterboro, N. H. for the next three weeks.

Ada Maude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Medcalf of Peckett court and Roland Prescott of Rutland, Mass., were united in marriage by the Rev. A. N. Peasley of Newport, R. I., at the St. John's Episcopal church last Sunday morning after the regular morning services. They will reside at Rutland, Mass.

Rev. J. A. Johnson of Lynn will preach at the Scandinavian service at the local Baptist church, Friday evening, Sept. 20th.

Miss Helen Webber of Roxbury, who has been a visitor at the Farms since the latter part of June returned home this week to attend the reopening of her school.

The local base ball team is to play the St. Mary's of Beverly on the Beverly Farms playground tomorrow afternoon. As both teams have each won one game, there is much interest in the coming contest, as to who will win the rubber.

The Beverly Athletic club are scheduled to play a return game with the Manchesters in Manchester on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 21st.

Forester H. Pierce of Chester, Vt., has been at the Farms the past week. Tomorrow he will hold a public auction at his farm at Chester, when he will dispose of his farm utensils and apparatus, and perhaps of the property. Mr. Pierce and family will soon move to Boston or vicinity where they will make their future home.

The mission for men which has been held at St. Margaret's church all this week closes Sunday evening. There has been a large attendance.

St. Margaret's Court of Foresters will hold their annual summer public dance in Neighbor's hall next Thursday evening. It is sure to be an enjoyable affair. Long's orchestra will furnish music.

Rivers and Harbors Congress.

The ninth annual convention of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, which will be held in Washington, Dec. 4, 5, and 6, already gives promise of bringing together a larger number of representative men than any previous convention in the organization's history. "There is more for us to get together about," was the laconic way in which Senator-elect Joseph E. Ransdell, President of the Congress, characterized the forth-coming meeting. "There is much yet to be done before the dream of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress is realized," said Congressman Ransdell on leaving for his home at Lake Providence, Louisiana. "And we cannot afford to rest from our labors yet a while. A comprehensive policy of waterway development must be written into the laws of the nation and a yearly supply bill for meritorious projects must follow to the end that we may live to see a number of the great projects completed."

Last Monday Charles Sawyer concluded the duties of superintendent and policeman at the West Beach corporation pavilion, which position he has occupied this season. Mr. Sawyer now has a position with Frank I. Lomasney.

Since school has commenced there has been a falling off of attendance at West Beach. However there continues to be quite large gatherings during these splendid days, especially afternoons and early evenings. The water has been particularly warm and there have been quite a number of bathers.

Yesterday there was a large attendance at the lawn party given by the Ladies Scandinavian Sewing circle on the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hakanson on Everett street. There was a most attractive display of fancy and useful articles, cake, candy and refreshments which received ready sale. An orchestra furnished music. The grounds were prettily decorated.

Rev. Wesley Boone of Watertown will preach at the local Baptist church Sunday, Rev. Mr. Pond being away on his vacation.

Mrs. Fairfield of Salem was this week added to the clerical force of the Thissel Company's store in Central square.

ESSEX

C. Augustus Norwood of Ipswich, the able and genial candidate for senatorial honors of this district was in town Monday.

Wednesday afternoon as James Malonson was hunting for a cow in the pasture back of White Hill he suddenly came upon the body of a man. He first supposed him asleep and called to him but soon satisfied himself that he was dead. He was lying upon his back with a revolver in his hand. He was dressed in black, had watch and chain, cuffs and collar and of a very neat appearance. Officers were notified and they in turn notified the coroner, who gave the body in charge of undertaker Smith. It is supposed to be the body of Dudley Griffin, son of Dudley N. Griffin, the prominent clothing dealer of Beverly. If so it is a sad story. It seems that a short time ago his mother died and the young man took it to heart and brooded over it and came to the hills of Essex and took his life. He has been missed since Labor Day and was last seen on the Essex car coming toward Essex.

Mrs. Charles F. Preston and Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Doane left the Farms last Monday for a vacation trip in New Hampshire. They are located at the "Bungalow" on the shore of Newfound lake.

Rev. Charles A. Logue, pastor of the Church of Our Holy Redeemer at Freeport, L. I., has been a visitor at Beverly Farms this week.

The Beverly Farms Firemen are to hold their annual picnic and outing at the Wyatt & Trowt field off Hart street, Saturday afternoon. The firemen from the Central station will be their guests. Besides serving an excellent dinner a fine list of sports has been arranged.

The Sarah Wyman Whitman club desire to thank everyone who assisted in any way in making their fair a success last week.

Ernest Townsend and family, who have lived on the H. C. Pierce estate at Prides for the past seven years moved Monday to the Mrs. Lathrop Brown (R. C. Hooper) estate, where Mr. Hooper takes charge as superintendent.

The Beverly Board of Registrars will be in session at rooms 2 and 3 in City hall for the purpose of qualifying and registering voters on the following dates: This evening, Sept. 13; Wednesday Sept. 18th, Friday, Sept. 20th from 7.30 to 9.00 p. m. for the Primary election to be held on Tuesday Sept. 24th.

Miss Eleanor Connolly left the Farms on Wednesday to commence her studies at a girl's college at Hooksett, N. H.

Miss Anna McCafferty of Philadelphia, Pa., has been a recent guest of her aunt, Mrs. Thomas Neville, Hale street.

Letters remaining unclaimed at Beverly Farms Postoffice for week ending Sept. 11, 1912: W. H. Brown, Andrew Broser, Mrs. H. G. Colby, J. O. Ellesin, C. E. Hodges, Patrick Kaby, Miss Ida Pearson, Mrs. Thomas W. Pittsburgh, Henry Cooper.—William R. Brooks, Postmaster.

Empire Theatre, Salem.

"Officer 666," the new farce produced by Cohan & Harris, is announced for presentation at the Empire Theatre, Salem, tonight. A specially chosen company will appear in the success, including Edmund Shalet, Dan Moyes, Sydney Stone, Gladden James, Ione Bright, Edna Hibbard, Sadie Duff, Burton Miller, Charles Martin and Daniel Hamilton.

"Love laughs at locksmiths," and now the little god of affection is laughing at the police, for in the play, "Officer 666," the little rascal wages a battle of wits with a platoon of bluecoats and puts them to rout.

Helen Grayce and her noted stock organization will appear at the Empire all next week in a repertoire of successful plays, many of them scoring success on the big circuits last season. Matinees will be given daily, beginning Tuesday.

"THE COUNTY SHERIFF."

Union Hill Theatre, Gloucester.

The theatre-goers will have a treat in store when "The County Sheriff" comes to the Union Hill Theatre, Gloucester, on Friday and Saturday. This is one of those quiet melodramas that burns little powder. Still abounding in heart interest and thrilling climaxes, it tells a beautiful love story of the plains, with just enough comedy to relieve the intensity of the dramatic situation. The story is told in four acts and special scenic and stage equipments are carried for the entire production.

The true test of worth is character

AND this applies to things, as well as to individuals. There are firms in business who are conscientious and who are strictly honest. They would rather lose their right arms than tell an untruth about their products or mis-represent them in any way, while no bribe, however seductive it might be, could induce them to sacrifice principle or quality for the sake of gain.

Such business firms are upright in character, respected by the community and city in which they are established, while worthy appreciation and recognition of their virtues are shown by an increasing confidence and patronage of the public. Likewise with goods offered for sale by them, the test of real value lies in their character—not their price.

When applied to

Mattresses

This is emphatically true. The intrinsic worth of a mattress is its character and that is its filling—not its outside covering. Many a fancy ticking hides a questionable filling. It is a regrettable fact, well known to the trade, that some mattresses are filled wholly or in part with shoddy cotton wool. This is made from cast away, dirty, germ-ridden clothing obtained largely if not altogether from foreign countries—the American product being generally far too good in quality, hence more expensive in price, therefore not used. The bad character and unsanitary condition of such mattresses can be easily imagined, while no less foreseen is the great danger to health which lies in their use.

Like the Diamond Beside the Stone of Paste are

Titus Mattresses

They are, everyone of them, made from the cleanest and best legitimate materials under the strictest sanitary conditions.

Our HAIR mattresses we do not keep made up because they deteriorate when so kept. We make them to your order—same's you'd have a dress or suit made to your measure. Our COTTON FELT mattresses are made under aseptic conditions of the cleanest, purest and whitest cotton; each fibre being laid crosswise until a thin "felt" is made; several of these "felts" are laid one above the other, then pressed to the proper density; thus making OUR FELT mattresses perfect in evenness, smoothness and softness. And we sell these

For as little as $11.00 each

Plain cotton mattresses are different—they're stuffed with cotton in wads—there's a hump here and a hollow there in them—"poor things" to sleep on.

Our soft Top and Bottom mattresses have the pure white cotton in them—not shoddy wool, as commonly used.

We've been selling "character" mattresses for the last fifteen years and not one has ever been returned as unsatisfactory or its contents questioned. (We "knocked wood" then, hear it?)

Our mattress department is surely Essex County's "character" department. Are you patronizing it? Then you're sleeping well.

STERLING SILVER TABLE WARE

FOR THAT WEDDING GIFT

KNIVES, Forks and Spoons in sterling silver are particularly appropriate for wedding gifts. Nothing is used so constantly as table silver, and nothing you could select for your friend's wedding gift would be a more pleasing and constant reminder of you than one of our handsome patterns of sterling table ware. Being of solid silver, it will last for generations.

Many people make wedding gifts of Knives, Forks and Spoons to dear friends and then add to them from time to time, first giving staple pieces and then the odd pieces. This may be done easily when you select one of our many stock patterns, as we carry a full stock and you may order them from us at any time, either here at the Store or by mail. We have the largest stock of sterling silver flat ware in New England if not in the United States.

SOCIETY NOTES

Ambassador and Mrs. Curtis Guild are with Mrs. Guild's father, Edward Johnson, at his home in Nahant. They, with Mrs. Guild's sister, Mrs. Lavalley and John Lavalley, Jr., who came over with them, were among the arrivals on the Laconia last week. Mr. Guild will sail from New York tomorrow for his post at St. Petersburg, but Mrs. Guild will be at the Marlboro street, Boston, house until November, when she will join the ambassador at St. Petersburg.

Among the many debutantes this season are several prominent North Shore girls. Owing to the large number of debutantes and the unusual shortness of the season, for Easter Sunday is the twenty-third of March this year there will be a few social affairs in honor of the buds before the summer homes on the Shore are closed for the winter months. Miss Rosamond Eliot, the youngest daughter of Mrs. Amory Eliot, is to entertain with her mother at "Wildwood," their place at Manchester-by-the-Sea, Saturday afternoon, the 28th of this month, from four until seven. Mrs. Eliot's other daughters are Mrs. Alfred Codman and Mrs. Richard Lovering, the latter also of the Manchester colony. Miss Rosamond Eliot is a most attractive and accomplished girl. She spent part of last year studying abroad. On the same date as Miss Eliot's "at home," Miss Anne Means is to have a dance given her at the Beverly Farms home of her mother, Mrs. Arthur Little. Mr. and Mrs. Little, Miss Jessie Means, the younger sister of the debutante, and Miss Anne Means have been at Dublin, N. H., for the summer, but recently arrived at Beverly Farms to spend the autumn. Miss Means is a sister of Mrs. Andre Nicholas Reggio, one of the June brides and one of the number of young married people who will be at Beverly Farms all winter this year.

The date for the marriage of Miss Catherine Foster, whose engagement to Robert Meredith Tappan, Harvard '07, was announced during the earlier part of the season, has been set for October. Miss Foster is the oldest of the five daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. W. Foster of Charles River Valley and Boston, now at Marblehead at their attractive home there. The prospective groom is the son of Mrs. Frederick Tappan of Marlboro street, Boston.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mr. and Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, Jr., and their young son of Pride's are included among those who are soon to close their cottage on the North Shore and take a trip abroad. In fact, it will be a trip around the world, occupying the greater part of the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw were in Egypt last year.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stackpole of Boston and Nahant are to be at their summer place at Nahant until late into the fall this year. They have recently sold their Boston home on Beacon street to Mr. and Mrs. E. V. R. Thayer, who summer at Lancaster. The Stackpoles have as yet made no definite plans for the midwinter.

SOCIETY NOTES

A number of families along the Shore are effected by the death of James H. Beal at Putney, N. H. He was a brother of Mrs. John Mason Little, who died at Swampscott in June, of Thomas P. Beal of Beverly Cove and the Misses Ida and Judith Beal, children of the late Mr. and Mrs. James H. Beal of Nahant. Boylston A. Beal of Manchester and William F. Beal of Nahant are half brothers. Although Mr. Beal's health had been poor for a number of years, his death was wholly unexpected. Formerly a winter resident of Winchendon, he had made his home for some time at Concord, spending the summer at Putney.

◇ ❖ ◇

J. Warren Merrill and family have returned to Manchester-by-the-Sea after a brief holiday at Lenox. The Merrills are always among the last of the summer colony at Manchester to leave for the city and this year is to be no exception to the general rule. Their attractive cottage will be open until late into the autumn.

◇ ❖ ◇

Miss Grace Birch of Detroit is a guest at Pitch Pine Hill, the cottage occupied this summer by the Joseph A. Boyers at Beverly Farms. The Boyers, too, are from Detroit and have had many guests from their home city with them there this season. They leave very shortly for Detroit, making the trip to Buffalo by motor, with stop-overs in Albany and Utica.

◇ ❖ ◇

"Little Orchard," the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Lincoln at Manchester is closed for the season. Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln have returned to their Beacon street house in Boston.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mr. and Mrs. George Scott Winslow of Boston and Beverly Farms have as their guest at the Farms, Boynton Glidden of New York City. Mr. Glidden is a brother of Mrs. Winslow who was Mary Warren Glidden before her marriage.

◇ ❖ ◇

Miss Bessie Lee of the Beverly Farms colony is at Lake Sunapee, N. H., with Mrs. H. P. McKean of Pride's Crossing.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dorr and their two charming daughters, the Misses Katherine and Josephine Dorr, concluded their season at Manchester Monday and returned to their Boston home. The Misses Dorr have been very popular at the Brownlands, where they made their home for the summer months. They are both very attractive and both are musical. They have taken great interest in the out-of-door life at the sea-shore and have entered into all sports and social affairs with enthusiasm.

Miss Marie Van Vorst, after a visit at the Morawetz cottage at Beverly Farms is now visiting at Paul Smiths in the Adirondacks. Miss Van Vorst, a young New York woman, who has been quite popular during her stay on the North Shore, is an author of some repute.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parsons King and son, Henry P. King, Jr., are again at Sunset Rock, Pride's, after a prolonged trip abroad. The Kings sailed for Europe in the early part of July. Their Pride's Crossing home will be open through the autumn.

◆ ◆ ◆

The Henry C. Fricks have temporarily deserted their magnificent estate at Pride's Crossing for the pleasures of a trip embracing Southampton, L. I., towns in Pennsylvania and Washington, D. C.

Miss Fannie Mason is at her farm at Dublin, N. H., for her annual fall visit. Miss Mason arrived at her home at Beverly Cove only recently, having been abroad the greater part of the season.

SOCIETY NOTES

The Misses Loring of the Prides colony entertained Mrs. Charles G. Loring and her son, Charles G. Loring, of Boston, over the week-end.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Norman will soon close "Bee Rock," their North Shore home and move their winter quarters in Boston, contrary to their usual custom, on account of the debut of Miss Hope Norman, their daughter, this season. Mrs. Bryce J. Allan, who gave a dance for Miss Norman, her niece, at Pride's Crossing this summer, will doubtless entertain for her this winter at Boston.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. W. A. M. Burden has as her guests at her cottage at Coolidge's Point, Manchester her mother and sister, Mrs. Hamilton McK. Twombly and Miss Ruth Twombly of New York. The Twomblys will go to their country home at Convent, N. J., the first of next month. They spent the summer in Newport.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Charles A. Munn, who recently returned from Europe, was absent from her Manchester cottage for a few days recently, while she made a brief trip to Washington. Mrs. Munn's youngest daughter, Miss Gladys is to be one of the many debutantes this winter.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Gordon Abbott of the West Manchester colony has been at Montreal a week, accompanied by two of her children, the Misses Katherine and Eleanor Abbott.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. Maynard Ladd of Boston and Manchester is not only to be long remembered for her work as a sculptress, but also for her numerous other accomplishments, not the least of which is her wide knowledge of the languages. That she is more than proficient in Italian was shown last week when she gave an illustrated lecture in that language to some seventy-five Italians at Beverly Farms, who were exceedingly enthusiastic over the lecture and the pictures of their king and queen and the Italian scenes. The affair was arranged by Miss Louisa Loring, who is known all along the Shore for her philanthropic work. Mrs. Ladd, through her long residence in Italy, became thoroughly familiar with the Italian tongue.

The Wheelwright cottage at Pride's Crossing, where Mr. and Mrs. Livingston Davis have been spending the summer, is closed for the season. The Davises left the Shore Thursday for Worcester.

◆ ◆ ◆

Major and Mrs. H. L. Higginson returned Sunday evening to West Manchester after a ten days' visit at Westport, N. Y.

Miss Rebecca Wellman, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wellman, the former baloonist, whose attempt to cross the Atlantic was so ill-fated, was united in marriage to Frederick B. Aubert of Washington Wednesday afternoon at the rectory of the St. John's Episcopal church at Gloucester, the Rev. J. H. C. Cooper officiating. The bride has been at Rockport Neck all season with her mother. She, as well as the groom, is from Washington and is one of the most popular girls of the younger set there. Mr. Aubert is prominent in the automobile business in that city. The couple are at Atlantic City for their wedding trip and will later go to Washington, after which Mr. Aubert's business will call him to Detroit this winter.

Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby and children, who have been in Europe all season are now at Manchester with Mrs. Henry S. Grew, Mrs. Crosby's mother. Mr. Crosby returned sometime ago. Master Henry Crosby went to school at Southboro, Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Russell have "Apple Trees" the Crosby place at West Manchester this season.

Robert R. M. Smithers and family who have the White cottage at Manchester Cove, are leaving the first week in October for their winter home in Providence, R. I.

Mrs. Oliver Ames is giving a dance at her Pride's Crossing home tonight. It will be the largest and most brilliant entertainment that Mrs. Ames has given this season, and she has entertained extensively for her two attractive daughters, Miss Olivia and Miss Elise. There will be about one hundred and fifty in the gathering tonight, most of whom will be young people.

◆ ❖ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. W. Stuart Spaulding and Mrs. Spaulding's mother, Mrs. Sidney Fairlee went on to New York to meet the H. P. Kings upon their arrival from abroad this week. Mrs. Fairlee will not return to the North Shore this fall but has gone to Onondagua for a few weeks.

◆ ❖ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Sears are to close their summer home at Beverly Farms next Friday and return to their Beacon street, Boston, house.

◆ ❖ ◆

Dr. Franklin Dexter and his daughter, Miss Harriet, of Boston and Pride's Crossing are on their way to New York after their holiday in Europe. The trip, although short, has been filled with enjoyment in the visits to Paris and London. Dr. Dexter and his daughter will return to Pride's to finish out the season before returning to Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dalton leaves Beverly Farms, where they have one of the most attractive summer places of the famous resort, today for Silver City, New Mexico, for a visit to their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cooley. The Daltons have had this visit in view for some time and will probably be West for some weeks.

Harvard Graduate — Experienced Tutor, (3 years) desires position with family intending to pass the winter in France. Can refer to families well known along North Shore.
F. A. SHAW, Cotton St., Roslindale, Mass.

Miss Elizabeth Beal, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boylston A. Beal at Smith's Point, Manchester, was hostess at a dancing party for a large number of her young friends last Saturday evening. Miss Beal is a very sweet little girl and is very popular among her many friends in the Manchester summer colony. She returns to school at Boston very soon.

Mrs. George Von L. Meyer gave a dance for her employees at the Hamilton Town hall Thursday evening. The affair was most informal and was an event long to be remembered by those who enjoyed Mrs. Meyer's hospitality.

WENHAM

The Wenham YMCA boy scouts are invited to call upon President Taft at his summer home Saturday, September 28. The scouts ordinarily devote Saturday afternoon to a hike and camp-fire council.

The preacher at the Village church on Sunday morning will be Rev. John J. Walker of Boston, assisting the minister, Rev. F. M. Cutler. In the evening a new feature will be introduced in the form of an "outlook meeting."

If you are leaving the seashore for your city home mail us change of address so that the Breeze can reach you promptly.

The Misses Kimball, who have had the Cabot house at Beverly Farms this season, have left the North Shore to spend a few weeks at Chocorua, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Henderson are entertaining E. C. Congdon of Duluth at their cottage at Mystery Isles. Mr. and Mrs. Henderson are Brookline people, who for a number of years have been members of the jolly group of cottagers at Mystery Isles. Their pretty island home has been the scene, this year, of many informal entertainments and many of their friends have enjoyed the free hospitality of the family for weeks at a time.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Means have as their guests Mrs. Durant of New York, who arrived at Beverly Farms Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Means are Bostonians, members of the younger married set who make the Farms their summer and, in many cases, their winter home. Their cottage will be open for some weeks yet.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Richard Mortimer returned to Beverly Farms Monday from a brief visit at Lenox. The Mortimers leave for their New York home in the near future.

◆ ◆ ◆

Rev. and Mrs. William H. Dewart of the Manchester colony have returned to Milton, where they have an attractive home on Brush Hill road.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. Robert C. Winthrop and her daughter, Miss Clara Winthrop, will not be included in the summer colony at West Manchester next season. They will spend the season in Europe.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Leland entertained twelve of their friends at dinner last Friday evening at "Old Tree House," their West Manchester residence.

Mrs. C. A. Munn, who with her daughter, Miss Gladys, returned to Manchester-by-the-Sea, recently from a trip abroad, gave a dinner for fourteen guests last Friday evening in honor of Miss Perrin of Washington, who is a guest at her home on Beach street. Afterwards a dance was given for many more guests. The dinner was served in the bungalow on the grounds. It is a very attractive little place and the Munns find it a welcome change from the monotony of the dinners served in the large dining room of the big house. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Munn, Jr., who have had a cottage at West Manchester, are abroad this season and will not return to this country until December.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard D. Ahl and Mrs. Daniel Ahl, Mr. Ahl's mother, have moved into their attractive new home at Hamilton, which they will occupy summers in the future in preference to their Pride's Crossing place. The latter will, in all probability be sold.

Miss Margaret Russell, daughter of the late Governor William E. Russell, arrived on the Arabic from England, Wednesday, to pass the winter with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Russell of Manchester. Miss Russell will be one of the season's debutantes in Boston.

SOCIETY NOTES

Richard Wigglesworth, who returned recently from a long trip west, is soon to take up his work as coach of the Harvard eleven.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Chase are to close their Manchester house tomorrow and return to Milton, where Mr. Chase is master of the Milton Academy.

The season at the Brownlands, Manchester, is practically over and the house closes Wednesday of next week. Only a few of the families are there. Miss Gertrude White left today for a round of visits with friends in Natick. After a few weeks spent there, she will return to Boston, where her mother, who was among the guests who left the Brownlands earlier in the season, will join her. The Misses Fabyan returned to Boston Wednesday, Miss Annie Bradford left Manchester for Philadelphia, her winter home, Thursday, the Misses Sohier returned to Boston this week, and Mr. and Mrs. John Pickering Putnam and their son, John Pickering Putnam, Jr., have taken their winter quarters at the Charlesgate, Boston. J. P. Putnam, Jr., starts his college course at Harvard this year and to that, in some measure, is due the unusually early departure of the Putnams to the city. Mrs. Rufus Greeley's sister, Mrs. William Hale of Marlborough, N. H., arrived at the Brownlands Monday to remain as her sister's guest until the close of the house. Frederick A. Burlingame has come on from New York to spend the week-end here and to take his family back to that city with him the first of the week. Mr. and Mrs. Franklin T. Pfaelzer and family, who have been making a short visit at the Brownlands, have been obliged to return to Boston earlier than in previous seasons on account of Franklin T. Pfaelzer, Jr., entering college this term. Oswald Pfaelzer, one of the Harvard graduates of last June, is to go directly to New York, where he will be in business. Mrs. Walter Alexander will be the last of the Brownland guests to leave. Her plans to keep her cottage open two weeks longer have been changed and she will return to New York Wednesday. Miss Josephine Dorr, whose family left the Brownlands the early part of this week, will be a week-end guest of Mrs. Alexander.

CONOMO

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Weston and daughter Jessica of Medford, Mr. and Mrs. William Hill and daughter of Wellesley Hills, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Knowlton and daughter Marion of Danvers, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Woodman and son Sanford of Danvers, Mrs. L. M. Weston and Miss Frances Weston of Danvers made up the party that occupied the Weston cottage at Cedarhurst over the week-end.

The members of the social committee of the Montauk Gunning club of Dorchester, spent the week-end at the Procter cottage. Among those present were Arthur E. Boltz, Chester Driscoll, Arthur and Jerome Procter and Clifton Eadie.

BEVERLY FARMS

Allison G Catheron of Beverly has many friends in Ward 6 who will support him at the primaries next Tuesday. Mr. Catheron formerly lived at the Farms, where his father was gardener on one of the summer estates. He lived in Manchester after that, and after completing his course at Bates College and the Harvard Law School he made his home in Needham for a while. He was graduated from the Beverly High school in 1896. He is now practicing law in Boston.

Mrs. S. John Connolly and child are visiting the former's parents at Brookline.

The U. S. S. Mayflower ball team is making use of the Beverly Farms playground, afternoons for practice. There will probably be a game arranged between them and the Beverly Farms team.

Mrs. Edward A. May and child returned home Tuesday from a six weeks' visit at Mrs. May's former home, Dublin Shore, N. S.

Mrs. Mary E. Cullen is reported to be quite ill at her Beverly home. She is a well known former Beverly Farms resident, being a past president of the local WRC.

Frank A. Williams has taken a lease of the Eli R. Hodgkins cottage on Hale street, which he will occupy very soon.

A pretty wedding took place in Beverly Wednesday evening when Miss Marion C. Kimball of East Wenham and Beverly Farms became the bride of Henry C. Kent, a well known Beverly Farms young man. The ceremony was performed at their pretty new home on Bridge street at Rial Side by Rev. Benjamin R. Bulkeley, pastor of the First Unitarian church, the double ring service being used. The bridesmaid was Miss Lena Dierauer of Haverhill, a classmate of the bride. The best man was Fred Wallis of Beverly, a classmate of the groom at the Beverly High school. The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Henry D. Stillman of East Wenham and Beverly Farms. The house was prettily decorated with greenery, potted plants and cut flowers. Following the ceremony a reception was held. Amid a shower of confetti, Mr. and Mrs. Kent left for a wedding trip through the White Mountains.

Daniel M. Linehan is the latest Farms man to join the ranks of the automobilists. This week he became the owner of a fine new Overland car.

The U. S. S. Mayflower ball team will play the Beverly Pacifics on the Beverly Common tomorrow afternoon.

The "North Shore Girls" gave an invitation party in Marshall's hall last Tuesday evening. Games and dancing were enjoyed and refreshments served. The pinning of the tail on the donkey was an amusing feature. Prizes were awarded the winners.

WEST GLOUCESTER

Isaac H. Andrews, Mrs. Arthur E. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Currier and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Currier attended the cattle show and fair which was held in Topsfield Tuesday.

Members of the Progressive committee of Ward 8 met at the residence of Ralph W. Dennen, chairman of the Sixth Congressional district of Essex County last evening.

SOCIETY NOTES

In St. John's Episcopal church, Beverly Farms, last Saturday afternoon Miss Janet House, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mandell House, of Austin, Texas, became the bride of Gordon Auchincloss, son of Mrs. Edgar Auchincloss, of New York. The church was filled with guests and decorated with smilax, ferns, potted plants and white hydrangeas. The bride wore white ivory satin with a court train. Her veil was caught up with orange blossoms and she carried lilies of the valley and white orchids. For jewels she wore a string of pearls and a diamond ornament, a gift of the bridegroom. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Randolph Tucker, of Chestnut Hill, Mass. The best man was Mr. Reginald Auchincloss, of New York, a brother of the bridegroom. The Rev. Mr. Endicott Peabody, of Groton, officiated. After the wedding a reception was held at the Sohler cottage, at Burgess Point, the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Tucker. The ushers were Raymond Ives, Walter Struthers and Walter Davis, of New York, and Randolph F. Tucker, of Chestnut Hill. A band played and refreshments were served on the lawn. Mr. and Mrs. Auchincloss left Beverly Saturday for a wedding trip. They will live at No. 68 East Eighty-sixth street, New York.

Mrs. Russell Tyson gave a most successful recital at her North Shore studio, on Tuesday afternoon. She had the assistance of Francis Rogers, the distinguished baritone of New York, with Miss Edith Currie at the piano. Mrs. Tyson has the Proctor cottage, Sea street, at Manchester, this season.

Mrs. Robert Cresswell, Jr., of Philadelphia is spending a week with Mrs. C. Howard Clark, Jr., at West Manchester. Miss Rhoades, who has been recuperating from a severe illness at the Clark summer home, will be able to leave for Roxbury Thursday, as her health is greatly improved. She will spend the winter in Boston. Mrs. J. P. Hollinsworth, formerly Miss Amy Clark, is another of the guests of Mrs. Clark. Mr. Hollinsworth will be at Manchester for the week-end. Mrs. Clark has entertained extensively at her attractive West Manchester home this season and will have many more guests during the golf tournament.

A CIVIC BUILDING

MANCHESTER

Every town on our shore should be equipped with a building to minister to the welfare of the community as a whole. Many towns and some cities have been awake to the needs of welfare buildings in the communities. The idea has been expressed in many places in YMCA and YWCA buildings. At Bar Harbor such a house has been constructed and maintained by private subscription. In Magnolia a Men's club has been successfully operated.

Manchester and Beverly Farms need a building ministering to the same side of human life. But neither of these places is large enough to maintain a YMCA or a YWCA and the maintenance of a neighborhood house by private subscription will open other still more serious problems. But this type of a building for social welfare work could and should be provided for by taxation. In Manchester there has long been a need for such a building and the increase in taxation occasioned by its erection would be negligible compared with the benefits to be acquired. In Beverly Farms the problem is a little more difficult because of its distance from the center of Beverly. But this very distance is an argument in itself. Beverly owes Beverly Farms a good municipal building. This new building should house the library, care for the local organizations by furnishing a good hall, where the Pilgrims, GAR, WRC, and the Knights of Columbus can meet and where other public meetings may be held. There should be gymnasium, bathing and bowling facilities provided.

Such a building can and should be provided for under the welfare clause in the city charter of the City of Beverly. The Manchester charter is broad enough to present no serious legal difficulties. The towns along the shore are not large enough to maintain the YMCA with its sectarian lines but they are large enough to require the service of a miliar institution. The cosmopolitan character of the town populations along the shore must be considered and cared for as well as the year round residents. The presence of such a building would be invaluable to the floating summer population. In America the ideas of community or neighborhood houses maintained by the municipality has not been developed because in many of the places demanding such service the work has been done by organizations independent of the municipality. But the cities of Germany have been very successful in the development of this idea. There is no reason why every one of our shore towns can not have an efficient building doing the work of the YMCA in larger places on broader lines and to both sexes.

To provide for this in Manchester it will be necessary to present an item for the annual town meeting warrant. In Beverly Farms the task will require more patience and hard work but as Beverly Farms interests are committed to those of the City of Beverly, that city ought to be willing, and with enthusiasm, to provide for Beverly Farms a suitable municipal building.

The organization of such an enterprise could be adjusted simply, by the appointment of an unpaid commission of three or five members representing the various interests of the community. The detailed work could be developed by committees, under authority from and subject to the central commission. The time has come for broader lines of social work and the North Shore should not hesitate to lead if need be in such an innovation.

Chapman-Preston.

A very pretty home wedding took place Wednesday evening when Carrie Preston, eldest daughter of the late Harlan H. and Mrs. Alice Preston, was united in marriage to John C. Chapman at her home, 13 Brook street, Manchester. The house was decorated with goldenrod, producing a most striking effect. Only the immediate relatives of the bride and a few friends of the groom were present. From Beverly Farms were

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Blanchard, Miss Rena Blanchard, Mr. and Mrs. C. Guy Williams, Mrs. William Blanchard, members of the family of the bride's mother. Irwin Davis, of Beverly Farms, a cousin of the bride, played the wedding march for the ceremony. Rev. A. G. Warner of the Baptist church of Manchester officiated. Mrs. Chapman is a well known Manchester girl, very popular among the young people, and the groom is also favorably known to

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman W. Floyd returned Wednesday from a brief trip to Bangor, Me.

Charles Elmer Smith returned the latter part of last week from a vacation of two months in New Brunswick.

The first meeting of the Manchester Woman's club this fall will be held on Tuesday, October 7th. Miss Mabel Boardman will speak on "International Work of the Red Cross Society." Directors tea. Membership tickets for the coming year may be obtained of Mrs. Harriet T. Hooper, Washington street, Saturday and Monday from 4 to 8 p. m. Sept. 28 and 30.

Miss Leola Sargent of Essex is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Hildreth, Pleasant street.

The Glee club and the Athletic association at the local High school have elected their officers for the coming year. For the A. A. the officers are as follows: President, Joseph Carey; secretary, Gordon Cool; treasurer, Ralph Stearns. Miss Gladys Semons was elected president of the Glee club; Miss Esther Northrup, vice-president; secretary, Miss Antoinette Vidal; treasurer, Miss Frances Norrie. Both the athletic association and the glee club are comparatively new organizations at the Manchester High school, the latter having been formed only last year, largely through the influence of Miss Porter, the English teacher. The girls, all of whom are deeply interested in vocal music, did some excellent work and, although a number of their best singers are absent this term, intend to support their reputation of last year and, if possible, to improve it. Mr. Hayward, former sub-master at the High school, influenced the organization of the athletic association when he first came to Manchester, two years ago. Up to that time athletics had been rather overlooked at the school but the boys entered into the spirit of the association with fine enthusiasm under Mr. Hayward's guidance. Without the presence of Mr. Hayward and some of their best athletes, the members still feel that they can do good work this year under Mr. McCusick, who is taking the position of sub-master at the school.

Manchester people since his work on one of the summer estates brought him to this town. The young people will reside at the Preston home, Brook street, for the present.

WOMAN DROWNED NEAR DRAWBRIDGE

Mrs. Estelle C. Roberts of Gloucester Found Dead In the Harbor
After a Week's Mysterious Absence.

A furore of excitement ran through Manchester village late Monday afternoon when the body of a woman was found floating not far from the town-landing in Manchester harbor. Examination revealed circumstances pointing to foul play. After two days of investigation, chiefly carried on by Boston newspaper men, the body was identified as that of Mrs. Estelle C. Roberts of Gloucester and evidence was secured to convince the police that the woman's death was accidental.

As soon as Dr. W. G. Stickney, of Beverly, the medical examiner, had investigated the finding of the body, it was taken to Beverly where an autopsy was performed next morning. This revealed that the primary cause of death was not drowning. There was no water in the lungs, which indicated that the woman was dead before she entered the water. The story of the finding of the body had already appeared in the morning papers and, shortly after the body had been buried, Tuesday afternoon, Benjamin H. Roberts of Gloucester, husband of the dead woman, arrived in Beverly making inquiries. He told the Medical Examiner that his wife had come to Manchester about a week ago and he had heard nothing from her since. The Examiner's description of the body convinced Roberts that the dead woman was his wife. His belief was made certain later when he came to Manchester and positively identified the clothes found on the body as those of Mrs. Roberts.

Roberts said that, the last he knew of his wife, she had come to Manchester on Monday, Sept. 9, to visit a school-girl friend, Mrs. Timothy White of 46 Central street. Interviewed Tuesday night, Mrs. White said Mrs. Roberts had been at her house all day Monday and that she took her to the Manchester station at 11 o'clock Monday night to await the next train to Gloucester. Mrs. White said she left Mrs. Roberts at the station and went home and had heard nothing from her since.

The police were still trying to trace the woman's movements from the station, when Clarence H. Legg, a steamfitter employed in the village, visited the police station and told a story which completely upset all other theories. He said that he and a fellow-workman, named Daniel Northup, were walking down Beach street early Monday evening when they met Mrs. White and Mrs. Roberts near Masconomo Park. The four started back toward town. At the railroad crossing, Northup left the party and went home, while Legg went on with the two women past the postoffice and up Central and Bridge streets to Ashland avenue, where they soon came to a boathouse owned by Mrs. White.

At the boathouse they were to meet a man named "George." Just who he is the police haven't seen fit to inquire. It seems that Mrs. Roberts had an appointment with "George" and, at this point, left Mrs. White and Legg in the road and went down to the boathouse near the water's edge.

Legg says that he and Mrs. White continued along the railroad tracks toward the station. They had gone some distance when they heard Mrs. Roberts coming behind them. Apparently "George" had not kept his appointment. She was running. When she reached the drawbridge, Legg says, she stumbled and fell. He and Mrs. White ran back to the bridge, Legg declares, but the body had disappeared. Legg went to Chief of Police Converse the following morning and told him that "an accident had happened at the drawbridge," that he had heard a shriek and splash but the Chief didn't think enough of it to investigate.

After Legg had told his story, Wednesday, Mrs. White was summoned to the station-house and corroborated it in every detail.

CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR

JAMES E. TOLMAN, of Gloucester.

James E. Tolman is well known to the people of Manchester and was one of the most popular Mayors of Gloucester. Compelled at an early age to make his way, he understands the hardships of life and has always been in favor of making the wage-earners' condition more tolerable and has always received the support of the laboring men. He has been very interested in women and children labor legislation, voting for the 54-hour bill, the Childs Labor Laws, employment of minors in factories, proper lighting of factories; also voted for the right of appeal and trial by jury in contempt cases, the 8-hour bill, the bill for more factory inspectors, to reduce hours of street and elevated railway employees, to prohibit suction shuttles in factories and laws relative to the employment of women in mercantile and manufacturing establishments. Mr. Tolman's fairness on all questions has brought to his side the employer as well as the employee and he has been for all the people and no particular class. Mr. Tolman's independence was shown by voting against the $9,000,000 Boston Harbor Bill, against increasing the salaries of the superior and Supreme Court judges, voting for the Boston & Eastern R. R., compelling a 25-year lease on the merging of the West End and Boston Elevated in place of fifty years, which the railroads fought for; in favor of a bill increasing the liability of common carriers for the safety of passengers.

Manchester's interest is closer with Gloucester than any other port in the district and Mr. Tolman has always been her friend, proving his friendship by loyally standing by Manchester until she received what he thought was right. He is a friend who has accomplished things for Manchester and now is only asking for the same consideration that Manchester received. His best recommendations are his standing as a business man and his clean and honorable record as a public servant. Let Manchester protect her interest by voting for James E. Tolman for Senator.

Chief Forester Graves is on his way to San Francisco to make final arrangements under which a California lumber company will purchase 800 million feet of timber on the Sierra National Forest. The timber has already been awarded, after public advertisement, to the highest bidder, but under the terms of the advertisement the final signing of the contract will not take place until the company has been shown on the ground what timber the Government will reserve from cutting in order to preserve good forest conditions and provide for reproduction.

The company will be allowed its full 800 million feet, but naturally it will not be allowed to cut clean. As a rule the Forest Service reserves something like one-third of the forest stand in applying forestry on Government holdings. A marking board made up of one man sent from Washington, one from the District office in San Francisco, and the local Forest Supervisor will carefully mark a sample area, to show how the restrictions on cutting will be applied. Representatives of the company will then go over this area, after which Chief Forester Graves and his assistants will, it is expected, make final arrangements with the company in San Francisco, and the contract of sale will be signed.

"The Forest Service," said Mr. Graves in speaking of this sale, "has received a number of inquiries whether in selling so much timber to a single purchaser the Government may not be opening the way to a monopolistic control of local lumber markets. Other correspondents are disturbed lest the sale prove a bad bargain for the Government through the rise in value of the timber in the twenty-two years during which the company will cut.

"Such large and long-time sales of National Forest timber as that to the California company are a new development in the Forest Service. Great bodies of mature but inaccessible timber can be put on the market only if sale contracts are let on terms which will justify a very heavy initial investment in transportation facilities. In entering into such contracts, however, special safeguards to protect the public against monopoly and to prevent an undue speculative profit to the purchaser are employed.

"The National Forests contain, in all, the equivalent of nearly 600 billion feet of timber now of merchantable size, besides young growth for future harvest. Because of its remoteness from market and the wild, mountainous country, without transportation facilities, in which most of it lies, only a small percentage can now be sold on any terms. Most of it would cost more to get it out than it would bring. The sale of less than one-fifth of one per cent of our total supply to one company leaves plenty of room for competition by other companies.

"The timber which has been sold to the California company lies well back in the Sierra Nevada Mountains and will require the construction of 70 miles of standard-gauge railroad to open up the area. Since this road will also open up other National Forest timber and will be a common carrier, it creates another safeguard against monopoly. The company is given a cutting period of twenty-two years to remove the timber, besides an additional two years for the construction of logging and manufacturing facilities. The sale was publicly advertised for six months in order to give an opportunity for all who wished to compete for the contract to make bids, as is done in all large National Forest sales.

Fire Warden's Notice

Town of Manchester, Mass.

Chapter two hundred and nine of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and eight is hereby amended by striking out section one and inserting in place thereof the following:—Section 1. It shall be unlawful within any city, or within any town which accepts the provisions of this act, for any person to set a fire in the open air between the first day of March and the first day of December except by the written permission of the forest warden; that debris from fields, gardens and orchards, or leaves and rubbish from yards may be burned on ploughed fields by the owners thereof, their agents or lessees; and provided, further, that persons above eighteen years of age may maintain a fire for a reasonable purpose upon sandy or barren land, if the fire is enclosed within rocks, metal or other non-inflammable material. In every case such fire shall be at least two hundred feet distant from any forest or sprout lands, and at least fifty feet distant from any building, and shall be properly attended until it is extinguished. The forest warden shall cause public notice to be given of the provisions of this section, and shall enforce the same. Whoever violates the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than one month, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Miss Ethel Hooper returned Tuesday from a very delightful trip to Europe. She was a member of Dr. Dunning's party which left New York in late June. She traveled through France, Germany and Switzerland and also spent a short time in England. The trip was made largely with the intention of perfecting her studies in French and German, which language, she has been teaching since her graduation from Wellesley. Her mother, Mrs. F. K. Hooper went over to New York to meet her, spending a day or so with her brother at Bethlehem, Pa., while away.

More Improvements at the Webber Store.

The Wm. G. Webber Co., which less than a year ago erected the magnificent new corner store which today is considered one of the finest appointed stores east of Boston, is making more improvements that will be appreciated by the women folks of Greater Salem.

The millinery department, although given a larger space than ever before in the new building, is calling for more room; therefore, a new mezzanine was built for the designers and trimmers and their former rooms were turned over to the masons and carpenters, who are now at work changing over the rooms formerly occupied as fitting and millinery workrooms, into a pleasant, restful millinery parlor to be used for the store's greatly increasing custom hat trade.

Here a patron may be secluded from the main store while trying on and waiting to be served by her particular milliner and when this parlor is completed, with its dainty furnishings, it will be another achievement of the Webber Co., and will give this enterprising store one of the finest millinery shops east of Boston, and will be thoroughly appreciated by the trade which looks to this establishment as the best and most reliable trading place in Essex county.

VOL. X Sept. 20, 1912 No. 38

The Crime of the Age.

The crime against the laws of the human mind of our age is the careless way in which opinions are formed, and expressed, and in which prejudices are acquired and permitted to be fostered in minds which otherwise are keen and aggressive. This is the penalty which the era is forced to pay for its progress in the communication of ideas in public speech and by means of the printed page. The minds of men are being ruined by too much reading and too little thinking. There are other contributing causes to the failing namely, the modern inordinate passion for work and speed. The one reduces the opportunity for intelligent thinking on public questions by engrossing the mind in the productive enterprise in which the individual is interested and the other under the stress of the shortened hours for intelligent thinking would force the mind to the same spontaneity of action that characterizes the mechanism of modern industry. But the mind will refuse to be obedient to such laws from without for it has laws unto itself which men may profit by only as they obey them. The mind requires leisure and we live in an age of wasteful haste; the mind demands time and exclusive action in a given direction, and this age is unwilling to think hard because it takes time; it is unwilling to consider discriminatingly every idea presented to the ear or to the eye because it is work of severe type. Men do not make their own garments, but buy them made for them to save time and money and the business acumen of the material world has subjugated the mind in its mental processes. A man may find his ideas made for him—rather ready made for him,—and many a man otherwise intelligent has unwittingly permitted his mind to be possessed by the other unseen mind without the resemblance of a struggle. The American newspaper is necessarily a great sinner in this respect but can it be remedied? The average opinions expressed are too often influenced by other interests than those of truth for its own sake and under the intense pressure of the demand for copy. It is the marvel of the age that the newspaper has acquired the perfection that it has. Let the pen move and the press whirl and the papers fly to the hands of the reader but—the reader should put a guard at the gate post of the eye and another at the door of the understanding to keep out half-formed, narrow, indefensible opinions that are thus thrust upon him. It is the salvation of the human mind for it to assert its own autonomy and refuse to be subjected to every whim and prejudice of the skilful orator or ingenious writer. There is still a field in journalism for the great man who can be content to present facts, accurately as facts and who will express opinions as opinions. Theodore Parker was never more brilliant in his penetration of the failings of the human mind held in bondage when he mourned the way in which public opinion was being formed by the anonymous penny a liner whose opinion expressed on the claims of his own authority and intelligence as an individual would have been negligible. It is well for a man to read, and to read much, but reading that fails to stimulate the mind to do its own work must end in harming rather than benefiting the human intelligence. The crime of the age is too much reading and too little thinking. It is a pity that the gullible individual never will awake to the thought that the mind is being imposed upon by these artful swindlers of the mind's highest faculty, thinking.

Tax Dodgers and Collectors.

The proposed action by the State against tax collectors in Massachusetts who have failed to straighten up their accounts on taxes due prior to 1909 brings to mind the question whether the system of collecting is in error or the citizens are failing to surrender their shekels when approached by the collectors. There are undoubtedly tax-dodgers galore in many cities and towns, and this, hampered by an inefficient system and lax officials, makes a combination that is not conducive to increasing the revenue of that particular municipality through the medium of taxes from its citizens. Rockport, although on the list of those places which have been brought to the attention of the attorney-general as a result of a law passed by the 1912 Legislature is not bothered with tax-dodgers in as great a measure as some places. Boston keeps itself on the map by its mayor's professions of an abhorrence of tax-dodging, but is apparently satisfied with the way the collecting department at City hall is working. It is a significant fact that although three and a half millions in taxes were assessed in the Hub between 1898 and 1908, only a million ever saw the collector's office. In this case, inefficiency and tax-dodgers have been working together with disastrous results. On the other hand, the law as passed, works a considerable hardship upon the tax collectors and their bondsmen, for by the Legislature's act they are responsible for the taxes which remain unpaid. Just how far the state will go in prosecuting the collectors is problematical, but it is needless to say that it is keeping the collectors guessing.

The Athenian oath, so called, is rich in its vision of civic duty and loyalty. Every boy will be the better for having memorized it and the community in which he dwells will be the better for his having learned it. The "joining fever" is characteristic of boys and they take to it with delight. Boys will endure hardship to prove themselves worthy of membership in an organization. May it not be that educators have failed in not seizing this attitude of a boy's mind to improve his ideals of citizenship? Mayor Fitzgerald has made an excellent suggestion in requesting the teachers of the city of Boston to teach the boys and girls of that city the oath. It impresses young minds with the fact that they "belong" to something, the city, that owns and governs the municipality. The oath, as suggested for teaching is as follows:

"We will never bring disgrace to this, our city, by any act of dishonesty or cowardice, nor ever desert our suffering comrades in the ranks; we will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the city, both alone and with many; we will revere and obey the city's laws and do our best to incite a like respect and reverence in those above us who are prone to annul or to set them at naught; we will strive unceasingly to quicken the public's sense of civic duty. Thus, in all these ways, we will transmit this city not only, not less, but greater, better and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

In it are expressed the ideals of honor, loyalty to citizens, fidelity to law and order, alertness to civic duty and those progressive ambitions of true patriotism that are unwilling to receive all and give nothing but are inspired by noble inspirations to make the city or town of one's residence better for one's presence. The ideals are high but no better way can be devised for their expression than this simple pledge.

The open school means an open door to success for each pupil, Superintendent Dyer of Boston has spoken with authority and in truth when he says, "Now it is up to the parents to see that their children are on time every day; to see that their children get their share of the millions of dollars that are being expended for improvement; to see that their children have faith in education as the pathway to opportunity; to see that their children go to school with a reverence for their teacher as the closest counsellor next to their parents; to see that the ideals of the home and the school are in harmony."

Brookline High school has increased its equipment by the addition of a new set of wireless apparatus, to be used in the instruction of the art to the boys. With the cry of the professional operator after the Titanic disaster that amateurs should not be permitted to dabble with the electrical waves it would seem a questionable step for the schools to encourage further interference with the out-puts on board ships and along the coast which are necessary to the safeguarding of craft at sea. Nevertheless there is much to be learned by the students in the study of wireless telegraphy and is perhaps something to be encouraged.

The chief of the Malden police force is having his hands full in trying to enforce the curfew ordinance which has been in practice in that city for a short time. About the only effect the curfew seems to have is to make more persons consult their watches to see if they have the correct time. The chief thinks it a good law if not "too rigidly enforced." And he is quite correct in the latter part of his statement.

If the synthetic rubber made under the direction of and according to the formula of the German expert can be placed upon the market at a commercial price less than that of "real" rubber a great discovery has been made. Rubber is an indispensable article of civilization and any means of increasing the world's output at an equal or less price will prove a blessing.

Definitions of high school "frats" are handed down to the schoolboys almost daily. Judge Gibbons of Chicago compares them and their members to the affair at Los Angeles, when the Times building was blown up with dynamite by anarchists. Quite an apt illustration.

The use of the essence of orange as an initial element in administering ether as an anaesthetic seems to be a success. The researches of the medical fraternity are proving great boons to society. If the essence of orange will remove the repulsiveness of ether and diminish the quantity of that drug required to produce insensibility another progressive step has been made in the science of medicine.

It is a wise parent that will encourage their children in their studies and maintain the discipline of the school by their influence.

The citizen does not forget that Mr. Taft is industriously doing his work on matters of state while T. R. is making copy for newspapers.

Other shore places are deserted but Manchester is as full of life as in the earlier part of the season. September and October are two of the best months of the year, and every year the season is longer and the number of year-round residents increases. The fall months are always better if anything, than the warmer months of July and August. To return to the city leaving the shore in all its glory is a misfortune if compulsory and folly if unnecessary.

The Town of Manchester has been quite free from the abuses incident to the automobile traffic this season. The rules of the road have been fairly well obeyed. The roadbed has been littered by automobile parties, or occasionally a selfish chauffeur has been chastised and frequently the public has been annoyed by careless drivers opening the "cut out" but on the whole the Town has reason to rejoice that there have been no fatalities and so few accidents.

The school year has begun and Manchester High school students are busy at their books. The course of study has been carefully planned by the superintendent and a corps of able teachers are at their work. It is a wise boy or girl that will redeem the opportunities afforded by industrious application to the school work.

ACCIDENT OR CRIME--WHICH?

A Letter of Inquiry Into the Death of Mrs. Estelle Roberts.

The Editor of The Breeze

Dear Sir:

Believing that Mrs. Estelle Roberts of Gloucester, whose body was found in Manchester Harbor last Monday afternoon came to her death not "accidentally"—as set forth in the police report officially closing the investigation—but by other means yet to be uncovered, I earnestly request your aid in creating a public sentiment such as shall compel further investigation. While the cause of Mrs. Roberts' death is still uncertain, one fact is plain—that the investigation of the police to determine the cause of death has been indifferent and inefficient. And, in the hope of righting what, in my humble opinion, is a grave wrong, I ask you to publish the following facts:

In Regard to the Actual Cause of Death:

1. Following the post mortem examination, Dr. W. G. Stickney, the Medical examiner, gave it as his official verdict that Mrs. Roberts' death was due to "probable violence." The autopsy showed that Mrs. Roberts had received a blow at the base of the skull, apparently with a blunt instrument. While undoubtedly sufficient to stun, or, possibly, to kill the woman, this blow did not fracture the skull. Examination of the lungs failed to reveal even a small amount of water. Now, in order for a person to drown—even a person in a stunned condition—it is necessary for the lungs to fill with water. Following death, the water remains in the lungs, and no amount of pressure caused by gases rising from decomposition of the body will force all the water from the lungs. On the other hand, in cases where a dead body is submerged, the lungs never fill with water—the processes of respiration have already ceased. The one inference to be drawn from these facts—and it was the inference drawn by the Medical Examiner—is that Mrs. Roberts had been dead some time before her body entered the water.

In opposition to this, a man and woman who were with Mrs. Roberts on the night of her death say she fell from the drawbridge and was drowned. Several days before, when this woman took Mrs. Roberts' child to his home in Gloucester, she told Mr. Roberts that his wife had "committed suicide." Last Tuesday she solemnly declared to three newspaper men who talked with her that the last she saw of Mrs. Roberts was when she left her at Manchester station, to take the train for Gloucester. The next morning she gave to the chief of police the story of the drowning at the drawbridge.

And the Manchester police have seen fit to believe this woman's story in preference to the verdict of the Medical Examiner, a surgeon trained in experience and with absolutely no personal interest in the case. On the strength of this woman's latest story the police have ceased probing the case. Is that fair to the dead woman, to her husband and children, or to the community which the police are supposed to protect?

2. Mrs. Roberts' companions say she fell from the drawbridge. Her watch shows her body entered the water approximately at 11.30 o'clock at night.

The almanac for the night of September 9th, shows that the tide was at full at 9.30 o'clock. Two hours later when Mrs. Roberts is alleged to have fallen into the water, the tide was ebbing fast. The water was rushing through the channel under the drawbridge as through a mill-race. Personally I know nothing of tides and currents. But I have asked expert advice. It is the consensus of opinion of 9 seamen of from 12 to 40 years experience on Manchester Harbor that, had Mrs. Roberts fell, or her body been thrown from the drawbridge, the ebb-current would have swept it half-way out to the sea in less than an hour and that, if it lodged, it would have done so much farther down the harbor than where it was found. These experienced men say it would have been impossible for it to drift back to the point where it was found. They declare that, in their opinion, Mrs. Roberts entered the water either in the inlet that runs back from the main channel to Beach street about opposite the Old Neck road, or else in the rear of the boat-yards, at the foot of Ashland avenue, where the natural currents would work it around to the spot where it was found.

Again, attempting to account for the blow on Mrs. Roberts' head, her companions say she stumbled on the drawbridge and struck her head against a beam. Whatever may have struck the blow, it is certain the wound bled profusely. Yet close examination of every part of the drawbridge has failed to disclose a blood-mark, a strand of hair, a patch of clothing or any other slightest evidence to show that Mrs. Roberts met her death there.

Again, when Mrs. Roberts' body was found, the head and neck were very badly sun-burned. There was every indication that, somewhere, the body had lodged exposed near the water's edge and that, while the body was covered by water, the head was exposed to the sun. But, if the stories of this man and woman are to be believed, this would be impossible. They say she sank in the deep water of the channel where the body would have been protected from the rays of the sun. Again the eye-sockets showed the head had been long exposed. There the blood was still red and fresh—had the head been submerged for seven days, this, in all probability would have been washed away. No one of experience in such things who saw the body but believes that it lay exposed on some shore to which it had been carried by the tide from the point, where it entered the water.

3. By their own story, Mrs. Roberts' companions made no attempt to rescue her after, as they allege, she fell from the drawbridge. The water is not deep there—they could easily have hauled her ashore. If, as they say, Mrs. Roberts fell to her death "accidentally" why did they not shout for help? If they were at the drawbridge at the time, Beach street was but a minute distant? Why didn't they run to the village and give the alarm? These are points which the police have not cleared up.

Now, regarding the indifference of the police in investigating the case:

1. Early in the morning following the death of Mrs. Roberts, Clarence H. Legg, a steamfitter employed on Smith's Point, went to the house of Chief of Police Frank Converse and told the Chief that, the night before, he (Legg) "had been out with a girl and something had happened." Legg left town before I could ascertain exactly what he told the Chief. The big fact is that the information was not acted upon then and that the body had to lie a week until it came to the surface before an investigation was begun.

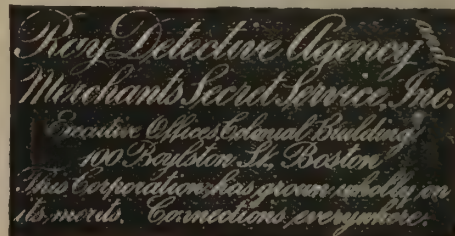

2. On Monday morning, several hours before the finding of the body, a bundle of clothing was found floating on the water back of White's boat-house. The bundle was wound in a piece of sheet. Inside were a pair of woman's brown stockings, a pillow, a piece of wadded quilt, a small sewing-basket and several strips of dark, heavy cloth. The man who opened the bundle says the strips seemed to be part of a small coat that had been torn to pieces. As nothing of value was in the bundle the articles were thrown back into the water. The next day, after the body had been found, newspapermen heard about the bundle and investigated. They recovered the pieces of sheet and quilting.

The sheet was badly marked by blue splotches. The newspapermen took the sheet to the police station and the marks were compared with marks on the under-skirt found on the body. The marks are the same. The circumstances of the bundle were told to Chief Converse, yet, so far as I have been able to learn, the police have made absolutely no effort to recover the other articles or to connect them with the case. In view of the fact that the coat which Mrs. Roberts' is supposed to have worn on the night of her death is missing, the indifference of the police on this particular point is rather amazing. Mr. Roberts says his wife had several pairs of brown stockings and that it was her custom to take her mending with her when she went visiting. Under these circumstances is it not reasonable to expect that the police should make a great effort to recover the contents of that bundle and, on the assumption that they prove to be the property of Mrs. Roberts, to find out how Mrs. Roberts' stockings and work-basket came to be wrapped up in a sheet and thrown into the harbor? The tying up of that bundle, at least, is something that wasn't "accidental."

In urging further investigation I desire to harm no one. In fact, I hope that the police are right and my beliefs are wrong. The thing I want is the investigation. If wrong has been done, hushing it up won't do the town any good. If no wrong has been done, a thorough probing will prove that fact beyond question—a condition much better than the status in which the case has been left.

Yours very truly,

JAMES SWEINHART.

MANCHESTER

The first meeting of the fall of the North Shore Horticultural society will be held this evening at 7.30 in Horticultural hall. It is expected the discussion committee will have some interesting meetings arranged for the winter.

The Sunday Schools of the Salem Baptist association held an outing at Tuck's point last Saturday. The meeting was called to order by W. W. Main, secretary of the Massachusetts Baptist Sunday school association. Addresses were made by W. W. Main and Mr. Day of Marblehead, outlining plans for Sunday school work for the coming year. A fish chowder dinner was served by the Manchester church, 140 people participating. The afternoon was spent in recreation.

Mrs. D. T. Beaton is attending the Mothers' Congress in Boston today, after which she will spend the weekend in Cambridge with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kitfield. Mr. Beaton and their little daughter will join her there.

Miss Mary Ross of Boston is spending a week with her cousin, Mrs. Alice Wheaton.

Herman Swett has left to spend his annual vacation at Nova Scotia. He will join Mrs. Swett who preceded him by about two weeks. at Yarmouth.

The first meeting of the Harmony Guild was held in the chapel Monday evening. The meeting included a very pleasant social hour and the committee in charge served an excellent chafing dish supper.

Henry Pearson of Byfield arrived in town Thursday to spend a few days with his son, Lyman W. Floyd.

CHURCH NOTES

Rev. A. G. Warner will preach at the Baptist church Sunday morning on "Making Heaven Real." The subject for the evening sermon will be "In Touch With Jesus Christ."

The Baptist church will give a social and entertainment to the summer visitors on Tuesday evening, September 24th, at 8 o'clock. All summer visitors who have considered the Baptist their home church are invited to be present.

Rev. L. H. Ruge will preach at the Congregational church Sunday morning on "The Great Daily Battle;" in the evening on "The Divine Mission"

The Unitarian church, Masconomo street, Manchester, closed last Sunday for the season.

Whittemore-Dodge.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Melville Dodge, School street, Manchester, was the scene of a pretty home wedding Wednesday evening, when their daughter, Mary Edith, and Henry E. Whittemore of Boston and Ashmont, were united in marriage by the Rev. Edward Chase of the Washington Street Congregational church, Beverly. Rev. Mr. Chase is the father of an intimate college friend of the bride. The ceremony was performed in the living room, which was transformed to a veritable garden by the profusion of potted palms, ferns and a great variety of flowers.

The bride was charming in her wedding gown of white chiffon over white satin trimmed with Bohemian lace. The dress was cut low at the throat and was made with a panel train. Bohemian lace furnished the simple trimming. The white veil caught up with pearls was an effective addition to the costume, as were the beautiful white roses carried by the bride. There were about thirty present, among whom were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Whittemore of Ashmont, his aunt, Ms. Elizabeth Cobb of Hillsboro, N. H., his partner, Walter B. Grant of Boston and Dorchester. A sister of the bride, Mrs. James E. Charlesworth and Mr. Charlesworth of Somerville and Miss Mattie Littlefield, also of Somerville, were among those present.

Miss Dorothy Tuttle a cousin of the bride of Newark, N. J., came on for the wedding. Mrs. Oswald Tower, formerly Miss Helen Boyle, whose marriage took place this summer, Miss Annie Lane, Miss Audrey Calden, Miss Elizabeth Jewett, Miss Marion Scott and Miss Fannie Knight, the members of the "Sewing Club," served the cake and other refreshments after the ceremony.

There were many beautiful wedding presents of silver and cut glass and a predominance of fine embroidered work. A number of solid mahogany pieces were also among the gifts.

Mrs. Whittemore is a graduate of Laselle Seminary and of Mt. Holyoke college. The groom is a well known Boston lawyer, a resident of Ashmont and favorably known in Manchester. After the reception the young couple left in an automobile for their honeymoon, which will include a visit to the White Mountains and thence to Montreal and Quebec. They will be at home to their friends at 25 Mellen street, Ashmont, after the first of December.

Manchesters Lose Again

The ball team from the president's yacht, Mayflower, accompanied by the band, journeyed to the Brook street playgrounds, Manchester, last Saturday and incidentally captured a game from the Manchesters. The crack battery of the Essex nine, Burnham and Wetmore, did classy work for the home team, but the Mayflower's pitcher, who was in a class by himself, was practically invincible, Manchester being lucky to escape a shutout. The score was 10 to 2.

BEVERLY FARMS

A Wilson club has been formed in Beverly with a large membership. John C. McCarthy of Beverly Farms is one of the vice presidents.

The first dance of the season given by the officers and crew of the U. S. S. Mayflower, was given in Neighbor's hall last Monday evening. The hall presented a very attractive appearance with its decorations of flags and bunting, the entire ceiling and walls being concealed. The orchestra of seventeen pieces from the Mayflower furnished the music. The uniforms of the officers and crew, with the pretty dresses of the ladies and the civilian clothes of the Beverly Farms young men made a pretty picture. Refreshments were served from a booth near the balcony. The hall was filled to its capacity.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli R. Hodgkins have moved to Rockport, Mass., where they will make their home for at least the next two years. Their new home is located upon one of the highest hills of the town which gives them a view of miles of the surrounding territory.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Sawyer of Denver, Colo., who are on a vacation trip East, spent a part of last week at the Farms visiting friends.

ESSEX IS RIGHT IN THE CENTRE OF The Summer Residence Zone

It has high hills, beautiful woodland drives, a charming lake, a salt water-river which "like a ribbon of silver" flows to the sea. Boating, fishing and bathing abound. Although it has water on all sides it seldom if ever has the disagreeable fog which is so prevalent in other places. The high hills covered with dense forests which surround the town keep the fog away. We have many desirable places aggregating about 2000 acres for sale. One feature of Essex is, our valuation is so low that the addition of but one million would halve the tax rate.

The pool tournament at the Men's club was won by Arthur Pruelson of the North Shore Grill. Second prize was won by Charles Luther, chauffeur for Mr. John Allyn. The five men team tournament in bowling was won by Wm. Howlett's team, taking two out of three strings. Miss Farrey of the Oceanside hotel still holds the highest score in bowling for ladies. M. J. Merriek now holds the high single-string record. His score is 131. Finals in the double and single tournaments will be rolled tomorrow evening.

The Men's clubhouse will close for the season on Monday, Sept. 30.

The Mardi Gras night in Beverly next Wednesday evening for the dedication of the "Great White Way" new street lighting on Cabot street will prove a strong attraction for Beverly Farms people. There will be many local people in the parade.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mears of Indian Head, Md., are receiving congratulations from their Beverly Farms friends on the arrival of a baby girl. Last summer Mr. Mears was in charge of the drug department on the U. S. S. Mayflower while at Beverly Farms. Mrs. Mears also was a visitor here during the ships stay off West Beach. She was a favorite among the Beverly Farms young people.

An event which is looked forward to with much interest is the 6th annual Scottish dance of Clan Wallace, No. 127, which takes place in Neighbor's hall next Thursday evening, Sept. 26th. Special features will be the dancing of Scottish, Irish and Spanish dances by Misses Jennie and Nellie Irvine. Long's orchestra will furnish music for the regular dancing. The dances in Highland costume to the music of the bagpipes will be novel and attractive features.

The next meeting of the Scandinavian sewing circle will be held Thursday evening, Sept. 26th, at the home of Mrs. George P. Gregor, on the Dalton estate.

Michael Niland, age 57 years, 7 months, died at the Beverly hospital Monday afternoon after a short illness of pneumonia. He was well known at Beverly Farms where he has lived many years. His generosity and kindly feelings toward all made him a host of friends. He was a member of St. Margaret's Court of Foresters. Mr. Niland was unmarried. Funeral services were held yesterday morning at St. Margaret's church and interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery at Montserrat.

George P. Gregor arrived home yesterday after spending several weeks in Germany, his former home, where he has been visiting relatives. Mr. Gregor is the Supt. of the Dalton estate at West Beach Hill.

FOR THIRD ESSEX SENATORSHIP C. AUGUSTUS NORWOOD OF HAMILTON, A CANDIDATE

C. Augustus Norwood, who is out for the Republican nomination as State Senator in the Third Essex District, was born at Hamilton, on August 21, 1880. After his elementary education in the public schools of Ipswich, he took a degree from Harvard college and was later graduated from the Harvard Law school.

He is a member of the Essex County, Massachusetts State and American Bar Associations, as well as of many clubs and societies, including the Grange and the Knights Templar. A life-long Republican, he has attended several of the party conventions and is now secretary of the Republican Town Committee of Hamilton.

His official career began as a town officer, when he served as Selectman, Moderator and School Committeeman of Hamilton. Later he was elected to the Massachusetts House, serving two years, during which he sat, at different periods, on the Judiciary, Water Supply and Fish and Game Committees. During his term in the House, he devoted his time to bills of local interest, working tirelessly for such measures, including the Harbor Cove and Mill River dredging bills, the Veterans' Gratuity Bill, the Essex County Agricultural School, the Ipswich River Water Supply, the Newburyport Bridge bill, the law which settled the position of the clam industry in Essex County for the next ten years, the opening of the hunting season on Columbus Day, and other measures.

George E. Roberts has resigned as gardener at the Charles H. Tweed estate, having accepted a similar position at Needham, Mass., where he has moved his family. Mr. Murphy is Mr. Robert's successor at the Tweed estate.

Louis Gainley and family, who have resided on Vine street for several years, have moved to Lynn, where they will make their home.

Miss Jane M. Watson will commence her dancing class for children Thursday afternoon, Oct. 10th in Marshall's hall.

Preston WRC will celebrate their 25th anniversary on Tuesday, Oct. 15th. The GAR Post and many prominent people will be their guests. Department officials of the GAR and WRC will also be present. An entertainment and speech making will be followed by a banquet furnished by a caterer. Music will be furnished by an orchestra.

The Central square club, composed of popular Beverly Farms men, will give a public dance in Neighbor's hall next Monday evening, Sept. 23rd. Long's orchestra will furnish music.

Mrs. Johnson of Washington, D. C., is visiting at the Farms. She is the wife of Quartermaster R. Johnson of the U. S. S. Mayflower.

The Primary election will take place next Tuesday, Sept. 24th. In Ward 6 the voting booth will be at GAR hall from 6 a. m. to 4 p. m.

John West colony, Pilgrim Fathers, will hold their semi-monthly meeting this evening in Marsnall's hall. A good attendance is desired.

A number of Beverly Farms high school students are being given a tryout for the school football team.

The Beverly Farms ball team won the "rubber" game last Saturday afternoon at the play grounds from the St. Mary's of Beverly by a score of 13 to 2. The grounds were wet and the slippery ball made good playing out of the question. The home team, however, excelled in all parts of the game.

The Scandinavian Sewing Circle wishes to express through "The Breeze" their sincere thanks to all who helped to make their fair held last week the great success that it was. Among those who were awarded special presents were: Mrs. Stanley, fruit cake; Augusta Peterson, sponge cake; Carl Anderson, pillow cover; Gerda Swarthing, shawl; Hannah Swenson, center piece. There was a large attendance. Besides the amusements there was music by an orchestra.

Former Councilman Charles H. Hull will be a candidate for the berth of Alderman from Ward 6 in the coming city election. Many friends of the former representative to the city council have, for some time been urging him to run, and this week Mr. Hull decided that he would do so. He has always taken much interest in city affairs, and has the reputation of doing all things well in all his undertakings. His experience in the past in city affairs should make him a valuable official to the city and Ward 6.

A sale of fancy and useful articles was held by the Girls' club of St. John's Episcopal church, on the church grounds yesterday afternoon.

The annual picnic of the Farms firemen was held on Saturday in Wyatt's field and a large number of fire laddies and guests had a genuine good time and outing. The feature of the day was a remarkable ball game between the Farms boys and a team from the Central station which was won by the former by a score of 24 to 18. The Beverly boys made 17 runs in the first inning but after that could not do anything more. Refreshments were served at the field and in the evening a concert was held at the engine house.

LOOKING AHEAD

If your thoughts are wandering toward a new home in the near future, let us caution you to look into the far, far future, because the pride and satisfaction in that little home depends on the lasting qualities and genuine beauty of the things that you put into it now.

It's not like bonnets and dresses that wear out in a season—the things that you buy now should wear for years, and doing service in usage, wear well to the eye. And they will if you use care in selecting. If you come to the shop that is so much talked about—of having things that are so especially pretty—you'll have in that home just the things that you need to give you that lasting satisfaction. They cost you less, too, than in the average stores, because they come here in such tremendous big quantities. Car load upon car load is received here in a season, making a wonderful difference in the cost.

Just now, without boasting, we declare our stock the prettiest that it has ever been our privilege to show, and to us there's not real beauty, 'less economy be there, and this season this is more manifest than ever.

DRESSERS

We've them in oak, maple and mahogany. One in oak sells for $7.50. You'd think it could not be made to sell at this price 'tis so good. Others of a higher grade up to twenty-fifty. Maple is a very pretty light colored wood and harmonizes beautifully with tinted colors. One that has an oval bevel plate mirror, scroll standards, 4 drawers, two being full length and a serpentine front costs here only $18.00 and it's a saving price, too. Mahogany is the king of all woods. To furnish your chamber in this beautiful wood is not expensive here. One that has a bevel plate mirror, 4 drawers, two being full length and spacious, swell front, costs this little price, $20.00. Others of greater worth up to seventy-five dollars. A mahogany Chiffonier of extra good value we sell for only $16.50.

BEDS

The brass ones. Over 75 patterns to select from. Our kind don't tarnish. Even alcohol or ammonia spilt on them will not change their brilliant lustre. They're as low as $8.75 here. One that has two-inch continuous posts with 7 one-inch fillers ending in ball tops and has one-inch connecting rails we ask only $18.00. 'Tis worth more and you'd say so. There's another that we sell for $33.00. It is unusual value. When selecting, be sure to see it. Others that have greater value go up in price to over sixty dollars. Iron Beds are here in great variety. We start them in price way down to $2.00. For one that is made in part of brass with a pretty scroll design we ask only $6.50. If you'd like something better we've prices up to sixteen dollars.

PARLOR SUITS

For that front room that you've thought about with awe because you knew you couldn't have what you wanted—just wait a bit and look down through this column—your spirits will jump up with a bound. A 3-Piece Suit can be bought here for $23.50. Another 3 Piece Suit finished in mahogany. Upholstered with Imperial Velour. The backs of each piece are made of narrow upright pieces. Has pretty claw feet. Will cost you only $33.00. A 5 Piece Suit that you'd say costs seventy-five dollars 'cause it really looks to be worth as much, we sell for $55.00. 'Tis very roomy, has high backs paneled at the top. Upholstered in Velour and has claw feet. Other suits in mahogany up to $150.00 to make your parlor the swellest around.

DEN FURNITURE

You can't afford to have a den? Well you can't afford to keep house without it! It's the most usable room, with the least amount of care and it looks swell, that's what everyone says. We've Arm Chairs, mission style, for only $5.50, while a rocker that matches in fumed oak will cost you as little as $6.00.

An Easy Chair with shaped back, spring seat upholstered in leather you can buy here for $8.75. A Library Table you can get way down to $6.75. One that we sell for a few dollars more has a large drawer and those cute magazine racks on the sides. Only $14.00. These pieces you can see are inexpensive and make it easy to have this room one of your prettiest.

IN MATTINGS AND RUGS.

You'll find them here in splendid variety and at the most inexpensive prices. The best kind of Matting comes from China and the price begins down at 10c yd. The best grade you can buy here for 30c yd. Crex Matting sells here for 39c yd. Crex Rugs from only 35c. Our Rugs are the unusual kind—pretier in colors and designs. The Apollo is new, has variegated soft colors. You ought to have several. From $1.35. Japanese Rugs, carpet size, from $2.50. Then we've the best line of Tapestry Brussels and Axminster Rugs.

Just come here and look over our complete big stock.

P. S. Our salesmen, if you wish, will gladly meet you any evening and give you the freedom of the store and tender you the benefit of their years of experience in fitting up specially pretty homes. It doesn't matter how many miles away you live for with our magnificent motor truck we can assure you a prompt and safe delivery of your goods.

Is Your Stationery You?

When you write to your friends does your stationery carry your individuality?

Has it that pleasing air of refinement and distinction that a monogram stationery has?

For if it hasn't, you know you can use beautiful die-stamped stationery, bearing your own monogram, for very little more than the cost of the paper plain. The die is the most expensive part, and we will make you a very nice one for $2.00 or $2.50.

Now that fall is here and social engagements will demand correspondence, you should look into this, for socially one cannot afford to use anything but the most refined and individual stationery.

We shall be glad to send you samples and quote prices on any kind of a die, without involving the slightest obligation on your part. If you cannot come to the Store, write us and we will mail you sample sheet of dies, together with prices and particulars.

SOCIETY NOTES

The many friends of Joseph C. Grew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Grew of the West Manchester colony, are pleased to hear of his recent promotion. He has been appointed first secretary of the United States embassy in Berlin. He was formerly second secretary in Berlin before his promotion to Vienna, which post he is now leaving. Mr. Grew's diplomatic career commenced in 1904 when he was appointed deputy consul-general at Cairo. Two years later he was made third secretary at Mexico City and then occupied the same position at St. Petersburg before being promoted to Berlin.

Miss Irene Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Wood of Pride's Crossing, sails next week on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, to spend a year abroad in study. Her sister, Miss Rosalind Wood is just returning from a summer in Europe. She came in on the Mauretania which arrived in New York yesterday.

◇ ❖ ◇

The Frederick R. Seares are among those closing their cottages on the North Shore this week. They planned to leave Beverly Farms today for their Boston home. Miss Eleanor Sears will be a very frequent visitor to the North Shore all the autumn despite her parent's departure.

◇ ❖ ◇

Many social functions are being planned in honor of Miss Marie Lee, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lee, whose engagement was announced last week, to Oliver Turner of Brookline.

◇ ❖ ◇

Evans Spaulding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Spaulding of West Manchester, was of those returning from abroad on the Arabic last week. The Spauldings spend most of their time abroad now. They are now making a tour by auto through that delightful stretch of country north of Rome, on their way to Paris.

◇ ❖ ◇

Miss Katherine Putnam, who sailed early in July with her brother, George Putnam of the Harvard Law school for a trip to Norway, is to take a trip around the world. She joined Miss Mary Parkman and Miss Anna Gardiner in London recently for that purpose. Her brother was of those returning on the Lusitania last week.

◇ ❖ ◇

William Phillips has resigned as first secretary of the United States embassy at London. With Mrs. Phillips he is expected in Boston in November. They do not know yet where they will live as a satisfactory house has not been secured for them. Mr. Phillips is acting as charge of d'affaires in the absence of Ambassador Reid who sails tomorrow with Mrs. Reid, for New York. Mr. Phillips will be succeeded by Irvin B. Laughlin, who married Miss Iselin in New York a fortnight ago.

SOCIETY NOTES

The Misses Paine closed their cottage at Pride's Crossing Wednesday and returned to Boston for the Winter season. Among others who have closed their North Shore houses this week are Mr. and Mrs. John T. Morse, Jr., who are also Boston people. They have what is known as the Paine Farm at Pride's. Mrs. Arthur Amory of the Manchester colony has left the Shore for her Boston home. Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ames have left the Shore with their two daughters. They will be missed in the congenial coterie at Pride's Crossing. The family will spend several weeks at Northeast Harbor before opening their house in Boston, in order that Miss Olivia, who is to be one of Boston's debutantes this winter, may have a few weeks of rest before taking up her social duties of the season. The Sears place at Beverly Farms is one of those which have been closed during the last week. The family is at the Boston house for the fall. Their plans for mid-winter are unsettled. Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney have returned to New York. They have been members of the Farms colony for the first time this season. Mrs. Lucius Manlius Sargent of Pride's Crossing has also left the Shore to return to her house in Boston.

The engagement of Miss Eugenia Greenough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm S. Greenough of Boston and Nahant to Royal E. Robbins, a Harvard '12 man is announced. Miss Eugenia is a member of the Vincent club and one of the smart set at Nahant, where the Greenoughs have an attractive cottage. Her father is a member of the Country, Eastern Yacht and Somerset clubs. Mr. Robbins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Royal Robbins, who are also of the Nahant colony. His mother was formerly Theresa Huntington, daughter of Rev. William R. Huntington, D.D., of the Grace church, New York. They are at Brookline winters. Mr. Robbins is one of the most popular members of the recent Harvard graduates and is a prominent club man, being a member of the Eastern Yacht, the Country and the Essex County clubs.

About forty women met last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John F. Browning, 408 Lafayette street, Salem, to form a women's branch of the Progressive party. Many prominent women were interested in the movement. Mrs. Ida H. Parker, who is well known as a suffragist, outlined the policies of the party and the Rev. Mrs. Anna C. M. Tillinghast of Beverly was an able speaker on the real meaning of the Progressive movement. Mrs. Louis Agassiz Shaw of the Beverly Farms summer colony introduced the speakers. More and more women in the Eastern part of the country and especially the women of the best circles of Society are becoming interested in the political questions of the day. It is thought that conservative Boston, with many of her sister cities, will see the formation of more women's organizations this winter than ever before and that Society matrons will be prominent members of such sets.

SOCIETY NOTES

The engagement of Mrs. William A. Russell of Beverly Farms and Boston to Henry Cannon Clark of New York has been announced. Mrs. Russell is one of the most charming women in North Shore Society, and Boston circles, as well as the Beverly Farms colony, will be interested in her engagement. Mrs. Russell became a widow within a year after her marriage, when she was still but a girl. Since then she has travelled extensively and has appeared in Boston society but little. Recently she built a most attractive cottage at the Farms. Before her marriage Mrs. Russell was Miss Mary L. Head, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Head. Mrs. Philip Stockton of the Manchester colony is her only sister. Mr. Clark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Crawford Clark of New York and is a graduate of Harvard in the class of '11. He is a member of the Tennis and Racquet clubs of New York and of the Porcellian club of Harvard. Grenville Clark, who married Miss Fannie Dwight of Boston, Louis C. Clark, Jr., and Julian B. Clark are his brothers. His sister is Miss Mary deF. Clark. As yet no date has been set for the wedding.

♦ ♦ ♦

Dr. Franklin Dexter and his daughter, Miss Harriet, who have been abroad for a few weeks of recreation before winter, returned on the Franconia, which docked at East Boston Tuesday. They have returned to Pride's Crossing, where they have a pretty summer home, and will not go to their city home until the middle of October.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. Francis King and her daughter, Miss Fanny, of Alma, Mich., who have been guests of Mrs. J. H. Lancashires at Manchester left for New York Tuesday morning. The Lancashires will not close their cottage on Highland avenue until the latter part of October, at least, and possibly not until November.

♦ ♦ ♦

Born Wednesday the twenty-fifth of September, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Boardman (nee Carrie L. Munn) at West Manchester.

SOCIETY NOTES

Miss Eleanor Cabot, one of the most charming of Boston's buds this winter, was given a pretty reception by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Lowell Cabot at their summer place, "The Oaks," at the Farms Tuesday afternoon. The occasion was also Miss Cabot's birthday and also, by a happy coincidence, her brother's, James J. Cabot. The fete was the center of interest for the younger set all along the shore and a special train was provided to accommodate the guests. From the various colonies along the Shore were the Misses Margaret Wells, Margery Lee, Dora Taylor, Grace Eliot, Frances Webster, Nancy Cabot, Helen Windson and Josephine Rantoul. Miss Eliot served tea, after which dancing was enjoyed.

◆ ◆ ◆

The reception which Mr. and Mrs. Amory Eliot were to hold tomorrow afternoon to introduce their daughter, Miss Rosamond Eliot, has been postponed on account of the death of Mrs. Eliot's mother, Mrs. Lydia Wilkinson Clark, widow of the late Henry A. Clark, on the 22nd. She was a daughter of Frederick Augustus Sumner and Lydia Wilkinson.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Frost and their daughter, Miss Eleanor, left the North Shore Wednesday for a few weeks at the mountains before returning to their West Newton home. They were accompanied by a number of relatives.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Stover, who have had the Hood cottage, Blossom Lane, Manchester-by-the-Sea all season, have returned to their winter home in Lowell.

◆ ◆ ◆

Commanding Officer H. A. McCully of the yacht, "Mayflower," who has been at Washington for a few days, returned yesterday to the North Shore.

◆ ◆ ◆

Judge W. C. Loring of the Pride's summer colony will go to Worcester Monday for a few days in order to attend the session of court to be held there.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Charles E. Fitzgerald and children, who have been visiting Mrs. Charles E. Tuckerman of the Ipswich colony has joined Mr. Fitzgerald at their summer place at Green Spring Valley, near Baltimore.

SOCIETY NOTES

President Taft's vacation plans have been changed and he now intends to leave Beverly, accompanied by Mrs. Taft, about the twentieth of October. After stopping at Cincinnati long enough to vote, President and Mrs. Taft will go to Hot Springs, Virginia, to remain probably until the convention of Congress in December.

Monday Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Willys returned to Pride's Crossing after a fortnight's trip to Maine, where they made their headquarters at Calais. Mr. and Mrs. Willys will not return to Torledo at once, although Mr. Willys, as president of the Willys Overland Company there may be called away by business at any time.

Last Friday Henry C. Frick and party of guests, who enjoyed a trip to New York with him in his private car, returned to the Shore. The trip was a very enjoyable one and Mr. Frick's car affords all the facilities for comfort. Gerard Bement of the Farms was one of the number.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clay Pierce of St. Louis, and Prides Crossing have as their guest at "Rock Cove", their North Shore estate, Mrs. E. H. Steedman of St. Louis. Mrs. Steedman has been at Pride's since the earlier part of last week.

Mrs. F. M. Schwartz of Coburg, Ontario, spent the week-end at Pride's Crossing with Mrs. Thomas K. Laughlin at the "Alhambra," where Mrs. Laughlin has been all season. Mrs. Laughlin is now at Washington.

MORE FACTS ABOUT MRS. ROBERTS' DEATH

Editor of The Breeze

Dear Sir:

In last week's issue you printed a letter from me in which I expressed the belief that Mrs. Estelle Roberts, whose body was found floating in Manchester Harbor on Sept. 16th, did not meet her death at the channel-drawbridge—a story which the Manchester police made their basis for closing the investigation. Since then, there has come to light evidence which, in my opinion, park. One advantage of his story is that he was out on the water, on the other side of the marsh, and that both stories agree that the shrieks came from the marsh and sounded as of one being strangled. These are facts which a day's persistent inquiry would have revealed, but, so far as I know, the Manchester police have made no effort to investigate them.

Mrs. Roberts' Hat Found

2. When the cries directed attention to the marsh

THE INLET BACK OF MASCONOMO PARK

New Evidence Indicates that Mrs. Roberts Met Her Death on the Farther Bank and Lay for Some Time in the Grass Near the Water's Edge entirely disproves the drawbridge theory. And, in the hope of showing to every right-thinking man how unfair and unreasonable has been the closing of the investigation, I ask you to print the following facts:

Cries from Masconomo Park.

1. Following the appearance of my letter, a woman who lives not far from Masconomo Park sent her husband to me with the information that, on the night on which Mrs. Roberts was killed, she and her daughter had heard three shrieks—as of one being strangled—coming from the marsh at the rear of the park. She is positive it was the night of September 9th—the night on which Mrs. Roberts was killed—because her daughter had just come from town, where she had had a prescription filled, and the prescription label bears the date “Sept. 9th, 1912.” The shrieks were heard some little time after 11 o'clock—the woman cannot say exactly. Mrs. Roberts' watch showed that her body entered the water at 11.28 o'clock.

Again, a captain of one of the pleasure yachts anchored in the harbor says that, one night in that week—he is not sure that it was the 9th—he was awakened by cries coming from the marsh back of the back of the park, Joseph P. Leary, who had become interested in clearing up the case, made a search of the marsh. It should be said here that, if the case is ever cleared up satisfactorily—and I believe it someday will be—it will be due entirely to the efforts of Mr. Leary. Mr. Leary began searching last Saturday afternoon. Among the water's-edge of the marsh, between Beach street and the main channel of the harbor, Mr. Leary found several articles of distinct value as evidence. One of them was a black straw, sailor hat. Mr. Roberts, husband of the dead woman, came down from Gloucester, two detectives of the State Police came from Lynn, and, in the presence of the detectives, Mr. Roberts positively identified the hat as that which his wife wore when she left home. Mrs. Roberts had not taken her hat off. The pins were still there, pushed way through both sides of the crown, with hairs still clinging to them; it had been torn from her head.

A Peculiar Cigarette Case.

3. Mr. Leary also found, but a few paces from the hat, a cigarette case of unusual make. It was on the plan of the old-fashioned telescope cigar-case, made of leather, and of smaller size, suitable for cigarettes. In the case were twelve cigarettes of a certain brand—the full number contained in a box. That the case could have been thrown away is out of the question. That it could have come there by the tide is unlikely—it was on high ground. On the other hand, when Mrs. Roberts' body was undressed, two small, colored pictures of baseball idols—such as are commonly given away with cheap cigarettes—were found tucked inside her corset. Is there not a possibility that the man who walked with Mrs. Roberts on the fatal night bought cigarettes, that he gave the pictures to Mrs. Roberts and put the cigarettes into his case and that, whatever brought them to the marsh back of Masconomo park, the cigarette case was lost while they were there and that that particular cigarette case is precisely the one picked up by Mr. Leary within a few feet of the spot where Mrs. Roberts' hat lay? Is not this probability strong enough to be worth investigating?

Indications of a Struggle.

4. Not far from the spot where the hat was found, farther back from the water, there were indications of a struggle. The ground was all trodden and here and there, was a scrap of cloth. One piece seemed to be part of a woman's shirt and had dark, brown stains upon it. Again, directly across the inlet, as if it may have drifted across, a heavy piece of wood was found with similar dark spots that appeared to be blood-marks, long exposed to the sun. It was not a piece with which a blow could be struck. It was heavy timber of peculiar shape such as is used only in boat-yards. A section of this has been given to the Medical Examiner to determine whether or not the marks are those of human blood.

A Study of the Tides.

5. During the week the tides about the draw-bridge have also been studied. A dummy conforming in shape to the human body and weighted so that it would float upright was put into the water at the drawbridge—the point where Mrs. Roberts is alleged to have fallen in—at a time when the tide was exactly the same as at the hour when she is said to have fallen. The theory which the police took as satisfactory was that the body fell from the bridge, sank and lay under water until decomposition floated it. The action of the tide on the dummies refutes this theory completely. The experiment was tried on two different nights and, in both cases the dummies were carried directly in the channel out toward sea. In the first experiment the dummy was floated to get the course of the upper currents. In the second it was submerged about four feet. The only difference in the result was that the submerged dummy traveled more slowly than that on the surface. Had Mrs. Roberts fallen from the drawbridge, her body would have been carried half-way down the harbor in less than an hour.

From these facts this question may be asked:

1. If Mrs. Roberts fell from the drawbridge, as her companions say, how does it come that her hat is found high and dry in the marsh back of Masconomo Park, with hair still clinging to it?

Until this question is answered satisfactorily, is it not safe to assume that the story told by Mrs. Roberts' companions to the police and on which the police halted their investigation did not include the WHOLE truth?

And, if the WHOLE truth has not yet been ascertained, are not the police unfair and unreasonable in halting until it is ascertained and established just how Mrs. Roberts DID meet her death?

Yours very truly,

JAMES SWEINHART.

Let Mr. and Mrs. Fly Trap Themselves.

The fly nuisance touches every home, and since one household can breed enough flies to cover at least a half a mile square, positively every family must co-operate. This means that we must, first of all, have a plan which shall appeal to everyone as fair and effective, and by its own merits enlist universal support. The public is an enormous mass of common sense, and nothing short of real common sense can move it. A pair of flies beginning in April may be the progenitors of billions by August. Is it not common sense to catch the pair in April? That depends on whether we can or not, which brings us to methods. My plan consists of four lines of attack all directed toward catching the fly out of doors before it deposits its eggs.

It is treason to give food and comfort to an enemy. If there were no free feeding, there would be no breeding. However, the "fly-tight" garbage can, now insisted upon by boards of health, is designed to drive the famishing creatures into our houses for food. Invite them into the cans, but catch every one that enters. Everything most attractive to flies can be placed in this receptacle and by attaching the trap it becomes a veritable vacuum cleaner for flies. You may "shoo" the same fly a hundred times. Like the particle of dust that infests a house under the regime of the feather duster, you do not have to catch it but once. Easier yet, give it the chance, and let the fly catch itself. Effective trapping at the most attractive feeding place on the premises—it may be the garbage can or swill barrel or a broom or shed in hotels restaurants or markets, in which all waste matters are collected—would render window and door screens unnecessary as a protection against Musca domestica,—the common fly.

The principle upon which the trap is made is that a fly seeks its food entirely by smell and will crawl in to it through any dark crack. After feeding, it will fly up or crawl toward the light.

Second: Before storms, evenings, or when savory cooking is going on, cabbage is being boiled or fruit is being canned—flies are attracted to the kitchen. If we have a screen covering the entire window on the outside, a very simple device placed here will catch the flies as fast as they come. Two narrow strips of thin wood or tin, fastened to the outside of the screens, guide the flies to the small opening into the wire cage in the center. These will not go back to the stable to lay their eggs.

Convict Ship Still Showing.

The old British Convict Ship "Success" is now in her ninth week of exhibition in Boston and shows no signs of waning popularity. However, despite the great success achieved by the old vessel and the large number of visitors she is still attracting its stay in Boston cannot be prolonged beyond a few weeks more, as the arrangements for its future tour have already been made. This tour is planned with the object of reaching San Francisco in time for the Great Exposition where it is to be a big feature of that big fair. Although the old Convict Ship has still many years of life in her 123 year old hull it is not probable that she will again be shown in Boston.

Fire Warden's Notice

Town of Manchester, Mass.

Chapter two hundred and nine of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and eight is hereby amended by striking out section one and inserting in place thereof the following:—Section 1. It shall be unlawful within any city, or within any town which accepts the provisions of this act, for any person to set a fire in the open air between the first day of March and the first day of December except by the written permission of the forest warden; that debris from fields, gardens and orchards, or leaves and rubbish from yards may be burned on ploughed fields by the owners thereof, their agents or lessees; and provided, further, that persons above eighteen years of age may maintain a fire for a reasonable purpose upon sandy or barren land, if the fire is enclosed within rocks, metal or other non-inflammable material. In every case such fire shall be at least two hundred feet distant from any forest or sprout lands, and at least fifty feet distant from any building, and shall be properly attended until it is extinguished. The forest warden shall cause public notice to be given of the provisions of this section, and shall enforce the same. Whoever violates the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than one month, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

"No business organization would undertake the heavy investment necessary in such cases unless the handling of a large body of timber and a sufficient period in which to remove it under practicable logging conditions are assured. The great difficulty in making such long-term sales is to establish a price which will be fair to both sides. No one can foresee future conditions well enough to know what stumpage will be worth ten, fifteen, or twenty years hence.

"Consequently the terms of sale provide for the readjustment of stumpage prices every five years. The basis for fixing the prices will be, in each case, the prices of manufactured lumber in the markets where the timber is sold during the preceding two years.

"For several years the Forest Service has been selling in the neighborhood of a million dollars worth of National Forest stumpage per year, but this combined with what is cut for free use is only about one-eighth of what might be cut without reducing the permanent stock of the Forests. The supply will be kept up through growth. By making long-term sales it will be possible greatly to increase the amount available for present needs of the timber consuming public, without endangering future supplies through overcutting. It will always remain true, however, that vastly the greater part of our timber sales will be to small purchasers, who are favored wherever possible. Monopoly is impossible as long as the door is kept open for such purchasers. Out of over 5,600 sales made in the fiscal year 1911, about forty were for over $5,000 worth of timber to a single purchaser."

The Silence of Taft.

A fool is known by his much speaking but a wise man knows the power, the dignity and effectiveness of Silence. A strong man can afford to be silent, his record speaks for itself. President Taft was unjustly criticized for breaking his silence in the deplorable campaign preceeding the convention. His hands were forced by an unscrupulous opponent and silence would have been an assent to the accusation made. An inquiring public, while recognizing the dignity of the presidential office, demanded something from the President himself on the mooted question. He gave it. It was a hard struggle for the able, good man, but it was a noble victory. No one who heard his speech before the Massachusetts legislature and his address at the Boston Arena, can ever lose faith in Taft's governmental policies, his defense of the government by the constitution and his broad and catholic spirit of mind and heart. Those who unjustly criticized him for his taking up the fight cannot but notice the fact that his "silence" now is a tribute to his greatness and a powerful influence in the public mind. He has spent a long, hard summer at his desk in the service of the country when a lesser character, lacking in poise and integrity, would have been goaded by the events of the summer to start the campaign early.

President Taft has been doing things. His silence has been the silence of great works. When the time comes to break the silence of the summer by addresses in the fall his words will be fortified by deeds. There is a native sense of justice in the American temperament that can be relied upon to assert itself and sustain President Taft against the political chicanery of his enemies.

Boston University opens its thirtieth academic year with an increase of thirty nine per cent. in the freshman class. The University has been making phenomenal progress in every way during the last decade, but the marked increase in the freshman class was not unexpected. Boston University, like Bates and Colby, does not get much advertising from its athletic department, but it affords an unrivaled opportunity for the young people of Greater Boston to obtain a liberal education.

The National Emancipation Commemoration society took possession of Washington this week. The city has been imbued with a spirit of reverence and rejoicing in celebrating the semi-centennial of the emancipation proclamation. The event is worthy of celebration for the freeing of two million slaves apart from the early events of discovery and settlement, and the successes of the Revolution and the Rebellion is the greatest event in the history of United States. If for no other cause than that his signature appears on the Emancipation Proclamation, Abraham Lincoln's name would be immortal.

The campaign inaugurated by a North Shore resident, John Hays Hammond, among the young men of Essex County should be successful. The young men who reach maturity should be informed of the merits of the Republican party and the causes which it sustains. The average voter should not be at the mercy of every spell binder that takes the stump, but should be fortified in his own mind by reasons for his allegiance to the Republican party. If the campaign can be conducted upon a high plane and in keeping with the dignity and inheritances of the government of the Republican party great good can be done.

Dr. Wiley is proving himself to be a strong public-spirited man. His unflinching loyalty to "chemical truth" concerning the insipient, unconscious drug habits acquired by men and women in drinking certain "harmless" temperance drinks is commendable. It is not unexpected that he has acquired enemies among the manufacturers.

While Capital Punishment, may or may not be a good governmental policy, according to the point of view of the individual all will agree that too much publicity is given the gruesome executions. Is there no way out of the problem? All must believe and sustain the liberty of the press but public morals and the minds of young people ought to be protected from the unscrupulous and abhorrent details printed of electrocutions by unworthy newspapers.

An accurate calculation reveals an increase of nearly twenty per cent. in the average attendance of pupils in high schools of no license towns compared with the attendance in license towns and cities.

Major General Leonard Wood has conducted the manoeuvres of the American Army on the Mexican frontier with marked judgement. A less cautious man in a faux pas would have embarrassed our government. The threatened arrest of Orozco if he crosses into American territory will help to bring the rebellion to an end, but all Americans can not but hope that some other denonement of the Mexican problem may be presented.

September is proving itself the best month with delightful seasonable weather this year. The Shore is still busy and the late stay of the summer residents is still adding another proof to the fact that the seasons are growing longer.

Dr. John R. Mott and Associates Hold Training Conferences at Northfield.

The Fall Training Conferences of the leaders and secretaries of the volunteer, student and foreign departments of the YMCA, which have been in session at the Northfield hotel since September 1st, finished their sessions yesterday.

During this time over one hundred of these secretaries and specialists have been in conference with Dr. John R. Mott, their leader, laying plans for the coming winter's campaign. Among the most noted of these leaders were Count Moltke, the John R. Mott of Denmark, Dr. Julius Richter, the great specialist on missions, from Germany; Rev. Arthur Rugh, and Mr. F. M. Brockman of China, Mr. George Gleason of Korea, Rev. J. Ross Stevenson of Baltimore, Dr. Harley Smith of Toronto, John B. Hurrey of South America and F. F. Turner of New York, the General Secretary of the Student Volunteer work.

A new feature this year has been the language class taught by Thomas Cummings, a missionary from India. Mr. Cummings has been teaching the first principles of Oriental language study to several recruits who are soon to go to the foreign field. The guests of the Northfield and other visitors and friends from the town have greatly enjoyed the addresses given by these men each morning.

Dr. Mott with several associates sails on October 5th for a world campaign among the student centers of the world. They will visit the large colleges and schools of learning in the orient and attend several conferences in connection with the work of the Continuation Committee of the Edinburg Conference, and will not return to this country until another spring.

OYSTER BAY

(With Apologies to Mr. Rudyard Kipling)
On the Sagamore piazza lookin' out across the sea
That is where T. R. is sittin' dreamin'
where he'd like to be;
An' the breezes in the pine trees an' the chatterin' wavelets say
"Better four years in the White House than fourscore at Oyster Bay."

On the road to Oyster Bay
Somethin's doin' every day.
Can't you hear the wires buzzin' on the road to Oyster Bay?
On the road to Oyster Bay
Shades o' Webster, Choate an' Clay Hear the words roll out like thunder from T. R. across the bay.

'Fore his eyes like movin' pictures come the different things he's seen An' he realizes fully what a "Gift of God" he's been.
First an idolized Colonel, struttin' up
San Juan Hill
Then the seven years o' fatness posin' as "The People's Will."
Bloomin' fake "The People's Will"
Tellin' 'em to keep 'em still
All about the Corporations an' the Trusts he means to kill.

An' those happy summer evenings when he'd done his daily job

Teachin' his perspirin' Cab'net how to drive an' smash an' lob.
Or he'd chat with "dear Maria" tellin' her the time o' day
Though that literary lady was three thousand miles away.
When the lady's far away
Best be careful what you say Letters written in the evenin', sometimes cannot stand the day.

Then the conscientious hours puttin' little Willie wise, Tellin' him just when to open, also when to shut his eyes.
And that bully long vacation, slaughter-in' vicious quadrupeds Endin' with his tour o' Europe givin' points to the crowned heads.
Oh those corking good crowned heads
Put him in the royal beds,
Asked him to their biggest funerals,
Wined him at their swellest spreads.

Faded are these brilliant pictures, an'
he sees upon the screen
All the Grand Old Party takin' joy rides in his own machine.
An' he's learnin' for the first time,
things that every kiddie knows,
That you can't go on forever, treadin'
on the Public's toes.
Treadin' on the Public's toes

Ain't a pretty trick for those Who think they're forever sure to lead the Public by the nose.

Once he held that same Old Party in the hollow o' his hand Beat time for 'em with his Big Stick as the leader o' the band.
Now he's in the Outlook's office, handin' out his weekly dope
"If you want to save the Country take T. R. the Great White Hope."
Take T. R. the Great White Hope!
Give "my policies" full scope,
For the National House Cleaning use
T. R. the only soap!

Give him a progressive Country where a chap can grab his gun
An' shoot up the Constitution just to have a bit o' fun.
Where if playin' cards it's counted bully sport to dope the deck,
Till you "beat 'em to a frazzle" or you
"soak 'em in the neck."

On the road to Oyster Bay
Hear the hurdygurdies play.
There'll be hot times in the old town when T. R. comes home to-day.
On the road to Oyster Bay
Old salts wag their heads an' say It's a long pull to the White House from the beach at Oyster Bay.

King's Daughters Hold Fair and Entertainment.

The Ever Ready Circle of King's Daughters held one of the most enjoyable and successful fairs of the season in the Town Hall last evening. The entertainment, which was presented was excellent and was very well received by those present. The scheme of the attractive booths was unique and received much praise. It represented the "Six Ages of Woman." First came the dainty baby booth, which was in charge of Mrs. Levi Harvey and Mrs. Edward Crowell. The color scheme of this table was pale green and white and the many pretty baby things for sale here found ready purchasers. The youth's booth was in charge of Mrs. Amanda F. Reed and all the useful and desirable articles that a child can want were to be found at this table. Connected with the youth's table were the "grab," which always keep their fascination, especially for the children. Mrs. George Matheson presided over these. One of the most popular tables was the candy table, which was appropriately called the "Sweetheart's Booth." The colors were pink and white and the table had a good location in one corner of the hall. Mrs. Arthur Walker and Miss Nellie Leonard were in charge here. Mrs. William Allen and Mrs. Herman Swett had the bride's table. This was one of the most attractive tables in the hall and the articles for sale were very appropriate for the bride and were dainty and desirable. Embroidery and hand made lace articles were the most sought after things here. Dark green and white with crepe paper bride's roses made a pretty booth. The mother's booth had lavender and white for its colors and Mrs. Ellery Rogers and Mrs. William Lethbridge had secured every thing that a mother might need or enjoy. The table was very well patronized. The grandmother's table, although small, was attractive. The decorations were of red and green and made a fine setting for the gifts for grandmother. Mrs. Walter Calderwood, the President of the King's Daughters, was in charge here. Mrs. Minnie Rollins assisted her. The ice-cream booth was the only table in the hall all of white and it presented a cool, pretty sight. Miss Elizabeth Lethbridge, Mrs. Allan Dennis and Miss Lillian Lucas were in charge here.

The entertainment consisted of a piano solo, finely rendered by Miss Lillian Lucas, a reading by Mrs. Charlotte Brown, entitled "Jimmy Brown's Prompt Obedience," and a pantomime, "The Elopement," in which Miss Effie Stedstone was the heroine; Winthrop Younger, the hero; Robert Baker, the irate father; Mrs. Charlotte Brown, the forgiving mother; Miss Annie Younger, whose black cat was run over by the automobile of the elopers, and Archie Cool, the minister. The pantomime made a great hit with the audience and the participants received much applause. They took their parts very well with no stiffness or self consciousness and deserved the praise which was showered upon them.

The prize winners in the garden contests among the school children have been announced in Beverly Farms. They are as follows: First class—Charles and James Keegan, 1st prize, Catherine Barry 2nd prize. In the second class, Theresa Cronin 1st prize, Hulda Ostrang, 2nd. prize. Third class, Walker Hannable. 1st prize and the second prize went to Alfred Bunce. Charlotte and Rose Medcalf were also prize winners.

No event has attracted as many of the Beverly Farms people to Beverly as did the Mardi Gras Wednesday evening when the "Great White Way," the new lighting system on Cabot street, was opened.

William S. Pike has purchased the Lovering estate on Hale street which consists of a fine modern two family house and quite a large lot of land.

Fred Williams and family will close their cottage on Hart street next week and move into the Ames mansion at Prides for the coming winter. Mr. Williams who has been quite ill is much improved.

Postmaster and Mrs. Wm. R. Brooks spent a part of last week and the early part of this week on a vacation trip to Intervale, N. H.

The Ministers' Institute at Hawthorne Inn.

More than a hundred Unitarian ministers from all over Eastern United States have met at the Hawthorne Inn, East Gloucester, during the week to hold their annual convention, which for many years has been a regular feature of the Ministers' Institute.

This year an innovation was introduced in extending the invitations to the ministers' wives and friends so that the presence of a large number of women added greatly to the enjoyment of the four days at the Inn. The Essex Conference, which meets every three months in the cities of Essex County, was due to convene at Gloucester the first of October and the date was arranged for the twenty-sixth in order that some of the well known speakers connected with the Ministers' Institute might address the meeting. Monday night the opening meeting of the Institute was held at the Unitarian church in Gloucester. President Wright gave the introductory address. To Mr. Wright's untiring efforts to make this an occasion to be long remembered is due much of the success of this meeting.

Many of the most prominent men and women of the day were at East Gloucester to be at the convention. Perhaps the oldest Unitarian minister present was the Rev. Robert Collyer, D.D., of Philadelphia, who has been at The Delphine, East Gloucester, all of this season as he has many other summers. The Rev. Mr. Collyer is a familiar figure about the delightful walks of East Gloucester and he has become beloved by all who know him there. In his church work he is very prominent and it was he who led the devotional services Thursday morning. Professor Frank C. Doan, Ph. D., of Meadville, the educational center of the Unitarian ministers, was able to be present, much to the delight of his followers and even those opposed to his advanced views. Professor Doan is a very brilliant man, well known for his unconventional theories, which he has the gift of forcibly presenting to his audiences. His speech, "The God of Our Sons," following as it did the address of Rev. Charles E. St. John upon "The God of Our Fathers" awakened great interest in the minds of his hearers. Both men are exceptionally good speakers and both received the undivided attention of those present.

The Rev. William Sullivan of Schenectady, N. Y., was perhaps the most interesting character of the occasion. The Rev. Sullivan has had a most brilliant and versatile career since he entered the Catholic priesthood a number of years ago. Within a year he has become converted to the Unitarian faith and has entered the ministry of that church. The question has arisen in the minds of many, whether Mr. Sullivan would be won back to the Roman church, but after his splendid addresses here all doubt upon that score has been settled. "The Heart of the Catholic Tradition" and "Constructive Mysticism in the Catholic Church" were two of the subjects which he chose. Among the other speakers were the Rev. George R. Dodson, Ph.D., whose paper upon "The Relation of Plato to Our Age and to the Ages" was exceptional, Rev. John H. Holmes, Rev. E. F. Hayward, Rev. B. R. Buckley of Beverly, Rev. Frederick Gill, Rev. H. G. Spaulding, Mr. Charles H. Lyttle, Rev. Arthur M. Knapp, Rev. Charles E. Park, Rev. Palfrey Perkins of Salem, Rev. A. M. Lord, D.D., Rev. James T. Bixby, Ph. D., and Rev. Merle St. Croix Wright, the president of the organization. Mrs. Caroline Atherton of Boston, head of the Massachusetts Woman's Alliance, was also present. Mrs. Atherton is one of the most prominent of the woman workers of the Unitarian church. She was warmly welcomed. With such a list of distinguished people and with the many more, whose names do not appear, it is not to be wondered that this convention of the Institute is considered the most successful yet held.

MANCHESTER

The Bachelor Girls held a most successful dancing party at the town hall last Friday evening. Banners of red and green, the club colors, and flowers banked upon the stage furnished the decorations. The music by Long's orchestra was excellent and added to the pleasure of the occasion. The dance was as enjoyable and successful, financially as well as socially, as have been the other parties which this popular group of girls have given.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Enos are rejoicing over the arrival of a son at their home on Railroad street last Friday, the twentieth.

Miss Marion Spinney is spending a fortnight with relatives in Malden.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. James McElhinney, Harbor street, Tuesday. Mr. McElhinney is a gardener.

Old Resident Dead.

Requiem high mass was held at the Sacred Heart church this morning for Garrett Coughlin, who died at his home on Norwood avenue, Wednesday the twenty-fifth, at the age of seventy-three years. Burial was at Salem. Mr. Coughlin, with three brothers, David, John and Michael, came over from Ireland many years ago and settled at Manchester. The brothers died at Manchester within the last few years. Garrett Coughlin was employed as gardener at the estate of the Misses Bartlett for a number of years, but his health would not permit him to continue his duties there during the past year. About sixteen years ago he married Miss Annie Flynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Giles Flynn and besides his widow he leaves three young children, Joseph, Annie and Giles. He had two children by a former marriage, Daniel, a gardener, who boards at 14 Brook street, and Mrs. George Evans, formerly Mary Coughlin whose husband is superintendent at the Manchester water works. Mrs. Coughlin has the sympathy of her many friends in her bereavement.

Suffrage Meeting.

An interesting and informal suffrage meeting was held at the beautiful summer home of the Randolph Tuckers, at Beverly Cove last Monday morning. The speakers were Mrs. Maud Wood Park of Boston, and Miss Louise Stanwood of Manchester-by-the-Sea. Miss Stanwood made the opening address, in which she called attention to the great advance suffrage has made this summer and autumn and then introduced the chief speakers, Mrs. Park who is the secretary of Boston Equal Suffrage society and one of the best speakers for suffrage anywhere. Mrs. Park made a deep impression on her audience both by her clear arguments and her charming personality. There was a general discussion and Miss Stanwood said that there would be more meetings on the shore, especially in Beverly, Gloucester and Ipswich.

Mrs. Randolph Tucker, who was the beautiful Miss Mona House of Texas, has become a suffragist as has also Mrs. Joe Frothingham of Beverly Farms. Among the North Shore ladies present were Mrs. R. D. Evans, Mrs. Hunt, Mrs. Cabot, Mrs. Wm. Tucker, Miss Bradley, Mrs. Frothingham, Mrs. Shuman, Mrs. McGinley and many others.

ESSEX

B. Frank Raymond attended the funeral services of his aunt, Mrs. John W. Raymond, at North Beverly, Tuesday.

Primary election passed off very quietly by use of auto, carriage and mild persuasion, there being but a few over a hundred votes cast—96 Republican and 19 Democratic. Walker was high line for Governor. He received 48 votes. Benton received 39. On the Republican ticket Frank E. Raymond, Esq., and George S. McIntire were elected delegates to the state convention. The following town committee were elected: Frank E. Raymond, Esq., Fred K. Burnham, George S. McIntire, Arthur N. Hotchkiss, W. N. Lufkin, George E. Mears, and Louis B. Burnham. On the Democratic ticket Frank C. Richardson of Essex polled every vote cast. He was elected delegate to the state convention. The Democratic committee is composed of: Everett B. James, Frank E. McKenzie, Allen Doyle, Joshua O. Burnham and Albert Curtis.

Mr. and Mrs. Alden C. Burnham will sojourn for several weeks among the lakes and hills of New Hampshire. They will also take in the Rochester Fair.

A. D. Story will soon launch the oil auxiliary boat which he is building for Seattle parties. It is very near completion.

Reuben Morris, a veteran of the Civil War, a member of the 50th Mass. Vol., attended the 50th anniversary of his regiment at Haverhill Thursday.

Rev. Mr. Goddard occupied his pulpit at the Congregational church last Sunday. Just before the sermon he thanked the church people for their gift to Mrs. Goddard who is in the west for her health. The church has lovingly given her a purse of money.

Apple thieves are being prosecuted. Boys who are in the habit of helping themselves to most anything that comes their way should take notice. Our town authorities should take steps toward its suppression.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman James and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stowe are enjoying a weeks' vacation at Atlantic City. During the absence of Mr. James, Mr. Edward Lowder will have charge of the store.

We are pleased to say that there has been no further fatalities in the diptheria scare. The cases have been light and are well towards recovery with no new cases in sight.

ESSEX IS RIGHT IN THE CENTRE OF The Summer Residence Zone

It has high hills, beautiful woodland drives, a charming lake, a salt water-river which "like a ribbon of silver" flows to the sea. Boating, fishing and bathing abound. Although it has water on all sides it seldom if ever has the disagreeable fog which is so prevalent in other places. The high hills covered with dense forests which surround the town keep the fog away. We have many desirable places aggregating about 2000 acres for sale. One feature of Essex is, our valuation is so low that the addition of but one million would halve the tax rate.

MAGNOLIA

Mrs. John E. May returned the first of the week from a very pleasant visit with friends in South Framingham.

The last dance of the season will be held at the Men's club on Saturday evening. Music will be furnished by Long's orchestra. Ladies will be admitted free. Gentlemen, fifteen cents. All are cordially invited.

MAGNOLIA

The subject of the morning sermon at the Village church will be "Christian Hope." The subject for the evening service will be "The Grace of Silence." "The Profitableness of Godliness" will be the topic this evening at the Christian Endeavor meeting.

An effort is being made by the residents and tax payers of Magnolia to have a barge take the High school pupils from Stanley's corner to Gloucester High school and return each school day, a thing very much needed, owing to the fact that the children are anxious to obtain a high school education and have to suffer a great many inconveniences, such as late trains and sickness from walking to and from the station during the winter.

Rev. Walter S. Eaton and Mrs. Eaton will leave next week for their annual vacation, part of which will be enjoyed camping near the Danvers river and the remainder in the Adirondacks.

Rev. I. J. Libby who returned last Friday from his tour is the guest of his sister Mrs. Spooner at Exeter, N. H. He will return the last of the week.

Mrs. D. C. Ballou and sister, Miss Annie Silver of Gloucester enjoyed a very pleasant day in Boston on Wednesday.

Miss Helen Morley of Manchester was the guest of Clara L. Butler the last of the week.

BEVERLY FARMS

Voting at the Primaries in ward 6 Tuesday was rather slow, there being a total of 112 cast of which 94 were Republican, 18 Democratic.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Currier of Danbury, Conn., have been visiting at Beverly Farms the past week.

A party of young men gave the "girls" a return party in Marshall's hall Tuesday evening. Dancing was enjoyed and refreshments served.

M. J. Haney of Toronto, Canada, a well known contractor of that place has been the guest of Connolly Bros. this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams are moving from the O'Hearn house to the Eli R. Hodgkins cottage, of which they have taken a lease.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Wood of Hart street spent the past week visiting relatives at Danvers.

George P. Coburn was arrested last Monday on a capias from the Superior Court on a charge of larceny from a labor organization. At court in Salem on Tuesday he pleaded not guilty to nine counts, and bail was fixed at $300.

Ralph Holmes has been passing reminders about the Farms this week in the shape of the annual City of Beverly tax bills, which show the same rate as last year, $15 per 1000 valuation.

"The Common Law" at Salem Tonight.

The dramatization of "The Common Law," A. H. Wood's splendid and unqualifiedly successful production which comes to the Empire theatre, Salem, tonight, as, in the case of most novels dramatized, does not follow the book too closely inasmuch as the stage requirements demand rapid action and speed, brevity and terseness and a comprehensive grasp of the story such as no book could be. A dramatization is like an impressionistic picture, the highlights stand out in bold relief from the shadows and the result, though nothing when looked at closely, becomes a beautiful picture regarded at some distance.

In presenting a story in book form, it is possible for the reader to go back and read over again any point upon which he has the slightest doubt. It is obvious that on the stage such a proceeding is impossible. It would never do because someone in the audience does not understand a particular line to stop the play and do it all over again for the benefit of one person. Thus a stage story must be told plainly and in the most unclouded manner. There must be no doubt or speculation on the part of the audience as to what a line or situation means. Nothing must be veiled, everything must be brought out clearly and concisely.

Manager Woods has bestowed the greatest possible consideration in making up the cast for "The Common Law" and the production, which is carried in its entirety, meaning not only the scenic part, but the furniture and furnishings as well are provided on the most lavish scale.

Breeze subscription, $2 a year.

“A City That is Set on a Hill Cannot Be Hid”

Setting on the loftiest hill of fame, seen, and known by all the civilized world for its supremacy and as the source of the highest attainments in the beautiful art of woodcraft, is the famous great western city—Grand Rapids. Here in this renowned factory metropolis the greatest artistic talent and skilful artisanship find elaborate and honest expression, under the inspiration of ancient and modern motifs in furniture. Goods from the choicest of these Grand Rapids factories are distributed only in the most exclusive stores in this country.

A Carload For Titus

The only store in which their distribution in Essex county and vicinity takes place—arrived early yesterday morning. It contains noteworthy Low-boys, Buffets, Four Post Beds, reproductions in Dressers, Chiffoniers and Tables. And right here be it said that their sale by this store is

The Best Tribute That Could Be Paid to Them

As the Car Door was Unlocked

They said “good-morning” in all their newness and in the freshness and vigor of their sturdy, honest character and beautiful appearance. We were reminded of the days of yore as we beheld these many handsome pieces, prominent among which was

THIS BEAUTIFUL DRESSER Made of Solid Mahogany

Immediately we saw in its simple straight lines, its unadorned design and its unassuming grace, conscientious workmanship, the very best material and honest worth. A large plate mirror hung on prettily carved straight standards. 'Twas noticeable on the tag that it was marked several dollars less than its value for

SOCIETY NOTES

Society has been quite active on the North Shore the past ten days, due to the preparations for, and the playing of the women's national golf championship tournament, which opened at the Essex County club, Manchester, Monday morning. Among the North Shore and Boston women entered were: Mrs. Philip Dexter, Mrs. Edward C. Wheeler, Jr., Mrs. Eugene G. Foster and the Misses Elizabeth Porter, Harriot and Margaret Curtis, Lillian Mitchell, Margery Phelps, Eleanor Allen, Marion Tucker, Josephine Stevens, Louisa Wells, Mary Pierce, Edith Fitz, Fanny Osgood and Margaret Underwood. Philadelphia was represented by Mrs. Ronald H. Harlow, Mrs. Edwin H. Fitler, Miss Frances Griscom and Miss Ethel Maule of the Merion Cricket club; Mrs. Milton C. Work, Mrs. Caleb F. Fox and Miss Eleanor Chandler of the Huntingdon Valley Golf club, and Miss Ellen G. Wood of the Philadelphia Cricket club. From the Chevy Chase, Washington, was Miss Marion L. Oliver, the daughter of the Assistant Secretary of War and Mrs. Robert S. Oliver, and Mrs. Ormsby McCammon (Anna Murray). The Tuxedo Park club was represented by the Misses Harriet and Janet Alexander, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Alexander, and cousins of Mrs. Malcolm Whitman (Jennie Crocker), at whose wedding in July they were among the attendants. Other out-of-state players were Miss Ruth Chisolm of the Country club of Cleveland, Mrs. B. J. Rosenthal and Miss Gladys Rosenthal of the Ravisloe Country club, Homewood, Ill., Miss Lillian Hyde of the South Shore Field club, Bay Shore, L. I., Mrs. William S. Hilles and Miss Edith Noblit of the Wilmington (Del.) Country club. Miss Georgianna Bishop of the Brooklawn club, Bridgeport, Ct., Miss Marion Hollins of the Westbrook Golf club of Great River, L. I., of which her father, Harry B. Hollins, is the secretary; Mrs. William Childers of the Mahopac Golf club of Mahopac Lake, N. Y., Miss Edith Chesbrough of the San Francisco Golf and Country club, Miss Grace Semple of the St. Louis Country club, Miss Louise Elkins and Mrs. M. J. Sealmell of the Oakmont (Pa.) Country club; Mrs. Alan M. Perkins of the Jefferson Country club, Watertown, N. J., Miss Myra Helmer of the Midlothian Country club, Blue Island, Ill., and Miss Hazel Shannon of the Park club, Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury concluded a brief visit last Sunday evening with the former's daughter, Mrs. S. E. Hutchinson, and family at West Beach, Beverly Fams. Mr. Hutchinson was host for an informal dinner of eight or ten covers last Friday evening during Mr. Stotesbury's visit, at which President Taft was the guest of honor. Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson gave a luncheon of twelve covers at their cottage Sunday afternoon.

◆ ◆ ◆

Rev. and Mrs. William Herbert Dewart gave a large luncheon Tuesday afternoon at their summer home, Crowhaven, Manchester-by-the-Sea. The guests included a number of clergymen and their families.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. Henry Pratt McKean will occupy the house of her sister, Mrs. L. Carteret Fennó, at 238 Beacon street, Boston, again this winter. Mrs. McKean keeps a Boston house open during the winter so as to be near her sons, who are in school. The McKean summer resident at Pride's is also kept open for week-ends and for the holidays.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Sears of 232 Beacon St., Boston, will present their daughter, Miss Miriam Sears, at a ball which they will give in her honor on Tuesday, Jan 7, at the Copley-Plaza Hotel.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Horace B. Stanton and their son, Faulkner Stanton, have planned to sail Oct. 10, to spend the winter abroad. They will pass the greater part of the time in Paris. They are still at Magnolia, where they will remain until they sail.

◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Marion Almy of Philadelphia has been at Beverly Farms the past week for a visit with Miss Cintra Hutchinson.

◆ ◆ ◆

Herbert M. Sears of the Pride's colony authorizes the statement that his daughter, Miss Phyllis Sears, expects to make her debut next year, and that she will not be among this season's debutantes.

◆ ◆ ◆

Francis I. Amory and daughter Miss Mary Josephine Amory, who sailed for Europe in the early summer, returned Thursday of last week on the Olympic. They will spend the early autumn at their Beverly Cove estate.

◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Janet Fish, who spent most of the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish at Newport and for whom Mrs. Fish gave one of the notable balls of August, is visiting her sister, Mrs. John W. Cutler, at her summer home at Beaver Pond, North Beverly.

◆ ◆ ◆

"Allanbank," one of the most beautiful estates at Beverly Cove was opened to about twenty-two guests last Saturday, when Mrs. Bryce Allan entertained her friends at an elaborate dinner. Monday Mrs. Allan was hostess at another dinner of about twenty covers.

◆ ◆ ◆

A number of the Magnolia houses have been closed during the week. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gray Foster, of the Coolidge Point colony, returned to New York Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Costello C. Converse, who have had the Shaw cottage, Norman avenue, left the Shore for their Boston home early in the week. The cottages, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Richardson and Mr. and Mrs. Otis Weld Richardson have also been closed recently. Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Richardson have their winter home on Bay State road, Boston, and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Weld Richardson, and three-year-old son are at Longwood winters.

SOCIETY NOTES

One of the most popular debutantes of the coming season is Miss Anne Means of the Beverly Farms colony. Miss Means was given a dance at the summer home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Little on the Shore late last week. The affair was one of the prettiest that have been given to any of the Boston buds at their summer places. November thirtieth has now been set as a date for a tea for Miss Means at the town house of Mr. and Mrs. Little on Commonwealth avenue, Boston.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. James Newton Gunn is spending a few days at New York. The Gunns have the Cushing cottage, Beverly Farms, this season. They formerly had the "Gables Cottage."

♦ ♦ ♦

Rt. Hon. William Bryce, the English ambassador, and Mrs. Bryce are guests of the Misses Loring at Pride's Crossing.

SOCIETY NOTES

Many North Shore matrons are included in the list of patronesses for the musical extravaganza, "The College Hero," to be given by the Animal Rescue League, in Boston. A meeting to arrange for rehearsals was held in the ball room of the Copley-Plaza hotel, Boston, Thursday. Mrs. Prescott Bigelow, Manchester Cove, Mrs. Henry L. Higginson, West Manchester, Mrs. Julian Codman of Hamilton, Miss Martha Codman, Mrs. W. H. Coolidge of Manchester, Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby of Manchester, Miss F. M. Faulkner of Magnolia, Mrs. E. C. Fitch of Manchester, Mrs. Charles P. Hemenway of Manchester, Miss Abby F. Manning of Magnolia, Mrs. Winthrop Sargent of Bass Rocks and Mrs. J. L. Lee are among those interested.

Frank B. Bemis returned to "Old Place," his summer home at Beverly Farms, the first of the week, after a several weeks' hunting trip in the west.

Among the North Shore families migrating to their city homes this week were the Misses Perkins of Beverly Farms who returned to Boston. "Gables Cottage" at the Farms, which Victor Morawetz of New York has been occupying is now closed. Robert Fulton Cutting, who has had the Proctor cottage, Hale street, Pride's, this year returned to New York Tuesday. The Pride's Crossing colony has also lost Francis J. Cotting and Miss Alice Cotting of Boston during the past week. C. P. Curtis and family who have been at the W. A. Gardner cottage, a Pride's, have returned to Boston. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clay Pierce of St. Louis, have closed "Rock Cove," at Pride's.

Mrs. William Astor (formerly Nancy Shaw) arrived Monday from New York for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Q. A. Shaw at Pride's Crossing.

Mrs. Jere Abbott returned to Boston this week after passing the summer at West Manchester.

The James C. Barrs are included among the week's departures from Beverly Farms. Mrs. Barr's daughter Miss Jane Fairfield has gone to boarding school in New York and the son Dickey Barr is attending private school in Boston. Miss Fairfield has many friends in New York who will pay much attention to her this winter; she will attend the junior cotillions, in so much favor among the younger set of the metropolis. Mr. and Mrs. Barr were of the very few Bostonians who attended the wedding at Madison, Ct., the first of the week of Miss Elizabeth Blachford Lloyd and Charles Julian Symington, the latter of Baltimore. Miss Lloyd is the daughter of Bishop Lloyd of New York and the wedding was performed in the picturesque little church at Madison, where the family have a country home. The church was beautifully decorated with the fall colorings and the bride, who is only about twenty-two, was charming in a white satin gown and old lace. The Bishop assisted in performing the nuptials. Mr. Symington is of that well known Baltimore family and is one of seven sons, all splendid looking fellows and thoroughly fond of outdoor sports. One of the brothers was formerly on the President's yacht, and came to the North Shore. He is now naval attache at London. Another brother was one of the judges at the Myopia Horse show a year or so ago. The family have a country place at Morristown, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Denegre and daughter Elaine Denegre are sailing October 8th for Paris, where they will spend the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Denegre will travel more or less, but Miss Denegre will continue her studies. Villa Crest, the Denegre summer home at West Manchester will be closed the coming week.

◆ ◆ ◆

Sir John Harrington, who with Lady Harrington are with the latter's mother, Mrs. James McMillan at Eagle Head, Manchester, has gone west on a short business trip.

◆ ◆ ◆

Henry L. Mason of the piano firm of Mason and Hamlin, Boston, has left his place at the Farms for a trip West, during which his headquarters will be at Chicago.

SOCIETY NOTES

The Percival H. Lombards, who have been occupying the R. M. Bradley cottage at Smith's Point, Manchester, this season have returned to Boston, where they have a pretty winter home in Brookline.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mrs. Edwin A. Boardman has as her guest at "The Lodge," Beverly Farms, W. Mynderse Rice of Auburn, New York.

❖ ❖ ❖

Mrs. William Madison Wood has as her guest at her Prides Crossing home, Mrs. H. H. Pitman of Pittsfield. The Woods' will remain at Prides Crossing for some weeks to come although they may make an autumn visit to their Andover place, "Arden," later.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Frick gave a small dinner Monday of this week at their summer home at Pride's Crossing. There were about ten guests present and it was one of the most informal as well as the most pleasant of the many entertainments given at "Eagle Rock" this season.

◇ ❖ ◇

The Manchester colony is steadily diminishing in size although there are still a goodly number, who are enjoying the beauties of the early autumn at this delightful resort.

The Ingersoll Amorys concluded their season at the Borland cottage, West Manchester, early this week.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw asks the Breeze to contradict the report so widely spread that the family were to spend the winter abroad. They have absolutely no such intention, says Mrs. Shaw, and they fully intend spending the winter in Boston, at 11 Exeter street, as usual. They are still at "Pompeys Garden," Pride's Crossing.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mrs. Julian Codman of Hamilton has just returned from a visit with Mrs. Richard T. Wilson at Newport. While there Mrs. Codman and her friend, Mrs. William Woodward, were among the guests at a dinner given by Mrs. Emile Brugiere and Louis Brugiere, her son, in honor of the officers of the battleships Utah and Nebraska at Castlewood villa.

Miss Beatrice Colt has been a recent guest of Miss Ruth Anthony, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Reed Anthony at Beverly Farms. Miss Colt, who is well known in the younger set on the North Shore, is a great favorite and was a guest at many pretty parties during her visit here.

◇ ❖ ◇

"Mollhurst," the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Arthur Shuman at Marblehead has been closed for the season.

◇ ❖ ◇

The J. W. Blodgetts, who have had the Saltonstall cottage at Pride's this season, returned to Grand Rapids Monday. Mr. Blodgett has been at San Francisco for some time and will not return to the Shore but will join his family at their winter home in Michigan. The Saltonstalls who have been abroad all season will occupy their cottage on the Shore for the autumn weeks.

Open Meeting of Manchester Woman's Club

The Manchester Woman's club held the first meeting of the season in the Congregational chapel Tuesday. Mrs. F. G. Cheever, accompanied by Miss Jessie Hoare sang very sweetly before Mrs. D. T. Beaton, this year's president, opened the meeting with a few well chosen words of welcome. Mrs. Beaton spoke of the activity of the organization during the summer months and reported that the June and July committee for the District Nurse Fund, working together, contributed $167 to the treasury. The August and September committee furnished over three hundred dollars. In introducing Miss Mabel T. Boardman, Mrs. Beaton presented her as not only the speaker of the day but as the first honorary member of the club.

Miss Boardman, through her long connection with the Red Cross association, was well qualified to speak upon the subject which she had chosen, "The International Red Cross." The Red Cross society may be said to have drawn its first breath in the old days when the good Samaritan gave aid to the poor wayfared, said Miss Boardman. The next step in the development of the organization was the Knights' Hospitalers in Jerusalem, who gave help to the needy, irrespective of sect or position. This band of workers spread into surrounding cities and its work was upon the same principles of the Red Cross association of today, neutrality and humanity. In 1854 another step toward the formation of the association was taken when the noble deeds of Florence Nightingale during the Crimean war caused world wide comment. Miss Nightingale's task systematizing the conditions in the hospitals at that time was stupendous and the spirit of the Red Cross was expressed in her action of volunteering her services.

Miss Nightingale's work was especially a matter of interest to a boy in Switzerland, Henri Du Long. He was so greatly impressed by the fine spirit of it that, being in Italy during the battle of Saferino, he organized a committee to work on the battlefield to help the sick and wounded. The result was the conference at Geneva, at which the Society of the Red Cross was officially founded. The treaty which assured the safety of the Red Cross workers, during times of war, from all nations was signed at that time.

In many of the problems brought before the conference Mr. Bolles, the American representative, was able to give valuable help as nearly all of the questions had been answered by the U. S. Sanitary Commission during the Civil war.

The lantern slides showed the work of the Red Cross society in the European countries. In England the work of the St. John's ambulance association was shown. The object of this organization is to prepare men and women alike for the duties of emergency nursing in war and peace. Miss Boardman spoke very highly of this association, the fore-runner of the Red Cross society.

In France the line of work taken up by the women of the common class and that by the ladies of higher station in life was taken up to some extent. But more at length, Miss Boardman showed the Dispensary class work which has gone far in teaching the use of medicines and relief work.

The thing most worthy of note in Russia's work along this line was the fund of $50,000, donated by the Dowager Empress, the income of which was to be used every five years for the distribution of prizes for good work by the Red Cross society in times of peace only.

Miss Boardman spoke at some length on the anti-tuberculosis work in Germany, which in many ways, surpasses that of any other nation. Patients are cared for in settlements, where homes and gardens are provided for the families. Germany shows consideration for these patients who must of a necessity be some burden to the country. As an example, Miss Boardman cited the case of one of the largest factories in Germany, which provides ample opportunity for young girls to learn embroidering and then work upon the linen which is furnished.

The well known sign of the Red Cross is not accepted in Turkey because of the strong religious feeling. The red crescent has been substituted. The society's work was very active during the recent Turkish-Italian war.

The best part of the Red Cross work in Greece is the aid which is given to the Montenegrans, Albanians and Bulgarian refugees during the many border wars which are constantly arising.

Miss Boardman gave highest praise to the quick response of the Red Cross society during the recent eruption at Messina and Reggio. Doctors and nurses came at once from Germany, France and Switzerland. While the subject of Miss Boardman's address was not American Red Cross work, she felt that too much could not be said in praise of the noble work of her country. The relief ship which came down from Rome was the first step and many others followed directly. Tools and building materials were sent at once and what is known as "the American city" at Messina sprung up. An orphanage, which is still maintained, was another tangible result of the Red Cross work at that time. From the sashes of ruined houses a cross of red glass was made and placed in the new church, which stands today as a monument to the noble work of the American Red Cross society. It is called the church of the Sacred Cross.

Branches of St. John's Ambulance association have given aid to the people of India for many years in times of famine, and as the work of this organization is so nearly identical with that of the Red Cross, Miss Boardman gave it its full measure of praise.

The neutral spirit of the Red Cross society has been expressed in the revolution which has transformed Old China into a new Republic. The Imperialists and the Revolutionists alike received aid regardless of party or the conditions of war.

Japan has been, perhaps, among the most enthusiastic Red Cross workers of the eastern nations. Recently at the annual conference there were over 35,000 present. Japan's Red Cross has a fund of $7,000,000, which has been raised within comparatively few years. The Dowager Empress of this little country endowed a fund of $50,000 to the international treasury, for the benefit of the Red Cross which is ever bringing the nations nearer in times of war and which may eventually mean the dawn of a new peace.

Miss Boardman's excellent address was greatly appreciated by her audience and she was given a rising vote of thanks. A large bouquet of carnations was presented to her in token of their estimation.

Tea was served by Mrs. George Sinnicks and Mrs. Ellery Rogers, the vice presidents of the club, and the directors, Mrs. Mary Merrill, Mrs. Emma Stanley, Mrs. George W. Blaisdell, Mrs. F. M. Johnson, Mrs. Charlotte E. Brown, Mrs. E. S. Knight, Mrs. Mary Bennett, Miss Jessie M. Hoare and Mrs. F. P. Tenney.

Arbella Club to Meet.

The first meeting of Manchester's newest girls club—The Arbella Club—will be held next Tuesday afternoon at the chapel at 4 o'clock. The officers are: Miss Mildred Peart, pres.; Miss Fannie Knight, vice pres.; Miss May L. Rogers, secy.; Miss Margaret Gillis, treas. The object of the club as stated in its constitution is "to promote the desire for simple, useful, happy lives." The program for the year is not yet mapped out, but meetings will be held regularly on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. Some interesting lectures and talks will be arranged. The club is non-sectarian.

In Aid of District Nurse Fund.

Under the auspices of the North Shore Horticultural society a stereopticon lecture will be given in the Town hall, Manchester, this evening at 8 o'clock, by J. K. M. L. Farquhar of Boston, on "Holland, and the growing of the Tulip and other Dutch Bulbs." Lantern slides will also be shown of the International Flower show of London, England. The proceeds of the affair will be donated to the District Nurse Fund. As the admission is only 15 cents it is hoped the attendance will be large.

She Likes California

Mrs. Harriet Perkins of Manchester, who went to Los Angeles as a delegate to the national encampment of the ladies of the GAR, writes that she is having a most delightful trip. Among other things she says:

"We were late leaving Montreal and did not arrive until the following Monday. The climate is delightful, the wealth of flowers, fruit and palms is a sight to see. On our train was a soldier from Salt Lake City who was 92 years of age and he had an Indian woman for a wife who attended him very carefully. He led the grand parade in an automobile. The Illinois delegation entertained me royally at a dinner party and a drive to one of the large cattle ranches. Various states were represented in our party, comrades and friends coming from Oregon, Pennsylvania, Illinois and other states. The palm trees are very large

MRS. ROBERTS' DEATH PROBED TODAY

To the Editor of The Breeze,
Dear Sir:

District Attorney Attwill of Essex County is today holding, at Salem, an inquest into the death of Mrs. Benjamin H. Roberts, whose body was found floating in Manchester harbor on the afternoon of Sept. 16th. The companions of the dead woman on the night she was killed, members of the Manchester police, newspapermen who have become interested in the case, as well as several others who do not believe Mrs. Roberts met her death at the drawbridge, are to testify and, from the burden of the testimony, it will be decided whether or not arrests should be made. Should the inquest show that Mrs. Roberts was probably murdered, arrests will follow immediately.

During the last week, there has continued to come in evidence in support of the theory that Mrs. Roberts met her death on the marsh back of Masconomo Park, rather than at the drawbridge. Last Friday afternoon, soon after The Breeze had gone to press, a fisherman found, on the marsh, a heavy, steel screwdriver such as might have dealt the blow which killed Mrs. Roberts. It was an instrument for heavy work, such as might be needed about a boat-yard. It was found quite near the spot where Mrs. Roberts' hat was picked up.

Still later in the day, a man's shirt, covered with blood, was found not far from White's boat-house at the foot of Ashland avenue. The shirt was rolled up in a newspaper and hidden under a board at one end of the platform of the grain-house that runs parallel to the railroad track at that point.

and beautiful. The Japanese morning glories of a blue hue and the roses make a beautiful sight. Another pleasure was the attending of a celebration given in honor to a lady from Concord Junction who celebrated her 74th birthday. I was requested to act as "master of ceremonies" at the evening celebration. There were readings by comrades, singing and speeches. The decorations were of an electrical nature, the lamp posts decorated with palm leaf out of which shot a light of brilliancy. One must visit this part of the country to see its beauties as they really are."

At the same time it has become known that, on the night of the tragedy, Mrs. Roberts was one participant in a violent quarrel at the home of that woman with whom she was visiting. Mrs. Roberts, and the husband and wife of the home at which she was staying engaged in a bitter quarrel about eight o'clock. Three and a-half hours later (at 11.28 o'clock) Mrs. Roberts' dead body was placed in the waters of Manchester harbor. Yet, so far as I know, the police have made no effort to ascertain the cause of the quarrel or the reason why Mrs. Roberts figured so prominently in it. All these points, however, will be brought to the attention of the District Attorney.

The inquest today has been brought about by Deputy Superintendent Neal of the State Police. When Chief Converse of the Manchester police called a halt to the investigation and insisted that he was satisfied that the death was "accidental," a local newspaperman took the matter before Deputy Neal. Deputy Neal assigned two detectives to the case and, on the basis of their findings, recommended to Dist. Atty. Attwill that an inquest be held as early as possible. This would have been held early last week but for the fact that the District Attorney and his entire staff of assistants and officers were fully engaged with the Ettor case.

The inquest was set to be heard before Judge George B. Sears at Salem. Judge Sears placed the matter of summoning witnesses in the hands of Chief of Police Converse of Manchester. With time it became evident that no one but those who believed the death of Mrs. Roberts was "accidental" was to be summonsed. Up to three o'clock Thursday afternoon, no one but the actual principals in the death of Mrs. Roberts and the finding of her body had been summoned, although the papers had been out two days. This fact was made known to the District Attorney, with the result that Asst. Dist. Attorney Burke came to Manchester at once and, within an hour, nearly a dozen additional witnesses had been summoned. All of the latter are strong in the belief that Mrs. Roberts' death was other than accidental.

Yours very truly,
JAMES SWEINHART.

MANCHESTER

The growing popularity of Singing beach is attested by the thousands of people who have made use of the public bathhouses there the past summer. Caretaker Arthur U. McCormack has kept a record of the number using the public houses. In August the number reached the record figure of 3,522. During September 997 used the public houses. This speaks volumes for the need of public houses at the beach and emphasizes the wisdom of doing what the town has already done in this direction.

It has been decided to hold the first of the 1912-1913 winter series of hops, which proved in such favor last season, on Thursday evening, Oct. 31.

Thursday evening at the meeting of the WRC several new members were initiated. Among them were Mrs. Hollis Bell, Mrs. William Cragg and Mrs. Edward A. Killam.

Funeral services were conducted Thursday by Rev. A. G. Warner of the Baptist church for Mrs. Grace P. Bean, a former Manchester woman, who died at Rochester, N. H., at the age of 45 years, 6 months and 17 days. The body was interred at the Rosedale cemetery. Mrs. Bean was the widow of John R. Bean, who died at Manchester in October, 1903, from the fatal results of an accident. She leaves one daughter, who is nine years old.

Edward Preston and Jacob H. Kitfield were drawn yesterday on the extra venire from which to select the Ector jury. Joseph N. Lipman and James H. Rivers were the other two drawn. Mr. Rivers was excused from serving and Mr. Lipman was challenged by Caruso, one of the three men on trial.

J. W. Cawthorne, Jr., is offering for sale his bakery and light grocery business, conducted for the last three years at 50 Central street. Mr. Cawthorne has other plans for his future.

A harvest supper will be served at GAR hall next Wednesday evening from 5.30 to 7 o'clock.

Miss Sarah G. Coughlin left Monday to take up nursing in Dr. Rotch's hospital, Brookline.

Invitations will be sent out the first of next week for the meeting of the Precious Jewel Band, for Friday afternoon, Oct. 11, at the vestry of the Baptist church, from 3 to 5. Mothers are also invited. This will be the annual mite box opening. Rev. Mr. Warner will speak to the mothers.

To Organize Wilson-Marshall Club.

There will be a meeting for the purpose of forming a Wilson-Marshall club at Carpenters hall on Tuesday evening, Oct. 8, at 7.30 o'clock. There will also be a reception to Hon. George A. Schofield, candidate for Congress; to Hon. Frank C. Richardson, candidate for Senator; and Lafayette F. Hunt, candidate for Representative. Everybody is welcome to attend.

Lunch Club Elects.

The annual meeting of the Manchester Lunch Club was held Wednesday evening. A collation of steamed clams was served after the meeting. The officers and committees elected are as follows: A. C. Needham, commodore; L. O. Lations, vice commodore; R. L. Cheever, secy. and treasurer; David Fenton, measurer; H. L. Roberts, collector. Executive committee: officers and chairmen of various committees ex-officiis, and Dr. C. L. Hoyt, R. L. Putnam and F. H. Mosher. Committees: R. L. Putnam, F. H. Crombie, Thos. Baker, William Soulis and E. P. Stanley, membership; Wade Brooks, E. P. Stanley and L. O. Lations, regatta; T. C. Rowe, L. W. Carter and George Rust, house.

Summer Salesroom Closed.

The summer salesroom of the Industrial School for Crippled and Deformed Children has been closed for the winter, after a most successful season. The President, Francis J. Cotting has taken a five years' lease of the store in Manchester, where the shop has been located for the past two summers.

Anyone desiring any of the articles made at the school may communicate with the school, 241 St. Botolph street, Boston.

Progressive Party.

Candidate for Governor, Charles S. Bird and party, will speak in the square at Manchester, Saturday morning, Oct. 5, at 10 o'clock. Every body come.

CHURCH NOTES

The regular meeting of Harmony Guild will be held at the chapel on Monday evening, Oct. 7, at 7.45. The committee has engaged Miss Marjorie Lacey, who will entertain the members with a miscellaneous program of readings.

The Missionary society of the Congregational church will meet in the chapel, Oct. 10, at 4 o'clock. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock.

BEVERLY FARMS

The Spaulding garden at Beverly Farms is closed for the season.

Rev. J. A. Johnson of Lynn preached to a large audience at the Scandinavian service held in the local Baptist church last evening.

The ball game at the playgrounds Saturday afternoon will be the last for this year, and will make a total of 14 games played by the Beverly Farms club. Of the thirteen games already played the local club has won ten and lost three. The losing games occurred before the team had settled down to its regular players and were lost practically when the team was giving the various candidates for positions their playouts.

In accordance with our usual custom at this season of the year we are offering the Breeze for the balance of the year FREE to all new subscribers. All names added to our list between now and New Year's will be dated Jan. 1, 1913.

Executive Board of Improvement Society Met.

A meeting of the executive board of the Beverly Improvement society was held Tuesday afternoon at Mrs. Robert S. Bradley's, Pride's Crossing. Miss Boyden presided. At four o'clock the members of the Beverly Farms branch were invited to meet the executive board. The work of the society was discussed and suggestions were made for the work for another season.

Mrs. Bradley, chairman of the sanitation department, read a paper on the dangers of the oyster at this season, quoting from a well known authority, who says, "the most dangerous months to eat oysters are October and November." The Potomac beds have been pronounced this season as "polluted with typhoid germs, and the department of agriculture at Washington hope to have state policing of these beds."

In a recently published bulletin on "Sewage Pollution of Interstate and International Waters with special reference to the spread of typhoid fever," it is interesting to note that the three cities in the United States having the lowest annual typhoid death rate are Bridgeport, Conn., Fall River, Mass., and Boston.

At the close of the business meeting tea was served.

VOL. X Oct. 4, 1912 No. 40

The Race for Governor.

After the results of the primaries, the supporters of the Republican, Democratic and Progressive candidates are sounding the strength of their individual forces and laying their campaign plans accordingly. With a three-cornered fight this year, a great deal more work by the various parties is demanded, because of the entrance of Charles S.

Bird, admittedly one of the strongest men which the Bull Moose contingent could nominate, and the strong following which Governor Foss has throughout the State.

District Attorney Pellitier met a sad finish to his political career, and although not perhaps discredited as one of the leaders of the Democratic party, will simply be the recipient of the "consolation prizes" of the party under whose flag he serves.

Hon. Joseph Walker, the Republican nominee, is an excellent selection of the stand-patters, and it would be hard to find a man who is better fitted by experience and executive ability than he. The election as Governor of Massachusetts has long been his ambition and his entire training in public life has been preparatory to service in that high office. He will undoubtedly have a hard battle to secure the election with Foss and Bird in the field, but his cause is not hopeless by any means.

There are a certain number of votes that Governor Foss is bound to command, although the latter's connection with labor problems which have come up in his administration are apt to be used as weapons by his opponents. With his determination to again seek the chair on Beacon Hill, the situation becomes serious for the other candidates.

There are many workers among Mr. Bird's personal friends, and this, combined with his business ability, may poll him many votes. But his platform is not one which should attract many voters to the folds of the Progressive party in this state. Mr. Bird's enthusiasm is needed many fold to gain him the election, but he is expected by his backers to make a strong fight for the Governor's seat.

"The executive council is obsolete and should be abolished," said Governor Foss to a party of Essex County Democrats last week. He probably thinks that the council is obsolete because there is but one Democrat in the council, and that many of the measures he would like to push through the council receive but scant attention from that body.

It "sure is going some" when the various "peace sessions" in progress during the past few days broke up in rows. The Geneva delegates, however, have two years in which to cool, for they have decided to meet next in 1914.

Is This the American Idea of a Square Deal or Are Some of Our People Mad?

(From the Oroville, Wash., Gazette)

Taft said in his Winona speech that the Payne-Aldrich tariff was the best ever, and was damned for it.

Roosevelt said in a signed article in The Outlook that the Payne-Aldrich tariff was better than any of its predecessors, and was applauded as an authority.

Taft prosecuted the trusts and was branded as a fool politician and a tool of the interests.

Roosevelt exonerated Paul Morton, a self-confessed rebater and violator of the Sherman anti-trust law, and he stopped the prosecution of the Harvester Trust, and for these things he was acclaimed as a friend of the people and their one great savior from the designs of the money power.

Taft initiated, secured and consistently defended the Canadian reciprocity treaty and was repudiated by the farmers of the country as a consequence.

Roosevelt at first approved and advocated the treaty, praised Taft for securing its passage, then, a little later, denounced it and made it an issue against the President in his pre-convention campaign. For this he was given increased devotion.

Taft carefully examined the records in the Lorimer case, asked several senators to do likewise, urged Roosevelt to help rid the Senate of Lorimer, and for his pains he was branded as a supporter of Lorimer before the convention and then rebuked by the Senate for endeavoring to have the Illinois senator unseated. He is considered to have been weakly, pusillanimously and ignominiously wrong throughout.

Before examining the record Roosevelt dramatically refused to sit at a banquet with Lorimer, agreed with the President to help unseat him; then denounced the President as a friend of Lorimer, and when Lorimer was expelled from the Senate, glorified in the fallen reputation like an executioner over the dead body of a victim, shouting without rhyme or reason, "I did it, it was my fight and I won." For which he is forever immortalized in the minds of his countrymen.

Taft secured the corporation tax law, the maximum and minimum tariff provisions in the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, the tariff board and the publication of campaign contributions law, and was denounced as a friend of privilege and subservient to the bosses.

For seven years Roosevelt dodged the tariff, ridiculed Bryan's demand for the publication of campaign contributions, then later praised the present tariff law and the tariff board as the only proper solution of the tariff problem, and is hailed as the enemy of privilege and the one champion of the people as against the bosses.

As Secretary of War, Mr. Taft went into Oklahoma at the request of Mr. Roosevelt and pleaded with the people to reject a constitution that provided for the initiative, referendum and the recall as subversive of representative government. As President he vetoed the Arizona statehood bill on the same grounds. For this people say that he betrayed Roosevelt and Roosevelt policies and has changed from what Roosevelt thought he was to some monstrous sort of being.

Roosevelt sent Taft to Oklahoma to denounce direct legislation and said that what he thought about the constitution that contained provisions of that kind wasn't fit to print. He ridiculed Bryan's slogan of "Let the people rule." Later he went into Arizona and opposed the recall of judges, and a few days afterward in California approved the same provision. Then in his Columbus speech went further and demanded the recall of judicial decisions and adopted Bryan's former plank of "Let the people rule." Now people say that Roosevelt hasn't changed, but that it is Taft who has changed and that is why Roosevelt is fighting him and why he ought to fight him.

Taft changed a big deficit in the National Treasury to a surplus in three years, lifted the postal department out of debt for the first time in years, and secured the establishment of postal savings banks, and is branded as an incapable Executive.

Roosevelt plunged the country into debt, the deficit growing larger each year, failed to improve the postal service or secure postal savings banks in seven years, and is acclaimed the greatest Executive in the history of the country.

Taft preached against war and negotiated peace treaties and is regarded as an inhuman monster.

Roosevelt has glorified war and opposed the peace treaties and is looked upon as a godlike benefactor of humanity.

Although Labor Day is past, there seems to be one daily in the vicinity of Lawrence, where the I. W. W. and kindred other organizations which have no particular license for their existence are holding full sway and making life miserable for the authorities and everyone who stands for law and order.

A compilation of statistics by the Government shows that the average minister in this country receives but $663 per year, although he is supposed to be an expert on all things pertaining to his profession.

The federal government asks $2500 from the Central Vermont Railway Company for an alleged violation of the statutes regarding the overworking of employees. How about overworked politicians.

An agent has been appointed by the State Board of Education to improve the smaller High schools of the state. A good move. The students should be taught more practical work in many of the schools.

Everybody's going to the Electrical Show in the Hub. It is a wonderful demonstration of the strides which the electrical experts have been making in the science.

The summer hotel manager has ceased to be king. Enter the coal baron.

The Manchester murder mystery does not seem to be "dead" yet.

Franklin P. Adams, the New York Mail's paragrapher, has a fad. He collects appropriate names. He thought he had reached the ultimate limit when he heard that Constant Agoney was a woodchopper in Clinton County, New York, who suffered from chronic rheumatism and who had fourteen children; and that Judge Rainey Wells, living near Coldwater, Galloway County, Kentucky, was a leader of the Prohibition forces in the blue-grass state.

But now he knows better, for some friend sent him the printed advertisement of a tourist hotel in Switzerland. The name of the chief guide was Hugo Furst. The man of the proprietor was Constant Sauss.

And the very next day he discovered that the firm of O'Neal & Pray sold prayer books in a New England city.—Saturday Evening Post.

Letter From Candidate for Senator Norwood.

Hamilton, Mass., Oct. 1, 1912
To the Voters of the Third
Essex Senatorial District:—

Last Tuesday saw the close of the campaign for the Republican nomination for Senator in the Third Essex Senatorial District. Naturally I was very much pleased with the result and I wish at this time to publically acknowledge my great indebtedness to the voters throughout the district for the honor which they accorded me. I also wish to acknowledge my appreciation of the many pledges of support which persons throughout the district, who assisted my opponents at the primaries, have since given me.

During the past two years as a member of the House of Representatives I have devoted my best efforts to the work and have endeavored at all times to act for the best interest of my representative district. In doing so I have come in touch with and assisted matters directly interesting and larger district which I now seek to represent in the Senate.

I look forward to proving my appreciation of what my friends have done for me by exerting every effort to insure a successful election, and then, if elected, by exerting every effort for the benefit of my district. The recent campaign was a clean fought one and the good will which now prevails should mean the restoring of the Third Essex Senatorial District to the Republican ranks.

Very truly yours,
C. Augustus Norwood.

Rev. Fr. Wm. F. Powers of Chelsea, formerly of Manchester, is at Atlantic City, N. J., for a few weeks' stay, to recuperate after his recent severe illness. He made the trip to Baltimore by boat from Boston. He was one of a party which the Breeze editor met Wednesday of last week at Old Point Comfort, Va.

Lydia H. Lee.

Word was received here this week of the death on Tuesday, Sept. 24, at Los Angeles, Cal., of Lydia H., wife of Josiah Lee. Mrs. Lee was a native of Manchester, being a daughter of Samuel and Sarah Willmington. She was born Nov. 18, 1841, and was accordingly, almost 71 years of age. She suffered a slight stroke some years ago, and her death was hastened on by a kidney trouble. She moved to Los Angeles from Lynn, Mass., a short time ago in hopes of improving her health. Beside a husband one son Franklin, survives her. She is one of the last of the Willmington family of this town.

As to Congressman Gardner's Campaign

Committees Appointed, Etc.

With the passage of the District Primary Act last year, all the old County, Congressional and other district committees were abolished. In consequence, it is necessary for candidates for office now to organize volunteer committees in their various districts. The new committee which is to conduct Congressman Gardner's campaign will be composed of one representative from each city and town in the district together with an executive committee of nine members at large, with a chairman, secretary and treasurer.

The officers and executive committee of the new Republican Congressional Committee in this district as announced today are as follows:

Chairman, Representative Herman A. MacDonald of Beverly; secretary, Charles O. Dugan of Salem; treasurer, Hon. Alden P. White of Salem.

Executive Committee—Frank B. Babcock of Haverhill; Representative J. Eugene Fowle of Newburyport; W. W. Lufkin of Essex; Representative Chauncey Pepin of Salem; Richard W. Freeman of Gloucester; Ernest Ingersoll of Danvers.

Of the working committee, the following sub-committees have been announced:

Committee on Finance and Expenditures, Hon. Alden P. White of Salem, chairman.

Committee on Speakers and Rallies, W. W. Lufkin, chairman.

Committee on Campaign Advertisements and Literature, Charles O. Dugan, chairman.

In connection with this announcement, the following correspondence between Congressman Gardner and Mr. White, with regard to the latter's selection as Treasurer of the Committee, is given out:

Hamilton, Mass., Sept. 4, 1912.
My dear Judge:

In my campaign for re-election to Congress from the Sixth Massachusetts District, I insist that there shall be no expenditure of money, directly or indirectly, outside of the strict limitations of the law.

To aid me in the faithful execution of this purpose, I ask you to act as Treasurer of my committee, receiving all contributions and paying legitimate expenses by check, and only by check. I am frankly seeking to use your reputation and standing as a guarantee of clean politics, and I trust that you may find it somewhat in the nature of a public duty as well as a personal kindness to respond favorably.

It is understood, of course, that "personal expenses" as defined by Chapter 560 of the Acts of 1907 will be paid by me and a proper return made according to law.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) A. P. Gardner.

Hon. Alden P. White,
Salem, Mass.

Salem, Mass., Sept. 6, 1912.
Hon. A. P. Gardner,
Hamilton, Massachusetts.
My dear Sir:

I acknowledge your letter of yesterday asking me to act as treasurer of your campaign committee. I appreciate its spirit and the compliment of your confidence.

However much I would prefer that the responsibility would rest on other shoulders I feel bound to accept your invitation.

Your intentions will be carried out to the letter. Not a dollar will be expended except for expenses strictly within the law, by checks, which will be preserved as vouchers and open to inspection.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) Alden P. White

MANCHESTER

A visit to Masconomo Park at the present time will serve to convince one of the future attractiveness of that spot, when the plans adopted by the town shall have been completed. Only a portion of the improvements are being made this year. More will be done next year, and in future years until the work is completed. The portion of the work laid out for this year is now well near completed. Semons & Littlefield are the contractors, the contract calling for grading, building walks and roadways, which are to be of concrete construction, the laying out and construction of beds for flowers and shrubbery, and pits for shade trees. The extent of the work to be done this fall will include about all of the improved area.

Rev. Chalmers B. Dyke of Newtonville preached at the Congregational church last Sunday. He will preach again Sunday. Mr. Dyke formerly preached in Manhattan.

Mrs. C. M. Dodge and son Joseph started Monday morning on the Marsters excursion to Saratoga, Albany, Hudson River and New York. The trip covers 600 miles in distance and takes six days, all for six dollars, for transportation. During the trip Mrs. Dodge and son will visit relatives, the Tuttles, at Newark, N. J. They will return by the Fall River boat.

Miss Hazel Semons is attending the Bryant and Stratton business school at Boston this year. Miss Semons is one of the members of the last year's graduating class of the Story High School.

The annual supper of the Missionary society will be held in the chapel of the Congregational church Thursday, Oct. 10. Miss Abbie Floyd is chairman of the committee in charge. The other members of the committee are Mrs. E. A. Lane, Miss Elizabeth Jewett, Miss Hester Rust, Miss Annabelle Lodge, Miss Frances Norrie, Miss Helen Knight, Miss Helen Cheever and Miss Nina Sinicks. Last year for the first time, the young women of the society volunteered their services in taking charge of the supper and they managed it with such marked success that it was voted to ask them to carry on the work again this year.

The Ladies' Social circle held the first meeting of the year Wednesday afternoon. The next meeting will be in two weeks and will be the annual meeting for the election of officers.

ESSEX IS RIGHT IN THE CENTRE OF The Summer Residence Zone

It has high hills, beautiful woodland drives, a charming lake, a salt water-river which "like a ribbon of silver" flows to the sea. Boating, fishing and bathing abound. Although it has water on all sides it seldom if ever has the disagreeable fog which is so prevalent in other places. The high hills covered with dense forests which surround the town keep the fog away. We have many desirable places aggregating about 2000 acres for sale. One feature of Essex is, our valuation is so low that the addition of but one million would halve the tax rate.

ESSEX

Raymond's corner, at the junction of Main and Martin streets, is a very dangerous place. On Monday an auto and an electric car just escaped collision with a scratch on the auto, and a tilt of the fender on the electric. A few days before, the President's auto containing President Taft and friends narrowly escaped collision. Very narrow escapes occur daily. Everyone, cars, autos, and carriages should go slower around the corner or a bad accident will occur.

Mr. and Mrs. Alden C. Burnham have returned from their trip to the lakes and mountains of New Hampshire.

Charles S. Bird, candidate for Governor for the Progressive party will speak in Postoffice square, Essex, Saturday at 10.30 a. m. Mr. Bird will cover Cape Ann and vicinity in two days, making twenty-two speeches in that time.

Miss Isabelle Christie of North Adams is visiting her friend, Miss Lucy Burnham of Essex Falls.

Mrs. Elwood Burnham of Canada was visiting relatives in Essex Wednesday.

Abram Lander has recovered sufficiently from the wound on his foot to return to work.

WEST GLOUCESTER

The finance committee of the Congregational church is planning to hold a country fair in the new vestry of the church just as soon as the furnace is installed. The fair will be conducted during the afternoons and evenings for three days.

C. Mason Andrews and family of East Gloucester, who have been spending a week as the guests of Mr. Andrews' mother Mrs. H. E. Andrews of Concord, returning to their home Monday.

Alex. W. Andrews, the well known real estate man of this place, is a candidate for Senator, having received the nomination of the Progressive Party in the Third Essex district.

A large delegation of the Progressive party of ward eight attended the meeting of the Gloucester Progressives, held Wednesday evening at the headquarters in Shepherd's block.

A large number of the members of the West Gloucester Grange No. 286 P. of H. are planning to attend the first fall meeting of the Chebacco Pomona Grange No. 26, P. of H., which will meet in Danvers, October 16th. It is expected that a special car will be secured for the occasion.

MAGNOLIA

Rev. F. J. Libby will preach at the Village church Sunday morning on "I'm not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ." In the evening he will give the first of a series of lectures on his recent tour to the Pacific. The subject Sunday night will be "Java, the Paradise of the East." It will be fully illustrated with colored pictures from photographs taken by the lecturer.

Rev. Frederick J. Libby, former pastor of the Union Congregational church, will fill the pulpit during the absence of the pastor, Rev. Walter Eaton, Ph. D., who is on his annual vacation. Dr. and Mrs. Eaton are enjoying camp life on Danvers river, and before they return will take a trip through the Adirondacks.

Willard Boyd left Tuesday for West Falmouth, Me., where he will make a short visit.

Misses Ethel, Marjorie and Abby May and Jonathan May returned Monday from Milford, N. H., where they spent a very pleasant week-end.

The last dance of the season at the Men's club was well attended and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

Miss Sadie J. Abbott is visiting friends in Boston this week.

Sylvester Height, who has been confined to his home on Magnolia avenue, has recovered and is out again.

Miss Jane M. Watson will commence one of her social classes in dancing in Marshall's hall Monday evening, Oct. 14th.

A party of Beverly Farms young men gave a "stag party" or "smoker" to the officers and crew of the U. S. S. Mayflower in Marshall's hall Monday evening. A fine entertainment was given, consisting of several boxing bouts, wrestling, music and songs. A fine Bohemian lunch was served. The affair was given as a return for a similar affair which the Beverly Farms young men enjoyed as guests of those who entertained Monday evening.

The employees of Connolly Bros., including friends and guests held their annual picnic and outing at Tuck's Point, last Saturday afternoon. A first class clam bake was enjoyed, after which a program of sports was run off.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Powers returned to their home at Rochester, N. Y., yesterday after spending a week at Beverly Farms.

The Beverly Farms ball team and the nine from the U. S. S. Mayflower will play a second game at the playgrounds tomorrow afternoon, and it can be depended upon that the contest will be worth going miles to see. Since the defeat last Saturday of the Mayflower team, they have wanted to play another game, promising to turn the tables. The local team are perfectly willing that they should have the chance, hence the game tomorrow. It is expected that the band from the Mayflower will be present.

The U. S. S. Mayflower is expected to leave here next Thursday, going to New York to take part in the naval parade on the 13th.

Confirmation services will take place at St. Margaret's church tomorrow (Saturday) forenoon, commencing at 10 o'clock, conducted by Bishop Anderson of Boston.

The Beverly Farms Baptist church will hold their annual meeting at the chapel this evening. The business in part will be to hear the various yearly reports and to elect officers for the ensuing year.

The Scandinavian Sewing Circle held its last meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Greoger on Friday evening of last week. Miss Katherine P. The band from President Taft's yacht Mayflower, H. J. Peterman, bandmaster, gave an excellent concert in the square Tuesday evening. A large crowd was on hand for the occasion. A program of eight numbers was rendered. The concert was arranged by Peter Gaudreau of the Beverly Farms band, and his efforts were appreciated by the large number who were privileged to hear the music. It is hoped that another concert can be arranged for before the Mayflower leaves.

Beverly Farms Nine Defeated Team From President's Yacht.

In the presence of the largest crowd of the season at the Beverly Farms playground last Saturday afternoon the last Farms team copped one from the strong team from the U. S. S. Mayflower to the tune of 13 to 5.

Douglas, the former Annapolis star all round athlete was on the mound for the Mayflower team and pitched a fine game, considering the fact that he was handicapped by not having a first class catcher. He had all the stuff on the ball that a pitcher could have, beside using great speed, but the Farms team, which is traveling at a fast clip just now, were out to win and got to his shoots from the start.

McNair pitched his fourth straight win for the Farms team and twirled a great game, holding the heavy hitting opponents to four hits, besides striking out 12 men. He used great speed with a fast breaking curve and had the men from the President's yacht whiffing at space all through the game.

Perkins, behind the bat, handled McNair in fine shape, working the batters to the limit, and kept the runners hugging the bags. He also banged out three nice hits. Donovan at short, played up to his usual high standard in the field and at the bat, taking everything that came his way, besides getting three fine hits. This boy is traveling at a nice clip just now.

McInnis on first played his usual fine game and batted hard and timely. "Doc" Dougherty played the second bag in fine style and banged out a screeching three bagger. Lawler played a nice game in the field and his three bagger with three men on in the third was one of the features of the game. Holland showed lots of life at the bat and on the bases.

The rest of the team played their positions well.

During the game the band from the Mayflower furnished an excellent concert, which was greatly appreciated by the crowd.

THE WAR ON THE FLY

Catch Them; Coming and Going!

The third line of attack is directed against the breeding places. No cleanly plan of home sanitation allows accumulations about stables and out-houses. The labor of handling the material is doubled and its value to the land, often more than halved by antiquated methods of "rotting." Still, in cities, where stable cellars are necessary, the so-called "fly-tight" construction so often insisted upon by authorities is calculated to keep up the supply of flies forever. Millions of eggs may be laid in the material before it is put into the cellar, the warm material is the best possible fly incubator, the flies as they hatch will swarm out like live steam out of a boiler, whenever the place is opened, as it must be daily.

Suppose instead we have at least one window on the sunny side and have it screened with durable wire net. The flies as they hatch, will swarm to this window, and by the usual guide-strips we may lead them to an opening near the top—into a trap. Then, too, the odor of this window will attract the flies which are seeking a place to oviposit. If we shut them out, they will scatter and find some other filth in which to lay their eggs. By means of guide-strips on the outside of the screen, invite them in—into another trap—we thus catch them "coming and going." This plan the writer hopes to test more fully next season, but it seems to have enough common sense about it to insure effective elimination of breeding about all such places. (As tested the past season it has proved almost exterminative for the premises).

Finally, poisoning has long been used as an indoor measure. Why not carry the war into the enemies territory at every point? Formalin, the common germicide, is now recommended as the best poison to use. The figure shows convenient ways of applying it. A good sized bottle is filled with a two per cent. solution (two teaspoons to half pint of water) a saucer placed over it and the whole is inverted. A nick is broken in the mouth of the bottle, or it may be set up on a bit of chip, so that the liquid will partially fill the saucer and a small slice of bread, covered with sugar, is placed in one side as an added attraction. Both bottle and saucer may be mounted in a wooden or wire bracket so that it may be hung in any sunny corner about the table or porch; or, with a little shelf tacked in place, the bottle may be simply leaned up in a corner. During hot, dry weather, with no other water near, this device will cover the back porch or stable floor black with flies that will never lay eggs any more. It is quite possible some such poisoning method, employed generally out of doors would prove the cheapest and easiest way of dealing with the whole fly problem. The bottle keeps the strength of solution and doles it down as needed, so that, once set, it requires no attention for weeks or even months.

WE WALKED YESTERDAY THROUGH LONG AISLES OF A "STYLE SHOW"—

On our third big floor—which has no peer in the county. And we delightfully anticipated the supreme joy and satisfaction that would come to some one when we had the great pleasure of placing In their home.

This Handsome Mahogany Parlor Suit

It's not a massive suit but genteel in proportions. Its frames are mahogany and they are finished dull. Its seats and backs are upholstered in a dull shade of green velour, the latter being prettily tufted. Graceful curved legs support each piece. We quickly saw what a pretty parlor they'd have at the little expense of $50.00.

A "STYLE SHOW" OF BRASS BEDS

Of unequaled beauty and variety is to be seen on our large fourth annex floor. Prices begin way down at $8.75, then they run up in value to over sixty dollars. We keep so many so's to suit everybody. This style and price is 'bout what many folks want. For convenience we'll call it

BRASS BED NO. 1.

It has 2-inch capped posts, 1/2-inch connecting rails and 1/2-inch uprights. Dull finish. Instead of $15.00.

IT'S $13.50

BRASS BED NO. 2.

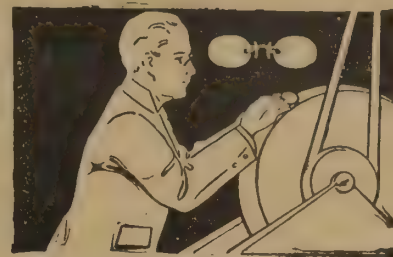

Pleases a great many, too. It has 2-inch capped posts, 1-inch cross rails and 1/2-inch uprights. Finished in the beautiful Roman Gold color.

IT'S BUT $16.00

One for $22.00 is a very handsome strong bed brightly finished. You see 'tis easy to be suited here.

There are Two Days Yet of the Big Salem Style Show—Friday & Saturday

WE URGE YOU TO COME to our store and see the beautiful floral displays, both in the windows and inside of the store, and inspect the remarkable values in special-priced articles for the Style Show days.

We want you to enjoy the concert by members of the Salem Cadet Band in our store Friday and Saturday from 2 until 5 o'clock and to see the new Fall Styles in gold and silver jewelry, the new articles in sterling silver and Sheffield plate, the most recent styles in stationery and the newest novelties in leather and brass. We have just received these new things to photograph for our Year Book. They are up-to-the-minute articles which will not, in many cases, be shown in other stores for some time to come. This should be of especial interest to you if you are planning to send any wedding gifts in the near future, for in selecting these goods you are not likely to have your gift duplicated.

We invite you to make our store, centrally located, as it is, your headquarters during the days of the Style Show.

VOL. X.

Manchester, Mass., Friday, October 11, 1912

No. 41

SOCIETY NOTES

President Taft and family will conclude their season on the North Shore on Saturday, the 26th, it is expected. Though late in joining the other members of the household at Montserrat, the President has thoroughly enjoyed the last month on the shore. Many regard September and October the best part of the year here; surely the last three weeks have been ideal for motoring, a pastime which the President freely indulges in. Last Saturday President and Mrs. Taft, Miss Mabel T. Boardman and Major Rhoades, the President's aide, left Beverly early for a motor trip to the Berkshires, Vermont and New Hampshire. They lunched in Springfield that day and motored on to Dalton in time to dine with Senator and Mrs. Winthrop Murray Crane, the latter Miss Boardman's sister. They spent the night and Sunday there, motoring about through the Berkshires Sunday, with Lenox, Lee and Stockbridge in their itinerary. Monday the party motored on toward Vermont, being met at the line by Governor Fletcher and party. They lunched in Brattleboro and later in the day Townsend, the birthplace of the President's father, was visited. They spent the night with Hon. Robert T. Lincoln, son of President Lincoln, at Manchester-in-the-Mountains. Tuesday the trip was continued over the trunk road to Montpelier, where Governor Fletcher entertained the party that night. A big reception was held in City Hall that night. The following morning the President addressed the Vermont Legislature on "The Common Soldier of the Civil War," and after the address the party motored on to St. Johnsbury in time for lunch, and then on to Bretton Woods in the White Mountains where they spent the night at the Mt. Washington. Most of Thursday was spent on the road to Dublin, N. H., which they reached that night in time to dine with Secy. of the Treasury and Mrs. Franklin MacVeagh. The party planned to leave Dublin early this morning for Beverly. With Mrs. Taft and a party of friends the President plans to sail away on the Mayflower from Beverly Farms late Friday. They will spend Saturday at Woods Hole with W. Cameron Forbes, Governor General of the Philippines. Sunday they will sail for New York, where the President will review the great naval parade Tuesday. He will leave New York Wednesday for Worcester. He will remain on the North Shore much of the time from then until a week from the following Sunday, and on the 26th he will go to the Virginia Hot Springs with Mrs. Taft and will remain there until he goes to Cincinnati to vote and then return to Hot Springs to remain until Congress opens.

Many North Shore people are interested in the wedding on Saturday of next week (Oct. 19) at Overbrook, Pa., of Miss Mary Bispham Townsend and Herbert Jaques, Jr. The ceremony, at 12.30 o'clock, will be at St. Paul's Episcopal Memorial Church, the Rev. Dr. Turner, the rector, officiating. Charles E. Cotting, Jr., will be best man for his classmate, Harvard, '11, and the ushers William Davies Sohier, Jr., John Anderson Sweetser, Roger F. Hooper, Reginald C. Foster, William De Ford Beal, William Appleton Lawrence and George R. Foster, all of Boston and classmates, with Ralph Lowell and Francis C. Gray, who graduated from the university last June; Gordon Ware, Harvard '08, a cousin of Mr. Jaques, and Joseph B. Townsend, 3d, Caspar W. B. Townsend, a cousin, and Clarence H. Clark, 3d, of Philadelphia.

Wm. H. Wellington and daughter, Miss Anna Wellington, concluded their stay at the Morgan cottage, Smith's Point, Manchester, last Friday and returned to their 420 Beacon street, Boston, home for the winter.

♦ ♦ ♦

Miss Elizabeth Sohier has returned to Beverly from Northeast Harbor, where she has spent the greater part of the summer.

SOCIETY NOTES

The debutante balls will make a larger feature than ever this year on the season's social program in Boston. The list of young girls to be presented is very large and as Lent comes early these formal events are to follow each other in closer succession than usual, beginning next month. The first will be the one the Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge of Nahant is to give for his grand-daughter, Miss Constance Gardner, the daughter of the Hon. and Mrs. Augustus P. Gardner of Hamilton on the 21st of November at the Copley-Plaza. Mrs. Augustus Thorndike's is the next on the list in honor of her daughter, Miss Mary Thorndike. It is set for Monday, November 25th, in the large ballroom. Miss Thorndike is the older daughter, Miss Alice the younger. Miss Catherine Silsbee's ball follows on Friday of the same week (the 29th). It is in honor of her niece, Miss Elizabeth Silsbee, the daughter of Mrs. George S. Silsbee. December opens with Miss Mary S. Ames's ball for her niece, Miss Olivia Ames, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ames' second daughter, on Monday, the second of the month. Two days later (the 4th) Mrs. Edwin S. Webster is giving a ball for the oldest of her three daughters, and Mrs. Neal Rantoul's is on the Friday of the following week (the 13th), for her only daughter, Miss Josephine Rantoul. Jan. opens with Mrs. Richard D. Sears's ball for Miss Miriam Sears, who really belonged to last year's group but preferred waiting to come out the same season with several of her intimates. That is down for Tuesday, the 7th, which comes after the first Assembly, January 3, and several others are scheduled for later in the month.

Miss Dorothy Wilmot of New Orleans is again the guest of Miss Katherine Ayer at "Avalon," the beautiful estate of Frederick Ayer, at Pride's Crossing. Miss Wilmot, a most charming girl, was Miss Ayer's guest earlier in the season and she made many pleasant acquaintances while on the Shore.

SOCIETY NOTES

Two of the most beautiful and most sought after girls on the Shore, Miss Elaine Denegre of West Manchester and Miss Frances Moore of Pride's Crossing, are to spend the winter studying in Paris. Miss Denegre is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Denegre. In company with her parents, she sailed Tuesday for Paris. Miss Moore, one of the best tennis players, who have been at the Montserrat club this season, is the daughter of Mrs. Clarence Moore. She sailed from New York last Saturday for Paris to attend a finishing school.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Endicott Dexter of Boston, who have spent the summer at their place at York Harbor, Maine, are spending the month of October with the former's mother, Mrs. George Dexter, at her beautiful home at Pride's Crossing.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. Horatio N. Slater, of Boston, has set Friday, Dec. 6 for the ball for Miss Esther Slater at the Somerset. This event was to have been last winter when Miss Slater came out, but her mother's prolonged illness in New York prevented a number of entertainments in the daughter's honor. On the night of Wednesday, the 11th of December, Mrs. Charles Wells Hubbard of Bay State road, presents her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Hubbard, at a ball also in the large ballroom of the Somerset, and on Friday of the next week, the 20th, Ralph Townsend of Commonwealth avenue is giving a ball for his daughter.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Longfellow arrived in New York on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie on Tuesday of last week, after an absence of a year and a half, during which time they visited almost every country. Last winter they spent in Egypt. Except in the land of pyramids they did most of their travelling by motor, as they took their car over with them.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. Arthur Hammersley of London was of those sailing from Boston last Tuesday week on the Franconia, after a long visit on this side of the water. She was a guest of Mrs. Francis Lee Higginson, Jr., at Coolidge Point, Manchester, for several weeks.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. H. P. McKean was hostess at a luncheon at her attractive home at Pride's Crossing Sunday afternoon. The affair, while neither large nor elaborate, was most enjoyable. It is practically the last of the delightful entertainments, which Mrs. McKean has been giving here during the season.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. George S. Patton, formerly Miss Beatrice Ayer, who has been a guest at "Avalon," the Ayer estate at Pride's Crossing, for a number of weeks, left Thursday of last week for Fort Meyer, Virginia. Mrs. Patton is the wife of Lieutenant George S. Patton of the U. S. A.

SOCIETY NOTES

Miss Margaret Curtis of Manchester won for the third time at the Essex County club last Saturday the golf championship of the United States, defeating Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow of Philadelphia by 3 up 2 to play in the final round. Miss "Peggy" Curtis has an international reputation as a finished mistress of the game, having made in many championship tournaments across the water a name for herself not less in distinction than those of the Scottish, Irish and English experts. Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow of Philadelphia, the widow of an Irish colonel in an English regiment, has been the mainstay of golf with Mrs. Fox and Miss Griscom in Philadelphia from the beginning, and always in national and other tournaments is voted the best sportswoman that the United States has known. She was the first to congratulate Miss Curtis on her victory and the scene on the 16th green of the Essex County Club was one to be handed down because of the special circumstances which attended the final match—namely the injured hand of Miss Margaret Curtis.

The championship summary:

Robert Cox trophy—Held for the second successive year by the Essex County club of Manchester, because of the victories of Miss Margaret Curtis.

Medalist, prize presented by United States Golf association—Miss Margaret Curtis, Essex, 43—45—88.

Silver Medalist for runner-up—Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, Merion Cricket club, Philadelphia.

Bronze Medalists for reaching the semi-final—Miss Grace Semple, St. Louis, and Miss Katherine Melus, Los Angeles.

Special events:

Consolation handicap for non-qualifiers—Mrs. Philip Dexter, Essex, 113—18—95.

Handicap vs Bogy of 88—Miss L. B. Hyde, New York, even.

Driving competition—Miss L. B. Hyde, New York, 205—212—216—633 yards, more than a third of a mile.

Approaching and putting competition from 50, 90 and 115 Yards—

Miss G. M. Bishop, New York, 9, after a play-off at that score with Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. Curtis, who scored 9.

Four-Ball, Better Ball competition without handicap—Miss Semple, St. Louis, and Mrs. Wheeler, Boston, 43—40—83.

Mixed Foursome handicap, Best gross—Miss F. C. Osgood, Country club, and H. W. Stucklen, Brae-Burn, 83. Best net—Miss E. T. Chandler, Philadelphia, and W. C. Chick, Brae-Burn, 86—6—80.

A series of dances in Boston similar in nature, presumably, to the popular junior cotillions in New York, are being arranged by Mrs. Rodolphe Agassiz and Mrs. Frederick Converse, for young people still in school. These will be held at the Somerset.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Richards M. Bradley of Boston and Manchester, and their three daughters, Amy, Helen and Sarah, arrived in New York Wednesday of last week after a summer abroad.

♦ ♦ ♦

Judge and Mrs. Oliver W. Holmes, who have an attractive home on Hale street, Beverly Farms, left last week for their winter home in Washington.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. Frederick Ayer and Miss Mary Katherine Ayer of the Pride's colony, will leave in a few weeks for Hot Springs, Va.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Boardman, who have been at their summer place in Manchester during the season, are expected to go to Pittsfield next week. They will not be far from their son-in-law and daughter, Senator and Mrs. Winthrop Murray Crane (Josephine Boardman), who live at Dalton.

♦ ♦ ♦

North Shore society is interested in the 28th annual exhibition of the National Horse Show Association of America to be held in Madison Square Garden, New York, Nov. 16 to 23. The show is the most important event of the year in the horse world and incidentally it marks the opening of the social season in New York.

SOCIETY NOTES

Miss Helen Taft is a qualified marksman. She has made a score of 49 out of a possible 50 at the Government rifle range in Gloucester, and with her friend, Miss Elizabeth Hammond of Gloucester and New York, is winning the plaudits of society for her good shooting. For the last few weeks Miss Taft, Miss Hammond, and a party of friends, including the President's brother, have been rubbing elbows with the officers and crew of the dispatch boat Dolphin, the private yacht of the Secretary of the navy, George Von L. Meyer, at the range on Dogtown common, and Saturday the last day of the season, both Miss Taft and Miss Hammond were plugging the target at the 200 and 500-yard range for perfect scores. Miss Taft at first chose a gun which was poor in its firing, and it was not until, having watched one of the officers of the ship making bull's-eye after bull's-eye, she borrowed his gun and she began running up her score. The first shot was a four and the next nine were bull's-eyes.

The Myopia Hunt club held a run Saturday from Hawks Wood, near the Chain Bridge, as far as Seabrook, covering 15 miles. More than 40 riders took part, seven being women, including Miss Helen Taft, daughter of the President. She took up the course at Evans farm, just over the line in Southampton, and rode to the finish. The scene was laid down the rocky hill road to the railroad tracks and thence across the fields to Salisbury and Southampton to the Kensington line, thence to Seabrook. It was one of the largest hunts of the season.

Among the many cottages closed along the Shore this week has been Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Cotting's, Harbor street, West Manchester, who have returned to Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hanna closed their cottage at West Manchester this week; and went to New York for a month. Toward the latter part of November the family will go to Cleveland, Ohio for the remainder of the winter.

Novel Reproduction of World's Series at Salem Theatre.

Hundreds of fans from all over Essex County are enjoying the reproduction of the world's series games at the Empire Theatre, Salem, this week. By an ingenious invention, called the "perfected scoreboard," every play that is made, whether at New York or Boston, is faithfully reproduced in an intelligent manner on the scoreboard. The messages are received direct at the theatre by an expert operator and immediately transferred to the board by electricity. Even the course of the ball after the bat crashes into it is duplicated directly on the board. Not a hit or a catch is unrecorded and the position of every base runner is noted. Baseball lovers are thus enabled to see in detail all of the world's series games without bothering to journey to Boston or Gotham to secure the coveted pasteboards. This reproduction will be given the patrons of the theatre every afternoon during the games.

Monday forenoon a runaway horse caused some little excitement in Central square. Douglas McKim, driver of the Manchester Wet Wash team, carried a box into a house on School street; when the horse, becoming frightened, dashed down the street and up Central street at top speed. Boxes of laundry fell from the team in quick succession and a crowd gathered, but it was not until J. W. Cawthorne's Bakery was reached that the excited horse was stopped. Gordon Cool and William Walsh stopped the outfit just in time to prevent an upset.

Citizen's Day Observances at Baptist Church.

Sunday evening a very interesting service was held at the Baptist church, Manchester, in observance of Citizen's Day. The Grand Army men, Sons of Veterans, and the members of the Woman's Relief Corps were invited to attend in a body, and a goodly number turned out. Mrs. Alice Lee sang "The Plains of Peace" and Rev. A. G. Warner preached a most interesting sermon on "Citizen's Day," giving the origin of the day and its further history. President Lincoln was the founder of the idea of a day which should be set apart to honor the citizens, as so many days are really in honor of the bravery of the soldiers. Rev. Mr. Warner graphically pointed out that true courage sometimes lies, not in fighting for one's country, but in steadfastly doing the duties of a citizen. As an example, he cited the instance of a young man, who participated in the charge up San Juan Hill in the Spanish war. Now a rising lawyer in New York, the ex-soldier said that it took less courage to him to rush up San Juan in company with his fellow men and behind stirring music, than it did several years later during his start in the law practice, when he was offered a tempting sum for his vote for a certain politician. For further examples, Rev. Mr. Warner took some of the problems of the Lawrence strike, which resulted in the pending trial of Ettor for manslaughter, and some of the crimes nearer home. The duty of a citizen, he showed, was often hard to see in these days of complex laws and difficult situations. All pronounced the sermon one of Mr. Warner's finest and those who crowded the church to its utmost capacity attended one of the best special services Manchester has heard for some time.

If Your Voice Gets In, You Win

A Palmer, (Mass.) subscriber told this story:

"I got word of a possible big contract in Western New York, packed my grip, and started on the night train. All the next day I waited around that city, trying to see the head of the firm. He was busy—busy. I couldn't get at him. When night came I went home disgusted.

"As my eyes rested on the telephone in my office the next morning, I said to myself: 'Wonder if you couldn't get me into that office—get my voice where I can't go myself?'

"It could and did. Within half an hour from the time I put in the call, I was awarded the contract."

The announcement of a long distant call will usually secure a hearing. Many busy men prefer to transact business by telephone. It enables them to concentrate, to escape the emphasis of personalities, and to make quick decisions.

Fine Wedding Silverware

What could be more appropriate than Silverware as a Wedding Gift for the young bride and groom? Certainly nothing offers greater variety to choose from or a happier combination of usefulness, beauty, and real worth. But there must be no doubt about its quality. In anticipation of the Wedding season we have gathered together an assortment of special pieces, in both sterling silver and fine quality plate, from which you will have no difficulty in selecting something just to your fancy. Prices range as low as 50c and $1.00, and there's through-and-through quality in every piece we sell.

MANCHESTER

Miss Mabel Walen of Pleasant street left the first of the week for Needham, where she will be the guest of friends for several days.

The annual supper of the Foreign Missionary society was held in the chapel Thursday evening. There was an unusually large attendance and the excellent supper, which was served by the young women of the committee, received its full measure of praise.

Benjamin Allen, the druggist, is enjoying a three weeks' vacation. Mr. and Mrs. Allen, with Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan May of Magnolia, are spending the time in camp at Conomo Point. This week they have had as their guest Frank Wormwood of the Eastern Drug Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Dunn and Mrs. Wilson attended the Baptist convention at Salem Wednesday.

A great improvement in the appearance of the Rosedale cemetery on Lincoln street is the coat of paint which the iron fence surrounding it is receiving.

Wednesday about fifty of the youthful supporters of President Taft joined forces in a parade and marched through the main streets of the town to the music of a drum and other instruments. The leader of the parade carried a torch and he was followed by the banner-bearer. The demonstration must have aroused the political feeling of the Wilsonites and Progressives, for at one time the young marchers were showered with tomatoes and squash.

A most successful supper was held Wednesday evening by the Woman's Relief Corps. It was under the direction of the executive committee, with Mrs. Hannah Tappan as president. The proceeds were put towards the $1000 fund which the corps is endeavoring to raise in order to have a Soldiers' Monument erected. It is hoped that the public will patronize the various entertainments which the Corps will give for this worthy purpose in the weeks to come. We think it a most appropriate move to erect a monument here in honor of the Boys of '61-'65. It has been suggested that the section of the Common nearest the Library would be best suited to such a memorial.

Opening Meeting of the Arbella Club.

Tuesday afternoon marked the first meeting in the history of the Araella club, which has been so recently founded for the benefit of Manchester girls. That the girls feel a deep interest in this project and are ready to give it their heartiest support was shown in the large number of girls present. There were about seventy-five in all. The meeting was opened by Miss Mildred Peart, the President of the club, who in a simple and cordial speech welcomed the girls. The members of the executive committee were asked to speak in turn and did so, explaining fully the aims of the club, the hopes of its founders and the origin of the name. The name was taken from the gentle English woman, Lady Arbella, daughter of the Earl of Lincoln, who was among the early colonists, settling at Salem. Lady Arbella married a certain Mr. Johnson, and with him faced the hardships and dangers of the New England wilderness, soon fading away however. She died in Salem, and over the spot of her burial place now stands St. Peter's church. The gentle spirit of Lady Arbella and her steadfast bravery are qualities for all girls to emulate, and her name was thought most fitting for the club. The girls of Manchester-by-the-Sea owe much to the women who have assumed the responsibility of founding such a club. They hope to bring the girls together in a simple friendly fashion and to afford them, not only social enjoyment, but the deeper joy of real achievement. The object of the club, as stated in its constitution, is "to promote the desire for simple, happy, useful lives," concerning which Mrs. James T. Fields, probably the oldest of the women among Manchester's summer residents, who was elected the first honorary member of the Arbella club, wrote a beautifully letter to the girls, thanking them for what she considered an honor and wishing them every success in their pursuit of happiness, which they would surely find in a simple and useful life. The President read the constitution and outlined something of the club's plans for the coming winter, and requested those present to sign their names to the constitution. The meetings are to be held fortnightly in the Congregational chapel, and at each meeting either

MANCHESTER

The second meeting of the Manchester Woman's club will be held Oct. 15th, at 3.30 o'clock, in the Congregational chapel. This is home afternoon, with musical program furnished by the music committee. Mrs. Mary C. Hoare will be hostess.

Mrs. Hattie Baker attended the wedding of her friend, Miss Gladys Nichols, in Reading yesterday.

Miss Eleanor Morgan will spend the holiday with friends at Hampton Falls.

Miss Augusta Cross, the last surviving member of the original Cross family who settled in Manchester, entertained 16 of her friends at her home at West Manchester, Monday, in observance of her 76th birthday. A most delightful day was spent by all at the home of the hostess; refreshments were served. Each year Miss Cross observes her birthday just before she goes to Kittery, Maine, where she spends the winter with her nieces.

Charles A. Mason has concluded his duties as night watchman at "Undercliff," the Charles Head estate at Manchester.

Patrolman Sheehan, after a two weeks' vacation, has resumed his beat on the local police force.

Friday evening, the 25th of October, has been set as the date for the first High school dance of the season. The class of '15 is to hold the party in the Town Hall, and it will no doubt be as successful a dance as the other classes have been giving. Ralph Stearns of the Sophomore class is to be floor director, and his assistant is to be Wm. Angus of the same class. The aids, chosen from the various classes, are Gordon B. Northup, '13; Gordon B. Crafts, '15; Harry D. Baker, '15; and Chester Hobbs, '16. Every effort is being made to have the affair a success, and it will probably be very well attended, as about three hundred invitations have been issued.

local or other talent will furnish entertainment. The girls will be asked to all help in work which will help others, too, from time to time. The club must prove a pleasure and a profit to the girls of Manchester, and the founding of the club will, it is hoped and believed, mark an epoch in the lives of the girls and young women of the town.

Unproven Principles.

A great many people feel that this country is in a crisis at the present time, and certainly it has never been in a similar position, at least viewing it from a political standpoint. Public sentiment is waking up and demanding reforms in variegated manner, and suggests through its law makers, more progressive methods of carrying on the nation's business. The word "progressive" is a much-abused expletive during these days of political furor and through the formation of a so-called third-party, out for presidential honors, and all that goes with it, it is synonymous for anything that is against sound Republican principles.

In summing up the three parties, one of which is not as yet officially recognized, for their wearing qualities, the Bull Moose contingent stands as something spectacular, the charm and newness of which has worn off the minds of the voters of the nation in a very great measure. The intelligent men of the country who have its best interest at heart are not prone to accept the humdrum whims of a few disgruntled politicians led by one whose ambitions have been measured in their success.

On the other hand, the scholarly appeals of the Governor of New Jersey, who heads the Democratic ticket, do not wholly agree with the thoughts which he has frequently penned for the edification of the reading public. Even in his home territory, Woodrow Wilson is not unduly popular, and as the wearing qualities of his party's principles have never been demonstrated except as instruments to bring panic with their operation, he may be eliminated from the presidential race without a more than passing consideration.

Now that the campaign is well under way, the Republicans are aware of their possibilities and are swinging into line for President Taft. In Massachusetts, which state is supposed to express the keynote of the entire country, the Taft forces are assembling to the ranks of their chief and in the short time that remains before the election, pledge that the Republican principles will be just as much in vogue in the White House during the coming four years as they have in the past.

Truly, the country is in a crisis, but it has survived many times, and bids fair to survive the present one. The voters can certainly not afford to discard these principles for others whose worth has not been demonstrated or even partially proven. And it is safe to predict that the level-headed citizens will not desert their standard.

The Man Behind.

The recent law governing the publicity of newspapers has resulted in diversified opinions by publishers throughout the country, and press associations had thoroughly denounced it as being one of the most harmful measures which could befall the profession.

With all the various objections by publishers representing the "big interests" it is rather interesting for the public to be acquainted with the "man behind" the individual newspaper, to know what his real policy is in treating the public, whether his methods are for clean journalism, or whether they tend to corrupt all who come under the influence of the publication.

It is certain that the honest published who is discharging the mis-constituents in a trustworthy manner will have nothing to fear and much to gain from the new postal law.

There may be measures in the postal code which the publisher considers abusive, but the recent law should act no hardship on the journalist who is giving his readers what he should, namely, honest, clean journalism.

Fruit Thieves.

There is no class of fruit offenders which is more obnoxious to householders generally than fruit thieves. After a man has cared for his yard and trees during the year, perhaps planting the trees in the first place, and then keeping them free from bugs, and properly nourished, he naturally feels that he has a first claim on the fruit. And yet it happens again and again that a horde of small boys, and sometimes of grown men, take the whole of it just before it is ready to pick. The owner loses his fruit, and those who steal it do not get more than half the good of it. Such stealing has become very common, and gives a month or more of unrest to every man who owns any apples or pears or grapes. Men even go with carts and wheelbarrows in order that they may clean up a place which they are threatening.

Such petty thievery is just as much to be condemned as that which seems of more account. There is every reason why the police should be particularly vigilant against them, and why the court should visit them with severe penalties. Because most boys are inclined now and then to take an apple or two is no excuse for condoning the offence of these men and boys who rob on a much larger scale.

The Boston Herald expresses the wish that Mayor Fitzgerald will renew his bill providing for the placing of the collector's department at City Hall under civil service rules. When the mayor presented the bill to the Legislature at its last session it met a violent death, but he will be making a popular move if he again makes the attempt to have the bill made a law. The collector's department at the present time is made up of cronies of the local politicians, and is of course utterly devoid of the merit system, where a man worthy of promotion by reason of his capabilities, would be given a position which might now be held by one possessed of the proverbial "pull." The mayor will have plenty of support on the measure if he decides to show its good points to this year's Legislature.

Mayor Connery comes out flat-footed for equal suffrage. The executive of the Shoe City had better watch out, or he will be signed up as a stump speaker in aid of the cause.

The offer of Mayor Scanlan to provide a special train to rid Lawrence of the undesirable element is seconded by not a few of the citizens of the mill city.

It is strange that with Massachusetts' boastful display of progress in electrical science, no serious consideration has been given the subject of the local electrification of the railroads in the state.

Is the Boston police force attempting to establish its comparative purity to the New York enforcers of law by its recent raids in the Hub?

Indian summer provides good weather for the world's series.

The coal baron is trying hard to count up to $10—per ton.

Have you been to the Electrical Show?

Convict Ship Big Attraction.

That ancient and sinister vessel the old British Convict Ship "Success" still continues to be a decided attraction in Boston, the daily attendance running into thousands. The solid character of her construction excites the wonder of all who see her, and the various implements of punishment and torture shown on board can only be described as the acme of cruelty. If one were a believer in the transmigration of souls it would be easy to imagine that the spirit of Nero had entered into the body of the designer of this grewsome old ship and her "fittings." The changes she has undergone as to her employment, the vicissitudes she has experienced, and the strange adventures which have taken place on board this old prison ship make her an object of great historical interest. Around the "Success" famous novelists have weaved romances and anyone in search of a new thrill cannot do better than visit her. She is at Warren Bridge near the North Station, Boston, and is open to the public daily from nine in the morning to ten at night and on Sundays from one to ten.

ONE DEBATE ENOUGH, GARDNER SAYS.

Hamilton Congressman Requests Senator Schofield to Select Suitable Place for Joint Debate—Does Not Want to be "Pestered."

The latest chapter in the Gardner-Schofield controversy concerning the joint debate of the two candidates for Congress is contained in a letter from Congressman Gardner asking that Senator Schofield name a date suitable to both parties. Mr. Gardner's letter is as follows:

Hamilton Mass., Oct. 8, 1912.
Hon. George A. Schofield,
Ipswich, Mass.

My dear Sir:—I have received your letter of October 4, 1912, mentioning dates for four joint debates. I hope that you do not mean to pester me; but it was one debate, not four, which I accepted. Moreover, I hardly know whether your assignment of dates is meant to be serious or not. For instance, I find that the Gloucester City Hall has already been engaged by other parties on the day you set for our debate in that city. I find that you have neither asked for nor taken any option on the Haverhill City Hall on the day which you set for our debate in Haverhill. The same is true of Newburyport on the day which you set for our debate in that city.

Pray select any one date which you choose; and please remember that your delay is hampering my campaign.

I wrote you privately several days ago, as follows:—"Would it be asking too much if I were to request any early announcement from you, as I am receiving a good many requests to speak?" I now respectfully repeat that suggestion. Under the circumstances mentioned in your letter, there will, of course, be no tickets for the debate.

Very truly yours,
AUGUSTUS P. GARDNER.

P. S.—Your communication of September 7th about Senator Nason's record was written when I was in the Canadian woods. Pray excuse my tardy answer. The mistake of the Boston Journal of which you complained, however, was at once corrected in that newspaper, in consequence of a personal call from my secretary, Mr. Dugan, on the editor, Mr. Underwood. Did you know these facts?

F. P. Gaudreau, the Central square barber, wishes to announce that tomorrow, Columbus Day, his shop will close at 12 o'clock noon. He will keep open until 10.30 to-night.

At the Salem Baptist association convention, held in Salem last Wednesday, Rev. Clarence S. Pond gave an address at the morning session on "An Appeal for the Pension System for Massachusetts Ministers." At the afternoon session Mr. Pond spoke on "A New Standard of Efficiency for the Baptist Church and the Responsibility of the Church to the Community."

The first meeting of the series of the new lyceum course will be held at the assembly hall of the Beverly Farms school house Friday evening, Nov. 8th, commencing at 7.45 o'clock. A fine program has been arranged. The selection of the speakers has been left with Mr. Small, superintendent of schools. The Beverly Farms band will escort the speakers and guests from the Beverly Farms station to the hall, and will furnish music during the evening. All are cordially invited. Admission free.

A party of popular Beverly Farms young ladies gave an invitation party in Neighbors' hall Wednesday evening, to which the officers and crew of the U. S. S. Mayflower were special guests, in recognition of the pleasant socials enjoyed in the past given by the naval men. The hall was prettily decorated with flags, bunting, colored paper and potted plants. Long's orchestra furnished music and refreshments were served.

A memorial service to the memory of the late Rev. Robert Bennett, a former pastor, will be held at the Beverly Farms Baptist church next Sunday evening. An address will be given by the pastor, also short addresses by various members of the church, who perhaps knew the late beloved pastor the best.

As the result of the good work done by the class in English which the Baptist church has maintained for Italian immigrants at the Farms, the school committee of the city of Beverly will open a similar class at the evening school. Some 15 of those who have been attending the Beverly Farms class have signified their intention of joining the Beverly class. They are to have an evening's entertainment very soon at the local Baptist church.

Peter Gaudreau, the Central Square barber, is passing out a handy vest pocket size time table to his customers, showing the train service between Boston and Pride's and Beverly Farms.

Plans for the new lyceum course have practically been made, and a meeting will be held once a month until next May. Fr. N. R. Walsh of St. Margaret's church has been engaged for one of the evenings, and will give a lecture on "Rome," illustrated by stereopticon. The newly-organized Beverly Farms orchestra, composed of Charles H. Hull, director; Arthur Harlow, E. Fred Day, Rex Huil, Edward Knowlton, Mrs. W. F. Low and Rud Davis, have been engaged to furnish music. The committee in charge of the arrangements, in part, is as follows: Chairman, James B. Dow; Sec., Mrs. Charles M. Cabot; Mrs. Henry Mason, Lawrence J. Watson, 2d, Thomas D. Connolly, Mrs. William R. Brooks and Rev. Clarence S. Pond. The publicity committee is composed of Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Cabot, Miss Jane M. Watson and H. E. Morgan.

Eleven members of the class of Italians who have been meeting regularly at the Beverly Farms Baptist church for the study of English and general reformation have applied for first naturalization papers.

The Girls' club of the Baptist church, at their recent meeting, voted to extend their sincere thanks to the Sarah W. Whitman class, which has given them a number of fine sofa pillows; to Mrs. James B. Dow, for a pretty chocolate set; and to Willis Pride, for a beautiful cast in plaster representing "Leonardo da Vinci." The articles are much prized by the club, and will help to furnish their room, known as the "Girls' Club Parlor."

The season for dances and socials in Neighbors' Hall seems to be at an end, inasmuch as none are booked for the future, although it seems as if a few more might be conducted successfully. So far this season this popular hall has had 23 dances.

Delegates to State convention, L. J. Watson, 2nd, Patrick J. Mitchell.

Alternates, Thos. J. McDonnell, Jeremiah J. Toomey.

Mr. and Mrs. George Knight returned to Manchester Thursday from a short trip to New Hampshire.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Social circle will be with Mrs. G. W. Blaisdell Thursday evening, Oct. 17th, at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

The members of the Conomo tribe, I. O. R. M., will visit Poquannum tribe of Lynn to witness the exemplification of the Hunter's and Warrior's degree on Friday evening Oct. 18.

Annual Y. P. S. C. E. Convention.

The Twenty-second Convention of the Massachusetts Christian Endeavor Union to be held at Brockton, Mass., October 24 to 27 inclusive, promises to surpass all previous conventions in spiritual uplift, enthusiasm, and attendance. It is expected that about 3500 delegates will gather from all parts of the State to this convention. The entertainment and program committees have spared no pains in planning to make it a success.

The lecture in the Town hall Friday evening under the auspices of the North Shore Horticultural society for the benefit of the District Nurse fund was largely attended. J. K. M. L. Farquhar of Boston was the speaker of the evening and he chose for his subject, "Holland and the Growing of the Tulip and other Dutch Bulbs." Mr. Farquhar was an able speaker and his lecture was made the more interesting by the lantern slides of the International Flower Show at London, England. The District Nurse Fund is increased by $27.20 as a result of the lecture.

A large delegation of the local colony of the Pilgrim Fathers attended the installation of officers at the Beverly colony Friday evening. The usual jolly social time, for which the Pilgrim Fathers are so well known, was enjoyed. The installation of officers will be held by the William Jeffrey colony here October 14, and will be followed by a supper and by dancing.

Last Friday afternoon a very pretty party was given for little Katherine and "Junior" Bullock at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Bullock, School street. The little folks enjoyed various games and then were served with dainty refreshments of ice-cream and cake.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Mackin spent the week-end with friends at Hudson.

Bell's store will close through the day tomorrow and open at 6 P. M., for the regular Saturday evening trade.

Mrs. Emma Severance and grandson, Harry Phillips, spent the week-end with relatives in Lynn.

Miss Abbie Hitchcock of Boston spent the week-end in town with her friend, Miss Grace Allen. Miss Hitchcock is engaged in settlement work in Boston and has several times spoken in Manchester. She formerly resided here and has never lost her interest in the town.

Mrs. Mathew Hamilton and two children of Salem have been the recent guests of the former's mother, Mrs. Caroline Parsons, at her home on Central street.

Last Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. George Gardiner were given a surprise party at their home on Pine street by about twenty-five of their friends. Mr. Gardiner, one of the meat cutters at Sheldon's market, and Mrs. Gardiner were greatly surprised, but, soon recovering, entertained their friends in a jolly manner.

Frank P. Knight left Manchester yesterday for Globe, Arizona, where he has mining interests. Mr. Knight will be gone some time, as the trip will include a thorough exploration of the mine.

Miss Annabel Haraden is soon to conclude her engagement as bookkeeper for the provision firm of Valentine & Leach, and her place will be taken by Miss Marjorie Sargent, who has been one of the bookkeepers at Smith's express office this summer.

An unusually large number attended the Harmony Guild meeting in the Congregational chapel Monday evening. The entertainment well merited the large attendance which it drew, for Miss Margaret Lacey, the reader, whose services the Guild was fortunate enough to secure, is a charming young woman, and her readings were well worth hearing. The Guild is planning many activities for the coming winter, and already plans are under way for a Hallowe'en entertainment.

Lamson & Hubbard hats for Fall and Winter at Bell's Beach St., store. *

The rally which was held in Central square Saturday morning for the Progressive party was attended by only about a dozen men. The small attendance was not wholly due to lack of interest, but to the inconvenience of the hour. Charles Sumner Bird, the Progressive candidate for Governor, was listed to speak, but failed to do so. Norman Olsen of the Manchester Progressive club introduced the two members of the party who did speak, and their words upon the principles of the party received the closest attention of those present.

The launching of "The Mary" into Essex River from the ship yard of A. D. Story, Essex, March 19, 1912.

ESSEX IS RIGHT IN THE CENTRE OF The Summer Residence Zone

It has high hills, beautiful woodland drives, a charming lake, a salt water-river which "like a ribbon of silver" flows to the sea. Boating, fishing and bathing abound. Although it has water on all sides it seldom if ever has the disagreeable fog which is so prevalent in other places. The high hills covered with dense forests which surround the town keep the fog away. We have many desirable places aggregating about 2000 acres for sale. One feature of Essex is, our valuation is so low that the addition of but one million would halve the tax rate.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Congregational church and the executive committee of the church met together Wednesday evening at the parsonage to make arrangements for the harvest sale and supper which will take place in the new vestry the last week of this month.

Otto H. Bosslemann of Gloucester has recently purchased a house lot in Overlook Park.

The regular meeting of the West Gloucester Grange No. 286, P. of H., was held in Liberty Hall Tuesday evening. Worthy Master Walter F. Lufkin presided and the meeting was very lively and interesting. It was voted to have a harvest supper and dance in Red Men's Hall, Gloucester, next Monday night.

Mrs. Melvin H. Rowe of Overlook Park, who underwent a serious operation a few days ago, is reported as recovering rapidly.

The Progressive sentiment is very strong in West Gloucester, and leaders of that party in this place predict that the Progressive candidates will receive about three-quarters of the votes in this section November 5th.

Hon. Augustus Norwood, candidate for Senator on Republican ticket, was in town giving the Essex people the glad hand and pleasant smile a night or two ago. Gus is a mighty good fellow and has wonderful luck in getting there.

Robert Malonsen severely injured two of his fingers while at work on the Bay State Railroad. Dr. Ellis performed the necessary surgical assistance. His fingers are doing well, but it will be several weeks before Mr. Malonsen gets to work again.

A machinist at work installing a steam-heat plant in Mr. U. Yeth's on Western avenue, was so badly injured as to render it necessary for his removal to Beverly hospital.

Mrs. Adelaide Lufkin, wife of Wilfred W. Lufkin, after a long and painful illness, passed to a higher life at 11 o'clock Sunday evening. Mrs. Lufkin had a large circle of friends, in fact, all whom she met became her friends. A true woman, in the finest sense of the word, she was beloved by all who knew her. The funeral services were conducted at the Universalist church on Wednesday afternoon by Rev. Mr. Ryder of Gloucester. There were many beautiful floral tributes to her goodness and worth. She was 31 years of age. Burial was at the Spring-street cemetery.

Among those present at Mrs. W. W. Lufkin's funeral were ex-Collector of Port of Gloucester Jordan, Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge, Hon. A. P. Gardner and Amory Gardner.

A stubborn fire, which, according to the report of the forest warden, may have been incendiary, has been burning at one of the many nearby groves at Essex during the week.

Charles Mears of Lakeville had 25 hens stolen from his hen house several nights ago. There is no clew to the thief.

B. Frank Raymond has ten acres of woodland overlooking Chebacco Pond which he will sell at a reasonable price.

Saturday the Progressive party held a rally in the square at Essex Centre. Charles Bird, candidate for Governor; Arthur D. Hill, candidate for Presidential elector; Senator Arthur L. Nason, candidate for Congress from the 6th district, and Alex Andrews of Gloucester, were among the speakers. Quite a large gathering were present, and gave eager and careful attention to the speeches.

Warm Weather on North Shore.

Monday and Sunday the North Shore enjoyed "two of the most nearly perfect days that could be desired. So warm was Monday that open electric cars were run all day long,—something rather unusual for October. It was the hottest October 7th for 33 years, according to the records of the Weather Bureau.

BEVERLY FARMS

The officers and crew of the U. S. S. Mayflower in Neighbors' Hall last Monday evening gave a farewell dance to the young people of Beverly Farms and vicinity. The affair was similar to others conducted by the naval men and was attended by a party that taxed the hall's capacity. The ceiling and walls of the hall were completely covered with flags and bunting, and it is very doubtful if the hall ever looked handsomer. On one side was a refreshment booth. The ship's orchestra of 17 pieces furnished the music. The uniforms of the naval men, mingled with the pretty dresses of the ladies and the civilian dress of the private citizen, made indeed a pretty picture.

John West Colony, Pilgrim Fathers, held their meeting in Marshall's hall last Friday evening. On Friday evening, October 18th, there will be an installation of officers at Neighbors' hall, the work to be performed by Deputy Supreme Gov. James McLaughlin of Lynn, assisted by the Pilgrims' Association degree staff.

Only two more chances remain to get your name on the voting list, provided it is not already there. The Board of Registrars of Voters will be in session at Rooms 2 and 3, City Hall, for the purpose of qualifying persons to vote in the coming national and State election, which comes on Nov. 5th, this evening from 7.30 to 9 and on Wednesday next from 12 o'clock noon to 10 P. M.

B. F. Keith's Theatre.

Jessie Busley, one of the cleverest and best known comedienne on the legitimate stage, will make her vaudeville debut at B. F. Keith's Theatre next week in a department store comedy entitled, "Miss 318." Miss Busley has the role of "Lizzette Mooney," a girl behind the bargain counter in a big department store, and the scene of the sketch is laid in the big store on a bargain day. All the various characters encountered in one of these establishments are introduced, and the laughter is incessant from the rise to the fall of the curtain. Miss Busley will be surrounded by a splendid bill, many of the acts being new to Boston. Bert Levy, the celebrated cartoonist of the New York "Morning Telegraph" returns after a long absence.

BEVERLY FARMS

Two of Beverly Farms' popular young people this week are being showered with congratulations over their coming marriage, which is to take place tomorrow. They are Miss Mary A. Neville, employed in the local telephone exchange, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Neville of Hale street, to Wentworth T. Peterson, the well-known chauffeur for Leonard D. Ahl at Pride's Crossing. After the ceremony and a reception to relatives and close friends, they will leave for a short vacation trip. Upon their return they are to reside at Hamilton.

The home-made cake, candy and other good things found a ready sale at the sale of Preston W. R. Corps in G. A. R. Hall last Tuesday.

The U. S. S. Mayflower is scheduled to bid farewell to Beverly Farms today. It sails for New York.

Beverly Farms Team Wins Over Mayflowers.

The Beverly Farms A. C. defeated the team from the U. S. S. Mayflower a second time Saturday by a score of 9 to 3.

The game was closely played by both teams at the start, but they settled down to business and after the third inning it was a good game to watch. It was the quickest game played at the Farms this year only lasting 1 hour and 35 minutes.

McNair the regular Farms pitcher, who hurt his arm in the game of the previous week, was obliged to retire in the fourth inning, and Harty went in to pitch and twirled a good game, holding the navy team to three scattered hits. Perkins put up his usual clever game behind the bat, nailing every man that tried to steal second besides batting well.

Tomorrow the Farms team closes the season with a game with the All Stars of Gloucester, a team composed of the best players picked from the teams dropped from the Hammond cup race, and a great game is expected.

The Farms team has had a most successful season, winning 11 and losing 3 out of 14 games played. The defeats coming at a time when the team, which was starting the season, was under construction.

The St. Marys of Beverly, one of the teams defeating the Farms team, has been trimmed badly twice since. The Orioles of Danvers, another team with a win on the Farms team, got over a win Labor Day when the team was way off color. The other team with a win on the Farms team is Essex, a team which played the first game of the season at the Farms.

During the past month quite an improvement has taken place at the Beverly Farms cemetery in the way of land grading, etc. Over one-half an acre has been re-graded. The work has been looked after by Supt. of Cemeteries Geo. A. Appleton and Eben Day, one of the cemetery commissioners.

An invitation party held in Marshall's Hall last Saturday evening was one of the recent enjoyable social events. The hall was prettily decorated to represent a "barn social." An amusing feature at the end of the dancing was the auctioneering off of a rooster and hen.

Miss Nellie O'Hearn has concluded her duties at the Lee estate, where she has been in charge for several years and where she has lived practically her whole life. Mr. James Emo, the new gardener, has moved his family into the cottage formerly occupied by Miss O'Hearn.

Preston W. R. Corps will celebrate their 25th anniversary next Tuesday evening. The program includes a banquet, entertainment and speech-making.

Michael J. Connolly and family, who have been occupying the "Homestead" house of Connolly Bros., moved to their Waltham home this week.

John A. Burchsted of Winchester, N. H., and a well-known former Beverly Farms resident, has been renewing acquaintances in town this week. Mr. Burchsted is now operating a farm at Winchester.

The fruit and confectionery store on West street closed for the season last Saturday evening. The goods and some of the fixtures were removed Monday.

John West colony, Pilgrim Fathers, will be guests of Wm. Jeffrey colony at Manchester at their installation of officers next Monday evening.

Salem

Any large community from a dry goods viewpoint, offers unusual shopping advantages.

Because it has to serve many thousands of people, it necessarily has to offer a large variety to meet the diversified taste of these thousands.

It must buy enormous quantities for each department...

It must keep up-to-date in STYLES.

It must be right on quality, on color, on fit, on dependability.

It must meet the keen competition of a large business community.

What does this mean to the out-of-town shopper?

Just this:

The VARIETY insures her a selection from hundreds instead of dozens.

It makes correct fit and LATEST STYLE not merely a possibility but a certainty.

The ENORMOUS expenditure of large stores for merchandise, means vastly better price advantages in the market and MUCH LOWER PRICES TO CUSTOMERS.

It insures DEPENDABILITY and SATISFACTION—or goods exchanged or money refunded.

PROGRESSIVE CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR HERE.

Euthusiastic Bull Moose Rally Held Near Post Office Last Saturday Morning.

The local Progressive campaign was opened here last Saturday morning, when Hon. Charles S. Bird, the Bull Moose candidate for governor and Ex-District Attorney Arthur D. Hill, of Boston, spoke at an outdoor rally in front of the post-office, at nine o'clock. There was a gathering of about a hundred citizens, which is quite an audience for so early in the morning. Rev. Byron G. Russell, vice president of the Progressive Club introduced Mr. Bird as the first speaker. "I am the nominee of the Progressive Party for governor," said Mr. Bird, "and I would not accept the nomination of any other party if I knew that I could be elected. It was because of the doctrines of the new party that I became a member of it. The party is pledged to improvement of social conditions. We believe in one day's rest in seven. No other party covers that, still there are tens of thousands of workingmen who are working seven days a week, year in and year out. It is intolerable and it must be stopped. We are pledged to stop it.

"The minimum wage for women must be raised, to give them enough to keep them in decency. No other party plank has anything to say on this subject." Mr. Bird also explained the plank calling for an eight-hour day in continuous 24-hour industries.

Arthur D. Hill said the Progressive party stood for new things in new ways. "They have a new way of making a platform—out in the open. And they have new kinds of candidates. Our platform is meant to be understood by those who read it," said Mr. Hill, "and there is no possible doubt of its promises. It is a definite, clear, party program."

Mr. Hill spoke in glowing terms of the candidate for governor, who is a successful business man. He had come into the party to work in the ranks and had only consented to become its candidate for governor after weeks of urging. "The Progressive party is bringing the nation and state to that desired point where the office seeks the man and not the man the office."

The rally closed with three cheers for the party and much enthusiasm was shown.

Crawford Souvenirs Given Away at Titus'

Pretty Blue Decorated Fruit Plates for visitors at our Crawford Range Department

Come---see the Ranges and get a plate free.

It requires only a small fire to get results in a Crawford range.

The kitchen is the most important department in the home. For this reason a Crawford Range should be there.

The price of a Crawford Range is nothing compared with the money you save on your coal bill.

It's mighty satisfying to eat food cooked or baked in a Crawford Range, because 'twill be just right.

No heat wasted in a Crawford Range.

Baking in a Crawford oven is more sure than in any other.

You can keep a fire in a Crawford Range over night for months without the slightest trouble or inconvenience.

It's worth a whole lot in cleanliness not to have the ashes strewn all over the floor.

You can clear the fire of clinkers in a Crawford Range without turning down the whole fire.

Lots of coal saved with a Crawford Range.

Crawford Ranges

A suggestion to cooks:—ask somebody who has used a Crawford range—and you will very easily find such a person—what the patented Single Damper of the Crawford means as a help in cooking. All other ranges have two—or more—dampers; hence damper mistakes.

Also the scientific Cup-Joint curved heat flues that heat the oven in every part alike; the Ash Hod that takes the place of the clumsy ash pan; the Patented grates; the powerful waterfronts and other time, trouble and money saving improvements peculiar to Crawfords; ask ab out these. If you will do this we believe your next range will be a Crawford.

Individual Greeting Cards

THE individual card or booklet of personal greeting is coming to be favored more and more by people of discriminating tastes. We have recently issued a folder showing some very beautiful Christmas and New Year's cards on which is a space for engraving your own name, from your card plate.

Such cards are strictly individual and make a most pleasing form of Christmas greeting. They are suitable either to send alone or to enclose with a gift and are particularly appropriate to send to those of your friends and acquaintances whom you wish to remember but do not feel called upon to send a more elaborate gift.

Orders should be placed as early as possible for these cards as they have to be engraved and the operation requires several weeks. Drop us a postal, or stop at the Store for a folder showing these handsome Christmas cards. It is free.

NORTH SHORE BREEZE

VOL. X.

Manchester, Mass., Friday, October 18, 1912.

No. 42

SOCIETY NOTES

North Shore as well as Boston and Washington society is interested in the announcement of the engagement of Miss Laura Merriam of Washington to James F. Curtis of Boston and Manchester. Miss Merriam is the daughter of the former governor of Minnesota and a sister of Mrs. John Tyler Wheelwright of Boston. She has many friends among the North Shore girls, including Miss Helen Taft as one of her most intimate companions. In July Miss Merriam's engagement to former representative Theron M. Catlin of Missouri was announced. Not many weeks after Miss Merriam, without giving any reasons, announced that she had broken her engagement. The most likely reason, which could be attributed to her action, was that Mr. Catlin had lost his seat in Congress because of the large sums of money spent to secure his election in violation of the law. The announcement of the engagement of Miss Merriam and Mr. Curtis cast a different light on the matter, however, and Washington and Boston society circles now declare that Mr. Catlin was dismissed in favor of Mr. Curtis. Mr. Curtis is very well known in Boston and on the North Shore. He was born at Manchester-by-the-Sea, the son of Greely Stevenson and Harriot (Appleton) Curtis. A member of the Harvard class of '99, he was awarded the degree of LL. B., in 1903 since which time he has been connected with the law firm of Storey, Thorndike, Palmer & Thayer of Boston. From 1906 to 1909 he was assistant attorney general of Massachusetts; in 1909 he became assistant district attorney of Suffolk county and since then he has been assistant secretary of the treasury at Washington, where he met Miss Merriam. Mr. Curtis is a member of the Tavern, Harvard, Country, Boston, Tennis and Racquet, New York Harvard, Metropolitan and Washington and Chevy Chase clubs. It is reported that the wedding, a brilliant affair, will take place in the late fall.

"Briar Rock," the delightful summer home of Mrs. William McMillan at Magnolia was among those which were closed last week. Mrs. McMillan has returned to St. Louis where she will remain for the greater part of the winter. The Robert Treat Paines, 2d, who have been at Coolidge's Point all season at their attractive cottage there, have also returned to Boston. Mr. Paine is a well known lawyer and is a director of many corporations. There are a number of children in the family and all are fond of out-of-door life and take an active part in all the out-door sports which Magnolia, more than any other resort, perhaps, can afford. While the Paine cottage is really in Manchester the family is always considered as belonging to the Magnolia colony. Mrs. H. G. Curry of Pittsburg who has been at her cottage on Hesperus avenue, Magnolia, all summer has also returned to her city home.

SOCIETY NOTES

Miss Cintra Hutchinson of Beverly Farms and Philadelphia was maid of honor at the brilliant wedding Saturday of Miss Ruth Huntington Flint of Brookline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Flint to William Shepard Seamons of New York. The nuptials were performed by Rev. Edward Cummings at the South Congregational church, Back Bay at noon. The bridesmaids were the Misses Constance Zerahn of Milton, and Marie Lee of Beverly Farms. Woodbury Seamons of New York a brother of the groom, was best man and Ralph DeBlois Flint, Harvard '07, John Anderson Sweetser of Brookline, Lawrence Miller of Tuxedo Park, DeCoursey Fales, Gilbert Johnes, Jr., and Francis Bangs, all of Harvard '11, were the ushers. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Kilsyth road, Brookline.

◆ ❖ ◆

Many North Shore people were among those who gave Dr. Carl Muck such a splendid ovation at the first season's performance of the Symphony orchestra last Friday afternoon upon his return to Boston after an absence of several years. Major and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson, and Mr and Mrs. Wallace Goodrich of West Manchester, Mrs. Arthur Little and her daughter, Mrs. A. Nicholas Reggio of Beverly Farms, Mrs. William Caleb Loring and the Misses Louisa and Katherine Loring of Pride's crossing, Mrs. Joseph Lefavour of Beverly Cove, Mrs. S. Reed Anthony of Beverly Farms, Mrs. W. H. Aspinwall of Manchester, Miss Leslie Bradley of Pride's, Mrs. Russell S. Codman of Manchester, Mrs. Bernard C. Weld of the Farms, Miss Margaret W. Paine of Beverly and Mrs. Barrett Wendell, Jr., of the Farms were among the prominent society folk present.

◆ ❖ ◆

Congressman and Mrs. Andrew J. Peters, who have been the guests of Mrs. Peters' mother, Mrs. John C. Phillips at North Beverly, have returned to Washington for the winter. They will not have the house in Hillyer Place, which they occupied last season, but have leased the residence of Mrs. George W. McLanahan, 1001 21st street for this winter.

◆ ❖ ◆

Mrs. Robert D. Evans of Beverly Cove, who has been enjoying an automobile trip through the Berkshires, has returned to her North Shore home.

◆ ❖ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Searle and family, who have been at their Ipswich cottage all season will not return to Boston until quite late. It will be about the first of December when they open their Boston house.

◆ ❖ ◆

Mrs. S. Parkman Blake and Miss Marian Blake, her daughter, have closed their place at West Manchester for the season and have returned to their Boston house.

SOCIETY NOTES

A "Rummage Sale" will be held in Copley Hall Thursday, October 24, in aid of the Massachusetts Babies' Hospital. The hospital's work is extensive in that it does not merely treat babies for sickness but takes care of large numbers of babies each year, whose parents through sickness or any other of the numberless misfortunes of the poor are unable to give them proper care. These babies are placed in supervised country homes where they are visited regularly by the trained nurses connected with the hospital. Other important features of the institution's work are the training of nursemaids, the outpatient department started last year, the laboratory research on infant feeding and digestional diseases of infants, the directory of wet nurses from which they may be obtained for outside cases by doctors in any of the emergencies which occur so frequently during the lives of babies. In spite of the far reaching benefits of this hospital it has become so hard to raise money that unless $5,000 can be raised before the first of November the work of the institution must be cut in halves or possibly stopped altogether. The experiment of the rummage sale, such as are held in country towns for the local churches, will differ in that not only Boston residents but people all over the state are requested to contribute. Articles ranging from automobiles, horses, pianos to fancy work, fruit and candy will be on sale, the larger things to be disposed of by auction. Among the directors and patronesses are women who are prominent among the summer residents of the North Shore. Mrs. R. L. Agassiz of Hamilton, is one of the directors. Mrs. Philip Sears of Pride's Crossing and Mrs. Robert Walcott of Marblehead are on the ladies' committee and among the patronesses are Mrs. Oliver Ames of Pride's Crossing, Mrs. C. W. Amory of Magnolia, Mrs. Boylston Beal of Manchester, Mrs. Edward S. Grew of Manchester, Mrs. Gardiner G. Hammond of Nahant, Mrs. Francis L. Higginson of Pride's Crossing, Mrs. James J. Storrow of Marblehead, and Mrs. John L. Thorndike of Manchester.

SOCIETY NOTES

President Taft returned to Paramatta Thursday after nearly a week of absence on the "Mayflower." When the yacht sailed last Friday, President and Mrs. Taft and Miss Helen Taft were aboard bound for the big fleet review at New York. The "Mayflower" anchored in the North River off 31st street at noon Monday, when Secretary of the Navy, Meyer and his aides boarded her and she proceeded to her anchorage near the fleet flagship. At quarter of two the fleet commanders were received aboard the yacht and later the President visited a number of the battleships. Monday evening he attended the official dinner given at the Hotel Astor in his honor. Early Tuesday morning the fleet got under way and passed out in review. There were over 125 naval craft in the review. Wednesday the President attended a public meeting of the American Antiquarian Society at Worcester. In the evening of the same day he was guest of honor at a banquet in Worcester and returned to Beverly yesterday.

"Eagle Head," the beautiful home of Mrs. James McMillan at Manchester-by-the-Sea, was closed Wednesday. The estate is one of the most beautiful situated on the Shore, being high on the rocks at the very edge of the sea just below Eagle Head Rock at Singing Beach. The nicely appointed cottage, with its wide verandas, affords an excellent place to enjoy the beauties of out-of-door life at the sea shore, as well as a most desirable spot for entertaining. Mrs. McMillan will return directly to Washington.

Unique System of Fertilization on the Gardiner M. Lane Estate at Manchester

To give the flowers, shrubs and moss-like turf on his wonderful estate at Manchester the very best opportunity to attain their richest growth Gardiner M. Lane is installing a unique system of fertilization.

Although hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent by many other North Shore residents in their determination to work miracles with their flower beds and present nature in its grandest attire, there are few who have made the outlay that is credited to Mr. Lane.

There are many residents of this exclusive section who can boast of larger gardens than those to be found on the Lane estate, but none can show a greater expenditure, in that one particular, yet most important, detail of fertilization by a system of irrigation.

This novel system, which is the only one of its kind on the North Shore, evidently shows that the owner of this estate is not so particular as to the extensiveness of his gardens as he is to their quality and magnificence.

That he may accomplish this end, which is one of his pet hobbies, Mr. Lane will be obliged to expend nearly $100,000, and it is thought by those who are constantly in touch with him that this will be insufficient when his full plans are completed. Money is no consideration for it is the owner's idea to have his grounds a veritable wonderland, not for the public to view, but just for himself, his family and their guests.

Landscape gardeners from far and near have visited this estate, situated just off the main road between Manchester and Magnolia, to inspect this new method of fertilization by irrigation, and have pronounced it the most positive result-bringing system they have ever seen. They have unanimously declared that it is the greatest way of aiding nature in its development of the much admired and anxiously awaited flower beds.

There is no one more interested in the development of this system than Mr. Lane and his wife, for many of the ideas in this system have been thought out and planned by Mr. Lane himself. Although not in the best of health of late, the admirer of flowers strolls into his garden quite often, and takes great interest watching the workmen carrying out the details planned by the landscape experts and engineers who have the work in charge. He takes much pleasure in talking with the workmen and getting their views on some of the minor details of construction.

But this new system, has not been the work of a day or a week, but of months. As early as the middle of last March, the work on this system was started, and ever since a small army of men have been employed at the place. Men of long experience in garden work were engaged and regular conferences held to devise the best means of carrying out Mr.

Lane's intention. Carload after carload of the finest loam was shipped to the garden from Topsfield, together with many cars of dressing, until today it is claimed that depth of good soil where the gardens are situated is nearly four feet. This is exceptional and only goes to prove the owner's desire to have a remarkable garden.

Every bit of waste water on the estate is saved. Throughout the grounds are catch basins and, as the mansion is situated at the top of a cliff overlooking the ocean the gardens sloping downward toward the rear of the estate, all this water runs directly to what is known as the filter bed. The waste from the house and stable also runs to this place.

The filter bed, which is of novel construction, is about 50 feet long

Magnolia to Have a Swimming Pool and Casino at Crescent Beach—Land Bought

A meeting was held last Friday night in the Magnolia library of those who had pledged subscriptions for stock for the purchase of beach land and its improvement on Crescent Beach, Magnolia.

The committees reported that they had purchased 50,000 feet on Crescent Beach between Magnolia and Coolidge Point, extending back to Raymond street. Plans were presented from Andrews, Jaques & Rantoul for a casino containing a lounging room, 45 feet by 20 feet, tea rooms, card rooms and every provision for the comfort of the members, the whole surrounded by a 15-foot piazza overlooking Kettle Cove in front and the swimming pool in the rear.

It is also proposed to construct a swimming pool 70 feet by 30 feet, to be emptied and filled daily from a large pipe, bringing the salt water from beyond low water mark. This will insure its cleanliness, and the temperature of the pool will be raised three or four degrees above that of the ocean. Provision has also been made for 175 dressing rooms for bathing, locker rooms, shower baths and whatever is conducive to pleasant conditions for bathing either in the ocean or pool. In the rear will be tennis courts and a parking place for automobiles.

The land purchased includes the site of the present bathing pavilion on Crescent Beach.

These plans were accepted and the committee authorized to make contracts for construction with the idea of completion not later than June 1, 1913. Something over $40,000 has already been subscribed.

The swimming pool will be a unique feature and supply a need of the North Shore. The enterprise has been somewhat modeled after the well-known swimming pool at Bar Harbor.

The whole matter was placed in the hands of a committee with instructions to form a permanent organization, to which the land is to be deeded, and to execute contracts for construction.

The committee is as follows: George F. Willett, William H. Coolidge, Samuel M. Kennard, Charles W. Jones, Costello C. Converse, J. Harrington Walker, Horace H. Stevens, Frank S. Chick. Mr. Stevens has been elected treasurer.

Among other residents of the North Shore who are subscribers are: Col. W. R. Nelson, Mrs. William McMillan, John Hays Hammond, Lucius Tuttle, Mrs. Pierpont Dutcher, Mrs. M. C. Wick, E. C. Richardson, Miss Georgiana Lowell, C. S. Penhallow, Mrs. H. G. Curry and Miss Faulkner.

Unique System of Fertilization on the Gardiner M. Lane Estate at Manchester.

and 40 feet wide, and is surrounded by a stone wall. A series of pipes leads from the main inlet pipe and allows the waste water to filter through the gravel to the receiving pipe at the lower end of the bed. The bed of gravel, which is covered by a thick layer of loam and grass, filters the waste water and sewage by a natural process, removing all alkalies or other elements which might be injurious to plant life. It is asserted that when this water arrives at the lower end of the filter bed it is absolutely pure.

From the filter bed this water goes directly to the dressing house, a cement structure 25 feet by 15 feet and 12 feet deep, half the building being beneath the ground. This building is filled with select dressing and a continual stream of water is sprayed over the top of the dressing. This, with the water coming from the filter bed, percolates through and is then delivered into a large 12,000-gallon tank, which is wholly underground.

From this tank a powerful pump forces the fertilizing fluid up the terraces of the estate. A perfect net work of pipes has been laid underground through which the fluid courses. In fact, with the many main pipes and the branches leading off from them, there are miles of pipe hidden under vari-colored flower beds.

Each furrow or space between the rows of plants has a pipe running underneath the soil. At spaces of about seven or eight feet apart short pipes leading from the branch pipe extend about an inch or two above the ground. At the top of these short pipes is attached a sort of sprayer which feeds the roots of each individual plant. On this large estate abounding in gardens there are thousands of these little sprayers feeding the life giving fluid to the plants.

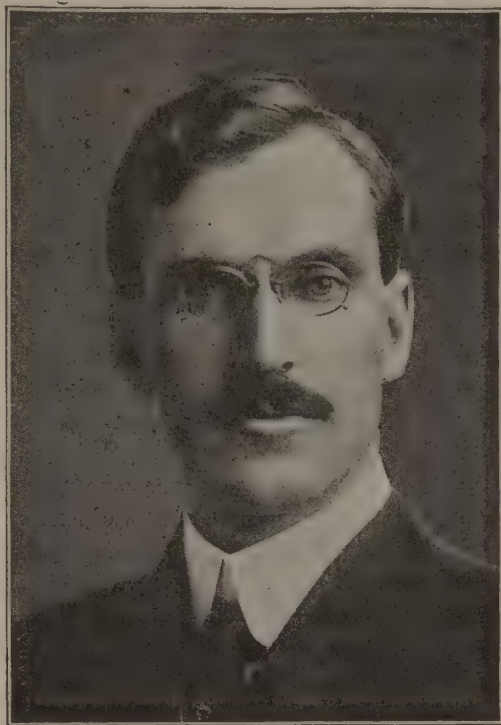

Where it would take a small army of gardeners to give the thousands of plants such individual attention, the whole work may now be accomplished by one man. In fact men could not feed these plants in the manner in which this new system does, for the fluid only touches the roots and does not touch the flower or the upper part of the stalk.

Although this new fertilizing system is the principal work going on

Former Manchester Minister Receives

Call to Congregational Church in Lowell

Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln of Moline, Ill., who is so well known in Manchester, where he was ordained to the ministry six or seven years ago, has received a call to Lowell. The Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln.

Courier-Citizen of Lowell had the following account last Saturday.

"The Kirk street church, at a largely attended meeting last night, voted unanimously to extend a call to Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln, pastor of the First Congregational church in Moline, Ill. The pulpit has been vacant since the resignation of Rev.

James E. Gregg several months ago.

"Rev. Mr. Lincoln is 35 years old, and is the son of a Congregational clergyman now retired. He was born in New England, but as a young man lived for a time with his family in Florida, where he was a student at Rollins college, the president of which was Rev. George L. Ward, a Lowell man. Later he went to Amherst college and the Hartford Theological school. His first pastorate was at Manchester-by-the-Sea in this state. He then went to St. Louis as assistant pastor of one of the large churches, and for the past three years he has been in Moline, where he has doubled the membership of the church and otherwise had a most successful pastorate.

"He has preached twice in Lowell during the summer, coming East to attend his class reunion at Amherst.

"The Kirk Street church will pay him $3500 a year, which is the largest salary that it has offered in recent years; will allow him to take the month of August for a vacation, and will give him a secretary. He is married and has a little daughter. His wife was a Hartford girl, well known socially in that city.

"The committee that had the calling of a pastor reported last night that it had considered clergymen from every part of the country, and had written no less than a hundred letters. It is understood that the unanimous action insures an acceptance on Rev. Mr. Lincoln's part."

at the estate, many other improvements are being made. A most luxurious tea house is in process of construction on the border of the Italian garden, which is one of the finest along the North Shore.

This Italian garden is most prettily designed with its fountain in the center, its lily ponds all bordered with cement, velvety green grass and the glowing flower beds. Altogether, it presents a most wonderful picture of harmony and profusion of color.

Underneath a part of the garden, Mr. Lane has had constructed a large store room in which, during the winter months his gardeners store the thousands of plant bulbs and other garden stocks, thereby keeping many things under ground and out of sight which otherwise require an extra building.

It is expected that by late in the fall the work as planned for Mr. Lane will be about completed, and the people who live in this section feel that these grounds will be one of most notable beauty spots on the North Shore

Progressive Rally Held in Square Monday Night.

A large crowd attended the rally of the Progressive party which was held in the Square Monday evening. Norman Olson of the local Progressive club introduced the speakers, who were Senator Arthur L. Nason, Ralph H. Dennen, Hon. George P. Webster, A. W. Andrews and E. W. Haskell. During the evening the Manchester Brass Band gave a delightful concert. A large number of the youthful Taft supporters formed a band and, marching through the center of the town with cheers and music, rather upset the Progressive speakers. Officer Sheehan of the local police force quieted the boys at one time, but they soon formed again and under the protection of the American flag created a lively rally of their own. Manchester Pilgrims Install Officers.

Monday evening the Gloucester, Lynn, Beverly Farms and Salem lodges of the Pilgrim Fathers met with William Jeffrey colony at Manchester at the installation of officers. The meeting was exceptionally well attended, there being about 125 present. Supreme Governor George Bradstreet of Boston was the first of the speakers and he gave something of the history of the Pilgrim Fathers. The Deputy, Mrs. MacMurphy was the next speaker and ex-Supreme Governor Edwin O. Foster of Salem was the last. The speeches were all very good and, as the speakers were all well known to their Manchester friends, it was all the more enjoyable. An old fashioned supper of baked beans, cold meats, etc., was served and dancing followed.

Twenty-two Head of Cattle Burned in Manchester Fire.

The Manchester fire department was called out about 5:15 Monday morning for a fire at the Albert Lucas place, off the old county road, Manchester Cove. The alarm was telephoned by Antone Silva, of Forest street, who was attracted by the glare of the flames. The auto wagon made a quick response, in charge of temporary driver Waldo H. Peart.

Mr. Lucas and his helper Nathaniel Lee, the latter fully 80 years of age, had gone to the barn at the accustomed hour for milking. Mr. Lucas had been in the hay-loft feeding hay through the floor to the cows. He was coming down the ladder when he dropped the lantern. Flame quickly spread. At first the two men tried to put the fire out with their coats, but their efforts were futile. They then turned their attention to the horses and cattle. One horse was taken out. When Mr. Lucas returned for another it kicked so fiercely he could not enter the stall. Meanwhile the smoke was so dense the older man was about overcome and it was with difficulty Mr. Lucas got him outside the barn.

In a short time the whole structure was a mass of flames. Two horses were burned to death as well as six cows, two calves and a bull, two sows and nine 8-weeks old pigs.

The building and its contents were a total loss. Only one horse was saved. Mr. Lucas carried $1000 insurance on the building; nothing on contents of live stock. Among other things in the barn were nine tons of hay and six tons of salt hay.

A hen house nearby was partially destroyed. All the hens were set free.

The fact that the town water does not run near this property made the problem of fighting the fire a difficult one. It was necessary to stretch a hose through the woods, by the Philip Stockton residence, for a distance of one-third of a mile, to Summer street. The department did well under the conditions.

Mr. Lucas considered his loss about $2500.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION FOR 1913.

The Youth's Companion appeals to every interest of family life, from housekeeping to athletics. It begins with stories of youthful vim and vigor, with articles which disclose the secrets of successful play in great games, with charming tales of life at the girls' colleges. But The Companion does not surrender these readers when they have entered the more serious paths of life. Mothers will welcome the page for little children and the weekly doctor's article. Fathers will find the important news of the day as it is, and not as it is rumored to be. The entire household will appreciate the sketches which touch gently on common foibles or caricature eccentricity. In short, for less than four cents a week The Companion brings into the home clean entertainment, pure inspiration, fine ideals, increase of knowledge.

Names rarely seen in tables of contents will be found in The Companion's Announcement for 1913, which will be sent upon request—with samples of the paper, to those not familiar with it.

Every new subscriber for 1913 will receive free all the issues for the remaining weeks of 1912; also free, The Companion Window Transparency and Calendar for 1913, in rich, translucent colors—the most beautiful of all Companion souvenirs.

VOL. X Oct. 18, 1912 No. 42

The Arbella Club.

The organization of the Arbella club in this town is a distinctive event in local history and the movement should receive the encouragement and support of the public. There is a great future before this organization for young girls and, under proper management, it will be one of the most effective educational agencies of the Town. The Girl's club connected with the Baptist church in Beverly Farms has had a prosperous career of over five years. During that period the Club has done a splendid work for young women and it has been an important factor in the life of that Town. Now Manchester has organized a Club along broad lines. It is destined to succeed. The field is broad and the opportunity is great. Now that the Club has organized, and the program has been arranged, the people of Manchester may well be pleased with the inauguration of the movement. The enthusiastic way in which the work has been opened by the leaders and entered into by the girls themselves leaves nothing to be desired. The choice of a name, always a task in the organization of any society, is particularly felicitous and there is no doubt that the noble qualities of the great Lady Arbella will be evident in the deportment of the enterprising members of the Club which honors her name.

"Smoky Joe."

The baseball "fans" all know who "Smoky" Joe is the hero of the baseball season of 1912 and the great pitcher on the the Boston American team. It transpires that Joe Wood is a young man of admirable habits and home loving traits and pronounced fidelity to his good mother and younger sister. These admirable characteristics have called forth the praise of Dr. Herbert Johnson, pastor of the Warren Avenue Baptist church in Boston. As he views the great work done by the young man in baseball he asserts that the greatest part of his unconscious influence upon the young "fans" of the country is his upright life and clean moral character. It is of no small moment that a popular hero of the "diamond" exerts an influence for righteousness. Wood is the type of manly religion that Dr. Johnson has indicated, and whatever view one takes of the advisability or the inadvisability of a minister devoting an evening to the discussion of the ethical qualities of baseball every one must agree with Dr. Johnson that the community should be congratulated that the popular hero does not create, by the influence of his life, a disrespect for the finer qualities of human life. Baseball is the great American sport. Many men have abused the sport but the most careless observers must note the superior qualities of baseball to the debasing character of bull baiting, horse racing and motor racing.

Industrial Advance.

One of the marked changes which have taken place in modern education is the transfer of emphasis from the purely classical in educational to the scientific and industrial. The battle has been a long one and it is not yet ended. The first skirmishes have been fought and won and, however the fact may be lamented, the purely classical program of study has gone, never to return, as the absolute standard of culture and education. The demands of the higher school of education have been lessened along the classical lines and the call of the practical side of life has been responded to the modern movement and in one or the other may be found practical departments of education unthought of two generations ago. The school in Beverly connected with the United Shoe Machinery company has already become famous. It is a pioneer enterprise that will exert an increasing influence upon the young boys of Beverly as the years go by. But what has been so valuable in normal life has been adapted to the work among the abnormal inmates of the insane asylums, rest cure homes and prisons. The results have been invaluable and it seems quite certain that in the very near future there is certain to be a remarkable change in the treatment of all forms of abnormality, by means of industrial work on the State Farm at Bridgewater. Wonderful work has been done with the unskilled and, often times, unwilling labor that they have at hand. At the present time a valuable exhibit of the work done by the inmates of the hospitals of the State is being held under the auspices of the Massachusetts State Board of Insanity at the State Hospital, at Hathorne, Mass. It is evident that the industrial movement in education is to prove its value and efficacy, not only in our schools and every day life of the normal but will be a blessing to the inmates of the institutions for feeble minded, insane and inebriates.

The Magnolia Project.

Progress is being made at Magnolia and Beverly Farms by enterprises which tend to develop the Shore's advantages. A committee was formed by a group of men in Magnolia to develop the fifty thousand feet of land which has been purchased on Crescent Beach at Kettle Cove. Andrews, Jacques and Rantoul have submitted carefully prepared plans for a casino with every provision for the comfort of the members. A swimming pool has also been planned for. The enterprise is not altogether unique as Bar Harbor has a similar enterprise which has contributed much to the life of the resort. This project, properly governed, cannot fail to be a valuable contribution to the life of the Magnolia summer residents. But such a project should be supplemented by another civic enterprise which should care for the permanent population. There is an opportunity in Manchester, and Beverly Farms as well, for municipal enterprises which will serve to give to all citizens

Allen Post G. A. R. Holds Camp Fire.

Wednesday evening the members of the W. R. C. and the S. of V. met in the G. A. R. hall at the invitation of Allen Post No. 67 of the G. A. R. The capacity of the hall was taxed to its limit. An interesting program had been arranged. The veterans, headed by Miss Isabel Lee, as drummer, marched into the hall and took seats near the rostrum. After a few words of welcome by Commander Crombie. Miss Brenda Cook sang "The Flag and Uncle Sam." Miss Cook has a sweet voice and her singing is always an enjoyable feature of any program. She was encored. Her second song was "Can't You Take It Back and Change It For a Boy?" Patrick H. Boyle recited "The American Flag" by Henry Ward Beecher, as seeming especially appropriate after the recent insult to the flag at Lawrence. Mrs. Seddie Follett, the president of the W. R. C. followed Mr. Boyle with the well known lines of the "Battle of Beal and Dume." Mrs. Alice Lee, who sang "The Boys of '61," was enthusiastically applauded but declined an encore. Mrs. Nellie M. Smith gave a reading on "Bill Nye on the Bronze Goddess," which was very well received especially by the members of the Post, who, perhaps more than any others present, recognized the truth under the humor.

There was a stir of expectancy as Francis M. Stanwood, a well known summer resident of Manchester, rose to deliver "Edinburgh After Flodden" and Mr. Stanwood's effort was well worth hearing. In a masterful way he described the terrible slaughter of Flodden, when the Scotch troops, under King James IV. were repulsed by the English under the leadership of Lord Surrey. The terrible experiences of Randolph Murray, who alone brought back to Edinburgh the flag stained with the life blood of the Scottish king, were brought to one's mind more vividly than ever as Mr. Stanwood rendered the lines.

Alfred S. Jewett was next on the program. He spoke on his own reminiscences of Scottish chivalry and bravery as recalled by the stirring lines which Mr. Stanwood had recited. Mr. Jewett went on to speak of the homage all Americans should and do pay to the G. A. R. as protectors of the flag. The men, who in the days of the Rebellion, gave up all that was dear to them, not always in battle, but sometimes as in the cases of Garrison and Phillips, in publicly upholding the cause which they believed to be right, should receive the respect due them. Miss Lee gave as a drum solo the martial air of "Tramp, Tramp, the Boys are Marching" and as an encore "Yankee Doodle." Mrs. Marianna Cheever sang the old favorite, "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean" and received much applause. Just before the singing of "America" by all, Mr. Stanwood requested leave to make a few remarks, which were as follows:

"Before beginning the serious part of tonight's duties, will your patience grant me a moment in which to speak a word of temporary fare—that the date is very near when we will. The advancing autumn warns are obliged to close our summer home, and when we must forego your cheering society for a few months I wish to express, however feebly the words may vocalize my thoughts, a sense of great love I bear you all—Comrades, gentlemen and ladies, who meet with us tonight. You have been, in all ways, very kind and helpful to me. You honored me by the invitation to address you on Memorial Day; the Post presented to me on July 15th, a noble portrait of General Grant, a picture coming in the way that it did, to be valued by me and by mine as beyond money and beyond price. As a family, we have passed through a natural but sad affliction, and our personal situation called forth the warmest sympathy of your generous hearts; you have invited me to your festive and patriotic assemblings, and have said such words to and of me, that I blush with modesty and tremble with pleasure when I recall how far beyond my deserts your encomiums reach. We leave you with regret; we anticipate with hope the reunions of another year, and we promise that we will wear you all in our very heart of hearts during the approaching separation. Let us all strive to live doing as far as possible:—

"Deeds of daring rectitude, in scorn of miserable aims that end with self."

And to try in our several ways to increase the numbers of that "Choir Invisible, whose music is the gladness of the world."

MANCHESTER WOMAN'S CLUB.

Semi-Monthly Meeting Tuesday Occasioned a Delightful Afternoon.

Tuesday afternoon the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Manchester Woman's Club, with Mrs. William Hoare as hostess, was held in the chapel of the Congregational church. An exceptionally large number attended, including many out of town guests. The decorations were unusually elaborate and received no little praise from those present. Pink, as the club color, was chosen as the predominant shade and pink dahlias and asparagus fern quite transformed the little chapel. Masses of the dahlias were banked against the piano and the rostrum was practically hidden in them.

Mrs. Flora Hersey, as chairman of the entertainment committee, deserved and received much credit for the fine musical program, which was arranged. The other members of the committee were Mrs. Ida Bullock and Miss Jessie Hoare. The program was as follows:

|------------------------------------|-----------------------|
| Piano solo, | Miss Aline Tarbell |
| Song, | Miss Rebecca Andrews |
| G. Allyn Brown, accompanist | |
| Violin solo, | Miss Marian Scott |
| (Mr. Brown, accompanist) | |
| Song, | Master Philip Kendall |
| (Miss Edith Williams, accompanist) | |
| Reading, | Mrs. John Prest |
| Song, | Miss Andrews |
| Violin solo, | Miss Scott |
| Song, | Master Kendall |
| Piano solo, | Miss Tarbell |

Miss Tarbell is a Hudson young woman who has many friends in Manchester. She is a very fine pianist and it is hoped that Manchester people will have many more opportunities to hear her play and it is not improbable that they may, for Miss Tarbell plans to be in town quite a little this winter in her work. Miss Rebecca Andrews of Gloucester sang very sweetly and was encored both times. Miss Andrews has been in great demand as a singer in town and many, especially those who have attended the concerts at the Baptist church, gave her a cordial welcome. Miss Marian Scott's violin selections were faultlessly rendered and received liberal applause. Miss Scott is a Manchester young woman, very sweet in her ways and very talented musically.

The singing of Philip Kendall, a choir boy at St. Paul's Episcopal church, Boston, was perhaps one of the most enjoyable features of the program and the boy received enthusiastic applause. The readings by Mrs. John Prest were very well received, particularly the "Foreigner's View of the Statue of Liberty."

At the close of the program the usual social hour was enjoyed. Mrs. Hoare, the hostess, was assisted by Mrs. Walter Yates and Miss Caroline Allen. The tea room equalled the main chapel in its dainty and attractive decorations. Here, too, pink was the predominant color, although other shades were combined to make a charming whole. Chrysanthemums took the place of the dahlias in the decorations.

The Essex County Red Cross Chapter.

The annual meeting of the Essex Chapter of the American National Red Cross Society was held Saturday afternoon at the home of the Secretary, Miss Louisa P. Loring, of Pride's Crossing. Members coming from Manchester, Amesbury Lynn, Salem and Beverly. The Secretary's and Treasurer's reports for the past year were read, showing a membership of 242; and a balance of $367.07 in the treasury. Officers were re-elected as follows:—President, General Francis H. Appleton; secretary, Miss L. P. Loring; treasurer, Mr. W. O. Chapman.

Miss Mabel Boardman in an interesting review of the Red Cross work of the past year, spoke of the sending of an expert engineer to China to report on the possibility of preventing the great and frequent river floods with attendant loss of life. His report is to the effect that with the expenditure of a comparatively few million of dollars in dykes and dams, the semi-annual devastation might be prevented and ten crops be raised where only two are now.

Miss Boardman told of her great progress in the teaching of first aid, to different classes of workmen: The many skillful corps among common miners, in electrical works, along sea and lake beaches; and detailed the organization of Red Cross Aides, young women trained in first aid hygiene and dietetics, and doing volunteer work to assist trained district nurses and working under their supervision. These aides have a simple, becoming and inexpensive uniform, and prepare themselves not only to act promptly in emergency cases in their families, neighborhoods and on the street; but to aid the district nurse when she is overworked, by teaching mothers to prepare food for the sick and to help with the little children. Miss Boardman spoke of the crying need for a sufficient endowment fund in which America lags far behind Japan. In cases of earthquake, fire and famine the Society cannot wait to make special appeal for funds, it must send immediate aid.

Mrs. Emily Smith of Amesbury, who during the past year raised $200 for Red Cross work told how speedily and happily it was done through the sale of ten-cent boxes of home-made candy and of carnations, on a single summer morning.

At the close of the interesting meeting, tea was served.

Now that the world's series is over local base ball fans are turning their attention to a more important event in the baseball annals of Manchester, —namely the championship of the town. And so a game has been arranged for Saturday, Oct. 18 (tomorrow) on the Brook street diamond, between the Manchester nine of 1912-03, known as the "Has-Beens," and the nine of this year. Either Joe Wood or Hubbard of Essex will pitch for the "Has-Beens." Contributions for the "Has-Beens" will be received by Wm. H. Hoare, manager. It is expected a large crowd will be out for this closing game of the season.

The launching of "The Mary" into Essex River from the ship yard of A. D. Story, Essex, March 19, 1912.

ESSEX IS RIGHT IN THE CENTRE OF The Summer Residence Zone

It has high hills, beautiful woodland drives, a charming lake, a salt water-river which "like a ribbon of silver" flows to the sea. Boating, fishing and bathing abound. Although it has water on all sides it seldom if ever has the disagreeable fog which is so prevalent in other places. The high hills covered with dense forests which surround the town keep the fog away. We have many desirable places aggregating about 2000 acres for sale. One feature of Essex is, our valuation is so low that the addition of but one million would halve the tax rate.

J. Horace Burnham of Post 152 G. A. R. inspected Post 45 of Gloucester, Thursday evening.

L. E. Andrews of Gloucester has purchased the farm of the late Washington Burnham from the heirs at law. Mr. Andrews is having the place greatly improved. The house will be thoroughly overhauled and repaired, the grounds graded and everything put in first class condition.

Miss Mary E. Raymond of Boston spent Saturday and Sunday with her brother B. Frank Raymond.

William Cogswell of Dorchester spent Columbus Day with Jacob Perkins of Apple street.

ESSEX

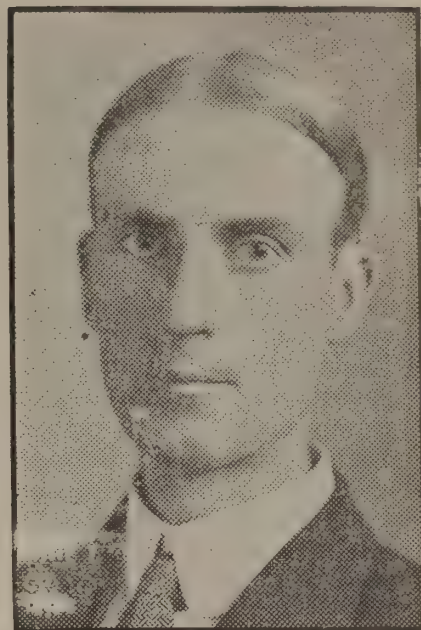

Horace Andrews and family of Salem are visiting Mrs. Andrews' parents Mr. and Mrs. George A. Curtis, Pickering street.

William Bagwell of Main street, the genial and popular baker, attended the world series in Boston, Columbus Day.

The High school class of 1913 held a social dance last Saturday evening at Essex Town hall. Long's orchestra, three pieces furnished the music. Smith Bros. furnished the ice cream for the occasion. About fifty couples were present. A delightful time was enjoyed.

Mrs. Eliza Bray of Gloucester is visiting relatives in town.

Mr. Andrews is Candidate for Senator

Alexander W. Andrews of West Gloucester is a candidate for Senator from the Third Essex District, on the Bull Moose ticket. He is a young man of "progressive" ideas and will probably give a good account of himself if sent to Beacon Hill to represent this section. In his speech at the Progressive Party rally in Manchester, Monday night he said among other things:

"As a candidate for Senator from this district, I pledge you my word and sacred honor that if elected, I will endeavor, with all there is in me, to use my influence on Beacon Hill to restore the government to the people where it belongs, and to do my utmost to bring about a change of conditions that will make it easier to live and receive the blessings of liberty and prosperity."

ESSEX

Stephen P. Andrews, Grand Army veteran died very suddenly at his home on Southern avenue on Monday. Mr. Andrews served four years in the Civil War. He took part in battles at Spottsylvania Court House, North Anna River, Cold Harbor, Salem Church and Petersburg. He was wounded in the shoulder and hand and was discharged for disability June 19, 1865. He was 76 years old. He leaves two sisters and one brother, Mrs. David Lendall, Mrs. Susan Burnham and Samuel Andrews, besides other relatives.

Has Been a Notable Person in the National Capital.

The good Count Jean Maurice Perreard, of the city of Washington, who recently concluded a visit of three weeks at H. L. Hannaford's house, Magnolia, has been a notable person in the national capital for more than four decades. All the famous statesmen of the era immediately following the Civil War, including Charles Sumner, Roscoe Conklin, Ben Hill and L. Q. C. Lamar, were friends of the Count and loved to frequent his cozy little establishment to partake of some especially toothsome dish prepared after the adorable fashion the proprietor had learned in his native land of France.

In all these 40 years and more the prestige of Perreard has never declined and today the celebrities of the District of Columbia, including statesmen, generals of the Army, scholars, wits, epicures and editors gather about his festal board even as they did in the days when Grant was president.

Nor is it fair to omit all mention of the chief stellar attraction of the Perreard establishment — the Countess Perreard, a woman of beauty, tact and great good fellowship. Amiable, wise and interesting as is the Count, his fair consort outshines, outpoints and outclasses him altogether, as he would be the first to admit, if there were wanting the corroborative testimony of such connoisseurs as Gen. Fred Ainsworth, Dr. Edward Bedloe, Major Carson and Col. George Marcellus Bailey, of the Houston Post, all of whom, in the heyday of their existence, ere dyspepsia claimed them, were wont to turn their steps toward the "castle on E street as the dinner hour drew nigh.

"I love to come to Baltimore," said the Count, "for I have friends here of many years standing. Baltimore, let me tell you, is, after all, the one place in this great American nation where the people know and appreciate good cooking. Not even in New York, or Washington, or New Orleans do you get as good sea food served in as appetizing style as in Baltimore. I think, too, that this city is going ahead along all other important lines, as one can see even at a casual glance at the enormous improvements in building sewer construction and betterments of the streets."

"Washington likewire," continued the Count, "is rapidly developing into the most splendid capital of the civilized world, even now disputing with Paris the claim to first honors. This reminds me of the time when I first landed there in the spring of 1869. It was then poor and squalid in quarters where now are rows of stately, magnificent mansions facing incomparable boulevards. Where the homes of millionaires now are in the region of DuPont Circle I made daily excursions to shoot rabbits. So poorly lighted were the streets that one night in escorting a lady home from the theater we stumbled and fell over the body of a sleeping cow at the intersection of Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue, where the New Willard raises its stately front.

"The manners and morals of the population of the District have kept pace with the material improvement. It used to be an ordinary thing to see representatives and senators intoxicated on the streets of the city. They would even go upon the floors of their respective chambers in a state of inebriety, too far gone to have any conception of the pending business. That era of bad morals has gone, never to return, and yet there is a constant agitation on the part of an extreme and fanatical element to force prohibition upon Washington. In their narrow and prejudiced view they would bring about a puritanical regime that, instead of benefiting the capital, would entail untold harm and reduce it to the dull level of a country village."

—Baltimore American.

Blanche Ring Coming to Empire Theatre, Salem.

Miss Blanche Ring and her large and excellent company in her latest and best musical play, "The Wall Street Girl" is among the many attractions booked for the Empire Theatre, Salem, in the near future.

When Miss Ring last appeared in Salem in "The Yankee Girl" there was recorded one of the greatest theatrical hits that the Empire has ever known, and her next appearance in Salem will come directly after the run of the piece at the Tremont Theatre, Boston.

Theatre parties at the Empire are becoming more and more popular with theatregoers from this section, mainly because of the fact that all of the large attractions that play in Boston are seen at the Salem house with the same cast and production. There is a convenient theatre train for Salem theatregoers in this section that makes more convenient an evening spent at this popular playhouse.

Mrs. Langtry at B. F. Keith's Theatre.

The most notable engagement of a season thus far replete with extraordinary attractions is announced for B. F. Keith's Theatre next week, when Mrs. Langtry, (Lady De Bathe,) returns to America after an absence of ten years. For her tour this season over the B. F. Keith Circuit Mrs. Langtry has selected a one-act comedy written by Percy Fandall and herself, and entitled "Helping the Cause." Mrs. Langtry has the role of an English noblewoman, arrested for stone throwing and incarcerated in Holloway jail for two weeks. But alas for her unhappy jailers, the lady makes herself so agreeable that the governor and warden of the jail with one another in paying attention quite outdo themselves in vying to their titled prisoner. Her cell is furnished in gorgeous style, with sofas, gilt chairs, oil paintings, etc., and everything is done to make the lot of the Suffragette pleasant. The outcome of the story is both novel and amusing. Mrs. Langtry has the part of the titled Suffragette, who is imprisoned for stone throwing, and she is supported by an excellent company. A complete scenic production is carried.

At the village church Sunday morning the minister, Rev. F. M. Cutler, preached a sermon appropriate to Columbus Day. Sunday school at noon. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6. The Department of Social Service was in charge of the 7 o'clock meeting, and presented as speaker, Mr. Henry G. Blount of Hamilton. Mr. Blount's theme was "The World We Live In."

At the camp-fire council of the boy scouts Saturday evening there were contests in boxing, javelin throwing and war-dancing. Everett Gray was examined as a tenderfoot. Joseph E. Lynch, deputy game warden, gave the boys an interesting talk on his work. The Y. M. C. A. is planning to hold an entertainment on Nov. 13 for the benefit of next summer's campaign fund, and will present as a program on that occasion, in the Town Hall, a boy scout camp-fire council, with all the exciting and interesting contests which occur at such a council.

The stereopticon entertainments given by the Y. P. S. C. E. are proving popular. The second of the series occurred Wednesday evening and included musical numbers by the members, together with a lecture by Mr. Cutler. The lecturer, by means of lantern slides and Grafonola records and interesting descriptions, took the audience on a personally conducted tour through Scotland, which he termed "The Land o' the Leal."

MARY H. NORTHEND TOOK UP WRITING AS A FAD—NOW ITS BUSINESS.

Has Completed a Book.

Seven years ago Mary H. Northend of Salem decided to take up writing and photography as a fad that would afford her some recreation in a state of semi-invalidism. She started without capital and hampered by continual illness. Today she employs three photographers and six assistants, and will enlarge her staff next winter to meet the growing demand for her work. Last year she sold to magazines and newspapers 150 articles and groups of pictures, her bills for photographs alone amounted to something like $2000, and she rounded out the season by writing a book, "Colonial Houses and Their Furnishings," which is being brought out this fall by Little, Brown & Co.

She lives in a quaint old-time house in Barton square, Salem—a house very near the railroad station and the business centre of the city, yet surrounded by an air of old-fashioned peace in the midst of its quiet street. The broad, low-ceilinged rooms are filled with beautiful mahogany furniture that is intact after generations of use. Colonial candlesticks of brass, pewter and silver stand on the lowboys and on the mantles above the numerous fireplaces.

Has Big "Graveyard."

Three good-sized rooms in the delightful old mansion are given up to photographs and a "graveyard." In professional parlance a "graveyard" is a place where clippings on various subjects may be "buried" until they are needed. In seven years Miss Northend has assembled one of the most valuable "graveyards" in the country, one that contains nearly a million clippings on thousands of different subjects.

Whenever the author wishes to write an article about anything under the sun, she merely pulls out a drawer in the "graveyard," reads over the clippings and sits down before her typewriter ready for work. Not all the clippings are printed matter. Miss Northend has many manuscripts describing some historical event or some collection of rare furniture or china, of which facts have been furnished her by Salem people.

Belonging to one of the oldest Salem families, Miss Northend has had an exceptional opportunity to obtain photographs and descriptions of Salem art treasures. Doors have swung open for her which would have remained obdurately closed, no matter how loudly an outsider might hammer against them. As a result she has many photographs among her stock of 30,000 which could not be duplicated by any one else, and many itemized accounts of precious Salem carvings or pewter which nobody else has been allowed to examine for commercial purposes.

Seated among her family heirlooms—"Oh, I have tons of them!" she confessed—Miss Northend talked the other day about her work and how she came to take it up. "About ten years ago," she said, "I was hunting desperately for somebody to write a bit of doggerel for a social occasion. When every one had failed me, a friend suggested that I write it myself.

Wrote Doggerel First.

"Perfectly impossible!" I answered, "but I did it. Then I wrote a poem for a minstrel show at Dummer Academy in Byfield, and one of the instructors told me that I had talent. So for two or three years I wrote, with no idea of how to write, various articles which I copied in my perfectly illegible hand and sent to the very best magazines. I was invariably much surprised when they were returned to me—my autograph cut from the bottom of my letter and pasted outside the package.

"At last I wrote a history of Marblehead, which was published in a local paper and copied in the Boston papers. My friends, feeling that ill-health and lack of training would prove a handicap, tried to dampen my enthusiasm. Without much confidence I began sending articles to the newspapers.

"The Herald was among the first to encourage me, and I feel that I owe to it much of my success. It occurred to me that photographs would enhance my work. I started out with my small camera. When my first batch of negatives was developed the art editor of the Herald said they were the worst pictures he'd ever seen.

"So I hired a good photographer, and soon had the satisfaction of hearing that my photographs were the best ever turned in to a Boston paper. It was then I decided that the best was none too good for the market.

"Now I own what is called the most valuable collection of photographs of colonial objects in the country.

"Success means hard work and constant diligence. I find that I must be ahead of the tide, instead of drifting. It amazed me to see my 'fad' growing into a profession, and now I discover that I must devote all my time to it. I rise at 5 in the morning and often I work until midnight. How many miles I travel over the country photographing and writing, I can't even estimate. But the work never grows uninteresting. I love every bit of it."

It may be admitted, however, that some literary feeling is also needed for success in Miss Northend's work. This she doubtless inherited from her father, William Dummer Northend, the contemporary and friend of such men as Rufus Choate, Charles Sumner and Jefferson Davis. Mr. Northend was among the greatest experts on criminal law in Massachusetts, and for many years nearly all the big criminal cases of the State were handled by him. He wrote "The Old Bay Colony," one of the most accurate books on early American history that has ever been written.

On both her father's and her mother's side Miss Northend enjoys family connections that have helped her inestimably in gaining admittance to the homes of Salem's first families. Her mother's ancestors were the Wheelwrights and Harrods of Newburyport, and her father's ancestors were the Longfellow and Sewalls. Against such an "open sesame" no doors of the Salem aristocracy could remain bolted.

CAUTION! BEWARE! FRAUD!

Facts You Should Know About—Read This

By A. C. Titus & Co.

It is brought to our attention, now and again, of some one going into Boston and buying goods, at the moment, in the belief that they are really buying them at wholesale; only to awaken to the fact, later, that they really paid good big retail prices for them.

This is a deceptive game worked successfully sometimes by a few dealers who "pose" as "wholesalers" and quote you a tremendous big discount—often as high as 50 per cent. off.

Some people do bite at this questionable proposition. It looks, for the time as being all right; but, when they come to consider values they find they've been buncoed to the Queen's taste.

We've investigated these pretending "wholesalers'" claims and unhesitatingly pronounce their modes of operation and statements maliciously deceptive and false. Here's how they do it: THEY MARK THEIR LIST PRICES DOUBLE WHAT THE GOODS ARE WORTH. We found, for example, a dining table listed at $18.00 and sold at 50 per cent. discount, for $9.00. The same identical table we sell daily for $8.75. A dining chair which we sell for $5.00 was marked way up to $11.00 and the 50 per cent. discount gave it to the purchaser for $5.50. A parlor table was marked by them $22.00, this same table—maker and number—is here today for a ten dollar bill—come and see it. A high boy, we sold four of them last summer—at $67.50 each—was in another of these pretended "wholesale" places listed at $140.00. We could enumerate other pieces, not many though, for these fake wholesalers cannot buy the better and honestly made class of goods—because of the questionableness of their selling methods.

Those who go to such places pay spot cash before even the goods are delivered. Then they deliver only to your railroad station and you must pay the cost of transportation to your home—no small item of expense. Further if goods are damaged when received, which they often are—what redress have you? None. If you make a complaint to them you may possibly receive a bottle of furniture polish or the consoling (?) remark "you bought the goods at wholesale and that's what you must expect."

Now contrast such unprincipled and unsatisfactory methods with those that always have been in vogue at A. C. TITUS & CO.'S. Here all transactions are honorable and above board. No misrepresentations or misstatements are made about our goods. These house-furnishings that we sell are honestly-made and dependable. We have one straightforward uniform price to all, which is lower than for what goods of the same character can be purchased in Boston or in any other place. Goods delivered and set up in your home free of charge. Mistakes (and these are infrequent) cheerfully and satisfactorily made right. Here, cash means in thirty days after goods are bought.

Finally, we say and let this be printed in large type, BEWARE OF THE MAN WHO OFFERS TO SELL YOU FURNITURE AT "WHOLESALE" OR AT 30, 40 OR 50 PER CENT. DISCOUNT. HE IS A FAKIR AND A FRAUD — PURE AND SIMPLE.

If you want to prove him so and thereby protect yourself, just come here first and take up our time. We gladly offer it for your convenience. We'll get your business; you'll save yourselves money and no end of trouble and inconvenience as well.

Sterling Silver Table Ware For That Wedding Gift

Knives, Forks and Spoons in Sterling Silver are particularly appropriate for Wedding Gifts. Nothing is used so constantly as table silver, and nothing you could select for your friend's wedding gift would be a more pleasing and constant reminder of you than one of our handsome patterns of Sterling Table Ware. Being of solid silver, it will last for generations.

Many people make Wedding Gifts of Knives, Forks and Spoons to dear friends and then add to them from time to time, first giving the staple pieces and then the odd pieces. This may be done easily when you select one of our many stock patterns, as we carry a full stock and you may order them from us at any time, either here at the store or by mail. We have the largest stock of Sterling Silver Flat Ware in New England if not in the United States. Now is the time to buy Silverware as the prices are advancing rapidly.

SOCIETY NOTES

The Dr. J. Henry Lancashires are concluding their long season on the North Shore next week. They have been occupying the Howard place, Jersey Lane, West Manchester. After a week or more at the Copley-Plaza, Boston, and a visit to New York, they will return to Detroit for the winter. Alma, Mich., has been until recently the home of the Lancashires. Last winter they occupied the John Owen place, 1750 Jefferson avenue, Detroit, which estate they have just bought for a permanent winter home. They will not occupy it this winter as considerable is to be done to the house in the way of alterations. The property is located in the most fashionable section of Detroit, near Owen Park. Dr. and Mrs. Lancashire and son, Ammi, and Miss Lancashire, by the way, are planning a trip to the Panama the coming winter. They have engaged passage on the Victoria Louise which sails from New York Feb. 8. They are of many Americans who will journey to the Panama this winter so as to see the colossal dams before the water is turned on.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond will close "Lookout Hill," their Gloucester summer home, the first of next month and will leave for the South to spend a few weeks at Hot Springs, Va.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Charles Mills Cabot of Boston and Beverly Farms will give an "at home" at her Marlboro street, Boston, residence for her daughter, Miss Nancy Cabot, Friday, Nov. 8. Miss Cabot is one of this season's debutantes and, judging from the social success she has already gained on the North Shore, will be one of the belles. She was one of the pourers at the tea given at the Farms for her cousin, Miss Eleanor Cabot, who also makes her debut this winter.

◆ ◆ ◆

Major and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson closed "Sunset Rock," their West Manchester home, this week and returned to their Boston house.

SOCIETY NOTES

The F. H. Princes have closed their season on the Shore and have sailed for France on the Kaiser Wilhelm II to spend the winter months at their beautiful home there. The Princes have spent much of their time on the continent of late years, more, in fact, than on this side of the water.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Bradley returned to Pride's Crossing Sunday after a three weeks' trip to Philadelphia and New York.

◆ ◆ ◆

The Martin Erdmans of New York, who have had the Dresel cottage at Pride's this season, returned to New York Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lowell Blake, also of the Pride's Crossing colony, have closed their place on the Shore and have opened their Boston house for the coming months.

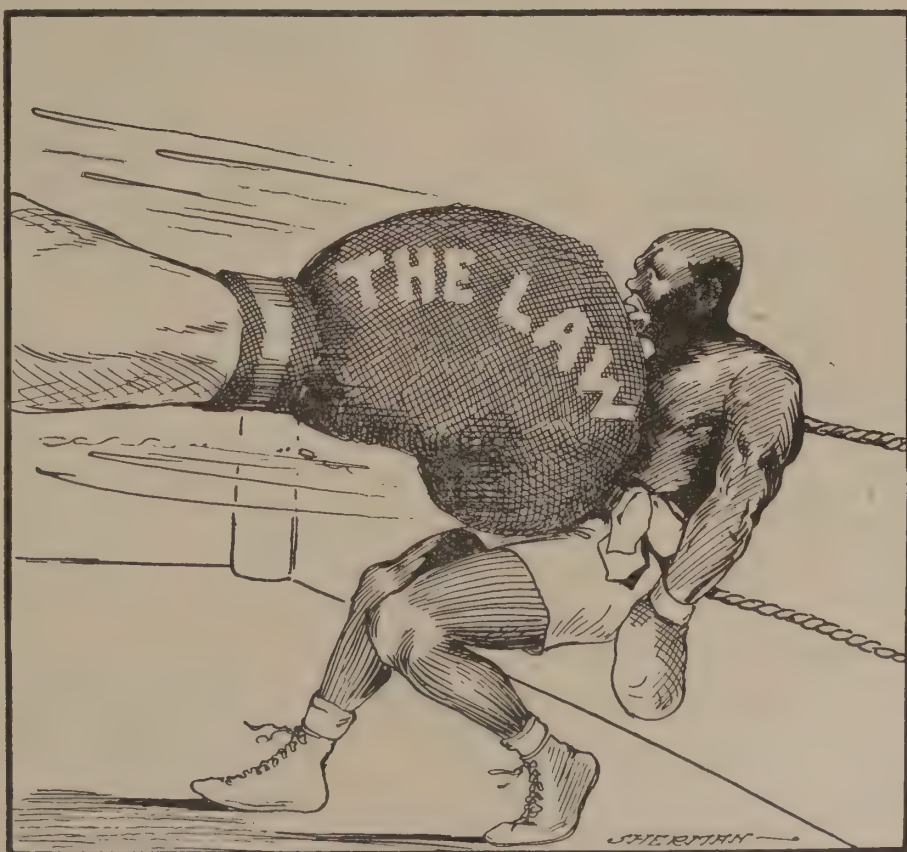

SOCIETY NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. E. Lawrence White (nee Lancashire) are to join the constantly increasing colony of young married couples spending the winter months on the North Shore. They have just leased the A. L. Daniels house at Beverly Farms for the winter. Mr White is now connected with the bond department of the well known brokerage firm, Hayden-Stone Co., Boston. The year-round residence of the Whites on the Shore also means, undoubtedly, that Mrs. White's family, the Dr. J. H. Lancashires of Detroit, who are very fond of the North Shore, will pay an occasional visit to Beverly Farms this winter, especially on the occasion of their trips to New York to see their young daughter, who is in school there.

Mr and Mrs. Frederick J. Alley gave an informal dinner at their Hamilton cottage Sunday.

SOCIETY NOTES

"The College Hero" will begin its week's run at the St. James' theatre, Boston, November 11. Many prominent North Shore matrons are interested in this musical extravaganza to be given by the Animal Rescue League, and among the Harvard men who will take part is Evans Spaulding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Spaulding of Boston and West Manchester.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. F. Blackwood Fay and two daughters who have been spending the season at the Kimball cottage, Manchester, have returned to Boston for the winter.

SOCIETY NOTES

Miss Margery Lee is another of the North Shore young girls, who will make her debut into Boston society this winter. Her mother, Mrs. George Lee has made arrangements to give her a tea, to be followed by dancing, at the family's Brookline home, Thursday, Nov. 14. The Lees are still at Beverly Farms.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. James Lowell Putnam of Boston, who are so well known on the North Shore, are now at Hot Springs, Virginia, where they will be until the first of November, at least. Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Bigelow, Jr., of Brookline, who have spent the past two months at Manchester are congenial additions to the colony at Hot Springs, also, this fall. "Fox Hill Lodge," the Bigelow summer home at Manchester was closed Monday and Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Bigelow with their daughter, Miss Elizabeth, returned to Boston.

◆ ◆ ◆

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn were glad to welcome them back to Pride's Crossing after their sojourn abroad. They are with Mrs. Vaughn's mother, Mrs. A. P. Loring now, but expect to move into their own house at the Farms in the near future to remain all winter. Mrs. Vaughn was Miss May Loring before her marriage.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Simpkins, Jr., (Olivia Thorndike) have concluded their season at Beverly Farms and are already settled at their apartment at the Royal, Beacon street, Boston.

SOCIETY NOTES

Francis I. Amory and his daughter, Miss Mary Josephine Amory, are with the Dr Henry Sears family at Beverly Cove. Mr. Amory and his daughter returned the first of the month from a trip abroad and will remain with Dr. Sears until the Amory cottage at Beverly Cove is vacated by the W. B. Millers, who are soon to return to Akron, Ohio. The Amorys will be at the Cove until after the Christmas holidays, when they will go to their Boston house for the remainder of the winter.

◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Laura Merriam of Washington, whose engagement to J. F. Curtis of Boston and Manchester has recently been announced, has concluded her visit with Mr. Curtis' mother, Mrs. Greely S. Curtis at Manchester-by-the-Sea and is now the guest of her aunt, Mrs. James Cunningham Bishop, of New York who is doing many pleasant things for Miss Merriam.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Russell gave a small informal dance at their home at Manchester last Friday evening in honor of their niece Miss Margaret Russell, the attractive daughter of the late Governor William Russell. She had been at London with her mother, Mrs. Michael Fister, and has returned to Boston to be one of the season's buds.

◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Elizabeth Sears, the daughter of Herbert M. Sears, is to sail for Paris soon to procure her trousseau for her wedding to Bayard Warren, which will take place in the early spring. Miss Sears is a prominent member of the Vincent club and is listed as one of the soloists at the fair, for which club plans are already under way. She played the leading role in "Miladi from Dublin" last spring.

Mrs. Clarence Moore of Pride's Crossing is spending a month at Hot Springs, Virginia, before going to Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Barr of Boston and Beverly Farms were members of a delightful party which spent several days this week at Poland Springs as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Webster Cram to meet the Presidential party. Mr. Cram was formerly President of the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad and has a national reputation as an expert on transportation. He and President Taft have long been friends and the visit of the President with Mr. and Mrs. Cram and their friends was most happy.

In accordance with our usual custom at this season of the year we are offering the Breeze for the balance of the year FREE to all new subscribers. All names added to our list between now and New Year's will be dated Jan. 1, 1913.

Rev. F. J. Libby Addresses Parent-Teachers Meeting in Manchester

Wednesday evening the first meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association, Manchester, this season, was held in the assembly hall of the Price school. The president, Mrs. Hattie Baker, opened the meeting with a few words of welcome and appreciation for the large attendance. Supt. Mackin announced the first number of the program, which was a vocal solo by Mrs. Alice Lee. Her song, "An Autumn Lullaby" was well received. Miss Audrey Calden was Mrs. Lee's accompanist. Mr. Mackin then introduced Rev. Frederick J. Libby, former pastor of the Union Congregational church of Magnolia, who has but recently returned from an extended trip abroad.

Rev. Mr. Libby had chosen as his subject, "Colleges I Have Visited," upon which he was very well qualified to speak as he has in his broad travels not only visited many of the eminent universities, but also those of smaller fame. Mr. Libby could speak, not only as a casual visitor, but as one who has been a part of the college life at many places. In speaking of the university life in Germany, Mr. Libby took as his example the University of Marburg. Freed from the strict routine of the school room, the German boy enjoys his freedom at a university to the greatest extent. The first two years of his college course are almost invariably devoted to his corps, which corresponds to an American fraternity. The drinking bouts and practice duels consume a greater part of the days and nights and the college man of Germany has little time for study during the first two years of his course, but in the last two he has to make up for the time he has lost, for at the end of his course he must pass final examinations on all the subjects in which he is registered.

Mr. Libby contrasted the difference of college life in England with that of Germany. Taking Oxford as the representative English university, Mr. Libby spoke particularly of the difference in the amount and regularity of exercise between the student at Marburg and at Oxford. Athletics form a small part of the life in Germany, while in England no college man will be found studying, or participating in social duties, between the hours of two and four, which are set apart for exercise. The great diversity of sports which Oxford affords, and the number of colleges comprising the University make it possible for every man to take an active part in some sport. Mr. Libby spoke of the delightful sociability of Oxford and described the average day of an Oxford man. The day in England begins late and nobody breakfasts before eight o'clock and the first lecture is at nine. At one the students lunch in their rooms, one fellow inviting a number of his friends to have luncheon with him. This pleasant custom goes far toward promoting the good fellowship and the college spirit at Oxford. In the afternoon, after exercise, English men indulge in afternoon tea and then find an hour for study before dinner, which is the only really formal meal of the day.

Do the Children Wear "Cadet Hosiery"? Scientific Stockings for Men, Women and Children

"Cadet Stockings" are especially recommended for boys and girls because they are the strongest and most durable it is possible to produce. They stand the strenuous wear and tear of the children and the grown-ups for they are reinforced with linen — the toughest fibre known. Strong, durable and elastic. Saves darning and insures perfect comfort. Get a pair for any member of the family—today. In a week you will all be wearing them. All colors and sizes for men, women and children.

The students wear their caps and gowns and the formality of the meal is broken only when the faculty adjourns to the Senior Common room and the students to the Junior Common room for coffee. After a pleasant hour spent here the students go to their rooms for study, if they are so inclined. There are two grades of degrees at Oxford to fit the two grades of men, who attend. The first is the passing degree, which is for those who are going to the university because a gentleman must have an education, and the second, the honor degree, is for the men, who have gone there to really study. The environment of Oxford is noted for its beauties of nature and it seems small wonder that Oxford men like their social pleasures, as well as their regular athletics, out-of-doors. The greatest social event of the year is the races on the river, when the boats, which cannot possibly pass each other owing to the narrowness of the river, "bunt." That is, one boat overtaking another, bumps into it and accordingly is given an advanced place the following day.

A great contrast to the English university was the college at Canton, China, Mr. Libby spoke of Canton as the most interesting city which he had ever visited. The quaint sedan chairs, with their strong, swift coolies, the extremely narrow streets with their little shops, holding unique treasures of jade, embroideries, or wonderfully carved ivory can be found nowhere as at Canton. The college, which Mr. Libby visited, is called the Canton Christian college and is strictly undenominational. The dean, who spent a year in America, has recently been made commissioner of education for the whole district of Canton and he is trying to introduce many new ideas for the uplift of the young men of China, who must help to form the new republic. Mr. Libby spoke very strongly on the feeling of China and Japan towards America. Both nations, he said, feel that America is their best friend, in spite of all the steps taken against Chinese and Japanese immigrants into this country, which have been taken lately.

Mr. Libby expressed it as his belief that if there ever came a war between the United States and either of these two nations, we shall have provoked it, as their feeling is wholly friendly toward us.

The Roberts college in Turkey was spoken of as a great factor for progress and true education in that country. Here are youths of many nationalities learning new languages and new studies every year. The result of such a cosmopolitan assembly in one college must work for the ultimate good of Turkey. The college grounds are very different from the other universities, which Mr. Libby had visited. Robert college is situated on the Bosphorus just above Constantinople and the surroundings are very beautiful. The massive buildings form a great contrast to the spires and minarets of the great Turkish city, which can be seen against the horizon just across the Bosphorus, at Scutari, is the Woman's college corresponding to Robert college and here, too, is a most cosmopolitan throng of girl students and women teachers. The head of the college is a Wellesley woman and until very recently, when some of the college graduates have been added to the faculty, nearly all of the teachers have been American women.

The college, which Mr. Libby mentioned as the last in his talk, was, he considered the most beautiful college in the world. This is the Syrian Protestant college at Berute. Its grounds lie close to the Mediterranean sea. The grey stone buildings in their environment of wonderful gardens and palm groves offset by the blue Mediterranean make it a place to be long remembered by a visitor and never forgotten by the student there.

Mr. Libby's talk met with enthusiastic applause and all were genuinely sorry to have the address, which was so unusually interesting to everybody, come to a close. Mr. Mackin announced the last number of the program, which was another song by Mrs. Alice Lee entitled "Blanket Bay." At the close of the program Mr. Libby met many of the audience and then the company met the social committee, consisting of Albert Cunningham, chairman, Mrs. G. A. Knoerr, Mrs. Healey, Mrs. I. W. Floyd, Mrs. Chester L. Crafts and Miss Folson. Tea and fancy crackers were served.

MANCHESTER

Several Manchester friends of Misses Agnes M. Sjolund and Mabel W. Lodge have received cards for the graduating exercises of the Training School for Nurses connected with the Children's Memorial Hospital of Chicago. The exercises will be held Nov. 6. These two Manchester girls were graduated from the local High school in 1909 and they went to Chicago the following fall for three years' training. There are nine in the class, which is the second to be graduated from this school. Two other Manchester girls, Misses Gertrude Ryan and Adele Sjolund entered the school this fall.

Monday evening the regular meeting of Harmony Guild took the form of a Hallowe'en party. Arrangements were made for forming a first aid to the injured class. Those who are interested were asked to meet at the home of Mrs. Maude Carter on School street next Monday evening.

T. H. Cusack and family who have been occupying the cottage at 97 Pleasant street for some time, have moved to Everett. Mr. Cusack is by trade a harness maker.

Vesper Services.

Sunday evening the first vesper services of the season were held in the Congregational church, Manchester, under the auspices of the Harmony Guild. The Misses Chapman of Salem, 'cellist and violinist, assisted, and their beautifully rendered selections were heard by an appreciative audience. Following is the program:

Miss Wheelock Addresses Arbella Club.

The second meeting of the Arbella Club, Manchester was held in the chapel of the Congregational church Tuesday afternoon. Miss Wheelock of the Wheelock Training School, of Boston, delivered the address of the afternoon. In a simple, direct manner, Miss Wheelock spoke to the girls upon the ideals upon which the club was founded. The plan of the Arbella Club is to better the conditions of not only the members, but of the townspeople. The strength of the club lies in the responsibility of the individual members, and to their faithfulness will be due the influence of the club for good or bad. Miss Wheelock went on to discuss the growth of ideals, especially of girls' ideals. Girls progress from the admiration for the beauties of personal adornment to the deeper things that are within them. Gradually, as they grow older, they strive to bring out the best in themselves by good books and beautiful pictures until their lives have become as near the ideal which is in the minds of all girls.

The violin solos by Miss Marian Scott, which were played before and after Miss Wheelock's address were very well received. The President Miss Mildred Peart, in a few well chosen words expressed the gratitude of the club to Miss Wheelock for her words of help and inspiration. The next meeting will be November 12 when Miss Abbie Hitchcock of Boston will tell the girls something of her settlement work.

Master James Harvey spent the week-end with his aunt Mrs Peter C. Dooley (formerly Miss Lillian Nunn) in Salem.

Monday evening about a dozen of the young people who are staying at the home of Mrs. John Campbell held an informal hop in the parlors of the house. Mrs. T. W. Long presided at the piano. A very pleasant evening was spent by all.

Business Change.

Edward A. Lane, the painter, who has been in business in Manchester for the past thirty years or more, has sold the branch of his business devoted to carriage and automobile painting to William F. Roberts, who will continue the business at the same location, rear of 53 School st. Mr. Roberts assures the same prompt and efficient service that has typified Mr. Lane's success in the last generation or more, in this line. He has been with Mr. Lane for a number of years, doing all the ornamental and novelty work, gilding, etc., not only in the line of carriage and automobile painting, but on picture frames and such work. Mr. Roberts' many friends extend their best wishes in his new venture and if his ability and good workmanship count for anything his success is assured.

Mr. Lane, meanwhile, is not retiring from the business. His painting business has developed to such an extent as the years have advanced that he becomes busier and busier each year. He will devote his entire attention to house painting, of which he gets a generous share all along the North Shore. He has done more business at the summer estates in the last thirty years than any other concern on the Shore.

Busy at the Breeze Plant.

Business at the Breeze printing plant, at Manchester, is better this fall than any year since the shop has been established. Aside from printing the Breeze, which in itself is considerable of a proposition for the ordinary shop, the Rockport Review, a weekly paper established 31 years ago, and now owned by J. A. Lodge, is printed here; and the growing illustrated monthly magazine, The Resorter, is also being printed here now. The contract for printing the theatre program of the Empire Theatre, Salem, a booklet of from 16 to 24 pages, 1000 copies for each performance, has also been awarded to The Breeze Print. The Beverly High School Aegis, a 28-page monthly, published by the students of the Beverly High school makes the fifth publication to be turned out regularly at this shop.

The largest single job ever undertaken at the plant was awarded this week, in competition with many Boston shops, by the E. R. Grabow Co., the well known hotel corporation, to print 100,000 6-page booklets in two colors for advertising the two hotels of the corporation—the Myrtle Bank and the Titchfield, at Jamaica, British West Indies.

The Breeze printing plant is one of the North Shore's growing institutions. The North Shore Breeze was started in May, 1904; the printing plant was established in August 1906. The development of both enterprises has been steady and consistent. The plant is one of three in Essex County working under union conditions—48 hours a week.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION FOR 1913.

The Youth's Companion appeals to every interest of family life, from housekeeping to athletics. It begins with stories of youthful vim and vigor, with articles which disclose the secrets of successful play in great games, with charming tales of life at the girls' colleges. But The Companion does not surrender these readers when they have entered the more serious paths of life. Mothers will welcome the page for little children and the weekly doctor's article. Fathers will find the important news of the day as it is, and not as it is rumored to be. The entire household will appreciate the sketches which touch gently on common foibles or caricature eccentricity. In short, for less than four cents a week The Companion brings into the home clean entertainment, pure inspiration, fine ideals, increase of knowledge.

Names rarely seen in tables of contents will be found in The Companion's Announcement for 1913, which will be sent upon request—with samples of the paper, to those not familiar with it.

Every new subscriber for 1913 will receive free all the issues for the remaining weeks of 1912; also free, The Companion Window Transparency and Calendar for 1913, in rich, translucent colors—the most beautiful of all Companion souvenirs.

Autumnal Glory.

Those who have been compelled by business to return to the cities early in the season have missed two of the best months in the year. During the oppressive days of the summer the strong breeze on the great sea sent the mercury tumbling down from heights that the sun caused it to climb. The shore is then a refuge from the heat. The escape from the heat is a boon but for the real joy of living the months of September and October are incomparable. The trees have been great bowers of indescribable beauty and the fruit laden orchards and the busy garnerers of the heavy season's fruitage have given an artistic touch to the landscape that is missing during the warmer summer months. One can never appreciate life on the North Shore until September and October are added to the summer visit. Each year that goes by increases the number of residents who remain late and one by one the stay is extended until Manchester and Beverly Farms now have many who remain all the year. As the years roll on the number will increase and the repetition of delightful seasons such as this one has proven itself to be will tend to increase the number of those who stay late. To know the North Shore one must know it in its Autumnal Glory.

Constructive Charity.

The day of indiscriminate charity has gone by and is being replaced by scientific investigation and the adoption of preventive measures. This is markedly evident in the attitude taken by the Red Cross Society relative to the famine relief work in China. Instead of passing on funds from year to year the organization has determined to find the cause and if possible to suggest a remedy. A careful search was made for a competent engineer and when found he was engaged to go to China and make a scientific study of the conditions which caused the flood. The society guaranteed the engineer's salary and the Chinese government was induced to meet the running expenses of the investigation. The work has now been partially completed and a report has been made by which it appears that the floods, can be prevented by constructive civil engineering. The famines will be prevented by eliminating the cause. The moneys usually distributed gratis have been paid out in return for labor and the labor has been applied to work which will be permanent. This type of relief work commends itself to the public which is called upon to give. This is a valuable contribution to the problem of relief. The Red Cross under the efficient leadership of Miss Boardman is doing an effective work, and its future usefulness along constructive lines of relief is unbounded.

The Woman's Club.

The Manchester Woman's club in its successful history has proven itself to be a valuable social and educational asset to the Town of Manchester. The work has been carried on so quietly and yet so effectively the real value of its success has not been conspicuous. Nevertheless the Club has made its way into the life of the Town and only its dissolution, an unthinkable possibility, would reveal how large a place it has found in the life of the Town. One never misses the water until the well runs dry. The Organization has been successful because of its unselfish spirit and generous policy of rendering public service for the Town in so far as its organization permitted. This is apparent in the broad field covered by the working committees elected this year. There are the usual business committees of any organization, the finance committee, the property holding committee, the printing committee and the usual executive officers. But the broadening spirit of the Club activities is seen in the work of the Education Committee, the Civics Committee, the Music Committee and the Outlook Committee. But the spirit of public service which is inspiring so many in these days of commercialism is shown in the Visiting Nurse Association Committee. Every department of the Club is valuable to the life of our Town and its worth cannot be overestimated. The Club Meeting committee for the year has presented to the Club a program for the year of commendable excellence. The efficient self sacrificing toil of the charter members and the faithful officers during the succeeding years, is being richly rewarded in the activities of the present organization.

The Better Patriotism.

The surging mob of irresponsible men that pressed through the streets of Lawrence under the standard of a red flag and behind the escutcheon painted, "No God and No Boss," justly aroused the indignation of the loyal, God fearing citizens of that city. The insult to religion and law offered by that emblem was more than atoned for by the splendid call to the support of Old Glory on Columbus Day. In that long procession nothing was more inspiring to the long line of spectators and marchers than the marching columns of Grand Army men who rallied to the support of the Flag. But the response of the pulpits of the land was noble and dignified. In the local church the address of Rev. Mr. Warner on "The Citizen's Sunday" touched a vital spot. The position which he has taken on the heroism of war and of peace may well make our boys think and our men ponder concerning their civic relations. Mr. Warner well says,

"But we must not lose sight of the fact that these quiet days of peace call for living that needs be as heroic as was death 50 years ago. There is our danger. We cannot overemphasize the sacrifice and heroism of the fathers who died, but we do not lay enough stress upon the necessary heroic quality of all right and altruistic living for today. The boy is sometimes almost led to hope for another crisis of the nation that will call him to arms that he too may show his heroic mettle and die for his land and home; whereas it may take more courage to live than to die, and times of peace may test the stuff of which brave souls are made more than wars. A young man fresh from college and law school, charged up San Juan Hill. He said afterward that he enjoyed it when he got into the midst of the fray. The thing that tested his manhood and courage came three years afterward when he was a poor and struggling lawyer in New York City. He was offered a large sum of money and an assured future if he would become the henchman of a corrupt politician. The test of poverty with honor, or prosperity with inward shame tried his heroism and called for more courage than the rushing into the face of the Spanish."

The Attempted Assassination.

There is no one who has read with care the events of the public career of Theodore Roosevelt who will deny that he is a great man. He has remarkable powers of adapting himself to conditions as they present themselves and he knows the vote catching value of a determined struggle for the pretended rights of the people—but he is not unmindful of the existence of Theodore Roosevelt, —and why should he be? But this is as far as the attacks upon that man should go and the unethical assaults made by certain disreputable newspapers have been unwise as well as unfair. An editorial writer is responsible in no small degree for the effect which his opinion or bias may have upon the minds of neurotic and unbalanced humans. The pen may be made a great power for righteousness and may become correspondingly harmful if it be unjustly or indiscreetly used.

This is the lesson back of the attempted assassination of the former President of the United States. A depraved mind that had been willing in previous years to gain a livelihood at the expense of the health of the race in the liquor business was unbalanced by newspaper attacks upon the third term candidate. Are not the publishers of such papers partly responsible for the attack? Fortunately Mr. Roosevelt escaped death and in his escape the public rejoices. Mr. Roosevelt controlled himself with remarkable ability and seized the affair with dramatic success. "Teddy" never fails to "catch the crowd." His dramatic address cannot but receive the admiration of all. The attack has meant many, many votes to him but it can not change the result of the election. Because he has been maliciously attacked does not add another argument to the reasons why he should be elected President.

On the other hand Mr. Roosevelt never showed his greatness of mind more than when he selected Mr. Taft as his successor and while it has taken the public four years to discover it they have at last found out the greatness of Roosevelt's judgement then. The public will not fail to approve the noble qualities of our honored President in his note of sympathy to his political opponent. Mr. Taft always rises to the occasion. What a blessing to our country it is that the President was man enough to rise above his personal feelings and send such a note of sympathy with promptness and sincerity. Col. Roosevelt surely has something to think about. The whole account of the event has won votes for President Taft. The people delight to honor a large hearted broad minded man who can make a clean fight on principles and not on personalities. Mr. Taft is the man the public can afford to tie to on election day for his personal qualities as well as for his clean record for good government and the rights of the people.

ESSEX IS RIGHT IN THE CENTRE OF The Summer Residence Zone

It has high hills, beautiful woodland drives, a charming lake, a salt water-river which "like a ribbon of silver" flows to the sea. Boating, fishing and bathing abound. Although it has water on all sides it seldom if ever has the disagreeable fog which is so prevalent in other places. The high hills covered with dense forests which surround the town keep the fog away. We have many desirable places aggregating about 2000 acres for sale. One feature of Essex is, our valuation is so low that the addition of but one million would halve the tax rate.

Rev. Mr. Lincoln Accepts Call to Church in Lowell.

Following up the announcement in last week's Breeze that Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln, a former Manchester pastor, had received a call to the Kirk Street Congregational church, Lowell, we print below, Mr. Lincoln's letter of acceptance:

Moline, Ill., Oct. 16, 1912.

To the Members of the Kirk Street Congregational Church, and Society, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Brethren: Your cordial invitation, graciously extended to me by unanimous vote to become your pastor, I wish to acknowledge with gratitude and sincere appreciation. I cannot but recognize the compliment of your confidence in me by the trust which you thus repose in me. Your invitation forces me anew to the humble consideration of my powers and of the basis of my call to the ministry. The task to which you summon me is a large one, and, were I to consider my natural qualifications alone, I should feel unequal to it. But after careful thought and earnest prayer for divine direction I have come to the strong conviction that the opportunity you have offered me is a divine summons to duty, and, if this be true, then I may look for the fulfilment in my case of the word of our Lord, "My strength is made perfect in weakness." Knowing that your invitation so happily unanimous has not come in any measure through self-seeking on my part, and, believing your hearts and minds have been guided by the influence of the Holy Spirit to this end, I hereby accept the call to the pastorate of the Kirk Street Congregational church, and fervently pray that the unanimity of mind and heart which has attended the church and myself in this matter may continually characterize our work together in the kingdom of our Lord and master, Jesus Christ. I expect to complete my work in Moline, Sunday, Nov. 10th, 1912, and, if I am released at that time, I shall begin my work with you Sunday, November 17th, 1912.

Earnestly desiring your continued prayers on behalf of the work which we shall undertake together and assuring you of my purpose to consecrate all my powers to the service of Christ in Lowell to which you have invited me, I am

Faithfully your pastor-elect, (Signed) C. ARTHUR LINCOLN.

Mrs. Thomas A. Baker of Summer street, who has been at the Women's Hospital in Brookline for an operation, is now doing nicely, and is at her parents home, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Bigwood of Chelsea where she will remain for a few weeks. In December in company with her husband she will leave for Florida where the warm rays of sunshine will be of great benefit to her. Dr. Washburn performed the operation which was very successful.

Tuesday evening a Prohibitionist rally was held at the home of Julius F. Rabardy, Central street. An address by Mr. Wiley of Beverly, the raising of the new prohibitionist flag, singing by a chorus of Manchester women and girls and bugle solos by Frank P. Tenney were the features of the program.

At the village church next Sunday morning Rev. F. J. Libby will preach the last sermon of his engagement in Magnolia which concludes with Dr. Eaton's vacation. In the evening he will lecture on Australia without slides.

Rev. F. J. Libby has accepted a position at Phillips Exeter academy. He will be connected with the school as an instructor. Most of his time, however, is to be free for work such as a minister can do in a large boys' school.

Some fifty friends of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kehoe invited themselves to celebrate with them their twentieth wedding anniversary last Monday evening at their pretty home on Summer street. Warning of their intentions had been duly given and the most cordial of welcomes awaited them. The guests brought music with them and a delightful impromptu musicale was the result in which Mr. Kehoe and son Arthur participated. Ice cream and cake were served during the evening. A beautiful Haviland china tea set and other gifts remain in the Kehoe home as a reminder of the happy occasion.

Mrs. Walter Eaton returned to the Parsonage Thursday after a very pleasant month in camp at Danvers. Dr. Eaton will spend next week in the Adirondacks whence he will return on Friday to resume his duties for the winter.

The electric barge for the transportation of Magnolia pupils to and from the Gloucester High school began running last Monday to the delight of ten appreciative students. Its greatest service is after school when it saves a wait of an hour and a half in the Gloucester station.

Mrs. Edward Symonds is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Roy French at Andover.

A business meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society was held at the home of Mrs. Henry W. Brown this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Hunt and son William returned from a very enjoyable auto trip, Wednesday evening.

Miss Louise Friend of Gloucester was the guest of Mrs. Effie Foster the first of the week.

Part of the hotel bath houses on the beach are being torn down to make room for the beautiful new swimming pool which will be erected during the coming winter.

The recently elected officers of O. W. Holmes Council, K. of C., will be installed at a meeting to be held in Marshall's hall, Wednesday evening, Nov. 13th.

The Girls' club of St. Margaret's church is to conduct a public whist party and dance in Neighbor's hall tonight. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the church. The affair is sure to be an enjoyable one and well attended.

Dr. W. J. Dougherty played 2nd base on the "Has Beens" at Manchester Saturday when the "Has Beens" won from the Manchester regulars. Our neighbors know where to come when they want a good ball player, although it must be distinctly understood that the doctor is no "has been." In the game Saturday he made two nice hits and played a fine fielding game, but this is not unusual for him. He is a regular "Wagner" of Red Sox fame.

Theodore Larcom has resumed his old position running the Smith Express Co. truck about the Farms. He has been unable to work for several weeks on account of an injured foot.

The annual Donation Day for the Beverly Hospital is Tuesday, Oct. 29th.

James J. Nugent was taken to the Beverly Hospital last Monday for an operation for appendicitis.

Deputy Supreme Gov. Willard B. Publicover, assisted by a degree staff installed the newly elected officers of John Endicott Colony, Pilgrim Fathers of Salem last Monday evening. He was accompanied by a number of members from the local colony.

Miss Barbara Daniels has gone to Boston, where she is to spend the coming winter.

Mrs. Lang has closed her antique shop which has been conducted in the Larson store on Haskell street since early summer. The vacant

Another ball game has been arranged for tomorrow afternoon. The manager of the Champion King Arthur team of Gloucester has sent a challenge to the Beverly Farms team which has been accepted. The Gloucester nine is made up of the very best players on Cape Ann and are coming to Beverly Farms determined to break up the local teams long string of victories. The home team will be practically the same as last week with "Stuffy" McInnis first base man.

NEW TELEPHONE EXCHANGE.

Beverly Farms Will Move Into New Office Tomorrow Night.

Next Saturday evening the telephone exchange which serves subscribers in Beverly Farms and a part of Pride's Crossing will be instantly transferred from the present location on West street, Beverly Farms, to a new building erected for the company on Vine street.

The removal from one central office to another will be made when very few subscribers are using the lines and none will be inconvenienced. The change is known among telephone men as a "cut-over." The new switchboard and its equipment will cost about $25,000 and will be modern in every way.

After Saturday night it will not be necessary to turn the crank connected with each telephone in order to call the central office. Simply removing the receiver from the hook is all that will be necessary. The new office will be operated by the common battery system, in which the power is generated at the central office, instead of a battery connected with each subscriber's telephone, as at present.

The new exchange will care for the business in the Farms territory for several years. Direct lines will run to Salem, Beverly and Manchester and all toll calls will be handled in the Salem toll office, the center for nearly all the toll business of the North Shore.

Over 325 telephone stations are served from the Beverly Farms exchange, an increase of about 50 in one year. In August approximately 3000 calls were handled on the switchboard every day. During the winter months this number is reduced about one half.

The new central office is one story high and constructed of wood. It will contain the operating room, terminal room and retiring room for the use of the operators, the latter to be furnished in mission style.

Mrs. Gregory Connolly and two children of Hale street are to spend the coming winter at Mrs. Connolly's former home in Ireland. They plan to go the middle of the coming month.

Forester H. Pierce, Jr., a student at Boston College High school, is playing on the foot-ball team representing that institution and the newspaper accounts of the games in which he takes part give him the reputation of being the best player on the team.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Morgan left Wednesday for a vacation trip to Norfolk, Newport News, Baltimore and Washington. They were accompanied by Nathaniel Morgan and Miss Mamie E. Morgan of Manchester and Dr. and Mrs. E. T. McGourty of Beverly.

Charles C. Gilman, a Boston young man who is a frequent visitor at the Farms, where he has a host of friends, was married Wednesday to Miss Rose Sullivan of New Bedford.

Beverly Farms friends of Alfred E. Parsons the well known superintendent and gardener of the Alfred S. Grew estate at West Manchester will be pleased to know that last Monday he started on a well earned vacation. He has gone on a six to eight weeks trip to England, his former home. His family did not accompany him.

Preston Post 188, G. A. R., went to Essex last Monday evening to attend the inspection of the post of that town. On Wednesday they held their own inspection the work being done by Comrade Edwin P. Stanley of the Manchester Post. Tonight Post Commander Charles H. Day assisted by members of his post will return the compliment and inspect Allen Post.

The Pilgrim Fathers owned the town last Friday evening. They came from all directions by train, carriage and automobile. The visitors numbered about 200, thus attesting the popularity of the order and John West colony, which entertained them. The occasion was the installation of officers, as follows; Gov., Lawrence J. Watson, 2nd; lieut. gov., Mrs. Wm. H. Gerrish; secretary, Chas. H. Hull; treasurer, F. W. Varney; collector, Mrs. Geo. H. Wood; chaplain, Mrs. Wm. Watt; sergt. at arms, Miss Joanna Toomey; deputy sergt. at arms, Miss May Brady; inside sentinel, Mrs. Wm. J. Dougherty; out side sentinel, Frank B. Grove; past gov., Howard E. Morgan. The work was performed by Deputy Supreme Gov. James McLaughlin of Lynn assisted by the Pilgrim Association degree staff of 16 members from Boston, whose floor work and marching was splendid and brought forth rounds of applause. The affair was held in Neighbor's hall, which was prettily decorated for the occasion. After the special work a fine banquet was served in the G. A. R. hall. Later an entertainment was given in Neighbor's hall. The program included vocal selections, Mr. Erskine, Miss Grace Connell, Robert Smith; dance, "The Flower Girl," Miss Jane Watson in costume; piano selections, Mrs. Wm. J. Dougherty; piano duet; Miss Elmira Williams and Mrs. W. F. Low; cornet duet, Rex Hill and Ruel Davis; selections by Hull's orchestra. Dancing brought the evening to a close.

The new exchange of the telephone company is now completed and fully equipped to give good service. They are planning to vacate their old quarters in Marshall's hall tomorrow evening at which time the new light system will be put in operation.

Farms Team Wins Again.

The Beverly Farms baseball team defeated the All Stars at Gloucester, Saturday afternoon at Beverly Farms by a score of 9 to 2. The game was called in the fifth inning on account of rain. A large crowd turned out to see this game, fans coming from Gloucester, Salem and Beverly.

The occasion for such a large turnout was the fact that "Stuffy" McInnis, the crack Philadelphia American League first baseman was to play first for the Farms team. It is the first time many of the fans had seen him play since he joined the major league and his all-round work for the afternoon was a treat to the fans and long to be remembered at the Farms. At the bat out of three times he was walked once and banged out two fine hits, his two-bagger with two men on bases in the fourth was the longest hit seen on the Farms grounds. This hit on any grounds would have been good for a home run, but ground rules at the local diamond limits such a hit to two bases. McNair pitched his sixth straight win for the Farms team and pitched fine ball. Perkins caught his usual good game and A. McInnis on second played a nice game besides hitting the ball well. The rest of the team had very little to do. For Gloucester, Andrews pitched a nice game and was well backed up by Colby. Lufkin on first played well. Both teams were at a great disadvantage on account of the rain and the game would no doubt have been much closer under more favorable weather conditions. The summary:

BEVERLY FARMS

Last Saturday afternoon and evening Miss Anna C. Connolly entertained a party of young lady friends at her home on Oak street. The young ladies were members of Miss Connolly's class while at the Sargent school, Cambridge.

John A. Ober has sold his estate on Hale street, Beverly Farms, to Charles M. Cabot of Boston, who has been a regular summer resident of Beverly Farms. The new owner will make improvements before spring and will use the house for his own occupancy. This estate is one of the most desirable at the Farms, located with a good frontage on Hale street and extending to the rear making a large area of level grass land which is now improved by a lawn tennis court and gardens. The house is a large wooden one and modern and the location is all that could be desired.

Two base hits—J. McInnis, 6, McInnis. Sacrifice hits, Connolly, Robinson. Sacrifice fly, McNair; stolen bases, McInnis, A. McInnis, Lufkin; struck out by Andrews 4, McNair 6. Base on balls, Andrews 6; McNair 5. Left on base. All Stars, 1; Beverly Farms, 3; Time 1 hr.. Umpires, McCormick and Stevens.

You Know, Madam, How the Styles in Millinery Change Every Season.

The hat you're wearing this autumn will not be fashionable next spring. Just so with furniture. New creations for the home are appearing constantly with every recurring cycle of time, many of them being advertised extensively in the high-class magazines and periodicals.

It's a great pleasure to know, too, that at Titus' all the new styles are shown here first and exclusively and they're changed, presto, as soon as the latest fashions are set. And how much more delightful it is to find them right in your midst, lower in price than anywhere else. A new and fashionable treatment of the chamber is with

A Colonial Bed Room Suit

—IN GRAY ENAMEL—

That we are exhibiting. The soft gray tone of the smooth enamel and the four posts of the bed, which motif is extended to the standards supporting the mirrors on the chiffonier and dresser, are the distinctive stylish features of one of the prettiest colonial types, which makes this suit very fashionable, while its soft color lends itself, harmoniously, to any dainty color scheme in the chamber. If, then, you would have not only an expression of refined taste and ultra style, but also of real beauty in your guest chamber or own personal sleeping apartment, we suggest that you speak quickly for this particular suit. The outlay is by no means expensive.

SOCIETY NOTES

Most interesting among the recent engagements is that of Miss Josephine Dorr and William Eustis Russell, which was announced last Saturday at a tea which Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dorr gave at their home in Cambridge. The Dorr's spent the summer at the Brownlands, Manchester, where they were quite active in the social life. The two girls, Miss Josephine and her elder sister, Miss Katherine were much in demand all summer, and were invited to everything. They have spent more or less time abroad since they were presented. They are both musically inclined. At a musical given by Mrs. Russell Tyson they took part. Mr. Russell is the elder son of the late Governor Wm. E. Russell. His mother is now Mrs. Michael Foster of London. He was graduated from Harvard in 1908, and makes his home in Cambridge with his younger brother, Richard M. Russell, an undergraduate at the university. His sister, Miss Margaret Russell, recently arrived from London to make her debut in Boston this winter, where she will be presented by her uncle and aunt, Col. and Mrs. Harry E. Russell, who are still at Manchester Cove.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Edwin A. Boardman gave a luncheon last Saturday at her cottage at Beverly Farms, for Mrs. Charles Howard, who has recently returned from Europe.

◆ ◆ ◆

The George von L. Meyers are keeping their country home at Hamilton open until after election next week. The Charles H. Tweeds, the H. C. Fricks and the Sidney Hutchinsons are others keeping the seashore houses open late this autumn.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Richard M. Saltonstall of Bay State road, Boston, is to give a dance for her daughter, Miss Nora Saltonstall, in the ballroom of the Somerset on the night of Wednesday, Dec. 18.

Miss Frances R. Morse has closed her country house at Dover and moved into her town residence, 12 Marlborough St., Boston.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Tyson, who have spent some weeks at their farm in Brattleboro, Vt., since leaving Manchester, are back in Chicago in time for the graduation exercises of the second class to go out from the training school connected with the Children's Memorial hospital, in which institution both Mr. and Mrs. Tyson are actively interested. They are especially interested in the class this year from the fact that two girls which Mrs. Tyson sent out to Chicago from Manchester are to graduate after three years' training. Mrs. Tyson influenced two more Manchester girls to take the course this fall.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Arthur Little of the Beverly Farms colony has cards out for the presentation of her second daughter, Miss Anne Middleton Means, 3d, on Wednesday, the 20th of November, from 4 o'clock until 7, at the town home, 35 Commonwealth avenue, Boston. There will be dancing.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. George Lee and Miss Margery Lee's cards went out last week for the at home on Thursday, Nov. 14, from 4 until 7, at 617 Boylston street, Brookline, when Miss Lee will be presented. There will be dancing. The Lee's closed their seashore house at Beverly Farms the first of this week.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Eben D. Jordan returned to Boston last week after a 6 months' absence in Scotland. Miss Dorothy Jordan is remaining over in Paris.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Boardman of West Manchester, are giving a dinner at Copley Plaza on Monday, Dec. 2, for 100 guests, before the ball which Miss Mary S. Ames is giving for her niece, Miss Olivia Ames, that same night.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Norman have leased Mrs. Francis C. Green's house, 47 Beacon St., Boston, for the coming winter. Miss Hope Norman, their daughter, is one of this season's debutantes.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. Robert C. Winthrop and Miss Clara Winthrop, her daughter, are to close their house at West Manchester, early next week, and will sail during the week for Europe. They plan to be away a year, and, accordingly, will not occupy their large estate on the North Shore next season. They will spend most of the time abroad with Mrs. Winthrop's married daughter, Mrs. J. Grant Forbes and family. Miss Clara Winthrop was in Newport last week for a few days' visit with her aunts, the Misses Mason, before the latter closed their estate for the season.

◆ ◆ ◆

The important wedding of the week in Boston, of interest to many North Shore people, will be that tomorrow of Miss Katharine Saltonstall and Philip Balch Weld. The wedding will take place at noon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip L. Saltonstall, at Hyde Park.

◆ ◆ ◆

Childs Frick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Frick of Pride's Crossing arrived in New York the first of this week on the France, after returning from his long ornithological research in Abyssinia, where he has been a year. He brings with him a valuable collection of birds and mammals and much interesting data. He will spend the autumn on the North Shore, where he has usually taken a prominent part in the fall meets of the Myopia Hunt club.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Saltonstall of Beverly Cove, uncle and aunt of Miss Josephine Rantoul, are giving a dinner of 30 covers at the Copley-Plaza, before the ball which Mr. and Mrs. Neal Rantoul are giving for their daughter on Friday evening, Dec. 13.

Miss Elizabeth Bigelow is giving a small luncheon for Miss Margaret Russell next Thursday, Nov. 7, at her home, 17 Marlboro St., Boston. Miss Bigelow has had the arrangement in charge for the dance which Miss Adele G. Thayer is to give at The Tuileries on Wednesday, Nov. 20, from 10 to 2, for Miss Sarah Winslow.

SOCIETY NOTES

F. K. M. Rehn is back again in his studio in the Hotel Chelsea, New York City. He speaks enthusiastically of his summer season at Magnolia. "Never did better work," he says. At present he is engaged upon a large painting for the Corcoran Art Gallery, in Washington. Before leaving Magnolia he made two large studies from J. Harrington Walker's beautiful summer residence, one looking towards Boston, including Coolidge's Point, Manchester, Marblehead and the islands; the other facing Eastern Point, with Cobble Shore Beach in the foreground, and the deeply indented shore covered with its exquisite verdure.

Judge Moore is to have a big string of harness horses at the horse show at Madison Square Garden, New York, from Nov. 16 to 23, inclusive. Among the new ones he will exhibit will be Bountiful, his latest purchase from England. This mare is a wonderfully attractive animal. She made her first appearance in the novice class at the international show in London this summer, and at the close of it won the championship and the prize for the best in the exhibition. The Belgian army officers who are coming over to jump in the international contests at the show will be an interesting feature. They are bringing with them four of the best horses in the Belgian army and will make a much better showing than last year.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. William F. Draper and her daughter, Miss Margaret Draper, after spending the summer at Manchester, have returned to Washington, where their home has been refurnished in magnificent style throughout. Mrs. Draper will give her usual series of dinners, the annual cotillon, and will have an evening at home as she did last year.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. Reginald Foster of the Coolidge Point colony has sent out cards for an "At Home" which she will give at her Boston house, 48 The Fenway, on Tuesday, Nov. 12, from 4:30 until 7 o'clock, for her daughter, Miss Ruth Foster, and Miss Lucy Aspinwall, both debutantes. Miss Aspinwall is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Henry Aspinwall of Chestnut Hill.

Mrs. Lathrop Brown's stables, her horses entered under the name of "Miss Chamblet" and wearing the cherry and white racing colors of her late father, Robert C. Hooper of West Manchester were prominently represented at the Belmont Park terminal, New York, last Saturday. It was the first day's card of the three days' meeting of the United Hunts Racing association. In the first race Miss Chamblet's Simon Dale was entered and Rice Grain and Bill Andrews were run in the fourth. Lieut. George S. Patton, Jr., had two horses in the third race, Wing and Night Dress. Lieut. Patton is a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ayer of Pride's Crossing. Mr. and Mrs. Brown, by the way, will keep their estate at St. James, L. I., open all winter, where they will entertain a number of weekend house parties.

Our Boston office is at their service at all times. Orders left at our Boston office will receive the personal attention of Mr. Lodge, and prompt service is guaranteed. Office open 9 to 5. Telephone 3660 Oxford.

SOCIETY NOTES

The fair which the Vincent club plans to hold in the Copley Plaza Nov. 26, gives every indication of being an interesting affair from a social and financial standpoint. Mrs. Philip Sears of Pride's Crossing will have charge of the baby goods and many novel and useful articles are promised for this table. Miss Elise Pollard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Pollard of Brookline and East Gloucester will be one of those at the candy table. Other North Shore people, who will be prominently identified with the project are Miss Alice Thorndike of the West Manchester summer colony, at the toy booth, Miss Minna Lyman of Boston and Beverly Farms, in charge of the flower table, and Mrs. Archibald Blanchard of Boston and Nahant, who will superintend the cafe.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. Leland Littlefield of Providence has been a house guest of Mrs. Thomas Laughlin at Pride's Crossing the past week.

♦ ♦ ♦

Miss Clara Winthrop gave a farewell party to the choir boys of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Boston, in whom she has been so interested for a number of years, at the Winthrop summer home at West Manchester last Saturday. Miss Winthrop is to go abroad about the fifth of next month and will not return for a year. The boys were entertained so pleasantly at the big house that the memory of the day will surely last until Miss Winthrop's return.

Of Interest to Motorists.

F. D. Stidham, who is known to motorists and the automobile trade as a touring expert, has joined forces with the New England Auto List Company, and will conduct a touring department in their publication each week.

This service will enable the motor tourist to keep in touch with all road improvements in New England and give him accurate and timely information of detours, and new and attractive scenic trips.

The value of the list of State registration of pleasure cars, commercial vehicles and motor cycles to the trade, to the municipal authorities and to the individual car owner has been proven by the increased circulation of the weekly, daily and yearly New England Auto List.

Mrs. E. T. Dana Describes Wedding and Expresses Ideals on Marriage

Mrs. Jessie Holliday Dana, wife of Edmund Trowbridge Dana, of Cambridge, sailed recently to spend the winter with her parents, at Harrow, near London, England. Mr. Dana is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Dana of the Manchester summer colony, who are abroad for a year. Just before sailing for England the younger Mrs. Dana wrote the following striking article to the Boston Sunday Herald, describing her wedding and expressing her ideals on marriage:

BY MRS. JESSIE HOLLIDAY DANA

The bride and bridegroom were both dressed in white, symbolic of chastity and also of purity of purpose. The woman should demand precisely the same standard of morality in her mate that is expected of her. The costumes were of great simplicity, this wedding not being a kind of moving picture show, pantomime and circus rolled into one, but a very serious and ethical occasion. The bride wore a white, hand-worked Japanese crepe and white cluster roses in her hair and belt. The bridegroom wore white flannels with a white tussor shirt and flowing tie.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Dana, the parents of the bridegroom, held a reception from 5 to 7 in the grounds of the Craigie House, where some 200 guests assembled to congratulate the couple. They received with Mr. and Mrs. Dana and Mr. Henry Holliday, the father of the bride in the Italian pergola of the rose garden. The bride had changed her wedding dress for a reception dress of pale blue satin under silk net.

As the guests departed each was presented with a small, neatly wrapped white packet, which contained a Fabian tract on Socialism, instead of the usual indigestible lumps of cake.

The proceedings of the newly married pair after the wedding day were marked by equal originality and unconventionality. For a week after the ceremony the young bride continued to live with Mrs. Richard H. Dana, where she had been all the winter, while the bridegroom went on staying with his aunt, Miss Alice Longfellow. They took part in Class day and all the other celebrations of Harvard commencement week, and after another week spent sailing at Marblehead went to Chicago.

Here they visited the Healthatorium of Bernarr Macfadden, the well known exponent of sex morality, real health and physical culture. Mr. Dana fasted 17 days on water with occasional and limited portions of fruit juice, and Mrs. Dana went 40 days on same diet. Both declare that they have benefitted very much by this new treatment, which is becoming quite fashionable in England as a yearly occurrence, both by the sick and the "less sick." (Few or none are well according to her standard.) The theory is that during the fast the system throws off all the impurities and waste matter accumulated in it, firstly, and, most usually, by too much food of an impure or too concentrated nature; secondly, by lack of fresh air and sufficient exercise; third, by overwork, worry and other methods of abuse.

One or all of these conditions generally occur under the present modes of living. Mrs. Dana accounts for the necessity of such a prolonged fast in her own case by the indulgence in candy, salted and sugared nuts, ice cream sodas, etc., and has foresworn these temptations forever.

Mr. Dana, who obtained his Ph. D. in philosophy last June, is running for state senator on the Socialist ticket. Mrs. Dana is going to spend the winter months in England with her parents at Harrow, near London. The long fast has naturally left her rather weakened temporarily, and not quite equal to the rigorous winter of our climate, which she found trying last year. While at home she intends taking a course at the London school of economics "to get a more accurate basis for her belief in Socialism," a correspondence course in ethics and philosophy with her husband, a training in obstetrics at some medical school and singing lessons with her sister. The time should fly for her, as she is going to improve her knowledge of dietetics and intelligent cookery, of which subjects, by the way, America is even more ignorant than England; perfect her housekeeping capacity, reorganize her wardrobe to the most hygienic, simple and beautiful limit allowed in this absurd age, and write articles for several magazines on food reform, decent dress, physical culture, morality in marriage and similar subjects.

She also wants to paint two large pictures for the Royal Academy, take lots of exercise, visit all her friends and relations, and attend lectures and conferences on Socialism, suffrage, prevention of destitution, race regeneration, vegetarianism and Christian Social Science. So, you see, she is not going to spend the hours pining for America. Mr. Dana still needs mental rest after his Ph. D. work, which he crowded into two years instead of the customary three, as well as putting in work in articles, speeches, teaching, etc. So he is not planning quite so strenuous a winter session for himself, and she hopes to find him thoroughly rested and built up in the spring.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

The announcement that David Belasco will present his famous production of "The Concert" at the Hollis Street theatre, Boston, for two weeks beginning Nov. 4, is welcome news to theatre goers. Philip Hale, dramatic critic of the Boston Herald says of this play:

"The Concert" is a dramatization of the Old Adam in man and the Old Eve in woman, which this day and generation chooses to call "artistic temperament." Gabor Arany, the hero of the comedy is a world-famous piano virtuoso. He is handsome, debonnaire, beloved of many beautiful women. He is imbued with the artistic spirit to the very roots of his hair. He is temperamental to the very tips of his exquisite fingers. Careful and prudent, and cautious as he is on occasion capable of being, that terrible temperament will play all sorts of queer tricks on him, carrying him into the depths and heights of folly, as temperaments have a way of doing, when not controlled by a strong will.

This genius has a wife who is not gifted with the artistic vagaries that bother her husband. Nobody realizes that fortunate fact better than she does. She watches over her husband as a mother does over her foolish child. She is a patient wife, and forbearance is one of her greatest virtues. In spite of her husband's many flirtations, and his affairs with other charm-ers, she continues to love him. She has a keen sense of humor and a sympathetic understanding of her husband's short-comings. When harm in the form of a foolish escapade with another woman, hovers near, this wise wife goes to her husband's aid and protects him.

Just how she does it is charmingly told in the production that Mr. Belasco will make.

LONG ENDORSES ATHERTON.
REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR REGISTER OF PROBATE.

Hon. John D. Long of Hingham, former governor, congressman, and secretary of the navy, has written an autograph letter to Horace H. Atherton, Jr., of Saugus, the Republican candidate for Register of Probate in Essex County this fall, of which the following is a copy:

"Dear Mr. Atherton:—Remembering your association with the press and your service as private secretary to Congressmen Barrett and Roberts, I am happy to hear that you are the Republican candidate for register of probate in Essex County, and believe that you have the qualifications for a very successful official.

Truly yours,
JOHN D. LONG.

Compares Wilson with Lincoln

Says the Democrat Captain Falls Far Short of the Leader of '61

AN ARTIST'S EXPRESSION OF THE POLITICAL CRISIS

The character study of Abraham Lincoln and Woodrow Wilson, Democratic candidate for President executed by George Edward Hall, the artist of Bear Skin Neck, has aroused considerable comment among those in town who have seen it. Incidentally Mr Hall, in an interview, gives to the readers of The Review an explanation of his study.

When asked why his portrait did not picture Lincoln as we are accustomed to see him, with whiskers, Mr. Hall answered as follows: "At the time of his nomination he wore none. During the campaign a little girl wrote him she believed he was a good man, but she thought he would look better if he wore whiskers. He wrote the child a tender letter, saying he would think of it. On his way to the inauguration he passed through the town where the little girl lived, and at the station inquired if such a little girl was present. She came; he took her in his arms, and, kissing her, caressingly, told her he would let his whiskers grow. Hence the world came to know Lincoln with a beard.

"Ever since I became an artist I have wished for the ability to paint his firm and gentle face, as I knew and loved him.

"Opening the Boston papers, on the Fourth of July, there was Wilson receiving news of his nomination to that great office which gave Lincoln's greatness to the world. This crystallized my purpose to paint Lincoln as he appeared at his first nomination. Here was Wilson, facing a great crisis, a funny man, lifted into power by Bryan. Lincoln had humor and mirth, but by instinct he knew where they belonged. This unerring certainty of the fitness of things made Lincoln the man of the hour.

"Well, I went to work. The spirit of that moment possessed me as if I had a message from him to the people.

"This print of Lincoln represents my unfinished work. This photograph of Wilson is put forth as he appeared at the moment of receiving the news. Two faces at the windows of destiny, confronting two of the greatest epochs in our history as a nation. I am trying to give you the impression of one, the camera presents the other. One shows reverent devotion, grand idealism, the dignity of nature, an inherent rectitude, and an 'ardor in the blood' responding to the call of humanity.

"And what must we say of poor, dear Wilson? He comes tagging on, after Bryan, and seems to say, 'Oh, isn't it jolly?' 'I've got it.' Here is self-inflation instead of self-effacement, seemingly, a 'feeble temper' that looks upon the foam of the whirlpool nor thinks of the rocks beneath. He stands revealed, irresponsible as a child pleased with a new toy; his lack in judgment is shown in permitting this picture to go forth, also in meeting men, as when he met Underwood, the embodiment of the Ryan-Murphy gang; of whom he said, as reported by the Associated Press:

'I found hi mentirely charming. He has such a singular frankness and openness and charm about him. I don't know of any man I have met in a long time that I have taken such a fancy to. We had a fine talk, he and I, just going over the whole situation in a most satisfactory way. Really, just like two men who had always known each other.'

"What is not in a man cannot be brought out of a man even by Bryan. Professor Wilson is a gentleman of culture. Has he the sand? This is not time for qualms or to split hairs. A grave issue is before the people. We do not want weak men or funny men; the people and the times demand a man.

"While Mammon is invisible there is another invisible power, one that steadied Lincoln's hand and makes for righteousness. Had Lincoln's integrity been known by Wall Street, he never could have been elected President, no more than Bryan has been elected. Nor could we have had Roosevelt. He made himself obnoxious to the interests when he was Governor of New York, and they shelved him in the Vice-Presidency."

There is no sense in this third term boggy. No tradition should stand in the path of the people. Not one of these monopolists that are crying for the blood of the third term, would discharge an employe because he held a place for a certain term of years. There are only two great men who have fought nationally the boss and the monopoly. One has been bereft of opportunity; the other has historic record, as Lincoln had in 1864. We all know how the politicians, the bosses, the generals, the Cabinet and Congress, and Wall Street combated his second term, but the people were with him. Why? Because he believed in the rule of the people. He had brought the erring states back to their allegiance.

Since the close of the War and the death of the Great Leader, the politicians of both great parties have exploited the rights of the people under a system of Representative Government which represents, not the people, but the money changers. They fought in the light and hugged in the dark. That force that had prosecuted the War and saved the Union seemed to perish with the great Leader. The cohorts of Mammon took its place, and both parties see-sawed for supremacy. A mushroom growth infested the land; a mad haste to be rich took possession of the souls of men. Men forgot that men were brothers; the rich taxed the poor; employers trampled on the rights of labor; competition crowded the weaker to the wall, until monopoly, protected by representative laws, robbed the individual of his heritage of freedom, and the people of their guaranty of rights.

Public utilities were seized and converted to private uses, the waterways and the public domain squandered until the price of living has gone almost beyond human reach. Indeed, it is time to stop and think, and to act; to rise above the misrepresentations of the general press. Let us read both sides; ponder all things and demand the right.

There is but one great right, and that is the right of all and this right finds expression in the Initiative and Referendum and the Recall. Both the old parties stand aghast at the thought of the people meddling with such dangerous weapons; does not their very opposition prove the urgent need of these reforms? Study their meaning, and you will find their essence is, Government by the people, of the people, and for the people, an essence that has been fifty years crystallizing into action, since those words were uttered by the immortal Lincoln on the field at Gettysburg, where lay our patriot dead.

The Five Thousand Fed

*There is a lad here, that hath five barley loaves and two fishes.
John VI:9.*

He called the lad,
And, giving thanks for what he had,
He blest and brake
The bread,
And bade the multitude partake.
So all were fed.

The little grew
To meet occasion due.
With ample food
The hungry crowd supplied,
Till all were satisfied.
Moreover,
Much left over.

God is a bounteous giver,
His mercies like the river,
Evermore on going,
Unspent by flowing.

A WORD FROM

C. Augustus Norwood

Republican Candidate for Senator Third Essex District

As a representative the last two years I have worked for the following measures:

I made the motion and worked tirelessly for the gratuity bill for the G. A. R. veterans.

In the last session I voted and took an active interest in the Spanish War veterans' preference bill. As a member of the Fish and Game committee, I helped push the Schofield Clam bill through the committee and through the House.

Also by virtue of membership in this important committee I did much to further the interest of local gunners.

As a member representing seven small towns I have been in close touch with the farming interest and, through co-operation with the grange, have at all times worked for the farmers, and especially in reference to the milk bills, and the Essex County Agricultural school.

I worked hard and assisted in passing appropriation bills for dredging in Manchester and Gloucester harbor. I am in close touch with the situation and ready to take up further work next year.

The Workingmen's Compensation Act which means so much to the working man went through my committee and consequently I am in close touch with the bill and able to handle the many important amendments which will be presented in 1913. The matter has received my earnest support for two years. In 1912 I voted against the amendment which would enable corporations to start a system of their own, which would work a hardship to the working man.

Other labor bills for 1912 received my hearty co-operation which I will continue to give in the future, if elected.

I have several unsolicited endorsements of labor organizations.

VOTE ON SCHOOL PROBLEM.

VOTERS WILL GET OPPORTUNITY ON TUESDAY TO EXPRESS SENTIMENTS FAVORABLE OR OTHERWISE ON ESTABLISHMENT OF AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL.

The voters of Essex County will find on their ballots, November 5, the following question, upon which the Legislature of 1912 ordered that a vote be taken:

SHALL ESSEX COUNTY ESTABLISH AN INDEPENDENT AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL?

If this proposition gets a majority vote, the law as passed last year (Chapter 587, Acts of 1912) requires that such a school shall immediately be established. Provision is made that seventy-five thousand dollars may be raised by bond issue for the land, buildings and equipment. Half the running expenses is to be borne by the State, provided the State Board of Education approves the school as to its location and administration. The other half of the operating expenses is to be met by county taxation, the whole amount for this purpose from state and county being limited to twenty-five thousand dollars a year.

When the bill providing for the possible establishment of this school was before the Legislature, representatives of the Massachusetts Board of Education were frequently consulted. In its present form, the bill has the approval of the Board. If a school is established, it will be expected that the Board, through its representatives shall actively co-operate with the county authorities in order that the highest possible standards of agricultural education shall be maintained. A number of western states have schools of this character and invariably they have proven helpful, not only in agricultural education, but in giving local farmers expert assistance in a variety of ways.

It would be the aim of the Board of Education in its supervision of such a school, to insure that the work should be of the highest practical character. Practical farming, agricultural science, farm accounting, and similar subjects would be taught. The Board would like to see the school established where practically all of the pupils attending it could go to their homes each night.

 The Child's Labor Bureau Law.

Read this opinion of him expressed some years ago by one of his opponents in this campaign

(Hon. George A. Schofield in the Ipswich Chronicle.)
 July 27, 1899.

"We have known A. P. GARDNER for some time, and can say of him just this: He is courteous, generous, able and fair-minded, and the people of Hamilton and Ipswich also, know and appreciate him. He was just the same before he entered politics and he would be just the same if he met with political success.

"He is not of the class of rich men whom the laborer need fear, and while we hope that some good Democrat may be the next Senator from this District, if it is to be a Republican we would rather Trust the interests of the laboring man with A. P. GARDNER than with those who are trying to down him."

If you approve of the above Record; if you approve of the words of Senator Schofield when he was not a candidate himself; if you believe that the 6th, District can gain nothing by exchanging an experienced National Legislator for one inexperienced at Washington, we ask you to Vote Next Tuesday for the Re-election of Congressman A. P. Gardner.

Public Hearing

PUBLIC HEARING.

The Board of Selectmen will give a public hearing at their office, Town hall building, at 7:30 o'clock p. m., Nov. 19, 1912, on the application of Louis M. L. Clarke, trustee, for a permit for the storage of gasoline and of automobiles in his garage situated on Summer street, Manchester, agreeably to the provisions of law regarding the same.

Per Order of Selectmen
EDWARD S. KNIGHT,
Chairman.

Monday evening arrangements were made for forming a first aid to the injured class in connection with the Red Cross society. About twenty young women met at the home of Mrs. L. W. Carter, School street, where the plans were discussed for the course. Lectures and lessons by nurses and physicians the second and fourth Mondays of each month comprise the course, and each pupil, who passes the two examinations given, is entitled to a Red Cross uniform. That the young women are interested, is shown by the large number who met at Mrs. Carter's. There seems every reason to hope for the success of the new project which cannot be anything but beneficial.

William Walen is enjoying a vacation from his work in his brother's pharmacy. After a few days spent at Concord, N. H., he, with Archie Coole of this town, went on to New York for a short visit.

Tuesday an invitation dancing party was held in the Town hall. The hall was decorated with grey crepe paper and artificial pumpkins. At one end of the hall was placed an immense grey ghost with a pumpkin head which was illuminated during the moonlight waltzes.

Miss Annabel Harraden left Tuesday morning for an extended visit with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sargent, of Minneapolis.

A DELIGHTFUL BARN PARTY

In keeping with that delightful custom which has become so popular among the summer residents along the Shore within the last few years, Mr. and Mrs. R. Henry Barbour entertained the employes of their estate at a dancing party last Saturday night. The party was held in the big garage at "Journey's End," the Barbour summer home, and was attended by the employes and their friends to the number of nearly an hundred. John Ryan, the gardener of the estate, had charge of the affair. The garage was decorated with evergreens, jap-lanterns and colored electric bulbs and appeared like some sylvan bower in fair-day attire when Long's orchestra struck up the opening march and the first dancers came upon the floor. An added touch of enjoyment was lent the occasion early in the evening when the master and mistress of the estate attended for a time. Refreshments were served throughout the evening and the festivities were continued until midnight.

He finds the accident due entirely to Mrs. Roberts' carelessness. News of the finding reached Manchester last Friday, but not until after the Breeze had been printed.

P. H. BOYLE OF MANCHESTER IS CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Manchester has some local interest in the election next Tuesday from the fact that a Manchester man, Patrick H. Boyle, is on the ticket as candidate for representative from this district. It is Manchester's turn this year to send a representative to the General Court and Mr. Boyle is the man, on the Republican side of the ticket. He will receive a large vote, as he is well and popularly known to everybody in town.

L. F. HUNT OF MAGNOLIA, DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

Magnolia is represented on the election ballot next Tuesday by one of her best and most popular citizens, Lafayette H. Hunt, the proprietor of Magnolia market. Mr. Hunt is running for representative to the General Court on the Democratic side of the ticket. He will poll a large vote from all sections of the district, it is expected.

"Has-Beens" Wallop Manchester Regulars.

(Omitted From Last Week's Issue)

Last Saturday will surely be remembered by Manchester baseball fans, it being the day the Manchester nine of the past two years, was given an awful beating by Manchester's once famous ball team of 1902-03, now known as the "Has-Beens." The regulars never had a look-in after the first inning. The support given the "Has-Beens" pitcher and catcher, considering the fact the old team has not played for eight years, was wonderful.

Ralph Stanley at first played a good steady game, as also did Doc. Dougherty at second, while the fielding of Fred Dougherty at short and of Wilkinson at third was marvellous.

The fielding of Hubbard, Wheaton and C. Fritz deserve much credit, also the batting of Fritz and Wheaton. Too much credit cannot be given to Yack Lindholm, the pitcher, and O'Malley his catcher, while Manager William W. Hoare had McGraw and Jennings beat to a standstill on the coaching lines. Considering he had only one week to get his team into shape the final score of 10 to 3 seems large.

The line-up of the "Has-Beens": Wm. W. Hoare, manager; R. O'Malley, catcher; Lindholm, pitcher; Ralph Stanley, first base; Dr. Dougherty, short; E. Wilkinson, 3rd base; W. Hubbard, r. f.; P. Wheaton, l. f.; C. Fritz c. f.

MAYOR FITZGERALD SPEAKS AT RALLY IN MANCHESTER.

(Omitted From Last Issue.)

The largest and most enthusiastic Democratic rally ever held in Manchester was that of last week Wednesday, when the Town hall was well filled by voters. Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston was the big attraction. In his inimitable style he entertained the large gathering for three quarters of an hour. He arrived in his automobile at 8:15 and after his speech proceeded to Gloucester to address another large audience in City hall. The mayor said Manchester people had doubtless heard much of him, but have never had a chance to get a look at him at close range, and so he was here to get in close touch with them. He paid his respects to one of the Boston papers that had been assailing him of late, and dove into the issues of the campaign with vigor and eloquence. He made a strong speech advocating the election of the Democratic ticket entire, and predicted that the election of a Democratic congress as well as a Democratic president, also a Democratic legislature in Massachusetts was essential for the continued success of the government and the welfare of the American people. He paid his respects to the trusts and said that they were responsible for the high cost of living and should be eliminated. He got after Senator Lodge and Congressman Gardner and said they did not work for many things that would greatly benefit Massachusetts.

The mayor was warmly applauded during his speech. He was given a royal welcome when he entered the hall.

Preceding the mayor, Frank C. Richardson of Essex, candidate for senator gave one of his speeches, filled with enthusiasm as usual. Rev. Mr. Burnell of Mansfield also spoke, and the last speaker was Senator Schofield of Ipswich, who made the principal portion of his speech getting after Congressman Gardner, his opponent.

Frank A. Foster, chairman of the Democratic Town committee, presided. The Manchester Brass band played on the common previous to the meeting.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

A political party—if it be a good one—should always welcome opposition, fair or foul. For it is a test of that party's worth—an opportunity, by ranging itself against its opponent, to show its own superiority before the eyes of the people.

In the American political world the coming Tuesday is to be one of the most meaning days in the history of the Republic. The Republican party—that grand, old organization of half-a-century's usefulness, comes to the bar on trial for its life. That greatest of American courts—American public opinion—sits in judgment. Both sides have been heard—friends of the party have told of the thousand steps of progress it has taken, the innumerable reforms and improvements it has made; enemies of the party have proven only too plainly against it the viciousness, corruption and moral degeneracy that come to every party when it has come into absolute dominion. The question to be decided is whether or not, with its past record for good and bad as a basis, the Republican party is worthy of another period of power. And—all estimates and forecasts to the contrary notwithstanding—not even the shrewdest political sharp can say how the court will decide. Only the poll will tell whether the Republican party is to continue longer, or be condemned to pass away.

PRESIDENT TAFT.

In the myriad little compartments of thousands of polling houses throughout the broad land the most crucial presidential contest of a half-century is to be decided next Tuesday. At the same time, it is a most interesting contest—for there are three BIG parties in the field rather than the two that have weathered all the storms of the country since 1860. Mr. Taft, candidate of the G. O. P., stands for re-election on the merits of his past administration. Mr. Wilson, candidate of the Democracy, asks election as a conservative reformer. Mr. Roosevelt projected by a wide company of office-seekers as the saviour of the Republic, stands for radical reform of everything and everybody but himself. Of the three men, Mr. Taft unquestionably is more representative of the great body of thinking Americans than either of the other candidates. Mr. Roosevelt is nothing more than a political joy-rider. Mr. Wilson comes forth from the pedagogic sanctum of Princeton and offers a government tried and proven by cubic root and calculus. Mr. Taft has had the reins of government in his hands for full four years and has handled them with a clarity and singleness of purpose, a sanity of judgment, and a patience under criticism which commend him to every thinking man of honest mind. We wish for him an over-whelming re-election.

CONGRESSMAN GARDNER.

Scarcely less interesting than the presidential fight, and fully as momentous to the men and women of the Sixth Essex Congressional district is the fight of Congressman Augustus Peabody Gardner for re-election. On Page 11 of this issue appears Mr. Gardner's record in Congress. Read the list of bills which he has supported and note the immense amount of effort in behalf of the people which they mean. The Pure Food law, the Employers' Liability law, the law suppressing White Slave traffic, and laws restricting immigration stand like monuments to the achievement of this man and the few in Congress like him. His adversaries in this campaign seek to impugn his record and begot the issue with statements and actions which show only how small they are as compared with his strong self-possession. Let them rant—their activities will but show the worth of Gardner and more. For this is a case where opposition, however rank, is unfearful and rather welcome. We extend our compliments and give our vote to Augustus Peabody Gardner.

September Crop Report.

The Crop Report for September, published by the Massachusetts State Board of Agriculture, has just come from the press. Weather conditions for the country and State are summarized, and the condition of crops for the country as a whole are touched upon, but the larger part of the space is devoted to a discussion of crops in Massachusetts. This issue also contains an article upon "Pruning the Apple Tree," by C. D. Jarvis, Ph.D., of the Connecticut Agricultural College, giving directions as to the proper methods to employ and, by illustrations, showing the most desirable type of tree for commercial apple growing. A copy of this Crop Report may be had by applying to J. Lewis Ellsworth, Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, 136 State House, Boston, Mass. These reports are issued monthly from May to October of each year, and all applicants may have their names placed on the permanent mailing list, if they so desire.

As an introduction to this article, Dr. Jarvis says:

"The architect or builder, before building a house, selects a certain style of structure, and this style is followed to the end. The man who would be successful in building up a fruit-bearing structure must also select a style or ideal, and this ideal should be kept constantly in mind throughout the various stages of development. The apple tree is a wonderfully tractable object and may be made to assume almost any shape. Any one who has tried to develop a spreading habit in a Sutton apple tree may disagree with me on this point, for this and some other varieties are sometimes difficult to train, but even the most obstinate cases may be brought under control if proper methods are followed."

In regard to the two distinct types of trees, he says:

"In the pruning of apple trees there are two distinct styles or ideals, the central-leader type and the open-center type, each with its corps of adherents. The supporters of the central-leader type claim that it is a stronger structure and not so likely to be broken down by wind and heavy crops of fruit. This is a strong argument, but it is offset by many disadvantages. With certain naturally spreading varieties, like Greening, Tolman Sweet, or Fall Pippin, it works very well, but with the upright growers there is a tendency to grow too tall and to get out of reach of the spraying apparatus."

In regard to the proper time for pruning operations, Dr. Jarvis calls attention to the following facts:

"Regular annual pruning or training will give best results. A severe pruning once in three or four years upsets the equilibrium of the tree, and in the long run is not economical. As a rule, pruning should be done while the tree is dormant. Some prefer to prune in the early spring, for the reason that wounds made at this time usually heal more readily. If the work is started in the fall, it is more likely to get the attention that it deserves, and when the first suitable days for spraying arrive the trees will be ready."

OBSERVED HER 76th BIRTHDAY.

Mrs. Martha A. (Jewett) Stanwood, one of Riverdale's estimable residents, quietly observed her 76th birthday, Friday of last week, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Valentine, Central street, Manchester. Many friends called during the day to extend congratulations and the hostess also received many gifts, besides a large shower of birthday post cards, which Mrs. Stanwood greatly appreciated. Mrs. Stanwood is a native of Ipswich and she has a twin sister, Mrs. Mary Bennett of Kennebunk, Me., who usually is with her sister on her birthday but was unable to be here this year.

NEW BOOKS.

ADDED TO MANCHESTER PUBLIC LIBRARY THIS WEEK.

A number of books have been added to the Manchester Public library this week, including essays, history, biography and fiction.

A collection of essays entitled "The Inn of Tranquility," by John Galsworthy, the author of "The Patrician" and other works of fiction, treat of life and literature. Booker T. Washington, the principal of Tuskegee Institute spent a well-earned vacation in Europe. When there a good deal of his time was given to observing the conditions of the laboring class in the different countries he visited. As a result we have his latest work "The Man Farthest Down." It is a very interesting description of the conditions he found.

"The Doctor's Table Talk" by Dr. Mumford, a well-known Boston surgeon, is very entertaining reading. In it he gives his views of many things pertaining to the life of a physician. It reminds one of a book published last year, "The Corner of Harley Street," which was supposed to be written by a physician. Both books are well worth reading.

Those interested in ships and sea captains will find much information about them in one of the newest volumes of the "Home University Library," "Master Mariners."

Anything written about the life of Lincoln is generally read. There is a new work, "Personal Traits of Lincoln," just out. It is written by the daughter of one of the men who wrote the best life of Lincoln. Her father intended to have a chapter on Lincoln's personal traits in the life by Nicolay and Hay, and a collection of anecdotes were made to that end. For some reason the chapter was not written. The above book is gleaned from material gathered at that time.

In this week's list is a short History of Scotland by Andrew Lang, who has just died. He was a brilliant Scotchman, who wrote on most every kind of a subject from fairy tales to history. The younger patrons of the library will know him as the author of "The Blue Fairy Book," and other fairy books of different colors.

Among the newer English novelists no name is better known to us than Arnold Bennett the author of "Old Wives Tale" and "Clayhanger." He made a short visit to America recently. He wrote for Harper's Magazine his impressions of his American experiences. They are now published in book form under the title "Your United States." It is needless to say they are well-written. They are also well illustrated, for he brought an artist with him. The illustrations add much to the value of the book.

There was a good deal of romance mixed up with the hard facts and experiences of the early republic. Something of this romance is told in a pleasing manner by Mary Caroline Crawford in her new work "Romantic Days in the Early Republic." She is the author of "Old Boston Days and Ways."

Among the new fiction will be found "The Voice," by Margaret Doland, author of "Old Chester Tales," and "The Iron Woman," and other novels. In this short story two of the characters we found so attractive in "Old Chester Tales," Doctor Lavender, the old minister, and Doctor King, the kind-hearted physician appear again.

Another short story, "Yates Pride," is by Mary Wilkins Freeman. It is the rather pathetic story of the pride of a New England maiden lady. It makes another addition to that author's large gallery of New England characters.

The boy scouts will be glad to see among the new books "Boy Scouts of Berkshire."

There is also a very interesting novel "The Cry in the Wilderness" by Mary Waller, author of "The Carver of Lympus." It is a story that when you have once started you will not want to leave until finished.

We could mention others on the list that are just as interesting, but space will not permit. Below is given the full list:

Inn of Tranquility, Galsworthy 824-G; Man Farthest Down, Washington 331-W; Master Mariners, Spears 910-S8; Personal Traits of Abraham Lincoln, Nicolay B-L7366; Romantic Days in the Early Republic, Crawford, 9732-C2; Short History of Scotland, Lang 941-L; Wireless Man, Collins 654-C; Your United States, Bennett 973-B3. Fiction, Boy Scouts of Berkshire, Eaton E1411; Cry in the Wilderness, Waller W198.6; Inner Flame, Burnham B966.21; Royal Road, Ollivant O49.2; Sanctuary, The, Peterson P485.1; Six Girls Grown Up, Taggart T125.3; Voice, The, Deland D33.8; Yates Pride, Wilkins-Freeman W68.22.

THE MENACE OF THE BOLT.

There are several phases of the coming election to which none too much attention is being paid by the rank and file of the voters. With but one of these, however, is it necessary to deal at this time and that one is vital to the welfare of Massachusetts. In a few words it is the menace the bolting party holds out to the success of the State ticket of the Republican party. Whatever difference of opinion Republicans may have on national issues, and it is conceded that practically the entire strength of the third party movement comes from the Republicans, there is no difference of views as to the desirability of continuing the administrative policies of the Republicans in the management of the State. It is not possible to conceive of any third party gathering enough seats in the Legislature to gain control of that body or anything that approximates control. In many of the Legislative districts the vote in the past few years has been so close that a change of even a few votes will wipe out the small margin of victory of the Republicans, and while these few votes can be no more than a compliment to the third party candidate they are morally certain to defeat the purpose and desire of the Republicans who cast them by resulting in the election of a Democrat to the seat in the Legislature which is in question.

This possibility is fraught with too many dangers to be passed over lightly. Should there be a Democratic Legislature it means a Democrat in the Speaker's chair, one in the seat of the President of the Senate and what is far more serious a Democrat in the United States Senate from Massachusetts, which no Republican would care to see.

Not only would a Democratic Legislature mean all these things, but it would also mean that the cities and towns about Boston would be brought into actual physical oneness with Boston proper in a Greater Boston bill; a thing for which none of the smaller residential or manufacturing places within the Metropolitan zone desire or relish thinking of.

It would mean the complete overturn of practically every policy of government which, maintained for fifty years by the Republican Party, has placed our State in the front rank for sane and successful management.

There is clearly too much at stake for any vote to be wasted in compliment to the individual or mistaken sense of too great duty to principle, which has no place in the discussion of purely local issues in the decision of which all good citizens should be united on the side of clean State Government.

CIVIL EXAMINATIONS FOR STENOGRAPHERS.

A competitive examination for stenographers, typewriters, class 9, will be held as already scheduled on December, 1912. The regulation speed tests will be given. In addition a speed test as low as 75 words a minute will be given. Those passing only this 75 word test will have their names placed upon the eligible list and will find many places open to them at a salary of $8 per week to begin with, where chances are exceptionally good for speedy and substantial promotion.

Only citizens of the United States who have been residents of Massachusetts for the past year have a right to apply for service of the commons wealth; and only citizens of the United States, who have been residents of Massachusetts for the last year and of Boston for the last six months have a right to apply for the service of Boston.

Men or women desiring to take this examination may secure application blanks by applying in person, or by letter, at the office of the Civil Service commission, room 152, State House, Boston, Mass.

Applications may be filed any time; but in order to entitle a person to appear at this examination, application paper must be filled out and placed on file in the office of the commission on or before November 22, 1912.

MANCHESTER.

Red fire torches and drums stirred up with plenty of enthusiasm and about half a hundred boys and young men gave Manchester the first real touch of pre-election life Monday night. The paraders marched all over town for about an hour, starting from the Common at 8 o'clock. It was a Taft outfit.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lodge motored to Peterboro, N. H., and spent the week-end with Mrs. Lodge's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bullard.

Mrs. R. T. Glendenning went to Northampton over the week-end to visit her daughter, Miss Gwendolen Glendenning, Smith '16.

The Story High school class of '15 held a pretty dancing party in the Town hall last Friday evening and the affair was very well attended. The decorations were of blue and gold, the class colors, and cornstalks and pumpkins as being most appropriate to the month.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Full and son of Newport, R. I., spent Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Rust, School street. Mr. and Mrs. Full have been spending a few weeks at Rockport with relatives.

Miss Grace Merrill, who is attending the Walnut Hill school for girls at Natick, was in town the latter part of last week. Miss Merrill came to attend the High School dance.

The local high school greatly feels the need of a new piano to take the place of the old one, which is almost worn out by the years of constant usage it has received. During the last two years the school has come to take a far greater interest in its music than before and with the formation of the Glee club and the introduction of better music into the regular work it seems that a new piano would add to the credit of the school.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Goodwin and young son returned Monday from a vacation trip to Maine.

Edward Walsh, one of the popular clerks at Allen's drug store, is having his annual two weeks' vacation, part of which he is spending in Newburyport. He will also go to New York for a visit.

Two Manchester young men passed part of last Sunday at one of the delightful camps at West Gloucester and as a feature of their visit they had the novel experience of canoeing on the placid waters of the creek running off Squam river, toward the West Gloucester station. It was a splendid autumn day, the kind that induces one to take a plunge in the briny deep, so our good friends partook of the luxury. So zealous were they to enjoy a swim, they went in from the canoe, clothes and all. The pair later reached shore and pulled up the canoe, perfectly satisfied with their new experience.

SERIES OF POPULAR LECTURES AT MANCHESTER?

A movement has been started by the Manchester club to have a series of six popular lectures in the Town hall the coming winter. A letter has been sent to the members of the club this week as follows:

"The suggestion has been made in the Manchester club, that a series of popular lectures be given in the Town hall in Manchester the coming winter, under the management of the club.

"It is the plan to have six lectures, one each month, beginning in December—if the matter appears to be advisable. To determine that advisability the undersigned were appointed a committee to investigate and report.

"We believe that a series of six good lectures can be given under the management of the club, for not over $350.00.

"We think that tickets for the series of six would need to be sold at $3.00 and that the club should be assured of the sale of one hundred such tickets.

"To the end that an approximation of the number possible to be sold may be obtained, the club members are being asked to answer the questions on the enclosed card and to return the same promptly."

ESSEX IS RIGHT IN THE CENTRE OF The Summer Residence Zone

It has high hills, beautiful woodland drives, a charming lake, a salt water-river which "like a ribbon of silver" flows to the sea. Boating, fishing and bathing abound. Although it has water on all sides it seldom if ever has the disagreeable fog which is so prevalent in other places. The high hills covered with dense forests which surround the town keep the fog away. We have many desirable places aggregating about 2000 acres for sale. One feature of Essex is, our valuation is so low that the addition of but one million would halve the tax rate.

Miss Ethel Stanley has a position with Hamburger, the tailor, at his place of business in the Leahy block.

A committee of baseball fans is to hold a meeting this evening to make arrangements for a complimentary banquet which will be tendered the players on the Beverly Farms baseball team as an appreciation of the excellent work which the local nine has done since forming as a baseball club last July. The local team has crossed the season with a remarkably good record, out of 16 games they won 13.

W. R. Brooks, postmaster at Beverly Farms, announces that the Sunday mails have been discontinued for the winter and that, hereafter, the postoffice will be closed all day Sunday.

CHURCH NOTES.

Rev. A. G. Lindstrom, superintendent of the Swedish department of the Baptist State convention is to come to Beverly Farms soon and conduct a service in Scandinavian and speak to the evening service on Scandinavia in Massachusetts. A splendid tribute was paid the work done by the department this year by the General Secretary of the Massachusetts Baptist convention in Springfield Thursday.

The benevolence and missionary department of the local Baptist church has arranged for a monthly evening service to be devoted to the study of philanthropy and religious work in other places. November, Rev. James G. Norcross will speak on Home land work—America for Christ; December, J. Francis Russell of the Philippines will speak on the Pearl of the Orient; January, Rev. A. G. Lindstrom will speak on Scandinavian-America.

At the annual meeting of the Minister's State conference Rev. Clarence Strong Pond was re-elected director of the Massachusetts Pension fund.

The Ladies' Sewing circle of the Beverly Farms church began their year last Thursday evening at the home of the President, Mrs. Elmer Standley. The circle is over 75 years old has been a most effective and loyal auxiliary to the church. During this period many thousand dollars have been raised and many acts of benevolence have been done. At the meeting Thursday Mrs. Standley was re-elected president. During her term of service wonderful progress has been made and her re-election is the tribute which the ladies paid to her efficiency as a leader. The last year was the most successful the circle has ever had. During the winter the circle plans to meet weekly on Thursday evenings at the homes of the members in alphabetical order. Once a month a supper is planned for the members of the circle.

During the winter my barber shop in Central Square will close daily, except Saturday at 8 p. m. (Mondays at noon as usual). F. P. Gaudreau. *

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Smalley of Pittsfield have been among the visitors to Beverly Farms this week.

Thos. J. McDonnell will complete his duties as special police at the West beach and neighboring properties tomorrow.

Mrs. Fred Williams is reported to be ill and has a trained nurse in attendance.

Mrs. Marshall T. Larcom was pleasantly surprised last Saturday evening by receiving a call from a party of her lady friends and neighbors who offered their congratulations and best wishes on the passing of another mile stone on life's journey.

Rev. C. S. Pond and Willis A. Pride were delegates yesterday to a Baptist Society convention held at Springfield.

The regular meeting of the Beverly Farms firemen will take place in the West St. Engine house next Monday evening.

Next Tuesday is voting day for the election of presidential and state officials. In Ward 6, the voting place will be as usual in G. A. R. hall and the polls open from 6 a. m. to 4 p. m.

The marriage of Miss Anna Gertrude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Larson, to Joseph O'Neil Gluckert will take place next Wednesday. Following the ceremony there will be a reception at the home of the bride's parents at Pride's.

Today Alfred Grant and family, who have been living over the Standley Shoe store for the last year and a half, are moving to Boston. Mr. Grant is the popular meat cutter at Brewer's market.

Mrs. Michael Connolly and child of Pride's sailed for Mrs. Connolly's former home in England Tuesday. They are to be absent several months.

Mrs. Victor Borden and children have taken apartments in the Gilmarlin house on High street for the winter.

Next week Peter Ward is to open a lunch room and restaurant in the building on West street formerly used as a fruit store. Mr. Ward has had considerable experience in this line and as Beverly Farms has a great need of such a place, it is the sincere wish of the Breeze that the venture will be a complete success.

The telephone company last Saturday evening moved from its old quarters in Marshall's block to its new and finely equipped office building on Vine street and at once put into operation the new lighting system.

The local fire department was called out Wednesday afternoon to put out a fire in the Leahy block, which they found had got into the partitions and for a time required considerable work to extinguish. No very great damage was done, but had the flames gained more headway the result would have indeed been serious.

James Nugent, the popular Beverly Farms livery stable proprietor, yesterday returned to his home after several weeks' confinement at the Beverly hospital due to a severe attack of appendicitis. Mr. Nugent has not, however, fully recovered from his illness.

BEVERLY FARMS

The drug store opposite the Pride's Crossing station closed for the winter this week.

James Davey and family moved into the pretty new gardener's cottage on the Frank B. Bemis estate, where Mr. Davey is employed, this week.

A party of Beverly Farms young men have leased a cottage on the shores of Hood's pond, Topsfield, for two weeks and will enjoy a camping trip there. Gunning will take up the greater part of the young men's time. Cooking and housework will be left to the cook and assistant, which have been hired.

Miss Mary Dwyer, who has had charge of the local telephone exchange for over two years, has resigned and her place is being filled by a Boston operator.

Lawrence A. Ford, who has been confined to the Beverly hospital for a long time as the result of an appendicitis operation, has gone to Salem this week, where he will make his home with relatives. Mr. Ford is a well known former Beverly Farms young man.

The annual harvest concert of the Baptist Sunday school will be held at the Farms Baptist church Sunday, November 10th.

The boys of the pastor's class of the Farms Baptist church have invited the Boy Scouts of Manchester to Beverly Farms Saturday, Nov. 2nd, to take a walk through the woods to Gravelly pond, where they will have supper in the open air.

Rev. J. Frank Russel, missionary to the Philippines, a former classmate of Rev. C. S. Pond, will deliver an address on "The Pearl of the Orient" at the Baptist church, Sunday evening, December 1st.

The Girls club held their Christmas sale Tuesday or last week. Miss Florence Chapman had charge of the tea room, Miss Sophia Bennet the fancy table, Miss Alice Larcom the candy table and Miss Carrie Davis the ice cream. The evening's entertainment which was arranged by Miss Florence Chapman was very interesting. The fair was a success in every way.

The old Beverly Farms Orchestra has been re-organized as the John West orchestra under the leadership of Charles H. Hull. They played for the first time under the new name at a meeting of the Pilgrims recently and the Girls club Tuesday of last week. The good work of the orchestra is being received with enthusiasm by their many friends.

There was no school today, to permit the teachers to attend the annual convention of the Essex County teachers in Boston.

LOCAL BALL PLAYER GOES TO CUBA.

Stuffy McInnis, first baseman of the Philadelphia Athletics, left his home in Gloucester Sunday night for Philadelphia.

McInnis has joined Bender, Lapp, Collins, Coombs, Barry, Thomas, Plank, Strunk and Oldring in Philadelphia. On Saturday they will embark at Key West, Fla., for Cuba, where they will tour the island and play the leading teams there. Before leaving Key West they will take part in four games with Southern teams. McInnis is in good shape.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis N. Davis have returned from a pleasant visit to New Hampshire.

FREE COURSE OF LECTURES AND ENTERTAINMENTS AT BEVERLY FARMS.

Much interest is being taken in the Free Course of Lectures and Entertainments planned to be given at Beverly Farms on Friday evenings during the coming winter. This has been arranged somewhat along the line advanced and "talked up" in the Breeze for the past few months. The series is now an assured thing. The committee in charge has arranged the following schedule:

Nov. 8—"The Modern Demand for Efficiency in Education" by Supt. of Schools Robert O. Small of Beverly. Special music by the Beverly Farms band. Mrs. Howard A. Doane, hostess.

Dec. 13—An Evening of Dramatic Readings, Mrs. Marian Craig Wentworth. Music by John West orchestra. Mrs. Chas. M. Cabot, hostess.

Jan. 10—A Lecture on Rome, by Rev. Fr. Nicholas R. Walsh, rector of St. Margaret's church, Beverly Farms. Illustrated by the stereopticon. Music by John West orchestra. Mrs. John H. Linehan, hostess.

Feb. 7—A musical program. Mrs. Elmer Standley, hostess.

Mar. 7—"The Modern Artistic Pianoforte and its Construction," by Henry L. Mason. Mrs. Henry L. Mason, hostess.

April 11—The Minimum Wage, by H. LaRue Brown, chairman Minimum Wage commission, member firm of Brown, Field & Murray. Music by Beverly Farms band. Mrs. Frank I. Preston, hostess.

May 9—Miscellaneous program. Mrs. George R. Dean, hostess.

Each lecture will be followed by a social hour, when cocoa and cake will be served by the social committee, the various members acting as chairmen of the evening, as announced above. The evening's program will start at 7:45 promptly.

The committee of arrangements of the series is composed of James B. Dow, chairman; Mrs. Wm. R. Brooks, secretary; Mrs. Charles M. Cabot, treasurer; Thomas D. Connolly, Dr. Wm. J. Dougherty, Mrs. John H. Linehan, Lawrence J. Watson and Rev. Clarence S. Pond.

A movement was started at Manchester this week to have a series of six popular lectures in the Town hall the coming winter, one each month beginning in December, under the management of the Manchester club.

BEVERLY FARMS TEAM CLOSES SUCCESSFUL SEASON BY DEFEATING GLOUCESTER "ALL-STAR."

Last Saturday's baseball game at Beverly Farms was the most closely played of the season, the score resulting 2 to 0 in favor of the home team. It was the last game of the year and added another to the string of victories for the Farmers. The Gloucester "All Stars" put up a great game, but not quite as good as the Farms boys.

The game was a pitchers' battle and was nip and tuck until the eighth inning when "Brick" McInnis led off with a nice single, went to second on a wild pitch and scored on Stuff's slashing two-bagger to left field. Stuff stole third and scored a moment later on a wild pitch. The Gloucester team was the best opposing team that has yet played at the Farms. McNair pitched his seventh consecutive win for the Farms team and twirled a great game, holding the All Stars to four scattered hits.

The big attraction of the day was Stuff McInnis (of the Philadelphia's) on first for the Farms team. He gave a fine exhibition of first base playing that delighted the fans who were fortunate enough to witness this game. His batting, which consisted of two fine doubles and a single was also a treat to the fans.

BEVERLY NEWSPAPER MAN RUNNING FOR GOVERNOR'S COUNCIL.

A contest that is commanding a lot of local attention is the candidacy of Charles P. Tindley, a well known Beverly newspaper man, who is making a winning fight for the Governor's Council from the 5th District, which includes all of the cities and towns in Essex county.

Seldom have the voters had a better chance to drop party lines and endorse a candidate as they have in this instance, and his election would mean a great deal to this part of the country, as he is keenly aware of the needs of this section.

He has had experience in municipal government, as a member of the city council, and has been for the past four year, chairman of the park commissioners of his home city, and installed their playground system, which is a model one hereabouts. He also did much to establish the playground at Beverly Farms.

A man, who is right on the job, can get a lot of things done at the State House through his influence as a member of the Governor's Council, if he will use his influence in a fair and judicious manner.

Prominent business men have taken a keen interest in Mr. Tindley's contest, and the vote of the North Shore towns will be a good sized one from present indications.

One thing about this contest, he has not said or introduced personalities with other candidates but has presented a clear logical argument why he should be elected to this important position which carries such responsibilities, and he appreciates the fact that he would be the people's representative, and not the representative of any set faction who are desirous of furthering their own political wishes.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SALEM.

Bright and snappy, with plenty of life and movement, and a goodly supply of ginger, "The Wall Street Girl," with Blanche Ring as its star, will come to the Empire theatre Monday, Nov. 4. Miss Ring has such a personality that she would make the reading of the city directory a thing of joy. In her new musical comedy, however, she has a vehicle which has been pronounced by the critics as the best of her career. She has ample opportunity to display her ability as a comedienne and as for her songs, they have proven worthy successors of "Yip-I-Addy," "Rings on her fingers" and others.

HIGHWAY SAFETY LEAGUE CALLS ATTENTION TO REGULATION REGARD- ING AUTOMOBILE LIGHTS.

To the Editor,
Dear Sir:—

This letter is written in the hope that you will publish its contents, since it deals with a subject which is of general interest to the public,—the automobile. While some injustice may result to the normal automobilist from the misdeeds of the abnormal driver, there is, nevertheless, one particular in which even the normal driver is constantly transgressing. This is in the matter of the illumination of the rear number plate. One who watches passing automobiles at night is struck by the number of machines which possess inadequate rear lights. This may be due either to wilful disregard, mere carelessness, or actual ignorance of the law. The law explicitly states that "number plates shall be kept clean and the numbers legible, and during the period when the vehicle is required to display lights the rear register number shall be illuminated so as to be plainly visible at a distance of 60 feet."

The wisdom and necessity of such a requirement are plain. The automobile traffic at night is enormous, the danger of accident great, and the ease with which an offending driver can escape undetected, unless his number plate is plainly illuminated, obvious, and yet large numbers of automobilists are constantly violating the law for one of the three reasons above stated. We recommend the first class to the tender mercies of the Highway Commission; to the second we suggest an occasional inspection of the rear light, and to the latter a brief perusal of the law requiring effective illumination with results visible at 60 feet.

As the Highway Safety League exists for the purpose of trying to make life on the highway and in the automobile a little safer than it appears to be at present, the League considers itself justified in calling the attention of the public to this important matter of lights, and to the fact that it welcomes the membership and co-operation of all persons interested in its object.

Highway Safety League,

Boston Opera House.

The fourth season of the Boston Opera House will begin on Monday evening, Nov. 25, and will consist of 72 regular subscription performances to take place on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings and Saturday afternoons it is announced.

The Saturday evening performances at popular prices, will also be offered as in years past.

The principal conductor of the season will be Andre-Caplet who, it is stated, has made several changes in the orchestra which it is believed will add to its efficiency. Mr. Moranzoni has been retained and will conduct most of the Italian operas.

The chorus will consist of 125 singers, all the women among whom are Americans, and products of the Opera House school, a fact which is eloquent proof of the excellent work being done there.

Twenty-nine operas are named as the list from which the repertory of the season will be selected. Seventeen of these are to be done in Italian, nine in French, two in German and one in English. In addition to these, two ballets—Delibes' "Coppelia," and a novelty in the form of Maurice Ravel's "Adelaide" —are promised. Verdi and Puccini are the composers who hold supremacy as regards number of works named, each of them having five operas listed.

Sunday concerts are to be made a prominent feature of the coming season. No information is vouchsafed as to the number of them to be offered, but it is made known that the hour will be changed to 3:15 in the afternoon instead of the customary 8, and the prospectus states that the programs will not be devoted to operatic selections, but rather to music and symphonic character designed for orchestra, chorus and soloists.

Blanche Ring Coming Nov. 4.

Blanche Ring, who ranks in musical comedy as does Sarah Bernhardt in the drama, will come to Salem Nov. 4 in her new musical comedy, "The Wall Street girl." Miss Ring has many imitators, but no equals. When it comes to popularizing songs, this comedienne has a style all her own. In her new play five of the songs fall to her lot, and they are of the tuneful catchy order.

Manchester, Mass., Friday, November 8, 1912.

No. 45.

SOCIETY NOTES

The great chrysanthemum show of the Massachusetts Horticultural society, held in Horticultural hall, Boston, opened yesterday. A number of North Shore people, whose gardens are famous for their beauty, have been entered among the exhibitors. Mrs. Lester Leland of West Manchester, and Mrs. Frederick Ayer of Prides Crossing both have remarkably beautiful exhibitions.

♦ ♦ ♦

Already the North Shore girls, who make their bow to society in Boston this winter, have begun to join in the season's activities. The first debutante affair to be given was the reception, which Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Everett gave at the Tuileries last week for their niece, Miss Madeline Everett. Among the debutantes present were Miss Eleanor Fabyan of West Manchester, who was very charming in a white satin gown embroidered in white crystal. A small black velvet hat with white feathers completed the costume. Miss Eleanor Cabot of the Beverly Farms summer colony wore a sapphire blue velvet suit with collar and cuffs of chinchilla and a small blue velvet hat trimmed very simply with a band of white plush. Mrs. W. H. Aspinwall of the Coolidge Point, Manchester colony, was there gowned all in black except for her satin scarf lined with white. Mrs. Godfrey Lowell Cabot of Boston and Beverly Farms wore black satin embroidered with silver and a small black hat with touches of white. Mrs. A. Nicholas Reggio, also of the Beverly Farms colony, was stunning in a black suit with a black hat trimmed with yellow feathers.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. E. Rollins Morse of Boston will be missed from the social functions there this winter as they are intending to pass the coming months at Washington, where they have leased the house formerly occupied by Justice and Mrs. Lurton.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Boylston A. Beal of Boston spent the week-end at their summer home at Manchester. Mrs. Beal left Boston for a short trip to New York yesterday.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. H. P. McKean of Boston and Pride's Crossing is to give a dinner-dance at her Back Bay residence Thursday, Dec. 5, in honor of Miss Louise McAllister, daughter of Mrs. Hall McAllister of Boylston street. There will be about fifty present at the dinner with a number of others invited in to take part in the dancing and the buffet supper.

♦ ♦ ♦

"Alice in Wonderland" is to be produced at Copley hall, Boston, for the benefit of the Copley society on the following dates: Thursday evening, Dec. 12; Saturday afternoon, Dec. 14; Monday afternoon, Dec. 16, and Tuesday evening, Dec. 17. The affair is in charge of Holker Abbott.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. Gardiner Greene Hammond, who has spent the season at Nahant, has closed her cottage there and has returned to Boston for the winter.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Bradlee have returned from their trip abroad where they went immediately after closing their Nahant cottage in September. Mr. and Mrs. Bradlee will probably leave later on for Bermuda to spend the season at "Fairylane," their beautiful villa there.

♦ ♦ ♦

Col. and Mrs. Henry E. Russell have closed their house at Manchester and have taken apartments at the Copley-Plaza, Boston, for the winter. Miss Margaret Russell, their niece, is with them.

♦ ♦ ♦

Others of the Manchester summer colony to spend the week-end at their estates here were the Gordon Abbotts and the S.V.R. Crosbys of West Manchester, who opened their houses to enjoy the splendid fall days at the Shore.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. John Martin Graham closed their house on Smith's Point, Manchester, a few days ago and returned to their Boston residence, 37 Commonwealth Ave., for the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Graham now own what was formerly the Merrill homestead, located on the highest elevation of Smith's Point.

SOCIETY NOTES

Friday Mrs. Hugo Johnston, who has been spending the season at East Hamilton, concluded her stay on the Shore and started for Pasadena to open her villa there.

♦ ♦ ♦

Judge and Mrs. Wm. Caleb Loring planned to close their residence at Pride's Crossing the last of this week and return to their town house in Gloucester street, Boston.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Weeks Anthony of Brookline are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son. Mrs. Anthony was Miss Primrose Colt, a daughter of Judge and Mrs. Le Baron Colt of Providence. Mr. Anthony is a son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Reed Anthony of the Beverly Farms colony. They were married last January.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Richards M. Bradley of the Manchester summer colony have taken the house, 216 Beacon St., Boston, for the winter. Next Tuesday they will give a reception there to introduce their eldest daughter, Miss Amy Bradley, and the following Tuesday they will give a dance in her honor at the Chilton club.

Among the important engagements of last week was that of Miss Catherine Delano of Chicago, and Alexander Galt Grant, the second of the four sons of Judge and Mrs. Robert Grant of Boston. Miss Delano has many friends on the North Shore. She was recently a guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Hooper at West Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, 2d, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Agassiz Shaw of Beverly Farms, were among those from the North Shore who went to Dedham last Saturday for the wedding of Miss Katharine Saltonstall and Philip Batch Weld.

♦ ♦ ♦

Miss Helen Taft and her aunt, Mrs. Thomas Laughlin, who were at Poland Springs a fortnight ago in the president's party, have declared their intention of paying a visit to the well known resort in February to enjoy the delightful winter sports.

SOCIETY NOTES

The dance which Mrs. Horatio N. Slater gave last Friday night at her beautiful country estate, at Readville, was a most brilliant success. It was given for the present season "buds" and their Harvard escorts. There were about 200 present, mostly young people, with a few older ones to act as chaperones. Before the dance Mrs. I. Tucker Burr, Mrs. Joseph Whitney and Mrs. Roger Wolcott gave dinners at their country houses. Numbered among the guests were many of the best known North Shore girls, whose names will be recognized in the following list: Miss Elinor Lawrence, president of the Sewing Circle; Miss Josephine Rantoul, vice president; Miss Nora Saltonstall, secretary; and Miss Mary Hunnewell, treasurer; also Miss Louise McAllister, Miss Miriam Sears, Miss Lucy Aspinwall, Miss Ruth Foster, Miss Sylvia Peabody, Miss Geraldine Lawrence, Miss Aimee Lamb, Miss Doris Russell, Miss Margaret Russell, Miss Edith Prescott Timmons, Miss Charlotte Baylies, Miss Elsie Burr, Miss Constance Wharton, Miss Grace Lockwood, Miss Margaret Weld, Miss Ruth Gaston, Miss Marion Sprague, Miss Constance Gardner, Miss Anne Means, Miss Hope Thatcher, Miss Theresa Weld, Miss Hope Norman, Miss Miriam Mason, Miss Eleanor Fabyan, Miss Elizabeth Silsbee, Miss Elizabeth Hubbard, Miss Susan Sturgis, Miss Eleanor Cabot, Miss Nancy Cabot, Miss Rosamond Porter, Miss Margery Lee, Miss Marian Putnam, Miss Elizabeth Dwight, Miss Harriet Jaques and Miss Grace Eliot.

♦ ♦ ♦

The marriage of Senorita Malvina de Pena, the youngest daughter of the Minister of Uruguay and Mme de Pena, and Senor Don Alejandro Herquinigo, second secretary of the Chilean legation, which will be solemnized in Washington early in the winter, will be the first wedding in the diplomatic circle since the marriage two

BOSTON THEATRE.

Clifton Crawford, foremost among the singing comedians of the day, has at last achieved stellar honors and under the management of Henry B. Harris will come to the Boston Theatre for a limited engagement in his new play, "My Best Girl," beginning Monday evening, November 11. There will be matinees on Wednesday and Saturday and a special matinee on Thanksgiving Day.

The story of "My Best Girl" has to do with Dickie Vanderfleet (played by Mr. Crawford). He finds himself one morning in a car in an automobile salesroom. He had started the night before for the Mauretania and has been returned to the salesroom with the car. The car contains another passenger, a little girl who has crawled among the cushions to get warm. Upon discovering the girl Vanderfleet begins a romance which ends in his betrothal to "my best girl."

Henry B. Harris has given to Mr. Crawford's piece the splendid production which it warrants. The three acts are beautifully mounted and the gowns of the girls elaborate and the last word in fashion's speech. "My Best Girl," it is promised, will be the best sort of musical comedy entertainment.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

David Belasco's production of "The Concert", begins its second and last week next Monday night. This return engagement of "The Concert" promises to be a memorable one. Mr. Belasco has made several changes in the cast which have been improvements. The most important one was in the leading female role, which is now played by Isabel Irving.

The main character of "The Concert" is still played by Leo Ditrichstein. Mr. Ditrichstein, who adapted this play from a German one of the same name, adds to the gaiety of the day by his remarkable impersonation of a musical genius. It would be hard to name another actor on the stage today who could give such a finished performance as Ditrichstein does in this difficult role.

"The Concert" is an unusual comedy inasmuch as the majority of the characters are portrayed by women. There are only three male parts in the play. Because of this reason it makes a particularly strong appeal to women playgoers. There will be a matinee on Wednesday and Saturday.

SOCIETY NOTES

years ago of Countess Luise Alexandra von Bernstorff, daughter of the German ambassador and Countess von Bernstorff; to Count Pourtales. On this account it is exciting much interest in Washington society. Senorita de Pena is very young and is extremely pretty. She has not yet made her debut, as she is scheduled in the list of this season's debutantes. The engagement was announced a week ago last Sunday. The de Penas have had a cottage connected with The Oceanside, Magnolia, for the last two seasons.

♦ ♦ ♦

The George E. Warrens moved to Boston Tuesday. They have taken the house at 118 Marlboro street, for the winter.

♦ ♦ ♦

The Misses Amy and Clara Curtis have closed their summer home at Crow Island, Manchester, and are in England for the winter as usual.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. S. Parker Bremer of the Manchester summer colony and Mrs. D. S. Greenough of Eastern Point, Gloucester, are two North Shore matrons, who are included in the list of patronesses for a subscription dance in Eliot hall, Jamaica Plain, tonight, for the benefit of the Jamaica Plain neighborhood house.

♦ ♦ ♦

The Rev. and Mrs. Roland Cotton Smith of Washington have been making a fall visit to their summer home at Ipswich.

♦ ♦ ♦

A large dinner was given at "Crowhurst," the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Meredyth Whitehouse at Manchester Tuesday evening last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Fabyan closed their West Manchester cottage last Saturday and returned to their Boston home for the winter. Another West Manchester family to leave the Shore last week was that of Frank P. Frazer of Chicago.

Miss Elizabeth Beal, the charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boylston A. Beal of Boston and Manchester, was hostess at a party Saturday evening week for about a dozen of her young friends. Mr. and Mrs. Beal closed their Manchester house last week and returned to the city where Miss Elizabeth is attending school. The family will come from Boston many week-ends, however, to spend the time at "Clipstone."

SOCIETY NOTES

With the chill winds of November blowing, summer residents are fast leaving the Shore for their winter homes. During the last week, Pride's has lost three families until the roses come again. Mr. and Mrs. John N. Willys have returned to 2210 Robinwood avenue, Toledo, O., their city home in winter; the Clay Arthur Pierces have returned to St. Louis, Mo., and the Frederick Ayers have gone back to Boston where they have just reopened her winter home at 395 Commonwealth avenue. Mrs. A. S. Covell, who spends the summer at Magnolia, has returned to her winter home at 617 Commonwealth avenue, Boston.

REAL ESTATE.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Winch have sold their estate on Smith's Point, Manchester, to the Louis Baers of Audubon Road, Brookline, who occupied the place last summer. The property consists of 4 1-2 acres of land, attractively laid out, a commodious house and stable. The estate fronts on Manchester harbor.

"LITTLE BOY BLUE" AT EMPIRE THEATRE, SALEM, MONDAY EVENING.

Henry W. Savage's Scotch operetta, "Little Boy Blue," which will be presented at the Empire theatre, Salem, Monday evening, Nov. 11, had a run of six months at the Lyric theatre, New York, last season.

Musically, the operetta is all that could be desired and the singers have the advantage of assistance from an orchestra of grand opera proportions, which is carried by the company. There is one number that sets the audience to swaying and humming in unison with the singers, and that is a more than pleasing duet called "Love Never Dies" which is rendered by Miss Bryan and Mr. Farnum. Not in a long time in Boston has there been heard anything more catchy than this number.

"A Butterfly on the Wheel," which has achieved international fame through its wonderful dramatic triumph in New York, Boston and London, is coming to the Empire theatre Tuesday evening, Nov. 12.

This is a cleverly written, superbly acted play which tells an intensely interesting story.

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE.

Is this to be a season particularly propitious for the "youngsters" in the operatic world? Judging from the number of debutantes on the rosters of the different American opera companies, one would be led to such a conclusion. In Boston there will be heard an attractive group of young men, seven in number and representative of almost as many nationalities, for Anafesto Rossi and Umberto Macnez are sons of sunny Italy; Max Lipmann was born in Hanover, Germany; Rene Chassoriaux and Nikola Ouluchanoff hail from France and Russia respectively, and George Everett is an American, as is Rafaelo Diaz, although the latter can lay claim to Spanish ancestry.

Anafesto Rossi is just on the threshold of his thirtieth year and yet despite his youth, after his American debut has been accomplished he will be able to say that he has sung on every continent where opera is liked and known. His voice is said to be of exceptionally sonorous timbre and of extensive range. Furthermore his critics have said that pliability and smoothness are evidenced in his tone and that the assurance and finish with which he sings mark him as a thoroughly schooled artist.

Resembling Leo Slezak, in at least one respect, Umberto Macnez enjoys the distinction of being a tenor of heroic proportions physically for he is a "six-footer." He was born in Pesaro, the birthplace of Rossini, and there as a boy soprano in the church choir his career as a singer had its inception. Later when his voice changed to tenor, a chance came to sing in the chorus of a small opera company.

When the time came to choose a vocation, Rene Chasserioux decided that he would become a doctor and with that end in view he entered the Faculte a Medecin de Bordeaux, and combined with his other studies, lessons in singing under the direction of an aunt.

Maritime Danger Signals in Salem Bay and Along the North Shore Coast

Only in a general way is the public aware of the precautions taken by the Federal Government to make navigation safe in Salem harbor and bay. It is known that there are five lighthouses, a powerful siren fog signal and numerous beacons and unlighted bouys, yet little is known regarding the apparatus.

There are two lighthouses on the north part of Bakers island. The lights were first shown Jan. 3, 1798. The lights are white. The towers are located in latitude North 42, 32, 12; longitude 70, 47, 11. Both towers are white. The southwest tower is of conical shape and 111 feet above mean high water. The northwest tower is of octagonal pyramid contour and 91 feet above mean high tide. Each light is of 520-candle power, and can be seen under ordinary atmospheric conditions 13 miles.

Hospital Point Light, on the Beverly Cove shore, established in 1871, is 70 ft. above mean high tide. The light is of 860 candle power and can be seen 14 miles.

Fort Pickering lighthouse, established in 1871, is located on the southeast point of Winter Island. The tower is 28 feet high and the light can be seen for 11 miles.

POLITICS AND ROCKPORT.

With the election over and all of us more or less satisfied with the results, as our party desires may be furthered or accomplished, it matters not a great deal if there are a few disgruntled politicians in this vicinity. When we had the temerity in last week's issue to suggest that many of the local Bull Moosers were not sincere in rallying under the Progressive standard, we meant it, and although substantiation of these facts might be very distressing for the parties concerned, any statement that might have been made could be proven without discomfiture on our part. Truly, we had the audacity to allege that the Bull Moose party in Rockport would be a great deal better off if some of its members were actuated in their political beliefs from the direction of the heart and not from the pocketbook.

One man locally, who professed to be a Progressive made an attempt to play "both ends and the middle" by fostering the cause of two parties at the same time. Although some of his Progressive confreres claimed that he was not recognized as a loyal Bull Mooser, this individual had a great deal to do with the bolting party's activities in town.

Derby Wharf lighthouse, established in 1871, is located on the west side of the harbor. The tower is 25 feet high and the light of 108 candle power can be seen for eight miles. The Derby Wharf light is red and all other lights in the harbor are white. All the lighthouses in Salem harbor are fixed lights. From Government reports it is learned that the Hospital Point light is more brilliant in the main channel between Bakers Island and Little Misery Island, than on either side.

The air siren fog signal on Baker's Island is of the first class. When in commission the blast is three seconds, followed by 27 seconds' silence. This warning is continued whenever the weather is hazy. In case the siren is disabled a bell is struck by machinery, as follows: one stroke, silence 30 seconds; two strokes, silence 30 seconds; total 60 seconds.

Although the twin lighthouses on Bakers Island were established 104 years ago, other places along the Atlantic coast have the distinction of furnishing aids to navigators at night at earlier periods. Boston light on Little Brewster island was established in 1716.

Another Progressive was approached by a brother Bull Mooser and asked if he should vote the straight Progressive ticket. The man questioned replied that two men owed a candidate money in one of the opposing parties and would therefore cast their votes for him. Whereupon the real Bull Mooser, whose pocketbook did not get the best of his conscience, soundly berated his brother party man for his action. And so it goes.

We were also careless enough to suggest that the town was not getting a square deal in regard to its waterfront. There are some things about the control of government property on Rockport's waterfront that would be interesting news for the voters of this town, and which might show them why their industries have dwindled to almost nothing in a few years; they might learn why men profess allegiance to political belief and then do everything possible for an opposing party. Rockport is virtually tied up in a knot by a set of men who have their little game to play in politics and business, and they make these two weapons dangerously advantageous to their own benefit. The town should control the waterfront and get something out of it. It should have something to do with Bear Skin Neck, and prevent its becoming in summer a pest hole and a breeder of disease; a public park might be made of the land if the "authorities" could be persuaded that it would be a good thing for the town.

The ultimate destiny of Rockport is that of a summer resort. The topography of the land makes it admirably situated as a rendezvous for visitors during the long summer months, and it might be one of the finest on the coast if every step that was made in business and politics did not tend to make its possibilities fewer. Is it that we do not want the town to become a summer resort worthy of the name, or would it be disastrous to "business" as it is conducted. We think not. The merchants should welcome the advent of Rockport into the list of leading summer haunts. It is a business in itself, and there is but little activity in any line to be found here at present.

Rockport needs more young blood, but it will never get it by making the condition of the town so disastrous for business enterprise that after the sons of Rockport get their education, either at home or in the colleges outside they will be obliged to seek fields other than our own town to carry out their plans and obtain the fruits of knowledge.

Why not encourage the summer business to a greater extent? Rockport is already noted as an ideal place to spend one's vacation. And it is also noted for being a town which does the least of any for the enjoyment of its visitors. Also there is but little done for the citizens of Rockport who live here twelve months in the year and who pay their taxes. In summer there is no place for suitable recreation although one might imagine that the town would prove a veritable haven of enjoyment because of its proximity to the sea. Improvement and progress should be the watchword of every Rockporter, and if individuals and corporations retard the healthy growth of the community, let the town take some action. It is to be hoped that at the next town meeting, improvements will be forthcoming on the waterfront.

Mrs. Margaret Deland Addresses Open Meeting of Woman's Club

The annual open meeting of the Manchester Women's club was held in the Congregational chapel, Tuesday afternoon, with over 160 present. The meeting was opened by Mrs. D. T. Beaton. Mrs. Caroline Allen sang a delightful Irish ballad, after which Mrs. Margaret Deland, the speaker of the afternoon, was introduced. Mrs. Deland, whose philanthropic work among women and girls has given her a wonderful insight into human nature, is a writer of repute as well as a prominent settlement and charity worker. She had chosen as the subject of her address, "The Duty of Happiness." She said, in the beginning of her talk, that she had felt that, she should have announced "The Art of Happiness" as her subject instead of "The Duty of Happiness," as duty always conveys to our mind the impression of something, possibly something disagreeable, that had to be done. But upon reconsideration, Mrs. Deland said that she had concluded to use the original subject as she wanted to discuss its influence upon our own lives as well as upon the lives of others. Not "Be good and you'll be happy" but "Be happy and you'll be good" should be our motto. A woman's happiness depends greatly upon the trend of her imagination. A woman worrying over trifles can imagine herself the most miserable of human creatures and can make her household most unhappy. Happy is the woman whose cheerful face and pleasant manners are an inspiration to those about her. Mrs. Deland told of a woman, who continually said to her family "don't" do this or that until finally a frank "in-law" suggested that she say "do" instead. The woman tried it and it worked like a charm.

Then Mrs. Deland went on to urge that a little praise given to our fellow men may bring unlimited happiness, while too much adverse criticism may cause miserable self-consciousness. A sincere word of approval or encouragement helps us wonderfully in that whether it is true or not, we are constantly striving to live up to it.

A woman's responsibility in the home, said Mrs. Deland, is really far greater than she realizes. Money matters form a greater part of a woman's happiness than they should because of her unfortunate desire to keep up with her neighbors. Let the women help their husbands and families to keep within their income, and they will be an immeasurable factor for happiness and will eventually find happiness themselves.

Mrs. Deland cited an instance of an Irish woman who asked her for money, very evidently that she might buy liquor. Mrs. Deland, with her usual deep interest in humankind, began to interrogate the poor, old woman with regard to her home, friends and work, or lack of these, and finally asked if life was worth while under the circumstances. The woman answered that all these things were immaterial, that it was her duty to live. It is our duty to live, Mrs. Deland said, and to live that the world may be bettered by our living. Not one of us has the right to die until the world has been made a little better by our having been here. Not all women can do great things in settlement or public work, but in the ordinary duties of daily life they may find and dispense happiness. The woman who finds no joy in life and who makes her troubles a topic of conversation, especially if she is married, shows a poverty of mind and a cowardliness of soul. The woman who greets her husband cheerfully and makes her own heart happy with her courage in overcoming the trials of her life is the one who finds true love and happiness.

Tea was poured by Mrs. W. B. Walker, the hostess, assisted by Mrs. George S. Sinnicks. About twelve members of the club served tea and fancy cakes and a most pleasant social hour was enjoyed when all met Mrs. Deland to express their deep appreciation of her talk.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

Seven remarkable all-star features, everyone of them new to Boston audiences, are included in the bill announced for B. F. Keith's Theatre next week. With Nina Payne and company in G. Molasso's spectacular Parisian pantomime, "La Sonambule," Graham Hoffatt's players in "The Concealed Bed;" and the Harvey Devora Trio among the principal features, the program abounds in novelty and fun. "La Sonambule" is by far the most startlingly, sensational dancing act Mr. Molasso has ever produced. Mlle. Payne is not only a skilful pantomimist, but a woman of striking beauty. The Act Beautiful is the story of a hunting trip reproduced in marble statuary, while the Harvey Devora Trio is a lively dancing turn. Other features yet unannounced, will complete the bill.

WENHAM VILLAGE IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Wenham Village Improvement society was held Friday afternoon in the Tea room with a large attendance of interested members. From the year's report of the various activities of the society, a splendid showing was made of the work of the organization, which stands for the general improvement of the town in its broadest sense.

A room was equipped for manual training and a teacher supported for six months to demonstrate the practical part of this work to the boys. At the end of this time the school committee took over this work and made it a part of the school curriculum.

Under the supervision of Miss Mary Powers, sewing schools have been maintained during the summer. The classes are now carefully graded and in seven years time it has come to be a very necessary part of the girl's summer routine. Some fifty children attended with an average attendance of 36.

The sum of $250 was appropriated last year to support a free bed in the Beverly hospital. The hospital trustees were unable to accept such a bed so the money was retained by the Improvement society as a hospital fund, available to any needing hospital care—$175 was expended and the society voted to appropriate $100 for the coming year.

Thomas Connolly, a well known Beverly Farms man, aged 42 years, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. John Freeman, English street, Salem, Wednesday evening. For the last two months, Mr. Connolly had been under treatment at a Boston hospital and gradually failed so that his death was not unexpected. He was employed principally by local contractors and was a great favorite among his fellow workmen and popular with all who knew him. He was single and a member of the local nights of Columbus council. Funeral services will be held at the church of the Immaculate Conception in Salem tomorrow and interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery of that city.

The Green's committee, Mrs. William Trowt, chairman, reported that the work had been in charge of Jacob Barnes and at an expense of $75 the Greens continued to give a neat and attractive appearance to the town.

This year the annual flower show was omitted and in its place, the society made an exhibit at Topsfield in co-operation with the work of the county organization.

In the promotion of all these interests much money is needed and yearly the society faces the problem of keeping its treasury in a healthy state.

The annual fair seemed overdone, so the society opened a tea room and exchange, which made a profit of $500. Seventy-four people have consigned to the Exchange and $1371.49 worth of goods have been sold.

The society gave a rising vote of thanks to its president, Miss Helen Burnham, in appreciation of her hard work, generosity and unfailing tact, which, combined, made an ideal leader for this new enterprise of the Improvement society.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Miss Helen Burnham; Vice Presidents, Mrs. F. A. Magee, Mrs. James Packett and Mrs. George H. Perkins; Secretary, Mrs. E. B. Cole; Treasurer, Mrs. William F. Trowt; Executive Committee, Miss Kate Dodge, Miss Carrie Merrill, Mrs. B. H. Tracy, Mrs. Frederick M. Cutler, Mrs. Ralph Smith, Mrs. Herbert Porter, Mrs. John Wallace, Miss H. A. Wilkins and Mrs. George F. Eaton.

LIGHT UP !

Through the press and by other means the Highway Safety league is endeavoring to compel observance of the law which requires horse-drawn vehicles to display front and rear lights at night. Of late there have been a surprising number of highway accidents in which a motor-vehicle ran down a horse-drawn vehicle because of its obscurity in the darkness and, in some cases, serious results followed. The law expressly states that horse-drawn vehicles (with the exception of those carrying hay or straw, or when the street traversed is lighted at intervals of 500 feet or less) shall carry a front and rear light. Parties suffering from accident of the kind described above cannot justly complain unless they have observed the law.

THE CHRYSANTHEMUM SHOW.

Large crowds are attending the annual chrysanthemum show of the Massachusetts Horticultural society, in Horticultural hall, Boston. Many people who usually visit the exhibitions of the society, are prone to wait until the last day of the show, not stopping to realize that in the early days of the show the view is even more wonderful. It is hoped this year this fact will be evident, and as the exhibition will undoubtedly be one of the finest given in years, every lover of flowers in Boston should avail themselves of this privilege of seeing the finest grown specimens of chrysanthemums, orchids, begonias, and other fall flowers. The Massachusetts Fruit Growers association will also make a great showing of the "Big Red Apple," vying with the Western product.

The doors will be open on Saturday from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m., and on Sunday from 2 to 10 p. m. Concerts afternoon and evening.

The L. M. Cuthberts of Denver, Colo., are to build a new summer home at Magnolia. The contract has already been awarded to M. Kehoe, contractor and builder.

THE ELECTION IN MANCHESTER.

Manchester polled the largest vote in her history at the presidential election Tuesday. Out of the 628 voters registered, 551 were balloted Tuesday, almost 90 per cent. There is no question as to Manchester's position on the national issue, the town is all Taft. Not for one instant is there evident a tendency to break away from the old time party. The democratic vote was 141 for president. President Taft received 281 votes. The progressive vote for president was 112.

Congressman Gardner received liberal support in Manchester. He run ahead of the ticket by 17 votes.

P. H. Boyle received a splendid complimentary vote for representative on Beacon Hill. He received 392 votes, the highest number given any candidate. It was his Manchester vote that won for him, as Gloucester, as usual, fell short and went for their own man.

The result of the balloting will be found on Page 13.

WILLIAM CHEEVER.

William Cheever one of Manchester's oldest residents passed away Tuesday morning at his home, off Summer street, at the age of 80 years. He had been in ill health for the last year, but it was not generally expected that the end would come so soon. He had been a resident of the town nearly all his life and was highly respected by all who knew him. He is survived by a widow.

A NEW BEGINNING.

The stay at home vote asserted itself in an unmistakable way and re-independent spirit of the times. The veiled without question of doubt the vote, broken into so many parties, has served notice to the leaders in every party that they cannot depend upon an unthinking public supporting a particular party from habit. The voters of the new generation have broken from the chains which have bound other generations. And, despite the defeat which has been handed out to a leading party, it does not mean a victory of the democratic principles over those of the other time honored party. So many influences and cross currents have resulted in the election of Mr. Wilson he must be considered as having won his victory by the accidents of fortune. It was neither a personal victory for Wilson nor a party victory for the old time democratic party. The progressive party's failure was not unexpected. The spirit of independent voting may be seen in the large gains made by the smaller parties. The aggregate votes cast for all of the smaller parties contributed to the victory gained by Mr. Wilson. The prohibition party made a great showing for them. The republican party lost most of these votes for most prohibitionists were originally republicans. Broken by the progressive party's secession, an off republican year and the small loss to the prohibition party made Mr. Wilson's victory overwhelming. It is evident that a new beginning will be made in the political life of America. All things will work to its good and the future of the great parties will be the better for recognizing the power of the silent vote.

ELECTION TRAGEDIES.

No one will ever know the true basis of Mr. Roosevelt's attack upon Mr. Taft. Someone blundered. The blunderer was Theodore Roosevelt. The contest nearly cost him his physical life and probably has ended his political life. Mr. Taft's retirement is unjust. He has been a noble and patient sufferer in the face of abuse and false witness. The tragedy of politics has ended his service as president, but he leaves office with a good name and a character refined in the crucible of bitter experience. The accidents that brought fortune to Mr. Wilson worked Mr. Taft's defeat. As the years go by, the worth and integrity of the present incumbent of the presidential office will grow upon the American people. Mr. Taft has won a place that will not be lost in the history of the American nation and long after the bitterness of this contest has passed away what he did in 1909-13 will be a pleasant memory.

CONGRESSMAN GARDNER'S VICTORY.

One result of Tuesday's election was Congressman Gardner's successful contest for Congress from this district. On every side of the issue he has come forth victorious. To have won his contest with such a large vote in a year when everything fell before the democratic landslide, Mr. Gardner showed his characteristic strength. Mr. Schofield lost badly and the progressive candidate failed to injure the straight republican vote. The votes in Manchester and Beverly including Beverly Farms were loyal to Mr. Gardner. But the support which he received from Gloucester must have been most gratifying in view of the recent unpleasantness developed by certain disappointed individuals. Mr. Gardner made a clean fight on principle and on his record and his success is a personal victory as well as a party success in this district.

THE UNITED STATES SENATOR.

The election on Tuesday assures a state legislature that is republican which means this year the election of a republican senator from the State of Massachusetts. This ends the political ambitions of Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston in relation to the United States senate. With a democratic president, a democratic house and a democratic state ticket this lesser victory of sending a republican senator to Washington is not unworthy of notice.

The Civic Lecture course at Beverly Farms should be supported by every public spirited citizen. The address this evening by Robert O. Small, superintendent of schools should be a valuable contribution to the problem of public education. The superintendent of schools and the teachers deserve and should have loyal support.

It is no small satisfaction that the democratic victor is an educated, broad minded, intelligent and loyal American. The affairs of the presidency have fallen into honest hands however men may differ with him concerning government policies or tariffs.

Mr. Roosevelt is rapidly becoming a dictator and is a dangerous man in American political life. He has made and unmade presidents. He first won out himself. He made Taft president and unmade him. The president-elect owes him his election. Such power is not democratic.

Tonight will be the first use of a school house for civic purposes in Beverly Farms. The Beverly Farms band has shown its broad public spirit and will escort the speaker. Such a generous spirit on the part of a musical organization is bound to win recognition.

The movement inaugurated in Manchester to furnish an attractive course of lectures this winter should be pushed along. Manchester needs such a course and the committee back of the movement should have the support of the public.

There are no reasons why we should have hard times, the atmosphere ought to be cleared, the public now knows what the issues are to be for four years and they can be governed accordingly.

It was a unique day Tuesday indeed. For the first time old republican Massachusetts went democratic for president. The election of the lieutenant-governor was almost equally surprising.

Four years ago the democratic party was thought to be thoroughly beaten and never could come back. "Wilson, that's all."

WHERE WAS THE CHIEF?

Manchester, Nov. 5, 1912.

Editor of North Shore Breeze,

Dear Sir:—I wish to complain, through your medium, of the disturbance caused at the Gardner rally in the Town hall one night last week, by noisy boys and young men, in the back of the hall, and while this would seem rather a strange medium through which a complaint of this kind is made, and the question might naturally be asked, why not go to the Selectmen or the Chief of Police, it is because these authorities were in the hall and must have been cognizant of this disturbance, that I speak of the matter through the public press. I must say that I felt ashamed that such men of position and dignity as Alden P. White of Salem, General William Pew, Capt. A. P. Gardner, not to mention the other gentlemen on the platform, (and among them was the Moderator of our Town meetings) should see the loose order kept at that meeting, with the very officials sitting up in front, who are in possession of the authority to eliminate at once a disturbance of this kind.

"INDIGNANT."

Sayre Merrill, one of last year's graduates from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has an opportunity to take up railroading in the west and will go to Los Angeles in late November.

Even the most conservative need have no fear of woman's suffrage if all the fair voters are as patriotic and conscientious as Mrs. Eugene McCarthy of Caspar, Wyoming. Mrs. McCarthy and her two little children spent the greater part of the summer with Mrs. E. M. Latons, Union street. While in New England Mrs. McCarthy's health was so much improved that she would like to have stayed much longer. But, out in Wyoming, women have the ballot, and, according to Mrs. McCarthy's ideals, nothing should stand in the way of a woman registering her choice for president. So, early last week, she and her children started the 2,500 mile journey out to Caspar, arriving there late Monday night, just in time to be at the polls early next morning.

Mrs. Annette Rogers of Danvers was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. T. Smith at their home at West Manchester over Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. E. Hersey Brewster and children of Patten, Me., are visiting Mrs. Brewster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Dunn at their home on Central street.

The meeting of the S. of V. degree team is to be held to-night and it is hoped all members will be in attendance.

The warrior's, hunter's and chief's degrees were worked by the Redmen Wednesday night. An oyster stew was served.

Frank P. Knight returned Tuesday from an extended trip to Arizona, where he made a thorough examination and exploration of his mining interests there.

Clifford F. Rand, the local B. & M. station agent left Wednesday for a hunting trip in New Hampshire. Mrs. Rand accompanied him.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Baker entertained about twenty of their friends at their home, Mt. Pleasant Farm, Saturday evening in honor of their wedding anniversary. The affair came as a great surprise to Mr. Baker, who, however, soon recovered and aided Mrs. Baker in giving their guests a most enjoyable evening. They were the recipients of many gifts.

ESTIMABLE MANCHESTER WOMAN PASSES AWAY.

Mrs. Mary (Murphy) Callahan, wife of Michael J. Callahan, proprietor of the Manchester house, Manchester, for the last twenty years, passed away Tuesday at the Bay State hospital, Boston, a private institution.

The news of Mrs. Callahan's death came as a great shock to her host of friends here. Very few, indeed, know she was at the hospital. For more than a year she had been feeling unwell. She had been under treatment for a bladder trouble for months, under the care of several of the Back Bay's best known physicians. She went to Boston for an X-Ray examination a fortnight ago and it was then advised that she undergo an operation, which was successfully performed a week ago last Monday. She was doing splendidly and everything appeared favorable. Last Saturday she was able to sit up a short while, but at once a change took place, and she grew rapidly worse, so that another operation had to be performed. She could not survive this, and on Tuesday she passed away.

Mrs. Callahan was born in Waterford, Ireland, in 1855. She came to this country when 12 years of age. January 4, 1883, she was united in marriage to M. J. Callahan, in New York city. They lived in Holyoke 12 years and then came to Manchester in 1892 to take charge of the Manchester house. They have lived here ever since.

Mrs. Callahan was a woman highly respected by all who knew her. Those who knew her best loved her for her kindheartedness and charitable disposition. She was ever doing something for others. This is the one thing for which she will be remembered.

Funeral services were held this morning from the Sacred Heart church, and was largely attended. The floral tributes attested in no small degree the respect in which Mrs. Callahan was held in the community. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery, Montserrat.

Mrs. Callahan is survived by a husband. She has no other relatives, neither in this country nor in Ireland.

T. D. Urquhart, chief of the Arlington police, was in town this morning to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. Callahan. Mr. Urquhart was formerly chief of police here.

The Ever Ready circle of the King's daughters met with Mrs. Edward Baker, Tuesday of this week.

HARMONY GUILD GAVE FARCE.

At the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Harmony guild in the chapel of the Congregational church Monday evening a clever little farce was produced by the entertainment committee. The farce, entitled "The Dumb Waiter," had the following cast:

Mrs. Sigsbee, principal of the school, Mrs. Marianna Cheever, Miss Warren, elocution teacher; Miss Ethel Hooper; Sally Vernon, an old pupil; Mrs. Benjamin Bullock; Two new pupils, Lucy, Miss Folsom; and Hattie, Miss Alice Clark.

The playlet in itself was witty and amusing and all of the participants took their parts very well. Mrs. Cheever as Mrs. Sigsbee was an unparalleled success and Miss Ethel Hooper took the part of the elocution teacher very aptly. Mrs. Bullock, Miss Folsom and Miss Clark appeared girlish and natural in their roles. The entertainment received hearty applause by the audience and all showered congratulations upon the participants. After a few selections upon the Victrola, the usual social hour was enjoyed and the candy sale was patronized.

A team of Manchester boys are planning to go to Beverly Farms a week from Saturday to play the Farms boys a game of football.

CROMBIE-PLUMB.

Miss Annie S. Crombie and William Plumb were united in marriage Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Granville Crombie of Summer street, Manchester. The affair was attended only by the immediate family of Miss Crombie. Miss Francis Plumb, a sister of the groom, who is a student at the School of Mechanic Arts in Boston, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Andrews of Beverly, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, were the only out-of-town guests. The bride was charming in a simple gown of white chiffon over silk, made with the pannier effect, and she had as her only attendant, her sister, Miss Alice Crombie. After the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. A. G. Warner of the Baptist church, the young people left immediately for a wedding-trip to North Adams, where they will be the guests of Mr. Plumb's parents.

Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Plumb were given a large reception by the relatives and friends of the groom at his former home.

The bride is a well known Manchester girl and her many friends showered her with beautiful wedding gifts of silver, china and linen. For over three years, the bride was stenographer at the office of the Manchester Electric Co. and Mr. Plumb was at one time a linotype operator at the North Shore Breeze. He is very favorably known in this town and has many friends here. The many friends of the young people wish them every success and happiness.

The launching of "The Mary" into Essex River from the ship yard of A. D. Story, Essex, March 19, 1912.

ESSEX IS RIGHT IN THE CENTRE OF The Summer Residence Zone

It has high hills, beautiful woodland drives, a charming lake, a salt water-river which "like a ribbon of silver" flows to the sea. Boating, fishing and bathing abound. Although it has water on all sides it seldom if ever has the disagreeable fog which is so prevalent in other places. The high hills covered with dense forests which surround the town keep the fog away. We have many desirable places aggregating about 2000 acres for sale. One feature of Essex is, our valuation is so low that the addition of but one million would halve the tax rate.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

There will be a gala engagement when Victor Herbert's newest and most successful comic opera "The Enchantress" comes to the Colonial theatre Monday night for a three weeks engagement with Beautiful Kitty Gordon, the famous English prima donna, in the stellar role. The piece is Mr. Herbert's favorite composition and, with a number of critics, he believes that it surpasses even his other noted successes "Babes in Toyland" and "Mlle. Modiste."

The piece is a genuine light opera woven around a love story of the gay Crown Prince of a mythical kingdom—a story brimming with humor and amusing situations. The book is the combined work of H. B. Smith and Mme. de Gresac, who is well known as the author of "La Paserale," one of Mme. Rejane's most popular impersonations, and her light Gallic wit is evidenced throughout the piece.

THE PRESIDENT-ELECT.

With an excellent equipment President-elect Wilson has become instead of the leader of a political party the head of the entire republic of the United States. His selection as presidential timber was a wise move on the part of the Democrats, for perhaps no other man that they could have put forth could so inspire the voters and arouse such enthusiasm as did Mr. Wilson.

With but a fragment of the Republican party left from the battle, and in this state only the Legislature saved to them, all of the voters, irrespective of their party beliefs, seem to think that the time has come for a thorough reorganization of the Republican party. The failure of President Taft to secure even a respectable number of votes of the electoral college surprised even the most pessimistic of his admirers, and the comparative strength of Roosevelt, whose party has been in operation but four weeks, has led many to believe that if the Bull Moose leader had held the reins of the Republican party this year, there would be a Republican president in the chair at Washington during the next four years.

Roosevelt as a vote getter is a veritable wonder, and without a thoroughly organized party and without exceptional aid from the outside made an equally wonderful showing against Wilson and Taft. There is every reason to believe that if he led the Republican party at the election now over he would have swept the country, for a great many of the Republican votes were undoubtedly cast for Woodrow Wilson.

—From Yesterday's Rockport Review.

The local municipal campaign has begun. Yesterday two papers were issued for Mayoralty candidates, Rept. Herman A. MacDonald and Alderman James A. Torrey. The former is a resident of Beverly Farms.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin P. Moore of Jersey City, N. J., have been among the visitors at Beverly Farms the past week.

Mechanics are at work changing the store in the Larson building on Haskell street into a tenement, which includes an addition to the structure.

Forester H. Pierce and family of Chester, Vt., who formerly resided at the Farms wrote to friends last week that they expected to move to Melrose next Monday. Mr. Pierce recently sold his farm at Chester.

The "Boys' Hour" is a well attended meeting of the boys of the Beverly Farms Baptist church now being held on alternate Thursdays in early evening. They are soon to have as their guests for an afternoon, a similar organization from Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank I. Preston (nee Alice Bolam) are to move to Allston in the near future.

The marriage of Anna Gertrude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Larson of Pride's Crossing to Joseph O'Neil Gluckert took place at St. Margaret's parochial residence Wednesday evening, the ceremony being performed by Rev. N. R. Walsh. A reception was given to relatives and close friends at the home of the bride's parents. The couple left on the late evening train for a wedding trip to northern New York and Canada. They will include Niagara Falls in the trip. They are to make their home on Haskell street.

Mrs. Judith Osborne of North Place, Beverly Farms' oldest resident is getting along nicely after her recent fall.

Rev. James L. Norcross addressed a large and interested audience on "The New America" last Sunday evening at the Baptist church. The first Sunday in December J. Francis Russell will speak on "The Pearl of the Orient."

The homestead estate consists of a two-family house of 12 rooms having modern conveniences, a small barn and lot of land containing 9170 square feet, also a building lot of land adjoining the above, containing 5325 square feet and another building lot on Greenwood avenue containing 6625 square feet.

Miss Frances Conway, formerly instructor at the Salem exchange is now the chief operator at the new Beverly Farms central office on Vine street.

Clifford W. Wilder, who has been drug clerk at Varney's drug store for several years has accepted a similar position in Boston.

The annual harvest concert of the Baptist church will take place Sunday evening. There will be special music.

Local milk dealers have notified their customers that the price of milk has been advanced from 8 to 9 cents.

The vote for Hon. A. P. Gardner for re-election to Congress, in Ward 6 where he secured 204 out of 301 cast with two opponents in the field was exceedingly gratifying to his Beverly Farms friends, who worked hard to give the Congressman a testimonial of the high regard in which he is held here. Former Rep. Herman A. MacDonald was chairman of his committee and Lawrence J. Watson, 2nd, one of his most energetic workers.

Mrs. Gregory Connolly and two children plan to leave tomorrow for a vacation trip to Mrs. Connolly's former home in Ireland. They are to be away until next spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Andrews of Bridgeport, Ct., have been visitors in Beverly Farms this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Cole, who have moved from the Lovering house on Hale street, recently purchased by William S. Pike, have taken one of the new cottages near the Montserrat station.

COMMENDS BEVERLY FARMS BAPTIST CHURCH.

From the annual report of the Board of Directors of the Massachusetts Baptist Missionary society we reprint the following reference to the work carried on by the Baptist church at Beverly Farms:

"One of the finest examples of what may be done by a local church has recently come to our attention. During the summer at Beverly Farms there are a large number of Scandinavians at work on the large estates. The pastor of our church, Rev. Clarence S. Pond, became interested in these summer residents and invited them to a special service in his church. The response was so large and the people so ready that a service was arranged for each week during the season. Every other week a religious service was held on Friday evening, at which one of our Swedish missionaries preached. On alternate Fridays a social gathering was held. The average attendance at the socials was thirty and at the religious services sixty. These people raised by free-will offerings over $200, a large part of which was given for benevolent objects. This church also during the summer opened its doors for educational classes for the Italians. Over fifty different men attended. At a public illustrated lecture provided by the church over seventy Italians were in attendance. After the work was finished, eleven of these men applied for their first citizenship papers. This is one of the finest illustrations of what our local churches might do to show their friendship to these new neighbors and to win them to the Kingdom. The gratitude and friendship of these people would be ample reward."

Lawrence J. Watson of Everett street is out again after being confined to his home with illness for several days.

Mrs. Holroyd and daughter, Miss May Holroyd, will be greatly missed from the many social events, in which they have taken part.

The first of the list of the free course of lectures and entertainments will take place this evening at the school house. The public is invited. The subject will be "The Modern Demand for Efficiency in Education" by Robert O. Small, superintendent of Beverly schools. As Mr. Small is thoroughly competent to discuss his subject, it cannot fail to be of interest to every parent and citizen interested in education. There will be special music by the Beverly Farms band.

A large group picture of the members of the Beverly Farms Base Ball club in uniform was taken at the School House grounds last Sunday. It will no doubt be prized highly by them in years to come as a reminder of the success of 1912 and that splendid record of 13 games won out of 16 played.

John A. Ober is moving his household goods from the house recently sold to Charles M. Cabot. During the winter Mr. and Mrs. Ober will be caretakers on the Longworth estate as has been their custom in other years. They have purchased a lot of land in Beverly and intend to erect a bungalow there.

The musical entertainment for the Italians at the Beverly Farms Baptist church will take place Saturday evening, Nov. 23d. Francisco P. Malgeri of East Boston will deliver an address in Italian. A musical program has been arranged by Miss Louisa P. Loring.

FIRST MASSACHUSETTS FRUIT SHOW.

Any one interested in fruit in any way, should not fail to attend the First Massachusetts Fruit Show, now being held in Horticultural Hall, Boston.

The show is given under the auspices of the Massachusetts State Board of Agriculture, in conjunction with the Massachusetts Fruit Growers' Association, and in connection with the annual chrysanthemum exhibit of the Massachusetts Horticultural society. The New England Fruit show is a biennial affair. It was felt by the Board of Agriculture, that the interests of fruit production in the state could best be served by the holding of a show every year. Last year, Massachusetts was successful in securing the second prize for the state exhibit in competition with the other New England states. It is hoped that the Massachusetts show will serve to perpetuate the active interest in the production of better fruit, and that Massachusetts may not lag behind in the race, but may be found in the very forefront in the New England Fruit show of 1913.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

The big power cruiser Arion, owned by Jacob C. Rogers, was almost totally destroyed by fire last Sunday night at Mystery Island cove. Early in the evening a light was noticed glowing amidships on the yacht by employees at the Casino, and an investigation showed that a fire was in progress on board. Word was telephoned to Manchester and Beverly Farms, and the fire company from the latter place hustled to West Beach, thinking the yacht had been beached there. As a matter of fact the yacht had been hauled up at the island for several weeks and the Farms firemen were unable to render any assistance as no boat was available to take the apparatus across to the island. Employees on the island did what they could to save the yacht but the fire had gained too much headway to stop it.

The Arion was about 100 feet over all, equipped with high-powered gasoline engine. She was splendidly fitted up. It is estimated the loss was about $10,000, partly covered by insurance. Just how the fire started is a mystery.

A Crawford Range in the Kitchen Excels So Does a Crawford Heater in the Parlor

And just think of the coal you'll save by having both! Why the Crawford Heater, you can run it with a very small fire and get a big lot of heat from Manchester, Mass., Friday, November 15, 1912.

No. 46.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. Robert C. Winthrop and her daughter, Miss Clara Winthrop, closed their West Manchester cottage for a long period and sailed Thursday week on the Kronprinzessin Cecillie from New York for Europe, where a great part of the time will be spent in Paris as the guests of Mrs. J. Grant Forbes, formerly Miss Margaret Winthrop.

♦ ♦ ♦

Miss Leslie Bradley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Bradley of Boston and Pride's Crossing, will be married to Roger Cutler Saturday, Dec. 13, at the Boston home of the Bradleys. Miss Bradley, one of the most sought after girls on the North Shore, is as charming as she is pretty and society is looking forward to her wedding with more than usual interest.

♦ ♦ ♦

A dance which Washington Society circles are anticipating with pleasure, is that the last night of the year, which Mrs. George Von L. Meyer will give at her home there for the younger set.

♦ ♦ ♦

The William H. Coolidges are keeping their house at Magnolia open practically all winter. They are among an increasing number of "summer cottagers" who are becoming winter cottagers by coming to the Shore for the week-ends. They come down every Friday and remain until Monday. The Coolidge estate at the junction of Raymond and Summer streets in the Magnolia section of Manchester, is getting to be one of the most attractive places in that section of the Shore.

♦ ♦ ♦

The Oliver Ames family will remain at their country place at North Easton until after Thanksgiving, when they will open their Boston residence. Miss Olivia Ames is to be presented at the first December ball at the Copley-Plaza.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Mason are giving a ball for Miss Miriam Mason, a sister of Mr. Mason, on Dec. 10 at Hotel Somerset, Boston. Miss Mason is one of the debutantes of the winter, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer B. Mason of Manchester.

SOCIETY NOTES

With only relatives present, and in as simple a manner as possible, Mary Lovering (Head) Russell, widow of William A. Russell, was married on Thursday of last week, at St. John's Episcopal church, Beverly Farms, to Henry Cannon Clark of New York. Their engagement was announced the latter part of September. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Edward D. Tibbets, D.D., of Hoosac, N. Y., assisted by Rev. Albert E. George of Boston, the acting rector of St. John's at Beverly Farms. The bride was unattended. Following the ceremony the few present went to the residence of the bride, a new house of colonial type situated on the Wenham road at the Farms, where a wedding breakfast was served. It was a family gathering without any guests. Mrs. Clark is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Head, whose summer home was "Headlands," at Manchester. She is a sister of Mrs. Philip Stockton of "Highcliff," Manchester. Mr. Clark is a Harvard '11 man, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Crawford Clark of New York.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. William F. Draper and her daughter, Miss Margaret Draper, will close their house in Washington early in January and sail for Egypt, where they will pass the remainder of the winter. Before going abroad Mrs. Draper will give a fancy dress ball on Dec. 26 at her Washington home, according to a custom which she has followed for several years. Mrs. Draper's Christmas balls are a leading feature of the Washington season and are always looked forward to by the younger element of society at the capital. They will spend next summer at Manchester as usual.

All arrangements have been completed for the Vincent Club fair to be given at the Copley-Plaza, Nov. 26. The patronesses include many matrons who are prominent in North Shore Society circles. In the list are Mrs. Bryce J. Allan, Mrs. Oliver Ames, Mrs. Augustus Hemenway, Mrs. William Hooper, Mrs. Henry L. Higginson, Mrs. Neal Rantoul, Mrs. Philip L. Saltonstall.

SOCIETY NOTES

Prince Gennaro Caracciolo of Naples has summed up his impressions of the American woman "as a dazzling complexity of charming manners, kindness and French liveliness; full of spirit, cheerfulness in conversation, Spanish in temperament and Parisian in modishness, and with an almost cosmopolitan simplicity, which, however, is sometimes marred by an exaggerated conventionalism." The Prince, who has been spending the past three months at Newport, has many friends among the North Shore contingent. He was the guest of Mrs. Francis S. Watson at the luncheon recently given by Mrs. Horatio N. Slater for Mrs. Curtis Guild at Pine Bank, Readville.

♦ ♦ ♦

Miss Anne Means of the Beverly Farms colony was one of the pourers at the tea which Mrs. Charles Wells Hubbard gave this week to present her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Hubbard. Miss Means is to be hostess at a tea next Wednesday, which Mrs. Arthur Little, her mother, is giving for her at her Boston home. There will be dancing.

♦ ♦ ♦

The Harrison K. Caners are among the late dwellers on the Shore this autumn. They closed their place at Manchester last Saturday and have returned to their 1707 Walnut St., Philadelphia, residence.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Francis L. Higginson, Jr., motored down from Boston Sunday and were entertained at luncheon by Mrs. William Hooper at her home at West Manchester.

♦ ♦ ♦

Miss Eleanor Fabyan was one of the debutantes who were invited to assist at the tea which Mrs. Henry G. Lord of Brookline gave for her daughter, Miss Mary Lord, yesterday. The same afternoon Miss Fabyan served tea at the "at home," which Mrs. George Lee of Brookline and Beverly Farms gave for her daughter, Miss Marjory Lee. Others on the list were Miss Anne Means of Beverly Farms, Miss Josephine Rantoul of Beverly Farms and Miss Olivia Ames of Prides Crossing.

SOCIETY NOTES

A southern girl, who is receiving a great deal of attention in Boston this winter is Miss Elizabeth Sears Harold of Westover, Va. She and her mother, Mrs. Sears Ramsay, have leased the T. R. Wheelock house on Commonwealth avenue for the season. Mrs. Ramsay gave an elaborate reception at the Copley-Plaza for her daughter this week. The decorations were novel and extremely pretty. Later Mrs. Gordon Prince will entertain for the charming young Southerner and it is expected that her hospitality will take the form of a dinner.

Owing to the death of Dr. Arthur T. Cabot, the invitation to the reception, which Mrs. Charles M. Cabot of Boston and Beverly Farms was to have given at her Boston home last Friday for her daughter, Miss Nancy Cabot, were recalled.

A January wedding, which will interest North Shore Society circles as well as Boston will be that of Miss Hannah Draper Osgood, daughter of Mrs. Edward Louis Osgood of Beacon street and Hopedale. She will marry Henry Hotchkiss Townsend of New Haven, Yale '02. Miss Osgood was presented with her sister, Miss Fanny Osgood, in 1902 and both were members of The Sewing Circle of that year, and of the Vincent Club. Miss Osgood is a cousin of Mrs. Thomas B. Gannett, Jr., and of Miss Margaret Draper of Washington and Manchester. The exact date of the wedding has not been decided upon.

Miss Francis G. Curtis has received many congratulations on her nomination as a candidate for school committee of Boston, on the Citizens' Municipal league committee, which followed her nomination for the same office by the Public School association. She is a daughter of Mrs. Greeley S. Curtis. The family is still at Manchester, remaining very late as usual.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. John Hays Hammond is still an active worker as a member of the Woman's Titanic Memorial Fund Committee and at her home at Gloucester Monday she made announcement that Mrs. Andrew Carnegie had contributed $1000 to the fund.

Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Bartlett of Beverly Farms will spend the coming months at 10 Monmouth court, Longwood.

Mrs. Curtis Guild brought her Boston visit to a close Monday and Tuesday sailed from New York on the Kronprinz Wilhelm to join her husband at his post in St. Petersburg. While on the North Shore and in Boston, Mrs. Guild has been extensively entertained. One of the most elaborate of the fetes given in her honor was the dinner last week at the Copley-Plaza hotel, where Mrs. Guild was the guest of Mrs. L. Tucker Burr. Mrs. Guild was beautifully gowned in deep blue liberty satin with a bodice of cream lace brightened with jewels and with jewelled ornaments in her coiffure.

Miss Louise McAllister, daughter of Mrs. Hall McAllister, is having a brilliant season in Boston. Mrs. H. P. McKean has done and will do many delightful things for her. Chief among them will be the dinner Nov. 21 and the dinner-dance Dec. 5. Both of these events are anticipated with keen enjoyment as Mrs. McKean's success as a hostess is widely known. She was one of the most frequent entertainers on the Shore this summer.

Miss Amy O. Bradley's debutante reception Tuesday afternoon was largely attended. It was given by her mother, Mrs. Richards M. Bradley, at 216 Beacon street, Boston, which will be the residence of the family this winter. Red carnations adorned the tea table. The following-named young women served the guests: Miss Elsie Coolidge, Miss Alice Wesselhoeft, Miss Eleanor Cabot, Miss Nancy Cabot, Miss Marion Sprague, Miss Theresa Weld, Miss Grace Eliot, Miss Charlotte Baylies, Miss Elsie Burr, Miss Elizabeth Burrage, Miss Margaret Lincoln, Miss Doris Taylor, Miss Penelope King, Miss Marie Merrill, Miss Mary Lord and Miss Edith Gilman. Next Tuesday night Miss Bradley will be the guest of honor at a dance at the Chilton club. The Bradleys summer at Smith's Point, Manchester.

SOCIETY NOTES

Miss Elizabeth Prescott Bigelow of Boston and Manchester is mentioned among the Americans who will be presented at the Court of St. James this season, says the Boston Transcript. Miss Bigelow is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Bigelow. She made her debut last season. For several weeks she has had as her guest Miss Margaret Russell, daughter of the late Governor William E. Russell. Miss Russell during the days of her father resided in Cambridge, but since the marriage of her mother to Michael Foster of London she has lived abroad.

James Bryce, the British ambassador to the United States, informed President Taft at Washington Saturday of his resignation. His departure for England is regretted by Washington people and he will be missed next season by North Shore circles, for he was a frequent visitor here. His successor is Sir Cecil Arthur Spring-Rice, who has had a brilliant career in diplomatic and political circles during the last few years. He was educated at Eaton and Balliol College, Oxford, and entered the war office and subsequently the foreign office. His first appearance in the political world was as assistant secretary to Lord Granville. From 1906 to 1908 Sir Cecil was minister and general consul to Persia, where he was decorated by the Sultan. In 1908, he was made minister plenipotentiary to Sweden and, later, ambassador to Berlin. He received the order of Knight Commander of St. Michael and St. George in 1906.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Sumner Townsend, who were of the North Shore colony last summer, have been making a motor trip to their country home in Woodstock, Vt. At Manchester, last summer, they entertained lavishly. They have opened their town house at 92 Mount Vernon St. for the winter season and are at home the first Sunday of each month. On Sunday, November 25th, they will give a musicale.

The date of the wedding of Miss Laura Merriam of Washington and James F. Curtis of Boston and Manchester-by-the-Sea has been set for Nov. 26, Tuesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rush Merriam. The affair will be rather private with only a few besides the members of the families to witness it.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. William Gibbons Preston of 1063 Beacon street, Brookline, who sailed from New York recently on the George Washington, for Europe, will travel extensively while abroad.

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE.

The repertory for the first week of grand opera at the Boston Opera house, has been made up by Director Russell. Five performances will be given—on the evenings of Monday, Nov. 25, Wednesday, Nov. 27, Friday, Nov. 29, and Saturday, Nov. 30, and the afternoon of Saturday, Nov. 30. The works selected for presentation are Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffmann", (in French) on Monday evening and Saturday afternoon: "La Boheme", (in Italian) on Wednesday evening; "Madame Butterfly" (in Italian) on Friday evening; and "Il Trovatore" (In Italian) on Saturday evening.

In the "Tales of Hoffman" which is to be mounted with especial attention to artistic detail and which will disclose for the first time here Mr. Urban's new method of stage production, there will be a cast of exceptional excellence. Mr. Clement will be the Hoffmann, a role which he has not yet sung in public; Mr. Marcoux will have the four roles of Lindorf, Coppelius, Dapertutto, and Dr. Miracle which are the successive embodiments of the opposing force Hoffmann meets in all his adventures; Miss Fisher will be the Olympia; Miss Amsden, the Giulietta, and Mme. Edvina will accomplish her Boston debut as Antonia.

In "La Boheme" on Wednesday evening Lucrezia Bori, the new Italian soprano will be heard by Bostonians for the first time. She will sing Mimi, Miss Dorcyno being the Musetta; Mr. Laffitte, the new tenor whose success in Montreal this week has been so pronounced, will be Rodolfo.

"Mme. Butterfly" on Friday evening will be cast with Mme Destini as Cio-Cio-San; Miss Leveroni as Suzuki; Laffitte as Pinkerton and Mr. Polese as Sharpless.

For "Il Trovatore" on Saturday evening, Gertrude Rennyson has been chosen to be Leonora, Miss Leveroni, the Azucena, Mr. Blanchart, the Luna and Mr. Aresoni, the Manrico.

If you always think twice before you speak, nine times out of a possible ten you will have no occasion to say a word.

BOSTON THEATRE.

Clifton Crawford has scored an emphatic success in his new musical play "My Best Girl" which is now being presented by the Henry B. Harris management at the Boston theatre. The engagement at the Boston is limited so that there will be few opportunities to see Mr. Crawford in his best part in years. The matinees are on Wednesday and Saturday.

"My Best Girl" tells a pretty love story sufficient to weave together the melodies which Mr. Crawford and Augustus Barrett have composed for it. It has some of the best music of the popular sort heard in Boston this season and many of the melodies will doubtless become widely popular. Among the song numbers which are already being whistled about the streets are "Follow Me Around," "If the Morning After Were the Night Before," "The Bogie Boo," "Mr. Schnoodle," "Henry Clay," "My Best Girl," "The Cat Came Back" and "Come Take a Dance With Me." There are more than twenty musical numbers in the piece.

Arbella Clud of Manchester Listens to Talk

by Miss Hitchcock of Welcome House, Boston

The regular meeting of the Arbella club was held in the Congregational chapel, Manchester, Tuesday afternoon with the usual large attendance. After the meeting had been opened by the president, Miss Mildred Peart, Miss Abbie Hitchcock was introduced as the speaker of the day. Her theme was the club motto, "Simple, Happy, Useful Lives." Miss Hitchcock is well known in Manchester and is a frequent visitor here. She is engaged in settlement work in Boston and is well known in connection with the Welcome House on Florence street in that city.

At the outset, Miss Hitchcock spoke of the club as offering a great opportunity to its members of living finer lives. Simplicity in dress, she said, gives a girl or woman a greater distinction of bearing than most of us are aware of. Miss Hitchcock spoke of two instances that came to her notice the other day. In the course of her day's work, she came in contact with two women. The first, a woman who had been arrested for being out of work, was dressed in a handsome suit with a plumed hat and her clothes showed money value rather than the value of good taste. The second, the wife of a prominent physician, and herself one of the greatest essayists of to-day, was dressed very simply in a brown tweed suit and a plain brown hat. Thus does true simplicity denote culture, said Miss Hitchcock, and she went on to speak of simplicity in regard to speech and manners. Greatness, simplicity and naturalness go hand in hand and the Arbella club will help the girls to gain these things.

Manchester girls have a great deal to be thankful for, said the speaker, and by example of her experiences with the girls, with whom she is constantly coming in contact, she impressed every girl present with the sense of her own advantages. She mentioned one fifteen year old girl, who had been sentenced to a year in the Industrial Home in Dorchester. The child had been arrested 15 times and had spent last Christmas in jail, had never had any training to help her to direct her energy in the right channels. Her father, having deserted his family, it became a necessity for the girl to steal. Besides the necessity, the girl hardly knew that it was wrong but, as she was encouraged in it, looked upon it as perfectly legitimate.

Miss Hitchcock closed her address with an earnest appeal to the girls of the Arbella club to make the most of their possibilities of help to others. Prevention rather than cure should be the rule and Miss Hitchcock asked that help be given to any girl in trouble or need. She added a word in behalf of her own Welcome House in Boston and asked that at Thanksgiving time the club give some aid, if possible.

"THE RIVAL CHOIRS."

PENSIONS FOR TELEPHONE EMPLOYEES

New System Just Announced Expresses Modern Spirit of Industrial Co-operation

The business world was greatly interested last Monday when it was announced that a fund of $10,000,000 had been set aside by the Bell Telephone system and its associate interests for their 175,000 employees, their families and dependents. The fund will be available on Jan. 1, 1913. Commenting on the new departure, The Boston Herald says:

"This latest announcement of the telephone companies relative to pensions, disability payments in cases of accident or sickness, and life insurance to dependents of employees, is further proof of the acumen of that great industrial leader, Theodore N. Vail. It seems almost too good to be true, and yet—it goes into effect Jan. 1.

"To the workingman who has unselfishly deprived himself in order to educate his children, or who by reason of illness or other adversity has been unable to save for that proverbial 'rainy day,' old-age pensions bring a comforting sense of security, at least against absolute want. As a rule, however, they are applicable only to comparatively few because of the usual age requirement of from 60 to 70 years, coupled with a condition of continuous employment of from 20 to 25 years.

"Mr. Vail apparently observed this, and noted how ineffective was a pension plan in the telephone organization where half the employees are women, and where from that very fact alone it was apparent that comparatively few could hope to become pensioners. The old-age pension is only a part of his new plan. Revolving in his active and acute mind the question of what could be done to benefit employees as a class, he hit upon the insurance feature and wove into his amended scheme an interesting variety of health, accident and life insurance.

"If sickness interrupts an employee's service and he has been in the employ of the company ten years, he draws full pay for 13 weeks and half pay for the remainder of a year. If he has been an employee five years, he gets full pay for 13 weeks and half pay for another 13 weeks; if two years, four weeks full pay and nine weeks half pay.

"If he is injured in the course of his employment and totally disabled, he draws full pay for 13 weeks and half pay up to six years. If partially disabled, he draws full pay for 13 weeks and then half pay until able to earn a livelihood, or up to six years. If an employee dies as the result of an accident, his dependents get three years' wages, not to exceed $5000; if he dies from sickness, they get one year's pay if he has seen ten years' service, and one half year's pay for five years' service, not to exceed $2000.

"No contribution is asked from employees. The telephone companies pay the bill and are farseeing enough to perceive its potential value. In these days of industrial discontent and changing employment what better devices could be provided to hold people to their work? And what manifestation of interest better calculated to win a reciprocal interest than this provision against the gaunt spectre of old-age poverty and its sister 'haunts,' sickness and death?

"So far as our casual inquiry discloses information, this is the most comprehensive plan of the kind ever formulated, and it will interest not only its direct beneficiaries but all employers of labor. It is a credit to Mr. Vail's heart and brain, and there can be no question that it will pay big dividends in appreciative interest and loyal service."

NORTH SHORE WANTS WILSON

Beverly and Gloucester Anxious for Honor of Being Summer Capital. Family Spent Season of 1902 at East Gloucester

North Shore residents, accustomed for four years to living in the vicinity of the summer White House, are hopeful that the honor will not pass. Beverly has already asked President-elect Wilson to make his home there but it is East Gloucester that may bring Massachusetts the honor of having the President as a summer resident, if he does come.

President-elect Wilson and his family spent one summer nine years ago at East Gloucester. Prof. Stockton Axson of the Princeton faculty, brother of Mrs. Wilson, was one of a little colony of versatile men and women with whom the President-elect and his family passed pleasant days. Prof. Axson is now a regular summer guest in East Gloucester, and other members of the little colony gather there also. If they can bring it about, the coming President will make Gloucester his summer home.

Walter F. Osborne, now collector of the port of Gloucester, was the Wilsons' host at the Hotel Harbor View, East Gloucester, where Prof. Axson and the others pass their summers. Mr. Osborne will endeavor to have the President return next summer to the North Shore.

In the little artistic and literary colony, Mrs. Wilson gained a place at once by her artistic gifts, and with her southern charm and cleverness matched Mrs. Elinor Cartney-Lane of New York, author of "Nancy Stair" and other novels. Mr. Wilson's scholarship and mental keenness made him a prominent figure in the gatherings of the summer.

That summer of 1903 the little colony found recreation in getting out a clever little paper, "The Trifler." Mrs. Lane was editor-in-chief, Prof. Axson was the associate editor, Miss Jean Oliver city editor, Arthur M. Hazard dramatic editor.

On the staff of "The Trifler" were such well-known artists as Frank Duveneck, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph De Camp, Mr. and Mrs. William Paxton, Kitson, the sculptor, and his noted wife, Theo. Ruggles Kitson, Herbert D. Ward and Philip Little of Salem.

While President-elect Wilson was not in politics then, but was an educator and author exclusively, strangely enough the editorial page of the little paper contained the following definite statement, with regard to the paper's political tendencies:

"In politics it is strictly independent but with the firm conviction that the Democratic party is right in every particular."

So Gloucester is hoping next summer to be the host of President Wilson and the publishing center of another volume of "The Trifler."—Sunday (Boston) Herald.

The resignation of Rev. L. H. Ruge as pastor of the Congregational church will go into effect Dec. 15.

Rev. Mr. Ruge has a pastorate at Jamaica, L. I.

Wednesday evening the Ladies' Social Circle held a public supper in the chapel of the Congregational church. In spite of the unfavorable weather there was a good attendance and a goodly sum was taken.

Rev. A. G. Warner will preach at the Baptist church Sunday morning on "The Call of the Homeland." The subject for the evening service is "The Purpose of Reconciliation."

The Church Aid society will hold all day quilting Wednesday next. A full attendance is requested. The society is to hold a sale of useful and fancy articles, Dec. 4th.

Mrs. E. R. Christopher of Boston will give an address on "Mission Work in Alaska" Friday evening, Nov. 22, at the Baptist church. All are invited. An offering will be received.

The King's Daughters will meet with Mrs. Edward Crowell Monday evening.

Archie Cool was the soloist last Sunday at the Baptist church.

The Men's Brotherhood, led by Rev. A. G. Warner, of the Baptist church, began their bi-monthly meetings last Monday evening. Thirty-three men were present. G. Allyn Brown of Gloucester presided at the piano and conducted a social song service. Rev. A. G. Warner gave a short address of welcome and introduced the speaker of the evening Rev. Clarence Strong Pond of Beverly Farms, who gave an interesting and informative address on "The Cape Cod Canal."

He traced in a most vivid way the history of the project, claiming that the early settlers of Plymouth colony had a travelled path to Buzzard Bay over practically the route now surveyed for the canal. After calling attention to the engineering difficulties in the way of the canal's construction, he described at length the machinery invented and how it is worked to overcome these difficulties. He showed clearly the commercial, social and political advantages, which the canal will possess, but deemed its greatest value the humanitarian service it will render in lessening danger and loss of life so incident to coast-wise navigation about Capt Cod. The speaker was listened to most attentively and enthusiastically applauded at the close of the lecture.

A campaign luncheon was served, during which Rev. Mr. Brewster formally pastor of the church gave, in his usual happy vein, a short address of congratulation and encouragement. It was the consensus of opinion that the Brotherhood had been most successful in its introduction to the work of the coming season.

The Manchester Boy Scouts in conjunction with the Boy Scouts of Beverly Farms enjoyed a hike to Gravelly Pond Saturday afternoon.

A HAPPY SURPRISE PARTY.

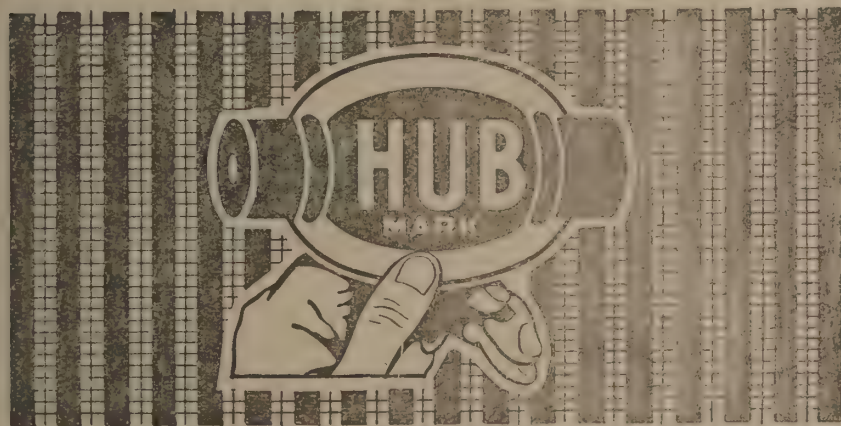

Rev. Albert G. Warner of the First Baptist church received a genuine surprise at his home last Tuesday evening when twenty-five of his friends walked in on him. The occasion was in celebration of Mr. Warner's taking up his pastorate in Manchester, one year ago.

A beautiful oak rocker was presented to Mr. Warner as a token of appreciation of his interest in behalf of the community. Mrs. Warner was the recipient of two hand-decorated china dishes. A social evening was spent in playing games, after which refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

THE RAMBLER

(From the Rockport Review.)

"We see some funny things and we hear some funny things". Although this line, taken from a song, I believe, is neither from the pen of Shakespeare or a twentieth century lyric writer—of which we have none—it is very true. I happened to be lunching in a city of Essex County this week, and seated myself at a table where sat the chief of police, a very august personage, who took himself quite seriously, and seemed to think that the world should bow in unison to his desires. My thoughts drifted back to Rockport when I heard His Honor order, "Fried Lobster." Everything progressed finely with the chief until the time came to settle for the meal. Then the strong arm of the law sailed into the "cuisine" of the restaurant, and gave the chef a verbal thrashing. Alas! his lobster had not tickled his palate and, to show his superb authority, he stormed around and told the populace all about it. Now everyone who knows the chief is asking him, "How'll you have your lobster?"

Have you ever had a feeling that you were a singer and would like to give the musical comedy stage the benefit of your talent? Yes? Well, then you would be interested in a try-out of Boston talent (?) that the Rambler witnessed on the stage of the Tremont Theatre, Boston, some weeks ago. Miss Christie MacDonald, who appeared as the star in "The Spring Maid" last season, thought that with all of Boston's culture and refinement she might find among the ambitious fellows and girls of the Hub some few persons who showed real talent for the musical comedy stage. So she accordingly used the advertising space allotted to her show in the Boston papers for an offer to the dramatic aspirants of Boston to appear on the stage of the Tremont on a certain morning.

That there were plenty of young ladies in that city who aspired to the footlights was demonstrated by the appearance of about forty applicants. One lone fellow appeared to have his voice "tried out." It would be difficult to imagine a more nervous group of persons than the coterie of damsels who faced the musical director to sing their "little piece." All the illusion of the stage seemed to be swept from the minds of most of the applicants the minute they entered the stage door. As the rehearsal was held in the morning, of course there was no one except Miss MacDonald in the auditorium to watch the would-be chorus girls, but every orchestra seat seemed to contain an evil-eyed monster and the curving balconies appeared as huge question-marks to the timid misses who were to be judged by the star of "The Spring Maid."

At a nod from the musical director the first miss stepped forward on the stage and started to sing "snatches" (as she called them) from grand opera. When the m. d. cautioned her against attempting music that was beyond her reach, she became indignant and rushed into the wings for her hat and coat. She was mortified and disgusted to see that the "ignorant director did not know good music." The truth of it was that he did know good music, and he also knew that the young lady could not sing it and "get away with it." Applicant No. 2 stepped forward. She was more modest, and in a sweet, young voice simply sang the scale. This seemed to have a favorable impression upon the m. d., and he accordingly motioned his assistant to take her "pedigree."

Many of the young ladies made strong objections against telling their ages. This is not strange, and may be a reason why a great many women are against the granting of the franchise to the so-called gentle sex.

The "try-out" continued, some of the aspirants insisting on playing their own accompaniment. One young lady who looked the part of a Tetrastinni, nearly sent a stage hand toppling out of the flies when her "mezzo-soprano" notes struck the roof. But the fun was fast and furious while it lasted. Out of the forty applicants there were but four who, in the opinion of Miss MacDonald and the m. d., were considered promising for even the chorus of a musical comedy.

Of course the newspapers photographers had to get the pictures of the two-score Bostonians who hoped to be catching the eyes of the "appreciative audience" in the next season's musical show in which Miss MacDonald should take to "the road." Some of the girls very obligingly posed to have their profiles snapped, while others believed that if they were "to have their maps flashed it should be Marceau, Sarony or White who should do the photographing." They wanted to have their pictures with the "rest of the actorines," as they expressed it.

Perhaps the most amusing incident of the whole affair happened before the tryout, when Miss MacDonald entered the stage door humming the air of a song from a light opera. One of the chorus-girls-to-be obviously thought her a chorus-girl, for she stepped up to her and remarked, "Really, little girl, you should have your voice cultivated. If you did you might become a star some day." Whereupon, Miss MacDonald replied, "Well, I have hopes of starring sometime, but I'm very patient about it." You can imagine the mortification of the questioner when she found that Miss M. was to try out her voice, etc.

Truly, all of the good laughs of the stage are not seen by the audience.

Peculiar interest is centered about the appearance of Miss Rita Stanwood in the musical comedy, "My Best Girl," at the Boston Theatre this week, as she is a native of Salem, and has spent part of her summers on the North Shore. Miss Stanwood is as captivating as a princess in the part she has in her play this season. Many theatre parties have been in attendance on the opening nights of the play in the Hub.

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT GETTING POPULAR.

Cities all over the country are rallying to the standard of the government by commission, thereby eliminating the lower bodies of aldermanic boards and common councils, and substituting a smaller council of from four to seven members. In most cities this form of government is proving adaptable to the various needs and Salem is the latest city to express a desire to dispense with the charter which has done service since the city's inception, and to try something new. Already the "friends of the people," who have been active in the fight for the new charter, are laying their capture one of the offices in the commission. Perhaps Salem will have a decent police system after the commissioners take hold of things.

INTERESTING WORKS ON TURKEY.

Many Books at Manchester Library About All Countries Involved in Turko-Balkan War.

The war now in progress in Turkey—one which, the experts say, will ultimately influence the whole of Europe—is attracting wide attention to the Ottoman kingdom and the Balkan states. It is also emphasizing how lamentably ignorant is the average American on the geography, topography, customs, manners and habits of life of the several peoples involved in the struggle. Such ignorance on the part of Manchester's people is entirely unnecessary, as the town library contains many excellent works on all these countries.

Those using the library will also be glad to learn that, throughout the winter months, the library will be open every afternoon, (Sundays and holidays excepted), from 2 until 5 o'clock, and Saturday evenings. In past winters, the library has been open but four afternoons each week. In this way the trustees hope to make the library more helpful to the townspeople, especially the school children and high school students.

Regarding the books on Turkey, one of the most interesting is that entitled "Fifty Years in Constantinople," by the Rev. George Washburn, who, for several years, has spent his summers in Manchester at the home of his son, Dr. G. H. Washburn. For many years, the Rev. Mr. Washburn was president of Roberts College.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING.

Mr. Robert O. Small, Superintendent of Schools, made a valuable contribution to the problems of education in the initial lecture in the free course of lectures and entertainments at the Beverly Farms school house last Friday evening in his address on the "Modern Agitation for Efficiency in Education."

Benjamin Franklin's father endeavored to guide his boy in the choice of a trade; for Benjamin himself writes: "He therefore, sometimes, took me to walk with him to see joiners, bricklayers, turners, braziers, etc., at work, that he might observe my inclination and endeavor to fix it on some trade or other on land." In this form of education the modern pupil has not been trained at home or at school and Mr. Small's arraignment of the modern tendency to over-rate the purely classical form of education and under-rate the necessity of vocational training is well taken.

Each year between two and three hundred school certificates are granted to boys and girls who go out in the world to gain a living, inadequately prepared for the struggle. Mr. Small affirms that the present failure of the public schools to afford adequate opportunities for vocational guidance has been a contributory cause to the present social unrest. The statements which he makes concerning the increase of juvenile delinquency are alarming but his suggested remedy will appeal to the thoughtful, i. e., that the criminal classes have been recruited from the girls and boys unproperly prepared for life work. From this class of youth, who never have and never can taste the success of work well done in the ordinary school course, scores are driven downward under the chagrin of failure and end in using criminal methods to gain a livelihood. He suggests the adoption of industrial training courses in connection with the regular work of the school, thus presenting to the youth, while in school, an opportunity to find themselves and prepare for their life work of labor for daily bread. The success which attends courses already established in the School Department of Beverly places Mr. Small in an enviable position of authority, for he has already proven the value of the movement he suggests.

As an example the industrial training school conducted under the direction of the Beverly school department and the United Shoe Machinery Co., has won nation-wide fame for its success. This one school has cost the city of Beverly and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts only ten thousand dollars and in that time the boys have earned over eleven thousand dollars. Add to the pecuniary success, the success which has come into the lives of the boys themselves, and we must agree that "it is not only worth while but that it must be done." The town of Manchester and the city of Beverly have taken the lead in the movement which in less than five years time will be compulsory in every town and city in the Commonwealth. Mr. Small is championing a just cause and that cause is bound to win. May the day of vocational guidance come quickly.

A VALUABLE WORK.

The problem of community improvement and town development has not yet been solved; nor can it be solved until every town and village is aroused to recognize its existence. In the town of Wenham the Village

Improvement Society has won success in its field of effort and has justly earned the commendation of its own constituency and the admiration of the communities. The forms of social service which it has rendered to the town have been varied and suggest to every small town what can be done to promote prosperity, social good will and happiness in a community. Their program of work has included a tea room, a manual training class and a sewing class during the summer, the raising of a hospital fund of $250, and the maintenance of a woman's exchange. All of these departments have been valuable contributions to the town life. The Breeze commends the public spirited policy of this woman's organization. In the success of this Improvement Society other organizations may find lines of work worthy of imitation in any town.

THE RETIREMENT OF RT. HON. JAMES BRICE.

The retirement of Rt. Hon. James Brice, the British ambassador to the United States, is of interest to the North Shore. Throughout his years of service he has been a regular visitor on the North Shore. Ambassador Bryce came to America with the approval of England and the good will of the American people. He came with a reputation which he won on his volumes on the American Commonwealth. These volumes are the best ever written by either an American or English authority and will endure. The attitude of Mr. Bryce to America has always been sympathetic and his retirement as ambassador is received with regret in America and will be a distinct loss both to America and to Great Britain.

A GOOD LOSER.

One of the most difficult burdens of politics and public life is to be able to stand defeat with courage and to bear its humiliation with good grace. A marked incident of last week's election was the dignified way in which Mr. Taft received the verdict of the polls. Two little incidents, insignificant in themselves, reveal the large heart and broad mind of Mr. Taft. One is a social attention which the White House family is preparing for the President-elect and his family, and the other Mr. Taft's address before the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

These seemingly insignificant incidents are indicative of the great strides which have been made in the cause of free and popular government. A great nation has changed its rulers silently and without resort to arms or bloodshed and the vanquished has maintained a feeling of friendliness and good will. Mr. Taft's interpretation of Mr. Wilson's success as a candidate is that Mr. Wilson's election will do more to give the South a sense of interest and protection in our government than has been possible since the Civil War. Every American should rejoice in the progress we are making in the art of government.

THE TURKISH SITUATION.

The four Balkan allies are fighting for freedom and it looks as if a 'fourth of July' for eastern nations was not far hence. The fall of Constantinople will make a massacre almost inevitable but some European plan of intervention will be found first. War is barbaric but would Turkey ever make concessions without duress? Everyone believes in international peace but disarmament does not mean peace! The fight in Turkey recalls that the term "jingoism" originated during the difficulties in Turkey in 1877-8.

"We don't want to fight; but, by jingo, if we do, We've got the ships, we've got the men, we've got the money, too."

It looks as if there would be a new "Congress of Berlin."

The real danger in the Balkan difficulty is the unseen danger between the larger powers. The situation in Turkey is more serious than appears. It will be well to watch the great Powers as well as the Balkan allies.

DON, THE TALKING DOG FROM GERMANY AT B. F. KEITH'S.

Without question the most notable novelty ever brought to this country by Mr. B. F. Keith for his vaudeville circuit will be seen at B. F. Keith's theatre in Boston this week, in "Don," the marvellous talking dog from Germany. Unlike the other so-called "talking" animals previously seen upon the stage, "Don" actually speaks words like a human being. He is without a doubt the canine phenomenon of the twentieth century. "Don" is a German hunting dog, the property of one of the game keepers in the imperial forests at Berlin. He is about eight years old and rather corpulent for his age. Before coming to this country he was the talk of all Germany and Russia, where he broke box office records in every music hall where he appeared. Another big feature of the week will be the Great Filis family, Europe's most finished troupe of equestrians, who appear in a startling novelty introducing several beautiful blooded horses.

WOLFF-NORTHRUP.

Monday evening at 5.30 the marriage of Miss Edith Northrup, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Northrup, to William Martin Wolff, Jr., of Provincetown was observed at the home of the bride's parents on Bridge street, Manchester. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Eugene J. V. Huiginn of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Beverly. The bride, who was charming in a gown of white satin and embroidered batiste, finished with shadow lace, was attended by her sister, Miss Esther Northrup. The latter was very sweet in a white silk dress. The best man was Gordon Northrup, a brother of the bride. The house was tastily decorated. The double ring ceremony, which was used was very pretty and impressive. There were a number of out-of-town guests including the groom's three sisters, the Misses Margaret, Jessie and Josephine Wolff of Provincetown, Miss Mary V. Keating, also of Provincetown, Judge and Mrs. W. H. Atwood of Ayer and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gardiner of Nashau, N. H. Immediately after the ceremony the young people left for a short wedding trip, after which they will settle in their home in Provincetown. The bride, a graduate of Manchester High School and a Boston training school met Mr. Wolff when she was employed as a teacher in the public schools of Provincetown. Mrs. Wolff has always been a great favorite with Manchester young people and the groom is most favorably known here. The many friends of the couple join in wishing them happiness and success.

MACDONALD-CROMBIE.

The marriage of Miss Ada L. Crombie to Roy Goodwin MacDonald of Beverly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murdock H. MacDonald, was observed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Crombie on Beach street, Manchester, Thursday evening. The affair was very quiet and simple, yet a very pretty home wedding. The house was effectively decorated with hemlock and red berries and the room where the ceremony was performed was decorated in green and white. The double ring service was used, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. L. H. Ruge of the Congregational church. The bride wore an exceedingly pretty gown of white chiffon over white satin trimmed with lace. Her only attendant was her cousin, Miss Elsie Dow, who wore white crepe de chine. Loring Palmer of Salem, a cousin of Mr. MacDonald, was best man. After the ceremony a small reception was held, when Miss Dow was assisted in the serving by Miss Merle Palmer and Miss Amelia Hastings, both of Salem, and cousins of the groom. The young people left last night on a short honeymoon, after which they will make about a month's stay at the home of the bride's parents before settling in their new home in Beverly.

MORGAN-TULLOCK.

Lewis Morgan and Mrs. Edith Tullock were quietly united in marriage at the home of Mrs. Tullock's mother, Mrs. Martha Stanwood, at Riverdale, last evening. Rev. Mr. Hood of the Methodist church officiated. Mr. Morgan is a furniture manufacturer and has always made his home in Manchester. Mrs. Tullock's home of late has been in Peabody, but she has been a frequent visitor of her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Valentine, School street.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION.

The next meeting of the Parent-Teacher association, Manchester, will be held in the Price school, Wednesday evening, Nov. 20, at 7.45 o'clock.

There will be interesting reports from the delegates who attended the State Convention at Greenfield, and important matters of business will also be considered.

The music for the evening will be furnished by the High School Orchestra.

FOR WELFARE OF MANCHESTER.

The Parent-Teachers Association has sent the following letter to the various organizations and societies in town:

In view of certain facts that have recently been brought to its notice concerning the misbehavior of some of the young people of the town upon the streets and at public gatherings, and realizing the evil effects of such conduct, the Parent-Teachers Association is desirous of inaugurating a movement which may lead to the prevention of further misdemeanor.

Believing that all good citizens will be in sympathy with this movement and that "in union there is strength" the association appeals to the other organizations of the town for their support. Will your organization kindly lend its aid by appointing a representation to meet with the executive board of the association in the Price School hall, Monday evening, November 16, at 7.30 o'clock, to consider the best method of procedure.

Yours for the welfare of Manchester,
Parent-Teacher Association,
Lila G. Goldsmith, Secretary.

A postcard from William Leo Sheehan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sheehan of Norwood Ave., informs us that Mr. Sheehan is enjoying the beauties and attractiveness of California. He is at Los Angeles.

Hans Dahl left Manchester early Monday morning in a 20-foot motor boat for a long trip to Palm Beach, Fla. Mr. Dahl has been captain of William A. Tucker's small yacht "Khalifa" for several summers. Like many other men he has been out of employment in the winter, and accordingly he planned to go south this winter. He bought a 20 ft. cat boat several weeks ago from Eben Frazier of Gloucester, and he has since installed a 5 h. p. engine in the boat and otherwise remodelled and improved her. Mr. Dahl planned to make Provincetown Monday if the trip across the bay proved good, and he was to go around the Cape Tuesday weather permitting. He would then make his way along the coast to New York, where we will spend several days. While there he will call on Mr. Tucker, who winters at the Plaza, the proprietors of which also run the Plaza at Palm Beach. Mr. Dahl hopes to make some arrangements for the winter at that time. From New York the journey will be the canals and inland waterways to Florida, thus avoiding the rough voyage that would be encountered at this season by the ocean route. Mr. Dahl hopes to spend the winter taking out excursion parties at the famous resort. He will leave the boat in Florida when he returns in the spring.

Litchman of Marblehead will give a stereopticon lecture. Mr. Litchman is the son of Past Great Incachonee Litchman. The High School orchestra will play. A collation will be served.

Manchester will get $49,926.79 from the state distribution of franchise tax on public service corporations, this year,—nearly $3000 less than last year. With the exception of the city of Beverly this is more than that received by any other city or town in the country.

Sorosis shoes in Fall styles at Bell's Central Square store. *

At the meeting of the Manchester Woman's club next Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Walter Nugent of Newburyport will speak with "If I Were You" as his subject. Miss Caroline L. Allen will be hostess.

Edward F. Preston observed his 40th birth-day Sunday at his home. In honor of the day he and Mrs. Preston entertained a number of relatives at dinner.

The North Shore Horticultural society will elect officers at their meeting tonight in Lee's hall.

Miss Helen Fish of Amesbury spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wheaton on School street.

Mrs. Ethel Stone and children of Marblehead have been recent visitors with relatives in town.

James Nazzaro, the tonsorial artist, under the postoffice, announces that his shop will close daily at 8 o'clock, throughout the winter, except Saturdays, when it will be open until 11 o'clock. This is a union shop and closed Mondays at noon. Everything about the shop is modern and up-to-date. *

Wm. F. Roberts Announces:

THAT he has taken over the Carriage Painting business of Edward A. Lane, conducted by him at the same location, rear 53 School street, for the last 30 years. The business will be kept at this same stand and the same prompt and efficient service is guaranteed. The business will change hands November 1st.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

One of the undoubted successes of the past season in New York was C. Haddon Chambers' comedy, "Passers-By." This season Mr. Frohman is presenting this play with Charles Cherry as the star and it is also among the big successes of the present theatrical year. "Passers-By" unquestionably owes a great deal of its popularity to its saneness and humanity. It is a page "torn out of life itself." Its people are real men and women and the types which the author of "The Tyranny of Tears" and "Captain Swift" has introduced have been limned with the greatest skill. Before "Passers-By" was produced in New York, it was the big success of its year in London. If Peter Waverton's valet had not been interested in the passers by on the street below, Peter Waverton would most probably have not worked out his life's story in the manner he did.

Charles Frohman has provided an exceptionally strong company for the support of the star and has given "Passers-By" a very handsome production. Mr. Frohman presents Charles Cherry in "Passers-By" at the Hollis Street theatre for a limited engagement which will open on Monday evening. The regular matinees on Wednesday and on Saturday will be given and an additional matinee on Thanksgiving Day.

Next Thursday afternoon Rev. Clarence S. Pond is to deliver an address to the Woman's Organization at the Dane Street church, Beverly, with "The Church and Its Relation to the Community and Its Obligation for Social Service" for his subject. Nov. 24, has been selected as men's Sunday and the churches have been requested to set apart that morning in the interest of the young men. A speaker will be assigned to each church.

Letters remaining unclaimed at the Beverly Farms postoffice for week ending Nov. 13th.—Mr. and Mrs. George Bancroft, George Burpee, Timothy Crowley, Miss G. Cross, J. O. Ellison, Thomas Henderson, Master W. Kundtz, Miss Margaret McDonnell, John F. McDonald, Joseph G. Worin, Miss Harriet W. Northup, Mr. C. W. Preston, Ralph C. Tyler, Wm. R. Brooks, postmaster.

The mystery surrounding the sudden disappearance from home on Nov. 5th, of Mrs. Emily A. Smith, wife of Captain Duncan Smith of the Beverly Farms fire department, was explained last Sunday when Mrs. Smith's body was found on the rocks at "Smith's Beach," on the Henry Lee estate. A rope tied about the woman's waist, and, at the other end, a loop which had apparently held a weight of some kind, indicated that the death had been in very poor health and it was 52 years old. For some time she had been in very poor health and it is thought her death was caused by a derangement of the mind. She was a woman of exceeding kindness, with a great many friends who testify to a great number of good deeds which she had performed among them. Besides her husband, she leaves a daughter, Miss Jessie Smith; a son, Gordon Smith and her father, Captain Reuben Grush. For the last 17 years, Mrs. Smith had been an active member of John West Colony of Pilgrim Fathers.

Funeral services, held at St. John's Episcopal church on Tuesday afternoon, were very largely attended. The Rev. Mr. George officiated. Interment was in Beverly Farms cemetery.

In accordance with our usual custom at this season of the year we are offering the Breeze for the balance of the year FREE to all new subscribers. All names added to our list between now and New Year's will be dated Jan. 1, 1913.

Mrs. Victor Borden and two children moved from Beverly Farms to Beverly yesterday taking apartments on Elliot street.

The Board of Registrars will be in session at Rooms 2 and 3, City Hall, for the purpose of qualifying voters for the city election, this evening from 7.30 to 9 p. m., and next Wednesday, Nov. 20 from 12 m. to 10 p. m., at which time registration will close. The city election comes Tuesday, Dec. 10th.

Miss Annie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wiseman, and Augustine Callahan, two of the most popular of the Farms' younger set, are receiving congratulations on the event of their coming marriage, to take place the last of this month.

Congressman A. P. Gardner has accepted an invitation to address the men of the local Baptist church and congregation some evening during the Christmas recess of Congress.

The members of the Pastor's hour, a large class of boys of the local Baptist church had as guests, last Saturday afternoon, members of the Boy Scouts of the Manchester Baptist church. The former were in charge of Sewall Day, assistant to the Pastor and the latter in charge of Rev. A. G. Warner. The party took a long walk through the woods going via Pole Swamp Lane to Gravelly Pond, where they ate luncheon and enjoyed cocoa made over the camp fires. The party voted it a fine time and said it should be repeated at some future date.

The Girls' Club of the Beverly Farms Baptist church have prepared an outline for the coming year's work. Nov. 26 will be parents' night, and Mrs. Clara Beatey of Boston will lecture on "Morals Through Reverence;" Dec. 31 will be a New Years' party. Mr. and Mrs. Francis Howe of Wilmington, Del., have been visitors at Beverly Farms during the last week.

Rep. Herman A. MacDonald is doing all in his power to have the new Essex County Agricultural School located within the precincts of Beverly. There is also a movement on foot to have Robert O. Small, supt. of the Beverly Public schools be a member of the Board of Trustees.

At a date to be given out later, a free lecture on the origin of the American Flag will be given at the Baptist church and is being arranged for by a joint committee from the church, the G. A. R. and the W. R. Corps.

The nomination papers of Charles H. Hull for Alderman from Ward 6 have been in circulation the last week. At this writing, no others have signified their intention of making a try for the berth. The time for filing the nomination papers is on or before Nov. 27th.

On Saturday evening, Nov 23, a musical entertainment is to be given for the Italians of the local Baptist church. Francisco Malgeri of East Boston, a leader in social affairs of that nationality, will spend the day here making a social survey and will address them in the evening.

A party of young men go to Topsfield tomorrow to spend eight or ten days enjoying camp-life in a cottage located on the shores of Hood's Pond. They will take along their guns and expect that this recreation will be a big item of their entertainment as game there this season is quite plentiful. Among the party are Eugene and Gregory P. Connolly, James E. McDonnell, John Connolly and other Farms young men as well as a few from out of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Miller of Huntington, Long Island, have been visiting at the Farms the past week.

The first of the course of free lectures at the Farms School Assembly Hall was given last Friday evening. Robert O. Small, superintendent of the Beverly schools was the speaker. His subject was "Efficiency in Education," which was extremely interesting and instructive. James B. Dow, of the school board, was chairman of the meeting and spoke concerning the objects of the coming course of lectures and entertainments which the Farms people will enjoy. The audience was so large that it filled all available sitting space. The music was by the Beverly Farms Band. The next lecture will be given Friday, Dec. 13th. Mrs. Marion Craig Wentworth will present an evening of dramatic readings including "The Servant of the House." Mrs. Wentworth is an artist and to hear her will be a rare chance for Beverly Farms people. The John West orchestra will furnish the music.

Mrs. Abbie Poole and two children attended the 60th wedding anniversary of her late husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Poole at their home on Hawley street, Gloucester, last Saturday. Ever since their wedding sixty years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Poole have resided on Hawley street. They are well known to Beverly Farms people who wish them continued years of happiness. Mr. and Mrs. Poole are both 84 years of age.

Sir: It is difficult to bring home to the public in this country the appalling suffering involved in a winter war in the Balkans. Communication is difficult, the cold is intense, and even rudimentary transportation is a matter of extreme difficulty. Moreover, the fighting in this particular war is likely to be of an especially bitter and severe character, while on the other hand the medical organization available is quite inadequate to cope with large numbers of wounded.

Because of the distance, the American Red Cross will not send expeditions of trained personnel, but it earnestly appeals to the generosity of our people to aid the sick and wounded soldiers of all the countries involved.

Though an armistice may be declared, the great number of sick and wounded must be cared for during a number of weeks and the troops must remain under arms in the field for months during the severe winter weather, with all the suffering and sickness this will entail.

The services of the American Red Cross will be rendered impartially to all the combatants concerned, but it is, of course, open to any subscriber to designate a donation for the special assistance of one or the other of the belligerent parties, and instructions to that effect will be strictly observed.

Contributions should be sent to the the local treasurer for Essex county, Mr. W. O. Chapman, Naumkeag Trust Co., Salem, Mass., who will forward all funds to Washington.

ORGAN RECITAL AT NORTH BEVERLY.

Under the auspices of the Sheldon Circle, a very pleasing organ-recital was given Tuesday evening, at the North Beverly Congregational church by T. A. D. Wood, organist of St. John's Episcopal church at Beverly Farms, assisted by the St. John's choir.

The soloists were Mr. Smith of Beverly, basso, who gave a splendid rendering of "The Horn" (Fleiger) and Dio Possente (2d act, Faust) and Miss Maud Buons, contralto, also of Beverly, who sang "Ave Maria" (Tosti) and "I Hear You Calling Me." Several anthems were sung by the choir. Gounod's "Sanctus" and "How Lovely Are The Messengers" deserving special mention.

After the recital the soloists and choir were taken by auto to the home of Gen. William Stopford and regaled on all the good things that reach the average chorister's heart.

BEVERLY FARMS

George S. Williams of Beverly Farms has been chosen a member of the executive committee of the Progressive party to represent Ward 6. He was chosen at the recent organization meeting held at Beverly.

The telephone company is making rapid progress in placing its wires underground. The work has been going on for some time and the new line from the city proper to Beverly Farms has been completed to the Beverly Farms side of Mingo Beach Hill.

The recently elected officers of the Oliver Wendell Holmes Council K. of C., were installed last evening by District Dep. G. K. Francis Buckley of Gloucester at Marshall's hall. They are as follows: Grand Knight, Lawrence J. Watson; Dep. G. K., Henry White; Chancellor, G. P. Connolly 2d; Financial Sec. and Trustee, Michael J. Cadigan; Recording Sec., Thomas D. Connolly; Treasurer, Louis Larson; Warden, Cornelius Shea; Advocate, S. John Connolly; Inside Guard, John Connors; Outside Guard, Edw. McDonnell. Following the business meeting a social hour was spent when a fine collation was served.

A Christmas Offering in Stationery

The Holiday Season is just around the corner, and you should prepare for it early. Quite often the purchasing of Christmas Gifts is left so late that it is impossible to find what one has in mind simply because assortments have been broken and there are not the varieties to select from as can be found earlier in the season. So for an early suggestion we wish to direct your attention to our Stationery section, where we are showing a special line of writing paper and envelopes tastefully arranged in fancy Christmas boxes, and at the extremely low price - - 25c box THANKSGIVING Brides To Be! Ever and Anon the Picture of A New and Beautiful Home.

Of which you will soon be the proud mistress rises before you. These happy thoughts and charming portrayals which fill your mind giving you the pleasantest anticipation of a life of happiness 'midst the environments of beauty and comfort, have been to us a never failing source of inspiration to choose more discriminately, to seek a better quality and to buy at a lower price. (If so be we could improve on an almost perfect art). This autumn, as never before, we can decorate your new home so artistically, so beautifully and withal so Very Inexpensively that it will appear in reality more lovely than it does now in the delightful prospective view. We invite both you and him to come together and tour this great store with one of our salesmen. Prices and helpful suggestions will be cheerfully and freely given. The following quotations will assist you to estimate beforehand.

BRASS BEDS

Such a big lot you never saw! In bright, velvet and dull finish and all guaranteed not to tarnish or become unsightly. Prices start at $8.75.

DRESSERS

They're handsome ones in oak, bird's eye maple, circassian walnut and mahogany. Oak from $7.50; Walnut from $16.50; Mahogany as little as $15.00.

PARLOR SUITS

One whole floor given over to them and they display such good taste! We'll make your parlor more handsome than you've ever dreamed. Suits as low as $27.00 in mahogany.

PARLOR TABLES

What a fad they now are and we've so many so cheaply priced! We'll sell you a mahogany top table for only $4.50. Others correspondingly low in price.

MISSION PIECES

One Hundred Christmas Gifts

¶ Wouldn't you like to have a book which would help solve your Christmas-gift-problems? Real help in Christmas giving is priceless. We have just issued a Little Book of "One Hundred Christmas Gifts" which will give you the help you really need.

¶ This Little Book is made up of things folks want and need and will use. They are just such gifts as you would like to have yourself. There is something for every member of the family, for that rich old uncle who "has everything already," for mother, father, brother, sister, for that dear old shut-in auntie, for the girls and boys in your Sunday-school class---in short for everybody to whom you want to send a gift.

¶ Out of the hundred gifts in this book, twenty of them will be pronounced inspirations by those who receive them and the best part of it is, they are within your means.

¶ This book is free. Just write a postal and it will be mailed to you promptly. You will be very grateful for it. We hope you will write right now.

NORTH SHORE BREEZE

VOL. X.

Manchester, Mass., Friday, November 22, 1912.

No. 47

SOCIETY NOTES

The marriage in Paris on Thursday of last week, of Mrs. Elizabeth Copley Peabody (nee Crowinshield), and Comte Michel Antoine de Zogheb, is of interest to North Shore people, inasmuch as the Peabodys formerly lived here.

◇ ❖ ◇

The marriage of Miss Laura Merriam and James Freeman Curtis, assistant secretary of the treasury, has been set for Tuesday afternoon of next week. The ceremony will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Merriam, 1728 N street, Washington, instead of at the church, as had been planned before the death of Miss Merriam's grandfather, Col. Hancock. There will be but a small company at the ceremony. Mrs. Greeley Curtis, Mr. Curtis's mother and his brothers and sisters, with other immediate members of the family, will go on from Manchester.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mrs. R. M. Appleton, whose daughter, Miss Julia Appleton, is one of this season's "buds," will close her Ipswich home soon and will go to Boston to spend a part of the winter.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mrs. Arthur Little was hostess at her Commonwealth avenue, Boston, home, Wednesday at a reception to introduce her daughter, Miss Anne Means. Miss Means is a favorite with the younger set on the Shore and a number of the pourers were chosen from North Shore debutantes. They included Miss Margaret Russell, Miss Eleanor Cabot, Miss Eleanor Fabyan, Miss Olivia Ames and Miss Nancy Cabot.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mrs. George H. Stoddard gave a tea at her Beacon street, Boston, home Tuesday for her daughter, Miss Margaret Stoddard. The pourers were Miss Margaret Lincoln, Miss Eleanor Cabot, Miss Margaret Foster, Miss Dorothy Hurd, Miss Constance Wharton, Miss Annie Thorp, Miss Anne Means, Miss Marian Read, Miss Sarah Winslow, Miss Margery Lee, Miss Elizabeth Dwight, Miss Doris Taylor, Miss Katherine Key and Miss Louise McAllister.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. Sears Ramsay of Westover, Va., who is spending the winter in Boston, gave a large reception at the Copley-Plaza last Friday for her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Sears Harold. The ball room was decorated to represent a Southern garden with a wealth of tree ferns, gardenias, trailing jessamine, camelias and southern smilax. Miss Ramsay was gowned in white chiffon and pearls with a cluster of jessamine at the belt. Miss Eleanor Fabyan, Miss Anne Means and Miss Margaret Russell, all of whom are well known on the North Shore, were included among the pourers. Dancing followed the reception.

◇ ❖ ◇

Joseph Clark Grew, who is to succeed Irwin Laughlin as first secretary of the American embassy in Berlin, arrived there from Vienna last week. Mr. and Mrs. Grew are at the Esplanade Hotel until they find a house to suit them. They were of the crowd at Hotel Adlon on election night, long to be remembered by Americans in Berlin, where for three hours over three hundred Americans whiled away the time with dancing and bridge and listening to an orchestra playing American airs, while awaiting the bulletin cablegrams from America. Afterwards they dispersed with three ringing cheers for Mr. Wilson.

◇ ❖ ◇

The first of the weekly dancing classes for which Mrs. H. P. McKean is to be hostess, will be held Tuesday at 238 Beacon street, the Boston home of Mrs. L. Carteret Fenno, which Mrs. McKean has for the season. Mrs. Fenno, a sister of Mrs. McKean, is still at Rowley where she has lived almost entirely since the death of her husband. Her daughters, the Misses Pauline, Florence and Marian Fenno, will attend the classes.

◇ ❖ ◇

The Francis M. Stanwoods closed their cottage at Smith's Point, Manchester, last Saturday and returned to their Boston residence for the winter.

SELON ALLEIROS

Mrs. Francis R. Appleton will stay at her country place at Ipswich until after Thanksgiving, when she will open her New York home.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mrs. Levi Z. Leiter was booked to sail for the U. S. from England last Saturday, after a visit of several months abroad. She left Beverly Farms in mid-summer shortly after the death of her sister in Canada. While abroad Mrs. Leiter visited her sons-in-law and daughters, the Earl and Countess of Suffolk and Col. and Mrs. Colin Campbell.

◇ ❖ ◇

Randolph C. Grew will be host for dinner for Miss Theresa Weld at the Somerset club, Dec. 4, and with his guests will later go to the ball which Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Webster are to give for Miss France Webster at the Copley-Plaza Hotel. Mrs. W. Henry Aspinwall will entertain at dinner for her daughter, Miss Lucy Aspinwall at Chestnut Hill, the same evening, and will later go to Miss Webster's ball.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stackpole and Miss Grace Stackpole were among the passengers on the outward bound Laconia last week. The Stackpoles only recently concluded their season at Nahant.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mrs. William L. Putnam and Miss Putnam of Boston and Manchester are again at their Boston residence after their trip abroad.

The Hamilton colony has lost Mr. and Mrs. Rudolphe L. Agassiz during the last week. Mr. and Mrs. Agassiz are established at their Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, home, for the winter. The Hon. A. P. Gardners will spend part of winter in Boston, with frequent visits to their Hamilton home. Miss Constance Gardner made her bow to Boston Society yesterday at the Copley-Plaza Hotel, where she was given a reception with Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge as hostess and Senator Lodge as master of ceremonies at the ball which followed. Miss Gardner is a grand-daughter of Senator Lodge.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. Grover Cleveland gave a coming out party for her daughter Esther, last Monday at her home in Princeton, N. J. Both Mrs. Cleveland and Miss Cleveland spent part of the summer at Fresh Water Cove with the John Hays Hammonds.

◆ ❖ ◆

Mrs. Joseph L. Frothingham of the Beverly Farms colony has been entertaining her sister, Miss Maude Butler for whom many delightful affairs have been given. Miss Butler is a most attractive girl and her large circle of friends, among whom she has become such a favorite during her visit here, regret her departure for France.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. John Hays Hammond, who closed her Gloucester house last week, was guest of honor at a banquet given at Congress Hall, Chicago, last Saturday evening by the Chicago committee of the Women's Titanic Memorial fund. Mrs. Hammond, in her capacity of secretary of the Memorial Fund addressed the gathering and she spoke very feelingly of the bravery and sacrifice of the men, who went down on the Titanic. The Chicago committee has done excellent work in raising money for the memorial arch which it is hoped to erect in Washington.

◆ ❖ ◆

A number of North Shore debutantes assisted at the tea which Mrs. Arthur Winslow gave for her daughter, Miss Sarah Winslow, Monday afternoon at the Hotel Somerset, among whom were Miss Anne Means, Miss Eleanor Fabyan, Miss Josephine Rantoul and Miss Margery Lee.

◆ ❖ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Bigelow gave a dinner at their Marlboro street home Monday night.

MUST EQUIP BRIDGES WITH CHANNEL LIGHTS.

The Essex county commissioners have received an order from the United States government to proceed to equip the bridges in their care across navigable waters in the county with the channel lights required by the federal laws.

The order is one from which there is no appeal and the penalty for failure to carry it out within a reasonable time is a fine not exceeding $100 for each day of such neglect.

Specific plans are sent for placing the red and green lights and the heights and positions of each light, the number varying from six to eleven lights per bridge, according to the type of bridge.

Where a bridge is electrically lighted, oil lights are prohibited, but on account of the height of some of the lights and others being at the extreme ends of the fender piers which would necessitate much climbing around to light them each night at sunset and extinguish them at sunrise, besides the matter of trimming and cleaning—that it would probably be as cheap to put in electric lights wherever it is possible as to use oil, and this may result in electrically lighting some bridges now lighted by oil lights.

It is estimated that the first cost of installing these lights will be $2500 at least to the county.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

What in many respects should prove the most notable event of the season at B. F. Keith's theatre is announced for next week, in the appearance of Ada Reeve. Miss Reeve, who is known on the other side of the water as "London's Pet Comedienne," is this season making her first American tour under Mr. Keith's management. She is recognized as the cleverest singing comedienne on the English music hall stage to-day, and it is safe to say that Boston has never seen anything just like her. Everywhere this talented artist has appeared, she has proved a genuine sensation. New York and Philadelphia fairly went wild over her, and no doubt Boston, where audiences appreciate true artistry perhaps more than any other city in America, will be the next city to fall a captive to Miss Reeve. Miss Reeve will appear in a repertoire of serio-comic character songs, all written especially for her, and all new to American audiences.

WENHAM

At the village church Sunday morning Rev. H. H. Wikoff, secretary of the Congregational church building Society, will be the preacher, assisting the minister, Rev. F. M. Cutler. Sunday school at noon. Y. P. S. C. E. meeting at 6. The evening worship will take the form of a union Thanksgiving service at 7.30 o'clock in the Union chapel, South Hamilton. On this occasion the preacher will be Rev. Frank Parker of Wenham Neck. An offering will be made for the support of the Hamilton-Wenham visiting nurse.

The village church heard with pleasure last Sunday an announcement that the church's benevolent apportionment had been paid in full for the year 1912. The church employs the envelope system of making offering. Gifts through the envelopes during the ensuing weeks will be spent in local missions.

An article by Rev. Mr. Cutler, upon the grading of American colleges, appeared in last week's Congregationist.

WENHAM IS UNIQUE.

Many observers have called attention to the fact that there is but a single Wenham in the United States, and that it is named after the Wenham in Suffolkshire, England. Apparently there are only two places of this name in the entire world. Now, at length, the etymological significance of the name itself becomes known. Wen-ham is an Anglo Saxon word meaning "the home (or ham) on the fen or moorland." Evidently both Wenhams are noted for their meadows and low ground.

History records that the settlers of Wenham purchased title to their lands from the Indian owners, the tribe which had its chief seat at Ipswich or "Agawam." The chief of the tribe was named Moschanonnett or Mascononmo. As this man's Indian name was exchanged, at baptism, for the Biblical name, John, it seems to have been overlooked by scholars. Indian names are always descriptive and often poetical. They are worthy of study. The "Massachusetts" dictionary gives two words, "quanunon" and "mashquanon," both signifying "hawk." There are no other words even remotely resembling the chief's name. Hence it appears that Wenham's lands were originally deeded to white men by "The Hawk."

THE RAMBLER

Some of the local hunters are enjoying trips to Maine this month, where deer are reported to be plentiful. It is lawful to shoot deer in that section until the first of December, with very few exceptions.

♦ ♦ ♦

In Berlin the chief of police has notified theatre managers that their performances must begin as near as possible to the advertised time to reduce to a minimum public annoyance. Theatre-goers of this section who visit Boston wish that some pressure might be brought to bear on a few of the managers of Hub theatres so that they would not be obliged to rush for the last train. From the result of a campaign being waged by prominent hotel and theatre managers there promises to be later trains to all stations within forty miles of Boston. Then, instead of rushing for what is now the last train, theatre patrons might partake of an after-theatre supper, if they so desired, and get a midnight train from Boston.

Friends of Philip Little and Frank W. Benson, the Salem artists who recently won the Chicago Art Institute prizes, are congratulating them on their successful competition in the exhibit held in the Windy City. Mr. Benson won the coveted Potter Palmer gold medal and a cash prize of $1000, while Major Little was a winner of an honorary prize. Mr. Little usually obtains the subjects for his paintings from the outdoor scenery of the North Shore and Cape Ann. He has won many prizes for his woodland and sea paintings.

We have all heard of hymn-singing politicians during the campaign just past, but the following story of two "pols" will demonstrate to you just how much the average politician knows about such things. Nearly every voter in this state knows ex-Mayor John F. Hurley of Salem, and

Col. Joseph N. Peterson, another former head of the Witch City. About a year ago Mr. Hurley visited the land of his nativity, namely Ireland, and going over to the "old country" on a steamer he felt one night that the boat was going to sink. According to his statement he got upon his knees and started to pray. After he got that far in telling his story to Col. Peterson, the latter bet Mr. Hurley that he did not know the Lord's prayer. Whereupon Hurley took the bet and proceeded as follows: "Now I lay me down to sleep—" The colonel did not allow him to say anything further, but gave him the amount of the bet, and said, "You win John." Neither of them knew it.

"Truth stands at Armageddon and battles for New England," is the editorial announcement of a new publication called "Truth," published in the Hub by George R. Conroy and Joseph Smith, two Boston newspaper men. It is a lively little periodical of twelve pages, replete with newsy items pertaining to Boston and New England and has all the earmarks of "reform" in its make-up. "Truth" in its own language, "stands for business—big business and little business. And promises to do everything in its power to boom the Hub and New England. It is extremely interested in the transportation problem now before the public and contains a spicy article on the Grand Trunk situation. Under the title of "Heroes and Humbugs" the new paper pays a mock tribute to Mayor Fitzgerald and characterizes him "the idol of horny-jawed patriots." "Truth" is cleverly illustrated and promises to be a factor in the business and political life of the Hub.

Several would-be hunters have been scouring the woods and fields in search of deer. The woods are full of them—hunters we mean—and, so far, it has been a still hunt, not a deer having been shot on Cape Ann. Personally, we hope none will be as it seems to us a cruel sport; but opinions differ, as the evidence shows.

In several of our leading periodicals the question "What is the matter with our schools?" is handled by some of the foremost educators, and all agree that a change is imperative. A system that sends nearly 125 pupils to the first grade and graduates only about 10 or 12 from the High Schools yearly, has something in it that is not commendable. When, out of 60 boys who entered the lower grades, only 2 or 3 receive their diplomas from High School, it signifies that the time is ripe for a change. The above figures are for the town of Rockport, but might be applied, as to their percentage, to almost every community in the country. The teachers, in most cases, are very efficient, but they are controlled by a system, a tradition which hampers the developments which our new era demands. The time is not distant when pupils will be taught that it is more important to apply thought, study and ideas to the simplest tasks than it is to learn by the aid of parrot-learned rules, to translate a page of Latin. And it is vastly more, important to express our thoughts in good English than it is to express them badly in French or German.

THE B. & E. A CERTAINTY.

Announcement has been made by John H. Bickford, chief engineer of the Boston & Eastern Electric railway, that the road will be able to commence the actual building of their system within three months. This statement dispels the rumor which has been current for the past few days that the New Haven road had been manipulating the backers of the new road in such a way as to delay the work on the B. & E. The completion of the Boston & Eastern road in 1915 should be a good thing for the North Shore as it will mark the beginning of an era of rapid electric transit for that section.

MANY NEW BOOKS.

MANCHESTER LIBRARY ADDS LIST OF CONSIDERABLE VARIETY.

Readers of the "Ruling Passion," "Fishermans Luck," and "The Blue Flower" will be glad to know that another volume of short stories, by Henry Van Dyke, has been added to the library. This last volume "The Unknown Quantity" will no doubt add to his reputation as a short story writer. In the preface he refers to a chain of little lakes in the blue Laurentian Mountains in the Province of Quebec. No two of these lakes are alike but there is a little river that binds them together like a thread. This little river comes from the unknown and is lost again in the distant sea. The author compares the thread that binds his stories together to this little river. "It is the sign of the unknown quantity, the sense of mystery and strangeness, that runs through human life." The stories are all interesting and vary much in character. "The Effectual Fervent Prayer" is rather a pathetic story showing the narrowing effects of a belief in a too austere theology. One of the best stories in the book "The Countersign of the Cradle" has to do with two characters made known to us in one of his other books. Pat Mullarky and his wife Angelique were childless and Pat gave up smoking to save money so they could adopt a child from an orphan home. He was rewarded for his sacrifice when his wife presented him with twins. This story centers around the cradle in which the twins were rocked. The last story in the book "The Mansion" is an interesting story teaching us that we are very apt to fail in winning the approval of a Higher Power if we only live up to the letter of the law and neglect the spirit of it.

We all know of John Hay as Secretary of State in the late President McKinley's Cabinet but how many of us know of him as an author. When quite young he wrote some ballads for the New York Tribune known as "Pike County Ballads." Among the new books this week is a finely illustrated copy of these ballads. Everyone should know "Jim Bludso" and "Little Breeches" and other characters made popular by these ballads. There is another work by this author to be found in the library which should be called for more often than it is at present. I refer to his "Castilian Days" a very fine description of Spanish life and character.

A short novel by a new writer, Julian M. Lippman, makes very interesting reading. It is called "Martha-By-The-Day" and has been compared to "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." Both pathos and humor may be found in it as well as a good deal of homely philosophy.

A new novel by James Lane Allen author of "The Choir Invisible" and "The Kentucky Cardinal" is always welcome. His last "The Heroine in Bronze" is the story of a young author who submits his first work to the criticism of the lady he wishes to make his wife. His hopes and discouragements as well as his final triumph are well portrayed.

That prolific English writer, E. V. Lucas, has just brought out a very interesting work "A Wanderer in Florence." The work is beautifully illustrated. Anyone who has read his fascinating work, "A Life of Charles Lamb" will look forward with pleasure to reading his description of Florence. The subject is a very attractive one for Florence is a very interesting city to wander in, and with its history is associated the names of many artists, poets, and other noted characters. In the Uffizi Art Gallery alone may be found paintings by Botticelli, Andrea del Sarto and Raphael. In the city is the tomb of Lorenzo de Medici made famous by the work of Michelangelo. Dante, author of the "Divine Comedy," made his home in Florence for many years. Machiavelli, the Italian utilitarian statesman, spent his life in the city, and it was there that Savonarola, "prophet, priest and martyr" received his Crown of Martyrdom.

A number of our English poets seemed to be attracted to this great Italian city. John Milton visited Florence in 1638-9. Here he met Galileo and made an excursion to Vallombrosa. Shelly was living in Florence in 1819. It was here that he wrote his "Ode to the West Wind," and his son was born in Florence. Near the city will be found a beautiful place known as the Villa Landor, which was once the home of Walter Savage Landor whom someone has called the "greatest English Florentine."

Robert Browning and his wife Elizabeth Barrett Browning lived in Florence. A tablet marks the house where they lived. It was there that he wrote "Andrea del Sarto" and "Fra Lippo Lippi" and Mrs. Browning her famous "Casa Gurdi Windows" and most of her long poem, "Aurora Leigh." The life they lived there was a very happy one.

Since closing the career of "Sherlock Holmes" we have had very little from the pen of Conan Doyle. He has written a new book, "The Lost World." It is a romantic mystery tale even more thrilling than his "Hound of the Baskervilles."

Mrs. Henry de la Pasture (Lady Clifford) has just brought out a new novel "The Honourable Mrs. Garry." The author is well known in America through her "Lonely Lady of Grosvenor Square," "Peter's Mother" and "Master Christopher." "Erica" one of the characters in "Master Christopher" becomes the heroine in her last work. It is a very fine character study and a more interesting novel than "Master Christopher."

"The Passing of the Shereefian Empire" by E. Ashmead Bartlett is a very interesting account of the recent history of Morocco. His record is that of an eye-witness.

A very bright story for boys is "The Marshal" by Mary Raymond Shipman Andrews. It is a story of France at the time of Napoleon. Every boy should know. "Francois Beaupre" the hero of this story.

A new edition of "Elm Island Stories" and "Forest Glen Stories" for boys has been put into the library to replace the much-worn older edition. These stories were written a good many years ago by Rev. Elijah Kellogg a Congregational minister.

A Western author, Charles Pierce Burton, has written a number of stories for boys. These stories are popular at the present. Four of these stories may be found in the library. A full list of the books put into the library this week may be found below.

"IF I WERE YOU."

NOTEWORTHY ADDRESS BY WALTER NUGENT AT WOMAN'S CLUB.

When the Manchester Woman's club met in the Chapel Tuesday afternoon an exceptionally large attendance was present to hear the Rev. Walter Nugent of Newburyport, the speaker of the afternoon, a lecturer of well known ability. Rev. Mr. Nugent took as his theme: "If I Were You." At the outset he spoke of the conception of true life by different people. Some seek the attainment of wealth, some social, some political position. All of these, said Mr. Nugent are false standards. To do one's level best in whatever sphere of life one is placed is true living. The best definition of life that has ever been given, the speaker said, is the words of the Master, "She hath done what she could." If each individual uses all his privileges and opportunities for the best ends possible, he has attained true life. The preacher stowed away in an obscure parish daily doing his best for those about him, preaching the gospel the best way he knows is really living; the farmer who has, in the forward march of civilization, gone to a new land to get his living from the soil may live as wisely and as serviceably as his brother, the modern farmer, who is using all the devices which this age provides while he is struggling along with the old implements of toil. Even the man who sweeps our city streets, if he is doing his work as best he can, is living the true life just as much as the President of the United States, and more so if that President is not doing his level best and the street cleaner is.

In the life of the average man, the conflict which he fights between the right and wrong will never be known to the world; whether he takes the right or wrong course the world will never know; yet a man can be truly great if he never comes into the light of the public eye. Rev. Mr. Nugent quoted from Mathew Arnold and from Gray's "Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard," to illustrate his point. Arnold, always the pessimist, looks upon man's struggle for the right as in vain, because the world does not heed, but in the peasant graves of the country churchyard, Gray saw dead heroes of whose struggles the world would never hear.

"If I Were You," said the speaker, "I should choose principle rather than policy." He told of President Harper of the University of Chicago, who, having accepted a fund from John D. Rockefeller for the University, died poor and a fund was raised for his widow that she might spend the rest of her days on the campus.

All great men have been men of principle rather than of policy. Rev. Mr. Nugent spoke at some length of Martin Luther, to whose moral courage in braving the most powerful man of the age, the Pope, is largely due the religious freedom of to-day. Against the advice of his friends Luther chose his course and although he paid for it with his life, the world could have never paid him the tribute it does to-day had he chosen policy instead of principle. The man of policy is like a sailing vessel; everything goes smoothly when sailing with the tide and wind but if the tide or wind changes, the vessel is in trouble immediately. The man of principle is like a steam vessel, making progress whether the elements be with or against him.

Rev. Mr. Nugent's address received enthusiastic applause from the many who had come to hear him speak. The meeting adjourned to meet Miss Carrie Allen, the hostess for the afternoon.

MANCHESTER'S BANK AND CORPORATION TAX.

The town of Manchester receives through the tax commissioners' office for the current year the sum of $58,681.44 divided as follows: Public service and business corporations, $50,022.98, National bank tax, $8,658.46. Total $58,681.44.

The corporation books show the following amount of taxes assessed to local business firms incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts and whose stockholders reside in this town:

Edward S. Bradley Co., of Manchester, Edw. S. Bradley, Treas., $23.46; Green & Swett Co., Boston and Manchester, Fred K. Swett, Treas., $292.01; North Shore Breeze Co., Manchester, J. Alex. Lodge, Treas., $25.15; Samuel Knight & Sons, Manchester, Geo. L. Knight, Treas., $94.79; Smith's Express Co., Manchester, Frederick J. Merrill, Treas., $66.48; Walen Drug Co., Manchester, Alfred Walen, Treas., $17.97.

The Men's Brotherhood will hold its second semi-monthly meeting in the Baptist church vestry, Monday evening, Nov. 25, at 7:30. An interesting speaker is assured. All men are cordially invited.

MANCHESTER

The Senior class of the Story High School have completed all arrangements for their dancing party to be held Thanksgiving eve. Something new in the line of decorations is anticipated.

Joseph Montesanti of Vasconcello's barber shop, Central square, is leaving town next Tuesday for Southern Pines, N. C., where he has a position for the winter at the Highland Pines Inn. He will return here next May.

Selectman Edward S. Knight is having a building on his property off School street formerly used as a barn, remodelled into a cottage house. He plans to occupy the house himself when completed, it is understood. C. L. Crafts has the contract.

Calling cards printed in Engravers Old English 75 cents for 100. Give your order now before the Xmas rush. The Breeze office.

The Sons of Veterans will nominate officers at their meeting next Tuesday night. The members are urged to attend this meeting. Brother Henry W. Butler, Jr., of Magnolia will tender the camp a vension supper that night. He shot a buck deer weighing 275 lbs. at Magnolia last Monday morning.

The Essex County association of the S. of V. met in the G. A. R. hall Tuesday evening. "Hot dogs" and coffee were served.

The next meeting of the Arbella club will be held in the chapel Tuesday, Nov. 26, at 4 o'clock. It will be a Home meeting.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING.

The Parent-Teacher association met at the Price School Wednesday evening. Mrs. Baker, the president, opened the meeting. She read an invitation from the Woman's club to attend the meeting Dec. 17 which was accepted.

Miss Theresa Walsh, one of the delegates from the association to the Mothers' Convention at Greenfield, spoke of the meeting there. The largest Mothers' club in the state exists at Greenfield. The first evening a reception was held at which Mrs. Mears, the National President of the organization, and Mrs. Higgins, state President, presided. Addresses of welcome were delivered by prominent men of Greenfield. Mrs. Higgins spoke on the good the club might do, not only looking after the individual families, but also in obtaining state laws regarding the regulation of marriage by the fitness of the parties concerned. Mrs. Mears, in her address, gave an interesting account of the growth of the Mothers' Congress, which was organized 15 years ago. Good work is done by this organization, not only in the United States, but its influence has reached as far as China, where it has been a factor in the prevention of the opium habit. To the Mothers' Congress is largely due the credit for the play-grounds which have meant so much to school children, especially in crowded cities.

Officers were elected the second day of the convention, Mrs. D. T. Beaton of Manchester, achieved the honor of being elected vice-president.

MANCHESTER

Miss Susie Gould of Boston is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. George Foster Allen.

About thirty of the friends of Harold Brooks gathered at his home Monday evening to observe his 18th birth-day. A dance was enjoyed in the big barn to the music of a violin and a banjo. The host was presented with a camera. Much of the success of the party is due to his sister, Miss Josephine Brooks.

Mr. and Mrs. William Plumb spent Sunday in town with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Granville Crombie.

At Floyd's for the Thanksgiving table:—Naples walnuts, pecans, soft shell almonds, butter nuts, filberts, castaneas, shagbarks, Italian chestnuts and Philie nuts. Also dates, figs, malaga grapes, pop corn brittle and home-made candy. *

A report of the fund of $1,000 which Prof. Higgins left to help the child welfare campaign was given. Mrs. Smith, the Corresponding Secretary, spoke on the excellence of Massachusetts's Mothers' clubs, which she declares are far ahead of the others. In speaking of juvenile courts and probation officers Mrs. Smith emphasized the need of detention houses for children that they may not have to be placed in the houses with grown people, whose influence must be for the bad.

After Miss Walsh, Mrs. G. B. Northrup spoke. She too emphasized the value of the pension plan against the institution plan as pointed out by Hiss Winslow at the convention. Mrs. Northrup repeated the discussion concerning the amount of training in the schools and at home.

GOES TO LARGER FIELD.

Ralph H. Mann, treasurer of the Manchester Trust Co., the one who organized the company a year ago last May, has tendered his resignation and will shortly move to Bridgeport, Conn., to take up his new duties as the treasurer of a new Trust Company, just organized there with a half-trust Co., has had phenomenal success; its deposits have steadily increased until it now figures up to nearly half a million.

The directors have appointed Harry W. Purington, who has been Mr. Mann's assistant, as the acting treasurer.

SPARE THE LASH.

Manchester, Mass.,
Nov. 21, 1912.

Editor, The Breeze,

Dear Sir:—

It was my privilege to witness an incident this morning which should, I think, be of interest to every person and arouse their interest in such a way as to help promote the movement for the prevention of cruelty to animals.

A heavy cart, full of gravel, was being hauled down the hill at Summer street extension. The horses were straining every muscle to hold the cart back, but one was unfortunate enough to slip frequently, which occasioned continual lashing by the driver. When I cried to him to stop, he turned in blank astonishment and said: "Why, he slips!" as if he thought that the only proper thing to do.

Had the owner of these animals known of this treatment I know he would not have permitted it; for they are far too valuable helpers to be abused by a person ignorant of their intelligence and feeling. In my excitement, I did not inquire the name of his employer, but, had I done so, he should very soon have known this story from me.

It would almost seem, in the instance I have mentioned, the only thing required to be a driver, is the ability to hold the reins and whip and to use them to the utmost. Why not enlighten such men regarding the use of a horse and try to instil a little real common-sense into them before entrusting dumb creatures to their mercy.

If this is impossible, why then, they are not fit for such positions. Give them a hammer and stones to pound, but not a horse.

Through the columns of this paper, I appeal to everybody to remember that the dumb animals are God's creatures and placed at our mercy. Let us see to it that they are used the kindest and best way. There are too many instances practised daily. Should you witness an instance of cruelty, see that it is brought to the notice of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and they will see that it is thoroughly investigated, if you have sufficient proof against the offender. I hope everyone will co-operate in this worthy cause in helping the dumb animals.

Very respectfully,
"Sympathy."

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEMS.

Rarely have business enterprises and the public in general been disturbed and interested by the problems of transportation as at the present time. Large interests are at stake and giant corporations are shuffling for positions of advantage. Philadelphia is anxious concerning the future of that port and is making every legitimate effort to prevent its trade from passing to New York. Washington and New York are interested in the movements of the new president of the Pennsylvania road. In Massachusetts the disturbances caused by the cessation of work by the Grand Trunk and the apparent control gained by the New Haven road introduces another railroad problem. In Boston the new Board of Port Directors have succeeded in obtaining a promise from the Hamburg-American line to make Boston one of its American ports. Negotiations are also pending for a new steamship line to Portugal. The opening of the Panama canal in the near future has stimulated business interests to plan transportation lines from the coast cities of the east of North America to the cities of the West coast and in these new enterprises fortunes are sure to be won and lost. The new subway to Cambridge has been a great economy of time to the public. Of interest to the North Shore are the grade crossing problems of Lynn and Salem. In these two cities great changes are being made for the convenience and safety of public transportation. It is certain that the new Boston and Eastern Electric railway to Boston will be laid in the near future. It has been brought out in the past few days that the B. & M. line will be electrified to Beverly within two years and that will eventually mean the electrification of the entire Gloucester Branch. The day is not far off when through passengers from the West and South will be able to reach the North Shore without the inconvenience of crossing Boston. An electric service to and from Boston will clip off at least a fourth, if not a third, from the running time of all North Shore trains consequently placing these cities and towns so much nearer Boston. All of the disturbances occasioned by these changes are the movements of prosperity and readjustment and eventually must be realized in a general advantage to the traveling public. Greater strides will be made in solving the problems of transportation on the North Shore in the next ten years than have been made in the last twenty-five years.

THANKSGIVING.

"Let all the people give thanks" reads the ancient law and on Thursday of the coming week the national and state Thanksgiving Day should be observed fittingly and reverently. The day is a great one in the history of America and should not be permitted to pass out of our community life. Its spirit should be perpetuated and its inheritances from the past should be conserved. Thanksgiving is a "composite" holiday and is unlike Columbus Day, Patriot's Day, Bunker Hill Day or Independence Day. It does not commemorate any one event but has in it the spirit of many hours and events of national history. To Massachusetts it means the perpetration of the simple ceremonies of the early settlers as they reverently went up to their rude church to give thanks to Almighty God that first "Thanksgiving." This is the colonial spirit of the day. As a national holiday it is a day in which to give gratitude to God for a free land on American soil. This is the inheritance of the War of Independence. As a national holiday it expresses the gratitude of the American people for the supremacy of the principle of liberty for the black as well as for the white and Thanksgiving to the Supreme Ruler of Nations for one nation indivisible in the Western Hemisphere. Surely the day is a great one and its great lessons ought not to be lost in a day of recreation, luxury and feasting.

THE TARIFF.

President-elect Woodrow Wilson has, as was to have been expected, announced that he will call an extra session of Congress shortly after March 4, and not later than April 15, to revise the tariff schedule in accordance with the Democratic policy. Mr. Wilson is taking the legitimate course open to him, for his party must redeem its pre-election promises. The call for an extra session seems to be generally satisfactory, for the Democrats wish the fruits of their victory crystalized into law as quickly as possible, and the business man of both parties wish to have what must be done carried out as quickly as possible, so that business may not be delayed in readjusting itself to new conditions. Apart from any specific claim now made for an extra session, the provision made in our government for the in-coming Congress is faulty. The new Congress elected in any year ought not to be forced to wait until December of the following year to convene to execute the will of the majority. Some changes should be made to avoid this delay. President-elect Wilson's course is wise, at this time, because of these two reasons,—if the tariff is to be revised,—the sooner the better, and a delay of more than a year is unfair to the public under the usual conditions.

THE AMORY WILL.

The will of Francis Amory is an indication of the fine spirit and noble character of its writer. That paragraph which provides for the care of the mothers of the coming generation is rich in feeling and fine instincts of human character.

that any and all persons having this trust in charge or in any manner or capacity connected with the above hospital, will exercise the utmost care to treat all patients who may come under their care, or be committed to their charge, with that consideration, kindness and attention which is due to the helpless, sick, weak, weary and exhausted, ever keeping in sweet and affectionate remembrance the memories of their own homes, and that sweetest and most sacred of all memories, a mother's fostering care and love."

To have had a spirit so generous and a mind so enlightened to conceive such noble thoughts without their realization is a triumph of character and a tribute to the power and influence of the Christian spirit; but to think such thoughts and to provide for their execution is an activity worthy of angels. Mothers will arise in the days to come to call him blessed for who can measure the increasing benefit rendered the world in the successful lives of those mothers' children?

THE OLD NORTH CHURCH.

The renovation and restoration of the Old North church is being prosecuted with persistence and accuracy. In his patient research and tactful administration of the affairs of the Old North Church Bishop Lawrence has been serving the cause of American History. It is a national asset that is hidden in the by-ways of the North End of Old Boston and the restoration of the old church is a decided step in the preservation of old historical landmarks of Boston.

AN APPEAL FOR THANKSGIVING WORSHIP.

By

CLARENCE STRONG POND.

MINISTER OF THE CHURCH AT BEVERLY FARMS.

Thanksgiving Day is rich in its associations and significance and is one of the best inheritances of the generation that is gone. Whatever else Thanksgiving Day may have become, originally it was intended to serve the religious instincts of our forefathers and was consecrated to community worship of God and to Thanksgiving. But in these later days we have been so abundantly blessed and have prospered so richly that we have not been willing to take the time to devote an hour of the year to the public service of thanksgiving and praise in the churches.

Thanksgiving Day is an old New England custom that ought not to pass away. Beginning in the little Massachusetts colony it has gradually become a National Institution. The wild turkey of that early feast has been displaced by a domestic bird and the sentiment of the day has been maintained.

On that first Thanksgiving Day all went to church and offered up their Thanksgiving to Almighty God for His wonderful providence and his kindness to men. Shall the old church service on Thanksgiving be abandoned?

Let all remember the day and for what it stands! Cannot every family arrange to be represented at church. This spirit should be maintained and the services next Thursday should be well attended that it pass not from us as a memory of the days gone by.

The Boston office of the North Shore Breeze is the Herald Building, 171 Tremont St., (Room 44), where our Boston patrons will find it convenient to telephone orders for printing or items for publication in the Breeze. All orders for printing receive the personal attention of Mr. Lodge. Prompt service. Telephone 3660 Oxford. Public stenographer always in attendance.

"And," concluded the Sunday School teacher, "If you are a good boy, Tommy, you will go to heaven and have a gold crown on your head."

"Not much," said Tommy; "I had one of them things put on a tooth once."—Ladies Home Journal.

MISS ADELE SJOLUND DEAD.

A VICTIM OF SCARLET FEVER AT CHICAGO HOSPITAL, WHERE SHE WAS IN TRAINING.

Miss Adele Sjolund, of Manchester, who, in September last, entered the Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago for training as a nurse, died at that institution at noon, last Sunday, from scarlet fever, contracted while in the performance of her duty.

Miss Sjolund was graduated from the Story High School last June and prepared to go to Chicago in the autumn. Her sister, Miss Agnes, has been in training at the Children's Hospital for the last three years and the sisters planned, when both had been graduated from the hospital, to carry on their work together. From the outset Miss Sjolund was most successful and took an absorbing interest in her work.

While performing her duties she was taken ill on Wednesday, Nov. 13th. Her sickness soon developed into scarlet fever. She was given every attention and, for a time, her case was not considered a critical one. Dr. Soper, one of the eminent physicians of the city, who had her in charge, did not think the situation serious and remarked:

"She came like a soldier and this is her first wound."

After a day or two, complications set in and, in a very short time, the situation became grave. For a time the patient was delirious. Sunday morning she woke very much improved, apparently, and spoke most naturally to her sister. A little later she dropped asleep, and it was soon noted that she was sinking rapidly. Everything that could be done was done, but to no avail. The end came just at noon.

The rules of the Chicago board of health requires immediate cremation or burial of those who die from contagious diseases and, accordingly, the body of Miss Sjolund was cremated early Monday. At nine o'clock Monday morning private services were held at Graceland cemetery, the Rev. Dr. M. Houghton officiating and the remains were placed in the receiving vault at that cemetery for the winter. Next June, when it will be possible for Miss Agnes Sjolund to accompany them home, the ashes will be brought to Manchester and the "soldier" will be laid at rest beside her mother. A memorial service will be held at that time.

Adele Bertha Sjolund—"Dillon" as all her friends knew her—was born at Manchester, 19 years ago, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustaf Sjolund. She was the youngest of a family of five children—Aleck and Miss Sara, who still live in Manchester; Miss Nannie, who is at a sanitarium in Palmer and Miss Agnes. The mother died when the children were all still young.

ADELE BERTHA SJOLUND.

19 Years—8 Months.

She had pledged her life to service
To the sick and those oppressed,
But God called her, it was His will,
And we must not be distressed.

She was happy, oh! so happy
In the calling which she chose,
Only two short months He gave her,
Then He took our slender rose.

She is happy now in Heaven
With no sorrows of this earth.
Do not let our sadness blemish,
Turn our mourning into mirth.

NORTH SHORE HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the North Shore Horticultural society was held in Lee's hall, Manchester, last Friday evening, when the following officers for 1913 were elected: James Chapman, president; Eric H. Wetherlow, vice-pres.; John Jaffray, treasurer; James Salter, clerk; R. A. Mitchell, librarian. Executive committee, William Till, Joseph Clarke, William Swan, Alfred E. Parsons and Herbert Shaw.

The society was reported in good financial condition and with a good membership. The incoming president and vice-president made brief remarks after the election. The discussion committee announced that it proposed to have a list of the speakers at the forth-coming meeting printed and distributed among the members. Alexander Pembroke will be the speaker at the next meeting (Dec. 6); his subject will be "Carnations."

It was decided at the last meeting to have a banquet this winter as on every year since the society was organized, except last year. It will be held sometime in December or January. The committee appointed to make all the arrangements, is composed of Eric H. Wetherlow, John Jaffray, Herbert W. Clark, Carl F. Eicke, T. Harrison Stiles, Myric Horton.

PLAN FOR THE LARGER WELFARE OF THE YOUNG PEOPLE OF MANCHESTER.

A meeting was held Monday evening, Nov. 18, at the Price Primary school, Manchester, at which delegates from the various organizations of the town met to confer with the executive board of the Parent-Teacher association upon plans for the larger welfare of the young people of Manchester. The organizations represented were: Woman's club, Odd Fellows, D. of R., G. A. R., W. R. C., S. of V., Pilgrim Fathers, Red Men, King's Daughters, Baptist church, Ladies Social circle, Harmony Guild and Arbella club. The chairman of the board of selectmen was also present.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. John Baker, president of the Parent-Teacher association. The purpose of the meeting was stated and full discussions was invited. At the close of the discussion a motion was carried authorizing the appointment of a committee to consider the various suggestions advanced and submit to a future meeting resolutions embodying a definite course of action to be pursued.

The following committee was chosen: Supt. John C. Mackin, (chairman), Rev. A. G. Warner, Frank Foster and Miss Lila G. Goldsmith.

Registration for city election closed on Wednesday night with 4242 qualified voters in the city. In Ward 6 there are 394 voters registered.

Steamer 3, the old Beverly Farms apparatus, remodelled and rebuilt, arrived at the Central Station, Beverly, from the factory at Elmira, N. Y. Wednesday. It will be kept at the Central station for a while and will probably be stationed at North Beverly.

The store and tenement building owned by Daniel W. Hardy at 766 Hale street has undergone extensive repairs. The tenement has been leased by Arthur A. D'Avignon of Standley's shoe store.

John West colony, Pilgrim Fathers, was well represented at the meeting of the Pilgrim Wanderers in Lynn, where the Washington and Social colonies of that place entertained. A reception was given to Supreme Governor George F. Bradstreet. The John West orchestra furnished the music.

Chas. H. Hull is as yet the only candidate from this ward in the city election. He is running for alderman. Rep. Herman A. MacDonald, a Beverly Farms man, and of course a person of especial interest to this ward, is the candidate for mayor. James B. Dow of Beverly Farms took out nomination papers for re-election to the school board. The time for filing nomination papers expires Nov. 27.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Neil Gluckert (nee Larson) returned this week from their wedding trip. After improvements have been completed they will make their home at 12 Haskell street.

Sunday was observed at the Beverly Farms Baptist church as social service and Home Mission Sunday. In the morning the minister preached on "The Debt of America to Jesus Christ" and in the evening on "The Opportunity of the Future to Jesus Christ." The address considered the evils of socialism, intemperance, Mormonism, the problem of the great city and the opportunities and advantages of country life. In turn it was shown how only the spirit of Jesus Christ could solve the problem. In country life, the life of Christ can be expressed in social service and in enlarging the vision and activities of the church. The church owed a debt to the ends of the earth, but also owes a debt to the opportunities before it. The attendance both morning and evening was good.

An unusually large assortment of gold-mounted briar and amber pipes ranging in price from $1.00 to $3.00, including beautiful case. Suitable for Christmas gifts. F. P. Gaudreau, the Central Square barber.

Peter Ward reports that he is meeting with much encouragement in his new lunch room, West street. He carries a line of bakers goods and has milk for sale. *

The members of the Pastor's Hour Class for Boys of the Baptist church have invited the Rev. Mr. Buckley of the Unitarian church, Beverly, to deliver an address on "Historic Concord" at some time yet to be set.

Mrs. Fred Williams who has been ill at her home for the last several weeks, is slightly improved.

The annual football game between the Beverly and Salem High Schools, on the morning of Thanksgiving Day, will attract a large contingent from the Farms. It will be played on the grounds of the Beverly Poor Farm.

Those having Thanksgiving contribution bags for the Home for Little Wanderers should leave them with George S. Day not later than next Tuesday evening.

The next meeting of Preston W. R. C. will be held Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 4, beginning at 3 o'clock. The annual election of officers will be held.

The Rev. J. Francis Russell will deliver an address on "The Pearl of the Orient" at the Baptist church on Dec. 1.

A large collection of callabash pipes at F. P. Gaudreau's barber shop, Central Square. *

As a very small number of bidders turned out for the public auction of the George S. Hadley estate at the Farms last Saturday afternoon, no sale was held. It was said interest was not sufficient to make the bids attractive.

Former Councilman Charles H. Hull is as yet the only candidate for office in Ward 6.

The local Baptist church will observe Thanksgiving Day with the usual service. At 10 o'clock in the morning, an appropriate sermon will be preached by the pastor, Rev. Clarence Strong Pond.

Mrs. John Grey of Haskell street has the sympathy of her many Beverly Farms friends in the loss of her mother, Mrs. Lennox, of Cambridge, who passed away the latter part of last week.

Richard Heaphy of Beverly has been appointed Deputy High Chief of the local St. Margaret Court of Forrester.

It is reported that a prominent and active worker in the ranks of the Democratic party at the Farms has taken steps to have his application considered at the proper time as successor to Postmaster Brooks, as a change might be made because of the incoming administration at Washington.

The Pastor's Hour for Boys met early last evening at the Baptist church and extended an invitation to the boys of the Leland Cole Camp of Boy Scouts at the Baptist church, Beverly, to come to Beverly Farms Saturday and take a hike to Gravelly Pond through the woods.

Rev. Clarence Strong Pond addressed a meeting of the Women's Organization of the Dane Street church, Beverly, yesterday on "Community Building."

Preston W. R. Corps, No. 93, held their annual inspection in the G. A. R. Hall last Tuesday evening. The inspection officer was Mrs. Seddie Follett of Manchester, who complimented the post on its good work. Mrs. Follett was accompanied on her visit by about 10 members of the Allen Corps of the W. R. C., Manchester.

Rev. Clarence S. Pond will preach at the Baptist church Sunday morning on "Eyes have they, but they see not." In the evening the subject will be "Compensation—paying the bill."

Last Monday evening the Picture committee of the Baptist church presented to a large audience a fine entertainment. The program, a "surprise," was made up of numbers contributed by the several classes. The committee in charge were Mrs. Florence Hawkins, Supt. of the Dept.;

Evidently there is no need of going to the Maine woods for big game. The law has been off on deer this week and many in this vicinity have taken advantage of the opportunity. Arthur Harlow, with Rex and Bert Hull, shot a fine specimen of a buck near Gravelly Pond. It had a head of seven antlers, which are to be mounted. Herbert Standley also shot a fine buck in the woods off Brimble Ave. It weighed over 250 pounds and its horns had a spread of 22 inches. John S. Edwards of Centerville brought down a 200 pound doe on the Essex road. It was carried to the Centerville engine house and the members of the company plan to have a vension dinner. Another lucky sportsman was Thomas Doane, who got his game without a shot. He was coming down Hale street at the Farms when a little doe ran out the woods pursued by two dogs, which Doane drove away. The doe, terror-stricken, jumped directly at Doane, who caught her in his arms and she died, almost immediately of fright.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Perkins of Chicago are here on a visit to Mrs. Perkins' sister, Mrs. Benjamin Ober and Mrs. James Hooper on Hale street. Mrs. Ober and Mrs. Hooper plan to close their house here soon and accompany Mr. and Mrs. Perkins to Chicago where they will spend the winter.

The Italians who have taken a great interest in the educational movement for their benefit are now looking forward with pleasure to an entertainment and musical program which will be given. The program was arranged by Miss Louisa P. Loring. Francesco Malgeri, the social service expert of Boston will address the meeting. He is to spend practically the whole day in town making visits with Italian families here.

Michael O'Connor, who is at the the Beverly hospital, is reported to be steadily improving.

IN MEMORIAM.

To E. S.

There passed from us a soul who held the gifts that few possess in whole:—The love and fear of God, kindness, a good word for others, humility, love of all that was beautiful in life, and a sense of humor.

I was proud to call her "friend." So many gods, so many creeds, So many paths that wind and wind, When just the art of being kind, Is all the sad world needs.

GREAT STYLE SHOW

BOSTON TO HAVE A FASHION EXPOSITION.

Beginning Jan. 15, 1913 and continuing for ten days, in Horticultural Hall, Boston is to have a great style show of fashion exposition, one of the most unique and most attractive of any kind ever given in New England. Boston has been far behind the other great centers of the fashion world in this respect, especially the big cities of Europe. But such expositions certainly make for the betterment of society and the general improvement of business conditions and the Boston show is to be of the very highest class. Every detail has been planned on the highest plane of excellence by the directors of the Boston Exhibiting Association and the entire show will be strictly kept to this limitation.

TO ELECTRIFY B. & M. OVER RE-BUILT FOUR TRACK ROAD, TO BEVERLY.

That the New Haven interests hope to electrify the Boston & Maine railroad over a rebuilt four-track roadway from Boston to Beverly within the next two years, the limit within which the road also expects to complete the tunnel enlargement and grade crossing abolition work in Salem, was brought out at the hearing before the special grade crossing commission in the council chamber at Salem last Friday.

The statement was made by William Coolidge, counsel for the Mellen lines in outlining the position of the road in accepting Salem's plan for the improvements, which calls for a 3 per cent grade for the tunnel under the city.

SEARS-NAHANT TAX CASE.

Judge Bell in the Superior Court at Salem last Friday handed down an award of $40,205.12 to Frederick R. Sears et al. against the town of Nahant. The plaintiff sued to recover taxes paid on the Sears estate under protest, the claim being that the estate had been distributed before the tax was assessed.

BOSTON THEATRE

Clifton Crawford, will begin the last week of his engagement at the Boston Theatre next Monday in "My Best Girl." We all remember Mr. Crawford not only for his performance in "Three Twins" but in vaudeville and other entertainments, and it is enough to know that in "My Best Girl" there is humor of the sort he is best at and music which he can sing attractively and tunes to which he can dance gracefully. But the play is not for Mr. Crawford alone, by any means, for the Henry B. Harris management, under which he appears, has gathered about him a company of artists who have proven themselves first class entertainers and it is said that each and every one of them has that to do which displays their talents to the utmost. Among those who will appear with Mr. Crawford are Rita Stanwood, Maud Raymond, Harry Fairleigh, John Hendricks, Coralinn Waide, W. J. McCarthy, Florence Mackie and others.

else. Oak and mahogany.
Dull and polish finish. An exceptionally pretty one in oak for $16.50. Others for $17.50, $19.00, $23.50 and upward. Mahogany, $35.00,
$46.00, $48.00, $54.00 and so on.

DINING CHAIRS

Everybody is buying leather seat ones and our prices for these are as low at $2.15.
Others for $2.50, $2.75, $3.00, and higher in value. Mahogany chairs as little as $5.00.
Others for $6.50, $7.50 and upward.

Selling of our

BEAUTIFUL DINNER SETS

The common remark about them is, "They're the handsomest patterns to be seen and the prices are very reasonable." We knew this would be the verdict. When you buy an attractive Set for $9.50 that is worth at least eleven-fifty, and a fifteen-dollar one for $12.50, and have the largest variety to select from, even values up to $50.00, you know then why housewives are now going to 'TITUS'

A Gift for A Lady

The Bracelet Watch is becoming more popular every day as its beauty and convenience come to be appreciated. In all the leading fashion centres Bracelet Watches are very much in evidence this winter.

The illustration shows a new Waltham model expansion Bracelet Watch, that is so constructed that the watch is detachable so that it can be worn as a Sautoir or on the wrist, as desired. This makes a watch of double usefulness. As a Christmas, birthday or complimentary gift for a lady—for the lady—this Bracelet Watch is especially appropriate. It is a gift of beauty and dignity and one which will be treasured for a lifetime, almost an hourly reminder of the giver.

Price, Ruby Waltham movement, solid 14k gold $50.00; same 25-year gold filled $27.00. Prices of other models quoted on request.

SOCIETY NOTES

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Lancashire and Miss Lancashire are concluding their stay in New York this week, where they have been registered at the Ritz-Carlton, since leaving Boston a fortnight or so ago. Mrs. Lancashire and Miss Lancashire remained over Thanksgiving so as to be with the youngest of the daughters who is in boarding school there. The Doctor reached Detroit in time to spend the holiday with his son Ammi. The family will spend the winter at the Hotel Pontchartrain, the most fashionable hotel in Detroit, and one of the swellest hotels of the Middle West. They have not yet decided definitely on a house at Manchester for next season.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. H. P. McKean gave a dinner for Miss Louise McAllister Thursday of last week. Miss McAllister is one of the most attractive debutantes of the season and will be extensively entertained.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. John Babson Thomas of West Manchester have moved to Boston for the winter. They are established at the Copley-Plaza instead of at a Back Bay residence as in former seasons. Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Grew, also of the North Shore coterie, are to be at the Copley-Plaza for the coming months.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Russell of Boston and Magnolia entertained at dinner Thursday week at the Copley-Plaza in honor of their niece, Miss Margaret Russell, who later went to Miss Constance Gardner's ball.

◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Lucy Aspinwall will be given a dinner to-night by Mrs. James Arnold Lowell of Chestnut Hill after which hostess and guests will attend the ball at the Copley-Plaza in honor of Miss Elizabeth Silsbee.

◆ ◆ ◆

One of the prettiest entertainments of last week was the dance given at the Chilton club, Boston, in honor of Miss Amy Bradley by her mother, Mrs. Richards M. Bradley. There were about sixty couples present.

SOCIETY NOTES

The first ball of the season at Boston was held at the Copley-Plaza last Thursday when Senator Henry Cabot Lodge entertained for his granddaughter, Miss Constance Gardner, daughter of Hon. and Mrs. Augustus P. Gardner of Hamilton and Boston. The ball room was effectively decorated with masses of flowers and southern smilax was used to drape the windows. Mrs. Gardner received with her daughter and was beautifully gowned in pale blue satin with a flounce of blue tulle and pannier drapery of blue satin. Miss Gardner wore a dress of ivory satin and white tulle, ornamented with tiny pink rosebuds. Many of the North Shore girls were included among the guests. Miss Eleanor Fabyan wore white satin and white tulle with a poinsettia at the corsage; Miss Olivia Ames, deep blue satin with a pointed tunic of white lace caught at the side of the skirt with pink ribbon; Miss Elizabeth Cabot, scarlet satin brocaded in silver and the corsage draped with point lace; Miss Anne Means, white satin and white lace; Miss Louise McAllister, blue satin veiled with net; Miss Josephine Rantoul, pink satin draped with chiffon to match; and Miss Margaret Russel in blue satin. Mrs. Bryce J. Allan was present, wearing a tiara of diamonds and pearls; Mrs. Gordon Abbott wore blue and gold brocade; Mrs. Guy Lowell, black and white embroidered satin; Mrs. Oliver Ames, 2d, white satin embroidered in pearls; Mrs. Rodolphe Agassiz, pink and gold brocaded satin; Mrs. Philip Dexter, yellow tulle over yellow satin; Mrs. Francis L. Higginson, Jr., black velvet and white lace; and Mrs. Philip Sears, white brocaded satin.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner M. Lane came to their summer home at Manchester for the week-end.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Leland closed their West Manchester cottage Saturday after a long season spent on the Shore and returned to Boston to spend the coming months. They will come down for the week-end frequently throughout the winter.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. John A. Burnham and daughters, 'Misses Helen C. and Mary C., after a long season at "Overlook," their country estate at Wenham, overlooking Wenham lake, are returning to their town house at 57 Commonwealth avenue, Boston, the first of next week.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Chapin (Julia Tuckerman), who reside just outside of New York City, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a second child, a son, the past week. Their first child, also a boy, was born in London.

◆ ◆ ◆

At the dinner which Mrs. George S. Silsbee is giving for her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Silsbee, at the Copley-Plaza, tonight, covers will be laid for 50 guests. After the dinner Katharine E. Silsbee's ball for Miss Silsbee will call out a large number of guests to the same hotel.

◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Alice and Miss Rosamond Fay of Boston and Nahant are to spend the winter in Europe. They sailed Wednesday week from New York on the "Vaterland" for Antwerp.

◆ ◆ ◆

Sec. of the Navy and Mrs. George Von L. Meyer gave a dinner at their Washington home last Saturday evening in honor of Miss Laura Merriam, the Washington society girl, whose marriage to James F. Curtis of Boston and Manchester was solemnized Tuesday at Washington.

◆ ◆ ◆

Several of Judge Moore's horses were favorites at the New York horse show last week. The most brilliant gatherings of the season were seen there, and among them were many North Shore people. Miss Eleanor Sears was one of the most constant attendants, usually in the Payne-Whitneys' box.

◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Alice Cotting of Boston and Pride's was hostess at her Boston home Friday at a luncheon for debutantes, who afterwards attended the tea at the Somerset which Mrs. Frances Cabot gave for her daughter, Miss Margery Cabot one of the most attractive debutantes of the season.

SOCIETY NOTES

The annual Vincent club fair was held at the Copley-Plaza Tuesday afternoon and was a brilliant success. Luncheon and afternoon tea were served and a delightful concert was given. Miss Margaret Codman was head waitress and Mrs. E. H. Bradford gave several clever monologues at the concert. Many North Shore women, handsomely gowned, were seen at the tables. Mrs. Philip Sears of Boston and Pride's Crossing presided at the baby table with Mrs. J. M. Hallowell, Mrs. George C. Lee, Jr., and Miss Rosamond Gibson as her assistants. The household table was in charge of Mrs. John S. Ames, assisted by Mrs. J. Dudley Clark, Mrs. J. Lewis Bremer and Miss Mar-iam Fenno. The candy table was under the management of Miss Elise Pollard with Miss Rose Saltonstall and Miss Sallie Rackermann as aids. At the cake table, in charge of Miss Margaret Stackpole, were Mrs. Samuel D. Warren, Jr., and Miss Adelaide Jackson. Miss Alice Thorndike at the toy booth was aided by Miss Mary Pierce, Miss Julia Shepley and Miss Barbara Burr. Mrs. E. C. Wheeler, Jr., who was in charge of the fancy table, had with her Mrs. Frank Bemis, Miss Elanor Allen, Mrs. Robert Leeson, Miss Dorothy Ball, Miss Edith Fitz and Miss Mildred Thayer. The "cash girls" were under Mrs. Samuel Cabot, Jr., and included Miss Violet Shepley, Miss Nora Saltonstall, Mrs. John Swift, Jr., Mrs. William Bramhall, Miss Elinor Lawrence, Miss Polly Hemerfway, Miss Charlotte Hunnewell, Miss Elsie Burr, Miss Olivia Ames, Miss Josephine Rantoul, Miss Lucy Aspinwall, Miss Margery Prescott, Miss Helen Bullard, Miss Elizabeth Parker, Miss Ruth Harrington, Miss Mary Hunnewell and Mrs. Francis A. Harding. The ushers at the concert were very attractive in their white gowns and ribbons of purple and yellow, the club colors. Miss Elizabeth Gray was head usher and was assisted by Mrs. Richard S. Lovering, Miss Barbara Burr, Mrs. John E. Thayer, Jr., Miss Margaret Stackpole, Miss Clara Shattuck, Miss Frances Saltonstall, Miss Mary Copley Amory and Miss Katherine Amory.

◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Josephine Rantoul was hostess for the first meeting of the Sewing Circle Wednesday, at her home in Boston.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

It is the concensus of opinion among the Boston critics that Charles Cherry in the C. Haddon Chamber's comedy, which goes into its third and last week at the Hollis Street Theatre next Monday night, is one of the few plays which Boston has seen this season that is really worth while. The theme is not a new one but Mr. Chambers has presented it from a view-point so new, that in the playing it becomes a page from life.. In addition to telling a story of absorbing interest Mr. Chambers has introduced into the action of the play a number of types, British ones, which have been drawn with the same fidelity to nature that Charles Dickens used to limn them in his novels. "Passers-By" is rich in its appeal to human sentiment and it is cheerful and uplifting without a moment of depression. It is worth trying for any complaint you may have against yourself, for it is humanity and cheerfulness dramatized for the particular good of those who are weary of the sordid things of the theatre. It will probably be a very long time before there is presented a comedy that is more worthy of the support of the theatre-goers or one that is more novel or interesting. "Passers-By" is one of the big successes of the year. The usual matinees will be given on Wednesday and on Saturday.

Briggs—It's too bad about Winkle and the girl he is engaged to. Neither of them is good enough for the other.

Griggs—What makes you think that?

"Well, I've been talking the matter over with both families."

Nance O'Neil in Her Greatest Success "Magda," at Empire Theatre, Salem, Thursday Evening, December 12.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. J. Dawson Callery of Pittsburg and Washington, wife of the president of the Pittsburg R. R., will soon visit her old friend Mrs. James C. Barr of Beverly Farms and Boston. Mr. and Mrs. Barr have just returned from New York where they were of Mrs. Callery's party at the Ritz-Carlton during the horse show. Mr. Callery was one of the judges. Mrs. Callery's cousin, Mrs. Blaine Elkins, and Miss Katherine Elkins were also of the party. Mrs. Callery is a niece of the late Senator Kenna of West Virginia, (father of Mrs. Blaine Elkins) and niece of the present Senator Chilton of that state, and is a distinguished beauty. She was in Boston for a day recently as the guest of Mrs. J. J. Storrow.

Guy Norman and Oliver Ames of the Pride's summer colony were of those entertaining last Saturday for the Harvard-Yale game. They had a special parlor car for the trip to New Haven and return.

The opening of the opera season this week adds a new touch to the society life in Boston. It was a brilliant gathering of the elite that filled the Boston Opera House Monday night, all of the Hub's most representative families being there. Wednesday night saw another ultra-fashionable gathering. Many of the North Shore's best known families were in the boxes or occupied orchestra seats. Mr. and Mrs. Jordan and Miss Dorothy Jordan had a party in their box. Mrs. Jordan wore black liberty with white lace; Miss Jordan wore mauve satin with tunic of pailletted net in the same coloring. Miss Fanny Faulkner had a number of guests in her box. Her gown was of fern green satin with pailletted embroidery and white lace. Others present included: Mrs. Harcourt Amory in black satin with white lace; Miss Gertrude Amory in cream colored satin and chiffon; Miss Katharine Amory, in old rose satin; Miss Mary Amory, blush rose satin and chiffon; Mrs. Wirt Dexter, white satin entirely covered with black lace; Mrs. R. D. Evans, black satin; Miss Miriam Sears, old rose satin and tulle with pailletted embroidery; Mrs. S. D. Warren, Jr., emerald green satin and white lace; Mrs. E. Preble Motley, coral pink satin and white lace; Mrs. R. T. Paine, gold colored brocade with white lace; Mrs. Geo. H. Lyman, pearl gray satin.

THE RAMBLER

The Rambler paid a visit to the plant of Burgess & Curtiss at Marblehead recently, where the aeroplanes for the U. S. army are manufactured. F. Rodman Law, whose jump in a parachute from Brooklyn Bridge, N. Y., made him famous, was preparing to make an ascent into the clouds with one of the aviators at the plant. Although the day was not cold, Law donned two pairs of very heavy stockings before he started on the flight, explaining to the wondering onlookers that, "when I get up in the air about 2,000 feet I am quite apt to get cold feet." Whereupon Law did some stunts that would dispel in the minds of the most skeptical person any doubt that he was troubled by a chill of the pedal extremities.

The Rambler met a hotel manager a few days ago who was nothing if not enterprising. This manager was an advertiser in the program of a theatre, and consequently was always running after the manager of the house, who influenced many of the playfolks to stop at the house of his star-advertiser. Said advertiser saw by a poster hung in the lobby of the theatre that Madame Sarah Bernhardt was to play in the city, as he thought, and he made a bid to the theatre manager to induce the Divine Sarah to stop at his house during the stay in the city. Great was his chagrin, however, when he found that the great actress was to appear in moving pictures only. He had made elaborate plans in his mind for Sarah's comfort, but when he found that the "movies" were to show her on the screen the theatre was not large enough to hold him.

♦ ♦ ♦

"Hap" Ward, of the famous theatrical team of Ward & Vokes, had an amusing experience recently at the St. John Seminary at Danvers, which will make him remembered at the institution by at least one gentleman. Mr. Ward, whose home is in Lynnfield when he is not on the road with his company, was desirous of having his son attend the Danvers school, and was talking with one of the clergymen there. During the conversation the member of the clergy wondered where he had seen Mr. Ward. Then it suddenly dawned on him that he and Ward had had a fight when they were boys in school and he had given Ward a black eye. When he told the famous comedian about this, Ward facetiously offered to hold a set-to with the clergyman to determine whether he could repeat the trouncing of their earlier days. Al had given Ward a black eye. When ster" that he once was on the stage, he is still on the "boards" and doing the same old turn that always has brought down the house.

IMPORTANT AGRICULTURAL MEETING.

The public winter meeting of the Massachusetts State Board of Agriculture, for lectures and discussions, will be held at Union Hall, South Framingham, Mass., Dec. 3, 4, and 5, 1912. Tuesday, the 3rd, will be devoted to dairying and the milk problem. Following the address of welcome, by John Bowditch, Esq., president of the Middlesex South Agricultural Society, Prof. J. M. Trueman, of the Connecticut Agricultural College will deliver a lecture on "Heredity and the Dairy Cow." The afternoon session will open at 2 o'clock with a presentation of "Some Phases of the Milk Problem in New England," by Ivan C. Weld, dairy investigator, Washington, D. C. In the evening, Prof. Oscar Erf, of Ohio State University, who has spent considerable time in the study of European methods, will present the subject "Dairying an Important Factor in Agriculture," as demonstrated in European countries.

On Wednesday, Dec. 4, Prof. F. C. Sears, of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, will speak on "Storage of Apples," and the evening session will be given over to a lecture on "Growing Small Fruits and Berries," by Wilfrid Wheeler, a fruit-grower of Concord. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, Prof. James C. Rice of New York State College of Agriculture, Cornell University, will illustrate his lecture on "Some Practical Points in the Management of Poultry for Egg Production," by a stereopticon.

On the third day, the speaker will be Prof. R. L. Watts, professor of horticulture, Pennsylvania State College, and his subject will be "Recent Advancement in Market Gardening."

Admission to all lectures is free to the public, who are invited to take part in the discussion which follows.

At the village church Sunday morning Rev. Henry M. Goddard of of Essex will preach, in exchange with the minister, Rev. F. M. Cutler. Sunday school at noon. Y. P. S. C. E. meeting at 6. At 7 Mr. Cutler, assisted by a committee of the Y. P. S. C. E., will give a stereopticon sermon on "The North American Indians," by way of after-celebration of Home Mission Week.

The annual fair of the Ladies Aid Society will take place Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon and evening, with something doing all the time, and change of program every hour. On Wednesday, and continuing for one week, the Federal Council of Churches (the great national federation) will meet at Chicago. Rev. Mr. Cutler was present at the meeting in 1905 at New York where the Council was first organized. The Church Night meeting Thursday at 7.30 will be conducted by the Department of Bible Study and will consider the Sunday school lesson for the week following, "The Child in the Midst."

The elements were in active league against the proposal to hold a union Thanksgiving service of the Hamilton and Wenham churches. Yet in spite of violent wind and rain, some fifty sturdy worshippers made their way to the place of meeting last Sunday evening and spent a delightful hour listening to the proclamations, singing hymns, making offering for the visiting nurse fund, and hearing a strong sermon by Rev. Frank Parker. Mr. Morse sang the offertory.

Inspector Rice of Boston recently made an official visit to the Wenham postoffice. This was Postmaster Porter's first inspection since the commencement of his duties. The condition of the office called forth high commendation from the Inspector.

Rev. and Mrs. F. M. Cutler attended, on Monday, the dedication of the new memorial tower in Hingham. This edifice is erected in memory of the heroic men who, between 1633 and 1638, founded the town of Hingham. Among the founders was John Cutler, a lineal ancestor of Mr. Cutler. The memorial consists of a handsome brick tower with a chime of eleven fine bells. The bells are so arranged that they can be chimed in the customary way, and also pealed.

The local poultry raisers, under the leadership of Jacob Barnes, are making earnest preparations for the Essex County Association show, to be held in Wenham next week.

Christmas is Just Around the Corner

Come to Salem and Let the Merchants Help You Solve Your Xmas Plans

You don't know how attractive and comprehensive the store windows and the stores spaces in Salem are looking! The Merchants will be glad to have you visit in Salem and look about and shop with them. I feel assured the trip will do you good from the shopping standpoint. Every shopping centre is decidedly unlike another. Salem has stores of individuality and they can cater to every specialized need. They will be able to serve you in all respects for Thanksgiving or for your future gift-giving during Christmas.

The Drug and Men's Clothing Stores have the hall-mark of the metropolis as do the Confectionery and Grocery stores. The cost of articles are priced with the times. Footwear was never so reasonable and so available through the prices to the general buyer. Come around and visit them and just see to what new practical, artistic and labor-saving uses their fine and complete stocks of goods can be put.

How helpful and economical it is to gauge the shopping question early and have all the Christmas reminders we can! It keeps those, who are remote from the centre of things, from getting ignorant of the things in merchandise or the up-to-date, expeditious and economical uses and exploitations of articles and materials. It does away also with that tire-some nerve-racking, round-about trip to the metropolis.

The Salem Merchants want also your criticism and comparison wherein they fail or succeed in pleasing you. They are frank believers in criticism for it helps a lot particularly at the Holiday season, to meet your approval. Therefore, such co-operation as they request will be a great stimulus to them to endeavor to cater to you the coming weeks.

Won't you please accept this shopping idea? Write Miss Salem Shopper, Box 156, Salem, Mass. Just criticise or praise your Salem Merchant friends, as you feel called upon to do. Your letters will be confidential but, depend upon it, I shall make them bring results favorable to you. It is certainly going to help you exceedingly in getting full values and expert service which you want these holiday weeks.

The Salem stores are stocked with the goods you need and desire. Their prices are reasonable, lower in many cases than elsewhere. They give you, as many of you know, fine value, admirable service and quick delivery. In these three respects you have already voted for Salem as a shopping centre.

The Holiday weeks will find you viewing greater values and better service, most attractive merchandise and novelties. These facts can be more emphasized through your continued regard of Salem for shopping.

Therefore, I cordially invite and urge you to become watchful for this space and be interested readers of it. It will be distinctly a woman's forum, but I think the "stronger Sex" of the household will be greatly benefited too by reading it. They grow immensely in the eyes of the fair sex, if they too anticipate the new and desired gifts dear to the hearts of their women-folks and children. Take this free gift of your Salem Merchants, a literary, professional shopper. It's a clever idea for your best benefit. It shall visit the stores every day, view goods and novelties and send the news to you—what to get and how to use it, to your best economic advantage. Through real, shrewd, feminine eyes, the problem of an economical, easy and satisfactory holiday—season planning and gift giving will be solved.

Sincerely,
MISS "SALEM SHOPPER."

COLLEGE EXTENSION.

As the years have gone on, no department of civic service has increased in value more than that exerted by libraries. They have a constantly increasing sphere of influence. In the early years of the century a copy of Shakespeare, a Bible and a volume of romance was a library. Later the library meant a collection of professional books used in the learned professions and still later the establishment of public libraries has resulted in broader spheres of usefulness than was possible in the selected home or club libraries. But in the advance of the library spirit there was an attendant evil in the rapid and unwholesome development of the public taste for fiction.

It is now generally recognized that the library exists for better service than the mere satisfaction of reading as a diversion, recreation or pastime. It is now appreciated that the library is really a college extension center, and may become and ought to be a valuable educational agency. This broadening spirit is being felt all over the country. In the larger centers, lecture halls are provided, and interesting and instructive addresses are given from time to time. The policy of the Manchester library in making careful selection of books on topics of general interest is in line with this new movement. Selected books on the Balkan War is an excellent illustration of the service being rendered. The library in any municipality is an unappreciated treasure and in the years to come it will continue to serve the community with constantly increasing usefulness and in directions undreamed of by the generation that is gone.

A WELL-EARNED VICTORY.

After seventy-five years of patient, untiring service, handicapped by insufficient funds and inadequate buildings in which to do its good work, the New England Moral Reform Society has won a well-earned victory. The new buildings are models of their kind. The service which this organization has rendered New England has been marked with success. Through many "lean years" it has maintained with determination and courage the Talitha Cumi Maternity Home in the South End of Boston. Young women facing the shame of unmarried motherhood, often from good homes, have been received into their care and placed under Christian, although non-sectarian, influences. Now the new buildings are completed and the encouraging work will be conducted with greater efficiency in the new country home.

There are two buildings, the waiting home and the hospital, but the plans call for a third building where industrial instruction can be given. This building will not require a very large sum of money and will yield large returns on the investment and affords an opportunity for a philanthropic spirit to make a valuable gift to a worthy cause. The building is needed and should be forth-coming.

The work is carefully organized under able leaders. Among its life members, honorary life members, contributors, advisory board, directors and officers are many of the well-known names of philanthropic Bostonians and North Shore residents. The present efficiency of the organization is due to the indefatigable labors of Dr. Caroline E. Hastings and Dr. Julia Morton Plummer. The good work this institution is rendering is unparalleled and is worthy of a still larger support and success. This "door of hope" ought never to be hampered in its samaritan work by insufficient support.

THE ITALIAN EXODUS.

On Saturday November 23d, there was a noticeable exodus of Italian laborers from the North Shore towns for Italy. Beverly Farms seems to be the center of the Italian population hereabouts, and, consequently, noticed the exodus most. This is not an unusual event in the late fall and early winter, but this year a "frenzy" has dominated the entire Italian population, due to the fear and anxiety aroused by the recent election of Mr. Wilson to the Presidency. This was evident on Saturday evening at the meeting for Italians at Beverly Farms, when the leader of the work told his audience that the new president would not harm them. His statement was applauded with vigor. Apparently the foreigners thought that a change of the party at the White House was equivalent to a revolution and a new king in their home country.

That such a fear existed indicates the failure of our American communities in the past. Such ill-conceived prejudices concerning our government should be dispelled by right conceptions of our government and of the civic opportunities before them. The North Shore plainly has a social welfare problem all its own, and any contribution to its solution, however small, will be welcome. The issue must be faced—but how?

THE CARNEGIE PROPOSAL.

Mr. Carnegie should be thanked and not condemned for his offered pension of $25,000 a year for future ex-Presidents of the United States, or their widows who do not re-marry. Carnegie is a shrewd and canny Scot and will surely gain his end. His offer, in itself, should not be taken too seriously, despite its genuineness. One can imagine the genial, cautious millionaire chuckling as the newspapers, all over the country, have condemned the proposal. One has only to study the other beneficences of this energetic Scot to "see through" his new offer. Does he give a pension outright to professors? Oh, no! He forces the colleges and universities to come up to the standard! Does he give a library outright to a city? Oh, no! He stimulates or shames the city into giving, also! His gifts are designed to impel self-help. Carnegie's generosity is not minimized by this view—it is, rather, enhanced. His willingness to give is not to be interpreted as insincere. But, in this instance, at least, he must have seen clearly beforehand the futility of his offer and the impossibility of its being executed. Were the gift not intended as a stimulus to make the American people think and do their duty by their ex-Presidents, the offer would be nothing less than an affront to the dignity of the Presidential office.

President William Howard Taft did the expected thing when the Carnegie pension was suggested! Who would expect him to be a Carnegie pensioner? If the government does not make a wise provision for its ex-Presidents, it looks as if the Carnegie Pension fund would be a dead letter. Mrs. Cleveland has married again. Pres. Taft has intimated his refusal.

Progress is evidently being made in Beverly Farms; they are about to follow the example of Manchester. A tractor will probably be purchased for the fire engine. This is a wise policy for Beverly for it will make it more available for service in the center of the city in case of a conflagration.

Boston college men are rejoicing at the approaching completion of the new group of buildings. The college has won a place for itself as a Boston institution and deserves the enlarged opportunity which the new buildings offer.

Thanksgiving is a New England day and the number of those who have opened their homes for the holidays on the Shore increases each year. Thanksgiving on the Shore offers a touch of life that the most luxurious hotel can never afford.

The new school for chauffeurs to be provided by the city of Boston is a public service. It may serve the aspirants, but the public will have gained by having carefully trained chauffeurs.

The problem of what we should do with the growing boy is no small one and the efforts being made in Manchester, if well directed, will mean much for the next generation.

It was Harvard's Day after all. It was a long wait but the victory was none the less welcome. They did what President Lowell prophesied..

The free lecture course in the school house at Beverly Farms is enjoying the success that it deserves.

Golden rod and dandelions are rare at Thanksgiving, but they have been found this year.

BOSTON'S LATEST GRAFT BOMB.

That most convincing body of men, the finance commission of Boston, have fired one of the most deadly and effective bombs into the ranks of the building department of the Hub's city government that it has ever launched from its verbal cannons. After charges of graft and incompetence have been hurled at many of the heads of departments and their "understudies," those charged with offences have been doing a fast Turkey Trot for the finance commission's office to learn why such an attack has been made upon them.

As Mayor Fitzgerald says, "The commission's report is one of the most constructive as well as complete reports that has ever come from that body." It not only makes charges, but casts aside its critical gaze long enough to suggest wherein changes and subsequent improvements may be made in the building department.

Mayor Fitzgerald is not free from the "knocking" of the commission, and former Building Commissioner Rooney and the law department come in for their share of criticism. Much of the laxity of the building commission will undoubtedly be eliminated after action is taken on the finance commissioner's report.

"The Witchcraft trials at Salem 220 years ago made that town forever historic. It is to be hoped that no measure of odium will again fall upon the place by reason of the outcome of the labor agitators."—Springfield Republican.

Salem is certainly trying to forget that is it habitually called the Witch City, and always dodges publicity along the lines of witchcraft lore. As yet none of the fertile-minded reporters who are covering the Ettor trial have written "colored" stories of the trial along the line of witchcraft, but they may yet. Salem hopes not, because she wants publicity of the right kind.

MANCHESTER

Mrs. J. Vasconcellos is quite ill at her home on School street.

Mrs. William Allen entertained Miss Hattie R. Allen of Boston and Gloucester over the week-end.

Mrs. Mary Stanley entered the Dr. Adam's Nervine Hospital at Jamaica Plain Saturday for treatment for neuralgia.

Robert Hart of the Allen drug store is having a two weeks' vacation from his accustomed duties, and he is spending the time in Boston and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Whittemore, nee Miss Mary E. Dodge, spent Sunday with Mrs. Whittemore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melville Dodge, at their home on School street.

Thursday night of last week the Red Men's bowling team of Manchester went to Ipswich to play the Red Men's team of that place. Though they won two out of three strings they lost the total pinfall by the score of 1421 to 1409.

The Sons of Veterans enjoyed a vension supper at their meeting Tuesday evening through the kindness of Henry W. Butler, Jr., of Magnolia who also gave an interesting talk on his gunning experience. He was one of those who succeeded in shooting a deer during the week in which the law was off.

A number of the friends of Sayre Merrill gathered at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Merrill, Saturday evening to give him a farewell before his departure for Los Angeles where he will be located this winter. Miss Grace Merrill, his sister, and Henry Merrill, his brother, came home from school for the occasion.

The membership list of the local class in the first aid to the injured instruction which is being carried on under the auspices of the national Red Cross society, has been closed and no more applicants may join this winter. The class numbers about 40 and the ages of its members range from 16, the minimum, to 50 years. There seems to be a very live interest in the work. The next hour of instruction will be on the evening of Monday, Dec. 9th.

MARRIED TWENTY-FIVE YEARS.

Mr. and Mrs. James McNeary of Manchester entertained a number of their friends at their home on Summer street last Saturday evening in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. James Guinivan and David Guinivan of Beverly were among those present. Mr. and Mrs. McNeary were married Nov. 23, 1887, in the city of Beverly. They have two daughters, the Misses Molly and Margaret, and one son, Joseph. Music helped to pass the evening pleasantly and refreshments of ice-cream and cake were served.

HOME MEETING OF THE ARBELLA CLUB.

The regular meeting of the Arbella club, Manchester, was held in the Congregational chapel Tuesday afternoon with an attendance of 93, a larger number of girls than has been present at any other meeting. The program was furnished by the members of the club instead of talent from Boston or other outside source. The following program was presented:

"Wreck of the Hesperus," Helen Wing; "Lovely Night," Glee Club; "My Psalm," Nina Sinnicks; "Days," Ethel Andrews; "She Was a Grand Old Lady," (song), Emily Ferraeri; "Telling the Bees," Gladys Semons; piano solo, Gladys Hildreth; "Rhodora," Ruth Spry; "Psalm of Life," Helene Sherman; Duet, "Juanita," Kathleen Slade and Mary Morley; "The Vanishers," Alice Hoare; "The Light of Stars," Anna White; "Forget-Me-Not," Glee Club.

The musical numbers of the program were especially commendable. Miss Ferraeri was encored and sang for her second selection "That's How I Need You." The Glee club was called upon to render "Forget-Me-Not" twice. The readings were all good. The poems were those which Mrs. James T. Fields in her letter to the Arbella club advised the girls to memorize.

At the close of the program the executive committee served a "spread" of hot chocolate, sandwiches and fancy cakes and cookies which had been donated to the club by a member of the committee as a gift in keeping with the Thanksgiving season.

MANCHESTER

Benj. L. Allen and family spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Allen's family, the Jonathan Mays, in Magnolia.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Bullard of Petersboro, N. H., spent Thanksgiving with their daughter, Mrs. J. A. Lodge, Church street.

The Boy Scouts took a trip last Saturday to the life saving station at Dolliver's Neck, Gloucester in charge of Rev. A. G. Warner.

Miss Alma Baker spent Sunday in Boston as the guest of her aunt. Later in the week, Miss Baker went to Boston to spend the Thanksgiving recess with her aunt.

Miss Gwendolen Glendenning spent the Thanksgiving vacation with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Robert T. Glendenning. Miss Glendenning is a Freshman at Smith college this year.

Mrs. Delia Parsons of Pleasant street recently entertained a number of her friends at her home in honor of her 58th birth-day. A pleasant social evening was spent and refreshments were served.

Miss Dora May Marshall returned home to spend the Thanksgiving recess with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac M. Marshall, at their home at West Manchester. Miss Marshall is attending the Wheaton Seminary.

The class of 1911, Story High School, will hold a Christmas dance in the Town hall Friday evening, Dec. 27. No subscription will be asked at this party, which is the second the class has held since graduating. Those desiring invitations will please pass their names to members of the class.

The first of a series of games between Beverly and Manchester bowlers was rolled last Friday night at the Dreamland alleys, Beverly, the Beverly team winning all four points. J. Gorman totalled 348 with singles of 125, 116, 107, the Beverly team putting up the fine total of 1524, three men rolling over the triple century mark. The Beverly team will play a return game at Manchester. The score: Manchester—Chadwick, 283; Crampsey, 274; H. Bell, 279; Cool, 287; C. Bell, 290; total, 1413. Beverly—Brown, 278; Swanson, 275; Holmes, 322; Moffett, 301; J. Gorman, 348; total, 1524.

MANCHESTER

Supt. George Evans of the water-works, and family, went to Natick for the holiday.

Schools closed Wednesday for the Thanksgiving recess, to open again Monday morning, Dec. 2.

There was a little trouble in labor circles in town this week owing to the refusal of some of the teamsters and drivers to join the union. Roberts & Hoare's carpenters were called out one day, but the matter was adjusted and the men went back to work.

The Sewerage committee of the town has reorganized with Oliver T. Roberts as chairman, instead of Fred K. Swett, whose business interests keeps him in Boston much of the time. The committee has been divided into sub-committees, to consider and look into the various subjects, as follows: To confer with State Board, Fred Swett, and Gordon Abbott; land and other damages, W. L. Putnam, F. P. Knight and Horace Standley; Matter of assessments, Amory Eliot and W. R. Bell; cost of maintenance; Oliver T. Roberts and G. W. Blaisdell, M. D. These committees will get together later and prepare a further report to be submitted to the town.

BURGLARY AT WEST MANCHESTER.

The summer home of Gordon Abbott at West Manchester was broken into last Sunday afternoon, but as far as can be learned nothing of value was taken, as very little is left in the house during the winter months. William Irwin, the caretaker, was making his usual rounds of the property about 4.30 Sunday when his attention was attracted by a whistle. His suspicions were aroused and he at once went to the house and he saw that a shutter had been removed. When he went around to the other side of the building to enter he heard more whistles and soon two men rushed out the door along side of him. He got a good view of one of the men, both of whom were young. He telephoned the police station but was unable after repeated efforts to locate anyone. Officer Bullock, it appears, was out on duty and the chief was home. Mr. Irwin finally reached Officer Stoops on the phone and the latter got Officer Andrews, and the two found the chief. It was after six o'clock when the three reached West Manchester and by that time the burglars had made a "get away."

Mrs. Abbott came down from Boston Monday, but she did not find that

Chief of Police Converse attended the police ball in Gloucester city hall Monday night.

Miss Alice Mason has concluded her duties as book-keeper at Hinchiffe's Market for the season.

The windows of Bullock's grocery have been in very attractive dress the past week with Thanksgiving articles.

A number of Manchester people went to Beverly yesterday morning for the annual Beverly-Salem high school football match. The former won 54-0.

Supt. and Mrs. Chas. E. Fish and two daughters came from Amesbury yesterday to spend Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Percy A. Wheaton and family, School street.

Hollis L. Bell is to work at Hinchliffe's Market part of his time this winter, and will continue to run his laundry wagon. Richard Baker concludes his duties at the market tomorrow.

MANCHESTER TRUST CO. LOSES TREASURER MANN

GOES TO BRIDGEPORT, CT., AS TREASURER OF NEW TRUST COMPANY.

The many patrons of the Manchester Trust Co., regret to learn of the change, by which the bank is to lose its genial treasurer, Ralph H. Mann, whose resignation has been accepted by the directors. Mr. Mann goes to Bridgeport, Conn., to take up his duties as treasurer of the newly-organized Federal Trust Co., with a capitalization of $200,000. As stated in our last issue Harry W. Purington, who has been Mr. Mann's assistant has been appointed acting treasurer of the Manchester bank.

The Manchester Trust Co., came into being a year ago last May more because of Mr. Mann's personal efforts than to any other person. With a capitalization of $125,000 the bank has made rapid progress, which has been the cause of much complimentary notice in the financial world.

In speaking of his work the "Bridgeport Standard" of Sept. 24, says: "Ralph H. Mann has had a large banking experience for a young man and has made a brilliant record in the Manchester Trust company. He placed the stock of his trust company of $100,000 capital and paid-in-surplus of $25,000, and has been its treasurer since it commenced business a year ago last May. It paid its first dividend July first, last, and has acquired over a half-million assets, an unexcelled record for any trust company in New England under similar circumstances."

Hosea Mann, cashier of the Torrington, Ct., National bank, and his son Ralph H. Mann, are responsible for the organization of the Federal Trust Co. They also organized the Willimantic Trust Co.

Mr. Purington has been elected acting treas. and sect'y. of the local bank until the first of the year, to fill out the vacancy caused by Mr. Mann's resignation. Mr. Purington is a native of Bethel, Me., and a graduate of Bowdoin College, 1908. He took up banking in Maine for a short while, until he obtained a position with the Shawmut bank in Boston, the largest of New England's financial institutions. He was promoted from time to time and when the Manchester Trust Co. was organized he was appointed book-keeper. Later he was promoted to the position of teller and assistant to the treasurer. His promotion as acting treasurer is well deserved.

The church which Mr. Ruge takes charge of is the principal Congregational church of the city. It was formerly presided over by Dr. Roberts, dean of Congregationalism, who has been a frequent visitor to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Heard, at Magnolia and Boston. The church intends to build a new home in the near future. Mrs. Ruge has bought a new cottage on Lewis avenue, one of the best residential streets of the city. It is a handsome 6-room cottage, of the stucco type. The church plans to give a reception to Rev. and Mrs. Ruge somewhere around New Years.

BOOKS ON TURKEY

MANCHESTER LIBRARY HAS WORKS OF AMPLE INFORMATION ON COUNTRIES NOW AT WAR.

In a recent issue of the Breeze, attention was called to the fact that the Turko-Balkan war and the attention it attracts has demonstrated that the knowledge of the average American about the countries at war is extremely meagre. The Manchester library contains a number of works of ample and very dependable information. A list of them follows:

INTERESTING WORK ON BIRDS.

Two copies of a work entitled "A History of the Game Birds, Wild-Fowl and Shore Birds, of Massachusetts and Adjacent States" has just been received by the Public Library. This work is issued by the Massachusetts State Board of Agriculture. It is divided into three parts. The first part gives a history of the Game Birds hunted for sport in the State at the present time. The second gives a history of the species that have become extinct or have been exterminated. Part three treats of the conservation of the Game Birds of our State. It may be a surprise to some to know that, in Colonial times, this country contained more Game Birds than any other country of the same size. Higginson (1630) says: "Fowls of the aire are plentiful here Here are likewise abundance of Turkies often killed in the woods. . . . In winter time this country doth abound with wild Geese, wild Duckes, and other Sea Fowle, that a great part of the winter the planters haue eaten nothing but roastmeat of divers fowles which they haue killed." In the early history of the State, there were about seventy species of web-footed wild fowl.

This work tells how some of these have become extinct, while others have been exterminated by various causes. It also tells of other species that, though still with us, are becoming very scarce. It likewise suggests ways and means of protecting these birds. The history is well written and makes very entertaining reading and at the same time, gives a great deal of useful information.

Almost everything that sportsmen might wish to find out about the game birds of this state may be found in this volume. R. T. G.

¶ How often have you thought thus?

¶ How often have you been forced to let a splendid opportunity pass, simply because you lacked a few dollars?

¶ You have doubtless had the necessary funds many times and allowed them to slip through your fingers.

¶ Don't let this happen again.

¶ You can grasp these opportunities in the future if you will open an account with us.

George Peckham is enjoying his annual vacation from his duties at the American Express office.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Knight and family are now occupying the family homestead on Central street.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Meade and son of Wellesley Farms spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. F. G. Cheever, Mrs. Meade's sister.

Mrs. J. Specht of West Manchester was called to Nova Scotia the latter part of last week by the illness of her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Morgan and their son, Howard E. Morgan, Jr., of Beverly Farms were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Morgan, Mr. Morgan's parents over the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius F. Rabardy, in accordance with their usual custom, held a family gathering at their home on Central street Thanksgiving Day. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Floyd and family and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Smith and family.

Curtis and Elite Fall and Winter Shoes at Bell's, Central square. *

Rev. E. Hersey Brewster returned from Patten, Me., to spend Thanksgiving with his family at the home of Mrs. Brewster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi A. Dunn, on Central street. Mrs. Brewster and children have been at the home of her parents for some weeks, during which time one of the children has been operated upon for adenoids and has nearly recovered by this time.

There was a hotly-contested bowling match at the Seaside alleys Tuesday evening. Proprietor C. E. Bell had offered a turkey and "fixings" to the value of $5.00 to the man rolling the highest score on that night. W. R. Bell won the prize with a 3-string total of 305. The other records were: C. Kelliher, 291; O. Crampsey, 279; Jos. Chadwick, 270; J. Burgiss, 270; Austin Jones, 268; W. Rust, 253; A. Cool, 242; G. Slade, 233; James Gray, 223.

MANCHESTER.

The first snow of the season came on Thanksgiving Day.

Miss Catherine Roach of Boston spent the holiday with Miss Mary Rust at her home on School street.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crombie left for Belchertown Wednesday to make a visit to their daughter, Mrs. Henry Witt.

The selectmen have issued a permit to Louis M. L. Clarke to store gasoline and autos in his garage on Summer street.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Richardson and daughter of Salem were the guests of Mrs. Isaac Richardson on Ashland avenue Thanksgiving.

Tonight at the Seaside bowling alley the Beverly team that defeated the locals last Friday night at Beverly will play another match.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Andrews left Saturday for Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, to spend the winter with their daughter, Mrs. E. J. Richards, and family.

Sorosis shoes in Fall styles at Bell's Central square store. *

The second meeting of the First Aid to the Injured class was held Monday evening. The members were given instruction in practical work. There were several new members present. A written examination will be given at the next meeting.

Emerson and Douglas shoes in Winter weights and styles at Bell's Central square store. *

The change made in Bell's Beach street store renders the store much more adapted to the business. The small ell formerly used as a room for ladies shoes has been extended back, and this will be occupied by Karnesy of Magnolia as a fruit stand.

Miss Gertrude Ryan returned home from Chicago Saturday evening after two month's training in the Children's Memorial Hospital there. Miss Ryan is spending a few weeks with her friend, Miss Beatrice Long, after which she plans to take up hospital training in the East.

Lamson and Hubbard hats for Fall and winter at Bell's Beach street store. *

The joke is going the rounds about a party of men who were treated to a supper at the home of one of the men Thanksgiving eve, at which a "raccoon" was supposed to be the feature viand in a stew. The concoction was very tasty and everything went along nicely until next day when it was learned that it was a skunk and not a raccoon that the party had been treated to. It tasted good, anyway.

The many friends of William Roberts are greatly pleased over his recovery from the operation which he recently underwent.

Mrs. E. R. Christopher of Boston spoke to a large audience at the Baptist church last Friday night on "Mission Work in Alaska."

The next party of the winter series will be held in the Town hall next Friday evening, Dec. 6, and promises to be as popular as those preceding it.

The sharpness of the atmosphere this morning and the icy sidewalks impressed one with the fact that it is winter and that the delightful weather we have been having this fall is about at an end.

News has been received of the serious illness of Hamilton R. Squier, of Washington Heights, New York City, who was operated upon Tuesday for trouble of a serious nature. Mr. Squier formerly owned the estate where Ralph H. Barbour now lives, off Pine street, Manchester.

Dr. Merritt A. Long of Lowell came to town Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving with his brother T. W. Long and family. We note in the Lowell papers that at a recent meeting of the Lowell General Hospital nurses alumni association the address of the day was a very interesting and instructive lecture, illustrated with drawings, on "The Mosquito and its Relation to Malaria," by Dr. Long.

Progress.

The Husband—Do you think, my dear, that all this so-called culture, these fads, these lectures and ethical and philosophical movements of yours really do you any good?

The Wife—Incalculable good! Why every day I live I appreciate more and more fully what an insignificant creature man is!

CROCKETT-CHOATE.

A brilliant wedding was held at the Congregational church, Essex, Thanksgiving eve, when Miss Celia Nason Choate, daughter of Rufus Choate of this town was united in marriage to Ralph Wardlaw Crockett, a prominent lawyer of Lewiston, Me. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white satin cut with court train and trimmed with venice lace. Her veil of white tulle was caught with orange blossoms. She carried a large shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor was Miss Agnes M. Choate, sister of the bride, who wore yellow satin trimmed with white fur and pearl trimmings and touches of black velvet. She carried yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Margaret Burnham of Essex and Miss Florence E. Bacon of Newton were the other attendants. They wore gowns of pink and white dresden silk with white lace and pink messaline. Little Miss Natalie Sawyer of Somerville was the flower girl and Master Rufus Choate, also of Somerville and a cousin of the bride, was ring-bearer.

Charles H. Miles of Lexington, a college classmate of the groom, was best man. David F. Choate of Somerville, Roy and Louis Burnham of Essex and Arthur Boutwell of Andover were ushers.

The officiating clergymen were Rev. Washington Choate, D. D., uncle of the bride, and Rev. Henry M. Goddard of Essex. The bride's mother, Mrs. Rufus Choate wore a dress of grey messaline satin with an overdress of black net trimmed with lace and fringe.

The church was beautifully decorated by friends of the bride under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Burnham, Miss Helen G. Mears and John Knight. A short organ recital was given before the ceremony by Mrs. Frank A. Goodhue, followed by a solo, "O, Perfect Love" by Barney, by Miss Helen Grinnell Mears immediately preceding the wedding procession. The double ring service was used. The young people have been showered with wedding gifts of every description. The bride's gift to the bridal party were pins and scarf pins of pearls and gold. The groom presented the bride with a beautiful pearl la valliere.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Crockett left for a short wedding trip, after which they will go to their new home in Lewiston, where they will reside.

A document which will no doubt prove of great interest to the Magnolia residents, is in the hands of Rev. Walker S. Eaton, and reads as follows: On Oct. 9, 1903, the trustees of the Addison Gilbert Hospital of Gloucester voted that the sum of $5300 offered to the Addison Gilbert Hospital by the summer residents of Magnolia through Mrs. Edward W. Nash, president, is hereby accepted by the corporation to be held in the following trust, namely; $5,000 is to be invested and held as a fund to be called the Magnolia Fund and Free Bed, and the income only to be used to support a free bed, the use of which the needy natives of Magnolia, and any person who may be employed in the hotels, boarding houses or private families in said Magnolia whenever needed. The residue of said principle $300 to be invested and the income used to pay for the use of the ambulance when used for a free bed patient from Magnolia.

The treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to give a receipt for the said sum of $5300 in accordance with the terms of this fund. A true copy of the vote passed this day.

Signed, John K. Dustin,
Clerk pro tem.

I have received from Mrs. Edward W. Nash, President, the sum of $5300 to be held under the terms of the above vote as adopted by the Board of Trustees Oct. 9, 1903.

METHOD OF PARCEL POST.

SOME PRELIMINARY SUGGESTIONS ON THE USE OF THE NEW SYSTEM TO BE INAUGURATED ON JAN. 1, 1913.

On Jan. 1, 1913, the new parcel post service will be inaugurated throughout the United States. The limit of packages of merchandise will be increased from four pounds to eleven pounds and the rates will be determined from a scale and a map which divides the country into eight zones. The limit of size will be the measurement of seventy two inches, length and girth combined.

The ways and means of the new system, to be installed so soon after its authorization by Congress, are taxing the Post Office Department to its utmost but in a short time all post offices will be in possession of a complete set of rules governing its operation. The preliminary instruction for the guidance of the public which all postmasters are urged to give the widest publicity possible, are that a distinctive parcel post stamp must be used on all fourth-class mail matter beginning Jan. 1, 1913, and that such matter having ordinary stamps will not be sent, but will be treated as "Held for Postage." Also, all parcels must bear the name and address of the sender; otherwise they will not be accepted for mailing. Local conditions and the volume of the business will determine the precise manner of handling after a period of observation has determined just what means are required.

At the local office packages for mailing will be received as heretofore at the stamp window and information governing the new service will be cheerfully given as soon as received.

As the schools at the Farms are closed over the Thanksgiving holiday, most of the teachers are visiting out of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Morgan and Howard E. Morgan, Jr., spent Thanksgiving Day at Manchester with Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Morgan, Mr. Morgan's parents.

Postmaster and Mrs. William R. Brooks had the Daniel W. Prestons as their guests for Thanksgiving dinner.

The fight to keep the Farms' no-license is already on. Robert H. Maywood, secretary of the Massachusetts No-License League, will speak at the Farms Baptist church, Sunday evening, Dec. 8th. Mr. Maywood is probably the best informed no-license worker in the state and his talk will undoubtedly be forceful and informative.

Michael O'Connor is again able to appear out-of-doors, after his long illness. For some time past he has been under treatment at the Beverly Hospital. This week his friends were delighted and encouraged to hear that he had been able to come home and were more than pleased to see him out-of-doors.

Rep. Herman A. McDonald, of Ward 6, candidate for Mayor, announces a rally to be held in Beverly City hall on Saturday evening, Dec. 7th, just preceding the city election. His campaign committee reports that Mr. McDonald's candidacy is gaining wide attention throughout the city and predicts that he will poll a big vote.

At the Salem-Beverly High school foot-ball game yesterday, Beverly Farms was represented by a large crowd of enthusiastic "cheerers" for the Orange and Black. The music of the two bands and the excellent playing of the Beverly team made an entertaining holiday forenoon. Beverly won with a score of 54 to 0. Tom Brady, the Farms member of the winning team is justly proud of the fact that at this game he won his "B."

James Kerrigan and family, formerly of Clinton, moved into the Gilmarlin house on Hale street from Manchester this week. Mrs. Kerrigan is a sister of Mrs. James E. McDonnell of Beverly Farms.

The marriage of Miss Anna H. Wiseman, daughter of George Wiseman of Haskell street, to Augustin J. Callahan took place at five o'clock last Monday afternoon at St. Margaret's church, the ceremony being performed by Fr. Downey. The bridesmaid was Miss Helen Callahan and the best man was Homer Callahan, sister and brother of the groom. After receiving the good wishes of relatives and friends, the young couple left for a short wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside in the Ahern house at the corner of Webster street and Greenwood avenue.

Miss Mary E. White and Miss May Collins spent a portion of the week on a combined business and vacation trip to New York City.

St. John's Episcopal church observed last Sunday as Harvest Sunday. Fruit and vegetables were used for decorations and flowers adorned the chancel. An appropriate sermon was preached and special music was rendered.

Miss Hilda Anderson, a valued member of Dr. James M. Jackson's household, was a passenger on the steamship which sailed for Sweden Saturday. Miss Anderson has gone to her old home for a vacation.

Harry J. Guinivan and family partook of their Thanksgiving dinner at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Guinnivan in Beverly. There was a large family gathering there which made the occasion most pleasant.

Good progress has been made on the changes and improvements to the John A. Ober house on Hale street, recently purchased by Chas. M. Cabot. A new cellar is being constructed in the rear to which the house will be moved. The house will be altered and improved considerably and the grounds will have many changes.

Nomination papers have been in circulation during the past week for Augustin J. Callahan as alderman for Ward 6. He will oppose former Councilman Charles H. Hull who has been a candidate for some time. Mr. Callahan is well known in Beverly Farms as a young man of ability and sterling character, and his friends predict strong support for him at the polls.

John Cannon, in accordance with his usual custom at this time of year, packed his trunk this week and returned to his home at Jersey Heights, to spend the winter. Every spring, Mr. Cannon comes here to take up his work as foreman for Connolly Bros. and remains until fall.

The sum of $3,500 to provide a tractor for the Beverly Farms fire engine is an item of interest to local people which has been inserted in the annual budget of the Beverly city government. If the appropriation is made it means that in the future the Beverly Farms steamer will be operated by motor power.

Among the visitors to the Farms over the holidays were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Pond of Milton, Mass., parents of the Rev. Clarence Strong Pond. The elder Ponds, as well as Mrs. Barlow and Miss Barlow of Pocasset, Mrs. Pond's mother and sister, were at the Thanksgiving board at the parsonage.

It has been a long time since so many tenements were vacant at the Farms as are to let at the present time. This is largely due to the great number of Italians and Greeks who returned to their native countries this fall.

Mrs. Lydia Williams entertained a happy party of 12 at Thanksgiving dinner.

Miss Minnie Perkins of Hartford, Ct., visited friends at the Farms this week.

"The History of Our Flag" will be the theme of a lecture which Mrs. Isabel W. Ball, of Washington, D. C., will deliver at the Farms' Baptist church next Tuesday evening. The public is cordially invited. Mrs. Ball is national Senior Vice-President of the Women's Relief Corps and an associate editor of the National Tribune, a newspaper published for the G. A. R. interests. The address will be delivered under the the joint auspices of the local G. A. R. Post, W. R. C. Corps and the Baptist church. Mrs. Ball was largely instrumental in attaining the passage of the law forbidding the use of the flag for advertising purposes. Tuesday afternoon, between 3 and 3.30 o'clock, she will visit the Farms' school and deliver a patriotic talk to the pupils. While in town, Mrs. Ball will be the guest of Preston Corps, W. R. C.

The Girls' club of the Baptist church listened to a very interesting and helpful lecture Tuesday evening, when Mrs. Clara B. Beatley spoke on "Morals Through Reverence." A large number of mothers were also out.

Miss Eleanor Connolly is home for the Thanksgiving holiday from Hooksett, N. H., where she attends the young ladies' academy at that place. She received a royal welcome from her many friends in town.

The Sunday evening service at the local Baptist church promises to be particularly interesting. The Rev. Dr. Huntly will give an address on China. Just at the present time, China is fast forging to the front as one of the greatest nations in the history of the world and anything about the country and its people is of great interest. Dr. Huntly spent many years in the land of the chrysanthemum.

Leveret S. Ordway and family moved from Topsfield to Beverly Farms this week and will occupy one of the cottages in Connolly place. Mr. Ordway has had charge of Connolly Bros.' affairs in Topsfield for several years in the capacity of foreman.

Friends of Williard O. Wylie of Ward 6, candidate for alderman-at-large, have formed a campaign committee and are working energetically for his election. He is sure of a very large vote at the Farms.

The "Pastor's Hour" boys of the Baptist church have chosen blue and white as their official colors. Now they are hoping some of the kindly girls clubs, who have a knack with a thread and needle, will present them with a blue banner with "Beverly Farms" in white letters.

LETTERS OF APPEAL TO THE PRESIDENT.

Madame Bakhmeteff, who has sent the following letter to the President, is an American and the wife of the Russian Ambassador at Washington. She spent many years in Greece and Bulgaria and has been asked to represent their Red Cross societies here.

November 6, 1912.

"TO HIS EXCELLENCY, PRESIDENT TAFT.

President, American Red Cross,
Washington, D. C.

"DEAR MR. PRESIDENT: In addition to the general appeal to the American people which you are sending out to alleviate the sufferings caused by the war in the Balkans I should like to state that I have received a cable from the Queen of Greece saying that the need is great and increasing and asking me to send directly to her all the aid I can gather. I also represent the Bulgarian Red Cross and am informed from there that conditions are equally terrible and that the need of assistance is most urgent.

"The rigorous Balkanic winter is closing in upon the poor, unprepared people and thousands of sick and wounded may die for want of a little help. Hospital supplies, clothing, and many other things are greatly needed.

"I have lived many years both in Greece and in Bulgaria and have assisted at many scenes of hardship and suffering and know by experience that such appeals coming from there can not be exaggerated and demand a quick answer and I devoutly pray that they find an echo in all Christian hearts. Any contributions that may be sent to me I will forward directly to their destination through the American Red Cross with the names of the charitable contributors who can designate, if they wish, the country they want to assist whether it be Greece or Bulgaria.

"Yours most sincerely,
"Marie Bakhmeteff."

Velvet.

Velvet may be either cotton, silk or political. The main thing with velvet is the nap. The longer the nap, the better the velvet. Indeed, the best political velvet is where the people never wake up.

As with textile fabrics generally, the manufacture of velvet is vastly stimulated by the protective tariff.

Velvet is soft to the touch—that is, if one understands touching.

Your Christmas Shopping!

Now that the Christmas shopping season is approaching we want to remind you that we shall be glad to have you make our store, centrally located as it is, your Christmas shopping head-quarters. We want you to feel perfectly at home, to meet your friends here, to wait for you, car or train, or to have your motor call for you. This we invite you to do, and in making use of our store in this way you do not involve the slightest obligation to purchase. We are here to serve you in every way we can. You will always find new goods to interest you and our salespeople are pleased to show goods, whether you intend purchasing or not.

You will soon be confronted by the problem of buying your Christmas gifts. There are, we take it, two great problems in gift-buying. We all must face one or both of them.

First is the problem of getting something that will be suited to the recipient—something he or she will be pleased with, will use and can keep as a permanent reminder of the giver. In other words, a gift that will be really appreciated.

The second problem is to cover your entire list of Christmas gifts without exceeding the amount your judgement says you should expend.

In the solving of both of these problems we always have been particularly fortunate because our stock is so comprehensive, so varied, and made up of so many unusual and interesting articles, at prices which are within your means. We cannot better express what our service is than to quote a lady who came to our store to shop last Christmas after having tramped weary miles through stores in various cities, vainly trying to solve the Christmas-gift problem. She wrote:

"When I came into your store my Christmas shopping troubles began to disappear, and when I went out they were over! And I felt so satisfied with all my gifts this Christmas."

We think you will have the same experience and we give you a most earnest invitation to visit our store before you start the annual weary search, and see for yourself just how much we can help you.

The Christmas spirit is already in the air! Start your Christmas shopping early. You will find better assortments of goods, better attention, prompter service, and you will have done your part toward making the Christmas season easier and happier for those who serve you.

NORTH SHORE BREEZE

VOL. X.

Manchester, Mass., Friday, December 6, 1912.

No. 49.

SOCIETY NOTES

The two assemblies at the Copley-Plaza, Boston, on Friday evenings, Jan. 3 and 31, will draw out the most fashionable gatherings of the younger set in Boston this winter. S. Hooper Hooper, Philip S. Sears and Barrett Wendell, Jr., are the managers. The patronesses are Mesdames Gordon Abbott, Rodolphe Agassiz, Oliver Ames, 2d, William Appleton, Henry D. Burnham, Stephen V. R. Crosby, William C. Endicott, Jr., Augustus P. Gardner, Henry S. Hunnewell, Guy Lowell, Guy Norman, Francis Peabody, J. Montgomery Sears, Philip S. Sears, Bayard Thayer, Barrett Wendell, Jr., and Roger Wolcott. The managers have passed a vote that only waltzes will be danced.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. Grover Cleveland and her daughter, Miss Esther Cleveland, are to be guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond at their home in Washington. They are expected to arrive on Jan. 8 and the following day will be guests at a tea which Mrs. Hammond will give in their honor. Mrs. Hammond will also give a dance for Miss Cleveland while she is in Washington.

♦ ♦ ♦

The marriage of Miss Leslie Bradley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Bradley of Boston and Pride's Crossing to Roger S. Sutler, will take place Saturday, Dec. 14. Mrs. Bradley will give a reception for the young people.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. S. Reed Anthony of Boston and the North Shore is to give a debutante ball, which promises to be a more than ordinary enjoyable affair. Miss Ruth Gaston and Miss Nora Saltonstall are the guests of honor.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Prince of the Wenham summer colony are again established at their winter home at Pau, where Mr. Prince has again taken up his duties as M. F. H. of the Hunt.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. Henry E. Russell of Boston and Magnolia is to give a theatre party and supper the last night of the old year in honor of her niece, Miss Margaret Russell of London.

SOCIETY NOTES

The first of the junior cotillions, which have been arranged for the young set in New York, was held Tuesday night at Sherry's. Mrs. J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr., who was Miss Grew of Manchester and Boston is a member of the committee in charge. In anticipation of the event the patronesses and committee held a meeting one night last week at the close of which it was announced that the objectionable holds are to be forbidden at the cotillions. The statement was given out that "the genuine turkey trot is no longer in vogue, but the name of turkey trot, is however, applied as a generic term to all kinds of dances which do not resemble in the slightest degree any of these decadent movements. We have no objection to rag-time music, to which the two step has been danced for many years, but we think that the whole difficulty with modern dancing lies in the position of the dancers." After explaining the difference between the "clutch" and the "strangle," the statement says that what is considered to be the approved position "is where the girl's left hand rests inside the man's right arm which goes around her waist. If you place your hand inside your partner's arm, then he cannot hold you too close, for you are in a position to push his arm away, but when you rest your hand on the outside of his arm you cannot regulate his grip. We are recommending this position, which is pleasing, is perfectly sensible and comfortable and can be assumed by any young girl with perfect propriety. Even the old-time waltz can be greatly altered and made extreme. Our dances will have only waltzes and one steps. The one step is not in the least like the original turkey trot, and it is approved by all our members if danced in the proper way."

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. A. Lithgow Devens are still at their house at Manchester and will probably remain here most of the winter.

Sec. of the Navy and Mrs. George Von L. Myer took a party of young people from Washington to Philadelphia Saturday to witness the Army and Navy game.

SOCIETY NOTES

Among the several improvements planned at the Essex County club before next season is the change-over of the avenue leading to the club-house from Summer street. The location of this is to be changed from a point opposite the avenue leading up Stevens Hill, to a point more easterly, almost opposite the entrance to "Eagle Head," the McMillan estate, and incidentally much nearer an approach for people driving from Magnolia. The road will wind in around the base of the hill, making a more picturesque approach.

♦ ♦ ♦

The marriage January 18 at Trinity church of Boston of Miss Edith Wendell and Mr. Osborne is of interest to North Shore people as Miss Wendell is a sister of Barrett Wendell, Jr., who summered at Beverly Farms last summer. Miss Wendell was of last winter's debutantes.

♦ ♦ ♦

The H. C. Fricks left Pride's Crossing this week for their New York city home. Though they have closed the large house on the shore they will come here for week-ends at intervals throughout the winter.

♦ ♦ ♦

Robert T. P. Storer, who played such a brilliant game this fall on the Harvard eleven, especially in the Yale game, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Storer. The family have a summer home at Manchester, but last year they let their place and spent the summer in New Hampshire. Storer was one of the best tackles on any of the varsity teams this autumn.

♦ ♦ ♦

John Hays Hammond and family closed "Lookout Hill," their Gloucester estate, Monday. They winter in Washington. John Hays Hammond, Jr., will spend the next two months at Manchester with Eric Pape, who has the Leach cottage, next to the Essex County club entrance on School street. A new wireless station is now under construction at "Lookout Hill," and Mr. Hammond plans to go there each day throughout the winter in connection with his wireless experiments. The station is said to be one of the best equipped in the world.

FORMER NORTH SHORE CONDUCTOR PENSIONED.

After 52 years of railroading Charles William Kennard, second oldest passenger conductor in the employ of the B. & M. R.R., made his last trip Saturday afternoon and retired on a pension. Mr. Kennard lives at 14 Arlington street, East Somerville.

He went out Saturday morning from Boston at 7:45 in charge of a local train to Marblehead. He returned in charge of an express that reached the North Station at 8:40.

He entered the passenger service of the old Eastern Railroad and has worked ever since, with few vacations.

He received no injuries in the performance of his duties, although on one occasion, 1863, when a baggage-master, he was in a head-on collision, where the two engineers and two firemen were killed and his car was so badly smashed that it was burned to furnish light with which to clear away the wreck.

When Mr. Kennard entered the service the Eastern Road was double-tracked only as far as Salem. Hand brakes were used. When a train was about a quarter of a mile out the locomotive left the train and the cars came into Causeway under their own momentum. He was promoted to be a conductor five years after he entered the service.

He was on the special train that brought the first regiment from Maine to the front in the Civil War. He was also on the train that brought the first regiment from New Hampshire. Mr. Kennard has also had charge of special trains transporting Presidents or Presidential candidates.

One of Conductor Kennard's most interesting experiences was in 1866. When coming from Portsmouth his train ran into a snow storm. He left Swampscott on time, but did not leave Lynn, less than two miles beyond, until three days later. More than 100 men tugging on ropes helped the locomotive across Central square and it went on its way. He was in charge of the first Sunday train run on the Eastern Road.

Mr. Kennard was born in Eliot, Me. July 20, 1842, the son of William L. and Mary Elizabeth (Frost) Kennard.

For 30 years his run was down the North Shore to Rockport and up to a few years ago he knew personally the owner and occupant of every house on the Shore.

He married Miss Lucy J. Lord in Beverly, Nov. 8, 1866. They lived in Portsmouth and later in Charlestown, and built their present home 41 years ago. They have a summer home in Eliot, Me., where they plan to pass much of their time in the future.

Their children are Representative William W. Kennard and Mrs. Agnes Frost Thurston of Somerville and Dr. B. D. Kennard of Peabody. Mr. Kennard is a charter member of Soley Lodge of Masons of Somerville.

HOW WE USED TO LIVE.

Workmen fail to realize the tremendous improvement in industrial conditions characterizing the last half century. So marked has been the evolution that it might almost be called a revolution. In the office of Browne and Sharpe of Providence, R. I., hangs a copy of the schedule of the hours of labor required by the company when Mr. Sharpe's father was employed there in 1847-48. Except during May, June and July, when it began at 4.35, work began at sunrise. Workmen had their breakfast before beginning the day's work only in the months of November, December, January and February. During the rest of the year breakfast was served anywhere from 6.30 to 7.30, and 40 minutes only were allowed for it. Seven o'clock was the average time for ending the day's work. While there was little artificial illumination, and that inadequate, nevertheless, during the short days from November to February work was kept up until 7 o'clock. Sixty years ago the hours of factory employment seemed to have been fashioned after those on the farm where conditions are so different.

With the old wood-burning stoves, which heated fiercely the area near by but sent little warmth to remote parts of the great rooms, with small windows affording meager light except on brightest days, and with no ventilation the sanitary conditions of 50 years ago fell far below those prevailing in a modern factory. At present, too, men receive a much higher wage for a much shorter period of work, but here it is hard to make an equitable comparison, as the purchasing power of money was different from what it is now. The wants of the workingman were far simpler fifty years ago than they are today. He now lives upon a higher plane in every way and is able to give his children a good education, thus giving them a start in life that makes for success. In the abolition of child labor and of hard work for women, in the introduction, too, of safety devices, much has yet to be accomplished, but the lot of the workmen of today marks a big advance over what it was the middle of the last century.—Leslies Weekly.

SOCIETY NOTES

Miss Mabel Boardman of Manchester and Washington, secretary of the American Red Cross, last Friday received from the White House the insignia of the Fifth Order of the Crown, conferred upon her by the Japanese Emperor for distinguished service. This is the first time an American woman has been so honored by Japan. The order conferred upon Miss Boardman was especially established to recognize meritorious service done by women. The insignia was sent to President Taft, president of the American Red Cross, by Marquis Matsukati, head of the Japanese Red Cross. President Taft has written to the Marquis and to the Japanese Emperor thanking them for the honor paid Miss Boardman.

♦ ♦ ♦

The news of the death of Rev. Dr. Robert Collyer, pastor emeritus of the Church of the Messiah, New York, and a widely known Unitarian divine, is received on the North Shore with genuine regret. He died shortly before midnight Saturday. Dr. Collyer has summered at East Gloucester for the past 25 years. On numerous occasions has he preached at North Shore churches, notably at the summer church on Smith's Point, Manchester.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leiter entertained at dinner at their Washington home recently for Mrs. Greely S. Curtis and daughter, who went on from Manchester for the Curtis-Merriam nuptials Tuesday of last week.

♦ ♦ ♦

Frank McMillan of New York, has leased the Edward Robinson cottage off School street, Manchester, and will occupy it next summer. The house has been unoccupied since the Robinsons moved from Boston to New York some years ago, with the exception of in 1910 when the German embassy had it. It has a commanding position on one of the hills overlooking the Essex County club.

The W. J. Mitchells, Andrew Carnegie, 2ds, and Francis M. Whitehouse of the Manchester Cove colony are still on the Shore. Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Boardman will keep their house at West Manchester open all winter.

Thanksgiving Day passed very quietly in Essex. In the forenoon union services were held by the churches at the Congregational church. Quite a number were present. Afternoon and evening were spent in quiet social gatherings at the homes of the people.

We are pleased to see that Chester Harvey, one of the popular conductors of the Bay State Street Railway, has recovered from his recent illness and is again at work.

THE ETTOR TRIAL.

The Ettor trial at Salem, which has held the attention of nearly every newspaper reader throughout several countries, is now a thing of the past. It will cost the government in the vicinity of $20,000, a considerable amount when one considers that the trial was unnecessary, in the opinion of many persons.

But there is a question in the minds of law-abiding citizens whether the trial of Ettor and his associates was not necessary and entirely within the bounds of justice. The authorities of Essex County probably had no idea of being able to prove the defendants guilty of murder, but the trial should prove a lesson to every citizen who wants to see fair play dealt out without fear or bias.

Perhaps the most important result of the whole strike proceedings and the subsequent trial for murder of the three accused men will be that the city of Lawrence will not again be troubled by the disgraceful disturbances which cost life and property damage while the riots were in progress. It will be many years before the mill city allows such men as Ettor, Giovanniti and Caruso to arouse the foreign elements to riot and bloodshed; it will show the organization of which Ettor is the leader that they cannot terrorize a city with free bandon and take the law into their hands without fear of punishment. The trial should certainly teach Ettor many lessons, but whether he realizes what he has been through is a question. Although during the trial he of course realized the seriousness of his position, he seemed to infer, judging from his speech and actions, that there was no tangible reason for his being held. Nevertheless, the grand jury made a wise move when they held him for trial.

The action of certain newspapers in stirring up feeling in favor of the I. W. W. and Ettor was hardly commendable on their part, and the attacks of some journals on the officials who were responsible for the trial was also uncalled for. The officials are to be commended on their action in holding Ettor and for following up the case without fear or trepidation. Judge Mahoney of Lawrence has been roundly criticized by some, but he has done his part in the case with rare vigor and wise judgment. Judge Quinn showed that he had the calibre and mettle of a great judge, and his ability was clearly demonstrated in his conduct of the case.

With all of the furore of excitement that has attended every movement in the strike and trial, the great lesson has probably been missed by the thousands of mill workers who placed themselves under the guidance of Ettor during the strike. There has been given them an example of how far their rights and privileges as American citizens extend, and how they must conduct themselves in such a battle of adverse opinions. If a full realization of this has sunk home into the heads of these aliens, the great expense of the trial will not have been wasted.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

"Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" brings her message of cheer and sunshine to the citizens of Boston where she will be seen at the Hollis Street Theatre Monday, December 9th for a two weeks' engagement with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

The dramatization of the book, which had perhaps the greatest sale of the last decade, for everyone loves Rebecca and wants to know all about her, was made by Kate Douglas Wiggin, author of the book, and Charlotte Thompson, who has several stage successes to her credit. The plot revolves around Rebecca's life at the home of the Sawyer aunts, Miranda and Jane, who take the girl because there are so many children at her home (her mother is a sister of the delectable old maids) and who are horrified at the pranks and life of the young girl who has come into their home. But Rebecca's loving and lovable nature asserts its power even over the hardened characters of her kinswomen, and when the last curtain falls she has not only conquered their liking but has made herself the center of the world for them. The incident of the soap selling, in which Rebecca was aided and abetted by her chum, Emma Jane Perkins, and the object of which was to buy a piano lamp for the destitute Simpson family, when bread and bacon and baked beans would have been infinitely more appropriate, brings the element of love into Rebecca's life, and with the close of the play comes the intimation of wedding bells for her and "Mr. Aladdin."

One of the first shows to go to the storehouse this season is "My Best Girl," the musical piece which has been holding down the boards at the Boston Theatre for the last three weeks. How the show succeeded in pleasing New Yorkers for several weeks is a question, but after its engagement at the Hub closed, the show broke up on its return to Gotham. The only redeemable features of the musical comedy were its star, Clifton Crawford, and his "opposite," Miss Rita Stanwood. Miss Stanwood is a Salem miss and already has a contract for another play, the rehearsals of which are to begin shortly. Clifton Crawford deserved a better fate than "My Best Girl," and the failure of the show is all the more displeasing to him because it is his first season starring in a production.

Only thirteen deaths have resulted in Maine coincident with the hunting of moose in that region. The word "only" seems out of place.

The department of social service must hold receipts for dues. met last Monday evening, and planned work for the ensuing months. The chairman, Herbert Porter, presided. Miss Mildred Perkins was elected secretary. The department will conduct a social forum on the second Sunday evening of each month.

The annual fair of the Ladies' Aid society was held Tuesday and Wednesday in the Town hall, with large attendance. Tuesday afternoon was unique in offering a baby show. Wenham has little people to be proud of. Entertainments were given each evening.

Last Friday evening at the boy scout council, Carl Carey distinguished himself by winning the first merit badge to be awarded in Wenham. His line of work was "personal health."

The friends of Mrs. Clifford Goodwin regret to know that it became necessary for her to be removed to the hospital last Saturday. She takes with her the best wishes of all for a speedy recovery.

The Wenham Village Improvement society is offering a program of lectures and entertainments to its members and friends this winter. On Nov. 15, Miss Bronson of Boston made an earnest plea against woman's suffrage. On Nov. 30 the distinguished author, Rev. Galusha Anderson, D. D., gave interesting readings from his own book, "When Neighbors Were Neighbors." On Dec. 6, Miss Katherine Loring will discuss the "Bulgarian Question." Other entertainments follow every month until May. On three occasions a general invitation will be given the public to attend.

A PROGRESSIVE NEWSPAPER

Springfield Republican

MASSACHUSETTS

HONESTLY DEVOTED TO THE SERVICE OF THE PEOPLE

Independent of Selfish Political, Personal or Financial Influences

COURAGEOUS, ENTERPRISING, INTERESTING

ESTABLISHED IN 1824 BY SAMUEL BOWLES.

DAILY (morning) $8; SUNDAY $2; WEEKLY $1 a Year.

The Springfield Republican stands for political progress and social justice. It has stood for these causes consistently and strongly during the 88 years of its career. It stands also for honesty in all of the relations of life, personal, political, commercial, industrial, national and inter-national. It considers that honesty is an essential basis of real political progress and social justice. It refuses to follow popular leaders who lack this fundamental virtue, however captivating and eloquent.

The Republican has a profound faith in democratic institutions, but it recognizes clearly that the safeguard of a progressive democracy is universal education, developing an enlightened electorate, which may deal justly with the difficult problems that modern civilization presents. It looks forward, through the agency of such an electorate, to an increasing restraint of the aggrandizing activities of powerful individuals and groups, to the end that there may be a juster distribution of the fruits of labor and a fuller realization of the ideal of the commonwealth.

The Republican seeks to embody its principles in its own service to the people as a newspaper. It strives ever to deal with its public honesty in its presentation of the news of the day. It tells no tales to promote its sales. It aims to educate, to enlighten and uplift its readers; and yet to interest and entertain them by honest methods. Its editorial page is one of the strongest, keenest, broadest, in the country. It deals with all the subjects that concern humanity in the spirit of helpfulness, of healthier, happier living.

The Republican gives a news service that is real, not flashy. It commands the best agencies for its general news, often supplemented by special correspondence. It covers its home territory with remarkable thoroughness, and it liberal treatment to literature and to the arts, sciences and industries. The Sunday Republican is especially rich in delightful literary and other diverting features and departments.

THE WEEKLY REPUBLICAN

Presents in 16 broad pages the best editorial, literary and special features of the seven daily issues, with carefully edited and rewritten summaries of the important news of the week. It is an excellent home journal for intelligent people who wish to keep abreast of the best thought of the times, as well as of the news of the day, and it costs only ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

Perhaps the most notable capture made by B. F. Keith for his vaudeville circuit this season was the engagement of Lulu Glaser, the famous legitimate comedienne and musical comedy star for his theatres. Miss Glaser comes to B. F. Keith's theatre this week in a one-act playlet with music written especially for her and entitled "First Love." For years Miss Glaser has delighted audiences all over America, as the star of such big hits as "Sweet Ann Page," "Dolly Varden," "Mlle. Mischief," "The Girl and The Kaiser," "Little Miss Madcap," and "Miss Dudelsack." In "First Love" Miss Glaser is supported by Thomas D. Richards and Lester Browne. "First Love" is the work of Raymond W. Peck, Melville Alexander, and Anatol Friedland. This trio have supplied Miss Glaser with one of the best vehicles she has ever had, and all who go to Keith's to see this popular comedienne can rest assured of an entertaining twenty minutes.

THE FORWARD SOCIAL MOVEMENT.

So quietly has the spirit of human helpfulness been developing that few realize the enormous gains that are now being made by the organized forces of Christianity. By these terms we would designate social schools for workers, benevolent institutions, home and community recreation associations, organized Bible societies, Bible schools and churches. As the result of this social betterment movement, organized Christian institutions have forgotten or buried their differences of faith and have consecrated themselves with heart, hand, eye and mind, as did the Samaritan of old on the way to Jericho. In the city of Chicago, there is now in session a convention representing seventeen millions of church members, neglecting all church lines, for the simple purpose of considering what gains can be made in the social betterment of the communities wherein the churches are situated. A common creed of theoretical faith cannot be made, but a common creed of service has been possible. This creed demands the conservation of the family by personal purity, regulation of marriage, the proper nurture and care of children, with the advantages to accrue from schools, playgrounds, and social centres. Other lines of work are the prevention of poverty, the conservation of health by instruction, the study of disease and the enforcement of the health laws. The convention will have a place in its creed for child labor laws, proper wages for men, shorter hours of labor, more equitable sharing of labor products and a safeguarding of the interests of women workers. Such noble methods will do incalculable good for the present and coming generation. Every organization should be a force for social welfare work and the church, women's clubs, women's relief corps, Grand Army posts, lodges and boys' organizations should render their part to communal development.

THE DEATH OF ROBERT COLLYER.

The North Shore will miss the noble, saintly Robert Collyer, who sought this shore for rest and retirement during the last years of his life. With a mind alert to the humanitarian movement of the day, he was among us always an apostle of the great faith that has value in the relations of man as well as with the All-Father. A blacksmith by early training, but with a gift within, he made his way single-handed against the buffetings of fate and fortune, but guided by the Unseen Providence which he trusted so implicitly. Accused of heresy, he resigned from his Methodist pulpit and became a Unitarian that he might preach with a singleness of purpose and with force against slavery, unhampered by restraint. In the days of the war, he dramatically threw a flag over the pulpit and announced his determination to go to the front. And he went. This was indicative of the great heart and faith in him. Robert Collyer was a quiet man, but powerful and he did a great work for the Kingdom of God and the good of men. He received innumerable decorations, degrees, and recognitions, but his greatest honor will be the esteem in which he is held by everyone with whom he came in contact. His residence on the North Shore made him one of us and, now that he has gone, the people of Stony Point, realize, as never before, the greatness of the man that has been among them.

ONE DAY IN FIVE.

The Breeze was interested in the passage of the act for one day off in five for firemen which came before the last legislature. The act was passed with the provision that it must be submitted for acceptance to the voters of every town and city which it would effect. Now this opportunity is being placed before the city of Beverly and it is to be hoped that the voters will willingly vote this privilege to the firemen. Under the present arrangement the men are on duty continuously for 168 hours. Their families are practically rendered fatherless for the greater part of the week. Their work carries them among a thousand dangers to life and limb. Surely a frequent holiday is rightly due the firemen and one day off in five is none too many. Give your vote to the righting of this wrong.

A visitor learning of our town's interest in boys and their development, and in the progress made, the lover of boys told a pointed story to a citizen. A lad was severely punished by his mother for a misdemeanor and she told him he was a bad boy. When he had partially recovered from the parental discipline and the rod had lost its sting, he smiled through his tears and, with a child's laugh, said, "Mother, you got fooled." Surprised from the change from storm to sunshine, she asked why. He said, "You said I was a bad boy and I ain't: I'm a dood boy that does naughty things." There are boys in plenty in Manchester, manly, noble, true and good who sometimes do-naughty things.

Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt is serving the generation well in her organized benevolence through the Big Sister movement. Over $500,000 is added the endowment and a beautiful building on Long Island will be made possible. Who can measure the good that must come from the helpful touch of love to wayward girls of the protestant faith?

The local clergymen say there is no such things as a distinctly "Baptist Bible" and that the present issue is the completion of a translation begun twenty years ago. The congregational policy of the organized church prevents any recognized edition even of the scriptures. The policy of the usual Baptist church is broader than the journalistic assaults against it.

The boys of Manchester have in them qualities that will be admired. These manly traits which are shown so constantly by so many of our growing citizens should not be forgotten because a few thoughtless boys do wrong, worrying parents, embarrassing teachers and annoying the public. There can be a tempest in a teapot!

The short session of Congress has opened and will terminate March 4. The convening of this session will deal largely with routine matters for its hands are tied by the election just over. The framers of the constitution certainly failed in the adjustment of the times of service of Congressmen.

The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children has been doing valuable work for Magnolia, Manchester and Beverly Farms but the nature of its work is such that publicity is impossible. The North Shore is fortunate in having this organization to assist in social welfare work.

The liberated prisoners of the Lawrence murder trial have not been acting wisely for their malicious verbal attacks have tended to cause public opinion to turn against them. In any cause, even a just cause, good judgment must be used.

The bronze memorial, with a feminine figure symbolic of music, undraped last week in the club-house of the Musical Protective Union in memory of the musicians of the ill-fated Titanic is a worthy recognition of a band of heroes.

Miss Mabel Boardman has won added laurels now from the ruler of a great eastern nation for her work for humanity. It is a significant approval of the Red Cross cause as well as a decoration for Miss Boardman. The world moves on and the heroes of peace are receiving their just rewards.

Peace loving Mr. Mead is straining at a gnat in wishing the abolition of military drill in the public schools. It is an educative diversion from study which every boy enjoys and to eliminate it for the reasons advanced is not all wisdom.

The decision of the supreme court precipitates some very difficult situations, but time is a great healer. There are great men back of the railroad industries of America and the readjustments will be of public benefit.

The assumption by England of the Protectorate over Egypt will be a great gain for international peace.

Its consummation is to be hoped for and seems assured. American trade relations will be benefited.

The proposed change in the inaugural date is altogether desirable. An advantage of no small moment will be the release of the out-going President from a duty not always pleasant.

The complications in the near East are unusual and it is a careful thinker that can follow the intrigues and movements of the forces at work. It is a study in European diplomacy.

Massachusetts is a leader in railroad progress. More than thirty-nine millions of dollars were spent in grade crossing work since 1890. The money was well spent.

THE ELLIS MILK BILL.

That the milk producers of this State are interested in the Ellis Milk Bill is evidenced by the written endorsement at the present time of over 1200 producers. They stand back of the bill in writing and promise to do so in action if the object of the bill is carried out without excessive "pruning" before it reaches its destination as a law.

The main purpose of the bill is to give the State Board of Health authority to inspect out-of-state dairies and those in the state not looked after by local boards.

If Massachusetts producers are to be inspected why should not their out-of-state competitors also be inspected? It is the out-of-state milk which has a tendency to drive Massachusetts producers out of business, and the Ellis bill will check this unfortunate movement and give the Massachusetts producers a square deal.

They know that through the State permit required of the dealer in the State, the State Board of Health can absolutely control the out-of-state producers selling milk to Massachusetts dealers, and can stop the sale of their milk in Massachusetts if it is not produced under conditions equal to the Massachusetts idea of cleanliness.

The producers know now that the consumers are not asking for anything unreasonable and that they simply want the small minority to keep their places as clean as the great majority of producers do now. In other words, the standard of cleanliness adopted is the standard already set by the great majority of Massachusetts producers. Nothing fancy or expensive is desired, —just ordinary decency.

MANCHESTER

George C. Leach was in town Tuesday.

Mrs. Abbie Gray of Bennet street has gone to Tewksbury to spend the winter, as usual.

Miss Lydia Lee of Allston spent the week-end as the guest of the Misses Eleanor and Mabel Morgan, School street.

J. Edward Cheever has returned from the West where he has been employed as fireman on one of the Great Lake freighters.

Mrs. Harry Broadhurst and children left Thursday of last week for a visit with Mr. Broadhurst's grandfather at Mansfield. They will return home Sunday.

Thomas A. Baker and family left this week for St. Augustine, Fla., where Mr. Baker has gone for a number of years to take charge of a large fruit stand during the resort season.

Mrs. Proctor of Gloucester has been the guest of Mrs. William Choate Rust at her home on Bridge street this week. Mrs. Rust's health is so much improved that she is able to be out some now.

Another burglar alarm was sent in from the Gordon Abbott estate at West Manchester this week. Sergt. Andrews and Patrolman Stoops went to the premises directly the alarm was received by telephone, but they found no evidence.

The Manchester Boy Scouts in company with the Beverly Boy Scouts and the Beverly Farms Boys' club took a hike through Beverly woods Saturday afternoon. These hikes have become a regular feature this fall and the boys find great enjoyment in them.

In "The News" of Whittier, Cal., of Nov. 19, we find the following item concerning a former well known business man of Manchester, J. Frost Hubbard, now a prosperous furniture dealer of Los Angeles. The item says: "One of the show places of this vicinity will be the handsome new home which will be started by J. F. Hubbard, a wealthy Los Angeles merchant, on his ranch in East Whittier. Plans are now being drawn for the home which will cost at least $15,000 when completed."

COMMUNICATION.

Editor the Breeze:

It seems unjust in some ways, and also unwise, to let money that could be kept in circulation by our good citizens of Manchester, escape the way it did lately on a certain job for town work let out by our good selectmen.

It is usually the custom that work calling for an expenditure of $2500 is advertised and bids submitted, instead of keeping it quiet and have contractors guessing when the work is going to be done; and when a clue is discovered, nobody knows anything about figuring on contracts. Still, the money was appropriated at town meeting. However, out-of-town contractors knew all about the work and two figured the same, while one local man just had a look-in.

Also, in accordance with the vote of the town, the preference in all work should be given to union labor. This very important issue was totally ignored.

The difference in price between the out-of-town contractor and the local man, on $2400, was about $60.00. It seems poor judgment considering the ability and superior work of our local mechanics in the same line of work to award the contract to the outside bidder.

Another important point that should be brought out is that specifications were not wholly lived up to on said job, as the undersigned happened to be an eye-witness to that effect.

The next time the town has any work to be done I would like to feel that we are not beaten before we start.

A delegation of Pilgrims from the local colony, U. O. P. F., went to Gloucester Monday evening for the installation of officers of Masconomo colony of that city. The work was performed by Supreme Governor Patrick H. Boyle, who was assisted by the following: M. C. Horton, Mrs. Nellie Smith, Mrs. Jennie Dennis, Miss Bessie Lethbridge, Mrs. Lizzie Floyd, Mrs. Mary Lucus and Mrs. Emma Howe. The trip was made by barge.

Home Economics Day at the Manchester Woman's Club

At the regular meeting of the Manchester Woman's club Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Herron of Winchester was the speaker. Mrs. Hattie M. Douglas was listed to speak, but was unable to keep the engagement by reason of the illness which has caused her resignation as chairman of the Home Economics Committee of the State Federation, to which office Mrs. Herron is the successor.

As a fitting introduction to her subject, Mrs. Herron took up the life of the late Mrs. Ellen H. Richards, whose activities in the field of science, including domestic science, have won for her a world wide fame. Mrs. Herron spoke at some length of the difficulties which Mrs. Richards encountered in seeking education, as women's colleges were not then founded. In '65 Vassar was opened and Mrs. Richards entered in '68 after having earned the money to give herself a start. Under Prof. Farrar, she studied chemistry, in which she was deeply interested, and after she was graduated from Vassar, which was in two years' time she sought for further opportunity to continue her education. In 1871, she was admitted to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology—the first woman to be admitted to a scientific school. While studying there she became deeply interested in sanitary chemistry, especially the analysis of water in the various towns that she visited. This eventually resulted in the addition of the woman's laboratory to the Institute. Mrs. Richards, whose marriage to Prof. Robert H. Richards took place about this time, not only instructed the girls and women studying there but gave material aid to those who needed it. In 1893 at the World's Fair Mrs. Richards managed what was known as the Rumford Kitchen, where she and her aids served lunches, which were the embodiment of all that was desirable in sanitary science.

From this exhibition of her theories grew the organization founded in '99, which in 1908 took the name, American Home Economics Association of which Mrs. Richards was the first president. When she died her college associates and co-workers started a project to raise $100,000 as an endowment fund to carry on her worthy work. Among the trustees are Prof. Robert H. Richards, Dean Marion Talbot of the Chicago University and Dr. Andrews of the Teachers' College at Columbus. Mrs. Herron urged that the club either as a body or as individuals, contribute something to this fund, which will surely be productive of much good. Contributions are to be sent to Dr. Andrews.

With regard to the possibility of establishing a Home Economics department in the Manchester Woman's club, Mrs. Herron said there were so many methods, which must vary with each club, that it was hard to decide upon any one way. The study of Home Economics includes the economics of food, the study of household management, accounts, the budget and the division of the income, the right values of life, dietetics, etc. One club, with which Mrs. Herron was familiar, had tried the scheme of a book review. The librarian of the town became interested and some forty books were placed in the library and at each meeting of the club five members would review a book so that by the end of the year the women were well read and well informed on the general subject and knew just what phase of it was most suited to their needs.

There are many lecturers who are sent to address clubs on this subject with no charge except travelling expenses. Mr. Palmer, the state sealer of weights and measurer is, perhaps foremost among these and his words, coming from one who knows by actual experience just what the conditions are, open our eyes to the many petty ways in which the butcher, the grocer and the iceman are cheating us.

The Consumers' League of Massachusetts, which has head-quarters at 4 Joy street, Boston, sends out lectures in connection with their work. Mrs. Herron spoke of the "white list" which the League publishes. In this book are the names of the bakers, whose foods are cooked under sanitary condition, and the tailors, whose work is done in sanitary, well-lighted shops instead of being sent to dirty crowded tenements, etc. In this way, the Consumers' League, not only looks after the good of the consumer but of the producer. Simmons college is glad to send out speakers in connection with its Domestic Science department.

Another phase of home economics is the study of textiles. Mrs. Herron made mention of the bill now before the legislature which will have the same effect upon the manufacture and sale of fabrics that the Pure Food Law had upon foods. Prof. Allen of the Westfield Normal school is deeply interested in this movement and gives very interesting and instructive lectures, not only upon the cloth we buy, but upon the foods, etc. The board of health there has published a book containing the list of foods which have been analyzed and approved at Westfield.

Mrs. Herron's lecture met with hearty applause and she was presented with a bouquet of carnations. The meeting then adjourned to meet the hostess, Mrs. Elizabeth Sinnicks, who was assisted in pouring by Mrs. John Baker and Mrs. Emma Stanley.

ALLEN-FISH

The marriage of Charles Allen of Manchester and Miss Annie Fish of Methuen took place at Methuen on Wednesday evening of last week. It was a very small church wedding. Mr. Allen is gardener at the S. V. R. Crosby estate, West Manchester.

NOYES-BRAWDIES.

Arthur F. Noyes of Manchester and Miss Catherine Brawdies of Salem were united in marriage Wednesday evening of last week by the Rev. Mark Sullivan, pastor of the Sacred Heart church, the ceremony taking place at the parochial residence. Mr. and Mrs. Noyes will live in Reading for the present, where Mr. Noyes has employment with the American Express Co.

OFFICERS OF MEN'S BROTHERHOOD.

The officers of the Men's Brotherhood, a non-sectarian organization of men, formed last week at the Baptist church, Manchester, follows:

Rev. A. G. Warner, president; Arthus Walker, vice-president; Herman Swett, treasurer; Robert Baker, Jr., secretary; W. B. Calderwood, Clarence Morgan, Edwin Preston, Louis Hutchinson and Fred Forward, directors.

STEPPED OVERBOARD

R. A. Newhall of Beverly, a man about 40 years of age, narrowly escaped drowning in that city Monday evening, stepping from the 5.05 o'clock train from Boston on the Gloucester branch, when the train was on the drawbridge over Bass river, under the impression that the train was in the depot. He stepped into the water. He was rescued by Harold Dunn and two brakemen on the train.

ANTI - SUFFRAGISTS STRONG IN MANCHESTER.

ORGANIZE LOCAL BRANCH WHICH PROMISES TO BE BOTH STRONG AND ACTIVE.

If "votes for women" is to win in Manchester, it will have to do some "tall hustling." Half a hundred Manchester women, meeting at the home of Mrs. John C. Mackin Wednesday afternoon "showed up" woman's suffrage as one of the worst calamities that could befall these United States at the present time and there-upon formed and founded the 363d branch of the Association Opposed to the Further Extension of Suffrage to Women.

The special feature of the occasion was the presence of Miss Minnie Bronson, who came all the way from Springfield, Ohio, to explain why women should not vote. Miss Bronson is fast forging ahead as a national character in the movement to keep her sex out of politics. At the convention of the National Association in New York City today, she is to be elected Secretary of that great body. Hence she speaks with authority.

In her address Wednesday she pointed out that a large percentage of the women in Massachusetts today are foreigners, many of them illiterate. At present more than two-thirds of the population of the state is foreign and the commonwealth now has 80,000 more women than men. Intelligent observers agree that the entire country is on the brink of commercial, industrial and, in some cases, governmental revolution, and, if ever it is now. The granting of suffrage to women at the present moment would cause incalculable harm.

Miss Bronson laid much stress on the fact that even the leaders in the women's suffrage movement do not consider the ballot an obligation—merely as a function which they may or may not perform according as they are individually disposed. Such an attitude toward the ballot is infinitely harmful. For the granting of woman's suffrage permits the vicious as well as the good to vote and, on any moral point—say, for example, no license, or the segregation of the social vice—the evil forces in any given community will have their women thoroughly organized and cast every vote possible, while the women on the other hand are indifferent and scattered in their support.

In the eight years in which the National Child's Labor Committee has been in existence, the committee has caused the passage of more laws for the good of women and children than have been put on the statutes in all the states where women have had the franchise. This committee has a "black list" of the states which do not have satisfactory laws regarding the working hours of women. In this list are Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho, and Utah where the women have voted from 19 to 43 years. Colorado, Idaho and Wyoming have no law regarding the working of children under 16 at night.

One of Miss Bronson's strongest arguments for her cause was that a woman's sphere must not be bounded by the four walls of her home, by her social circle, or by her church. It is her right and her duty to make herself felt in public affairs but not through the ballot. As soon as woman enters politics her influence must be lessened as a factor for the good because, while all are, perhaps, working for the betterment of mankind, each feels that the good can be best accomplished through her own political party. Working independently, they can gain the support of any party. Miss Bronson quoted E. C. Durand, the director of the census, to refute the argument of the suffragists regarding working women. In the latest census, which has not appeared in print, Mr. Durand has statistics to show that of the 7,000,000 women in the country engaged in "gainful pursuits," only 23 per cent of them are working is only five years. Forty per cent of the 7,000,000 are domestics and their condition may be bettered by a little individual attention just as well as by the ballot.

Dodging matrimony is like putting off going to the dentist: the longer a man defers the dreaded step the more nervous he gets—and the harder it goes with him when he finally capitulates.

PROPOSE NEW SUMMER HOTEL FOR MANCHESTER.

O'CONNELL TRUST COMPANY OF WORCESTER INTERESTED IN DEAL FOR OLD SMITH ESTATE

Several directors and officers of the O'Connell Trust Company of Worcester visited Manchester yesterday with a view to purchasing the old Smith estate for the purpose of building a new summer hotel, fronting on the harbor. The party came down early in the afternoon and spent several hours looking over the property. It is understood that they were not very favorably impressed with the site because of the mud-flats, which, at the time of their visit, lay exposed to their greatest area. If the plan of the Park Commission for making a basin of the harbor is carried out, however, this drawback will be entirely remedied.

In the land under consideration there are about 25 acres directly to the water's edge. It was the old homestead of Augustus Smith, whose farm included all of Smith's Point.

No project should be more interesting nor call for more direct and prompt support from the town of Manchester than that for a big, new summer hotel. It was the Masconomo Hotel of twenty years ago that made Manchester the beautiful place it is today. Hundreds who never heard of Manchester, did hear of the Masconomo and came to spend the summer there. They went away with a keen appreciation of Manchester's beauties and were never again satisfied until they owned a country place here. A big new hotel could not fail to prove a great stimulus for the town as a summer center and no stone that as a summer center and no stone that will aid the project should be left unturned.

Miss Bertha Crombie, who has been visiting Mrs. Frank Stone of Marblehead, returned home the first of the week.

Manchester Boys Held Meeting Last Night Looking Toward Organization of a Y. M. C. A.

The boys and young men of Manchester want a Y. M. C. A., or something similar to it. They want some place to go to spend their afternoons or evenings, instead of loafing about the streets.

To this end a meeting was held last evening at the home of Fred Smith, School street, which was attended by some 25 boys and young men.

The whole thing was talked over and the desire was expressed on all sides that some movement be started looking toward the establishment of some organization along the lines of the Y. M. C. A. Fred Smith was chosen chairman and Thos. Marsh, secretary, of the temporary organization. An organization committee was appointed to confer with the committee of citizens appointed at the recent meeting of the Price Primary school. The committee is composed of Fred Smith, Gordon Northrup and Frank Floyd. A building committee, composed of Fred Smith, George Fleming, John Gillis and George Beaton, was appointed to see if a suitable building could be secured this winter. A membership committee to interest business men and others in supporting the organization, is composed of Wm. McDiarmid, Joseph Carey, Gordon Cool, Gordon Crafts and Frank Knight.

It was suggested that dues of $6.00 a year be charged for active members, $3.00 for associate members and $3.00 for business men. The junior class for gymnasium work be from 10 to 14 years, and the senior class from 14 years up. It was also suggested that basket ball games be arranged for one night a week gymnasium work three nights and that one evening be given over to entertainment.

If anyone desires to join they should give their names to the membership committee. It is hoped there will be an active membership of 100 and an associate membership of 50.

MANCHESTER.

A very successful sale of candies and fancy articles was held in the Baptist church vestry Wednesday evening.

Members of the Parent-Teacher association in Manchester will be interested to learn that three such organizations were formed in Gloucester this week, — one of them being at Magnolia.

The newly-elected officers of Col. H. P. Woodbury camp 149, S. of V., are: Herman C. Swett, commander; John C. Mackin, senior vice-com.; Henry B. McCollum, junior vice-com.; Edward W. Baker, secy.; Louis Hutchinson, treas.; Harry R. Floyd, John L. Prest and Frank A. Foster, camp council.

Mr. and Mrs. George S. Sinnicks informally observed the 25th anniversary of their wedding, Saturday evening, Nov. 23, at their home on Ashland avenue. They had a party of friends in to spend the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Sinnicks were married in Beverly, Sept. 23, 1887, by Rev. Dr. Strong, now of Boston. They lived in Lynn first when they were married but moved to Manchester 21 years ago.

ESSEX

Rufus Choate, after a service of 38 years as clerk of the Congregational church of this town has resigned his office. A committee has drawn up a series of resolutions as follows: Whereas, Brother Rufus Choate, on account of continued illness, has resigned his office as clerk of the Congregational church of Essex, which he had held for thirty-eight years, we desire, as we reluctantly accept his resignation to bear testimony of the fact that he has kept the records of the church and fulfilled all the duties of the office most efficiently and faithfully, and to express our sincere appreciation of the valuable services he has rendered for the church during the years he has held office as clerk. We also sincerely hope that our Heavenly Father will prolong his days for many years to come and give unto him such a measure of health and strength that he may continue to participate with us in the services and all of the privileges of the church and that his last years may be the best of his life. Resolved that these resolutions may be placed upon the church records and that a copy be sent to Brother Choate. Signed, Rev. Henry M. Goddard, Helen E. Andrews, Gardner Burnham, Committee.

The Daughters of the Covenant of the Congregational church held a very interesting meeting at the home of Miss Velma Turner Monday evening. Mrs. Sinclair of the corps of settlement work of Salem was present by invitation and told many interesting stories of her work. The gift boxes were opened and quite a sum was added to the treasury through them.

Harry Burnham, an attache of the Cohasset Life Saving Station, spent Thanksgiving with his parents at South Essex.

The work on the culverts at Essex Falls still continues. That the work was undertaken none too soon was proven by the fact that the weight of one of the workmen engaged caused a heavy cover stone to collapse. The filling in of the sidewalks was done by contract by Lyman D. Low, the work on the road by overseer of the highway, Bertram Mears, by the day. It is hoped that the work will be completed in a most thorough manner.

We are pained to hear of the renewed illness of Mrs. Caleb Low.

Work has been started on the State Highway to extend from Water street to the Gloucester line. Walter Cresy of Gloucester has the contract.

HARRY C. FOSTER OF MAGNOLIA NEW MAYOR OF GLOUCESTER.

Magnolia was honored in the city election on Tuesday by the election of one of its most popular citizens, ex-Senator Harry C. Foster, as the chief executive of the city of Gloucester.

HARRY C. FOSTER, of Magnolia Gloucester's New Mayor.

The campaign was one of the hottest since the adoption of the amended charter.

Mr. Foster's only opponent was ex-Senator James E. Tolman. Out of a total vote of 4038 Mr. Foster received 2437, which was 940 more than Mr. Tolman. Magnolia stood nobly by its candidate, and out of its small vote of 75, Foster received 65, and Tolman 8, which speaks well of the esteem in which Mr. Foster is held in his home town.

Mr. Foster said after the election Tuesday: "I am deeply grateful for the great confidence which the people of Gloucester have shown in me by their splendid endorsement at the polls. I heartily thank my kind friends one and all, for their good work and endeavors in my behalf. I will use my best efforts to give the citizens a good administration."

The Gloucester Times says of the mayor-elect:

"Mr. Foster has always worked hard for the interests of the city and his friends say will prove a strong man for the mayor's chair. He has always been frank, open and above board and is highly posted on legislative matters and will in all probability be heard from during his term as chief executive of the city."

"The new mayor's qualities are best summed up in the following, taken from a comment on the election of 1902 when Mr. Foster received such a flattering vote:

"It would be difficult to find a more popular man in the county politically and financially, and in the state government he has achieved prominence and success. Not only is Mr. Foster a valuable factor for the benefit of his home town but he is ever alert to serve his district to the best advantage. At the same time he is honest and fearless in his convictions and all in all is a valuable man in the right place.

"Mr. Foster has a host of friends who are jubilant at the success crowning his efforts, after two years of careful grooming for the mayoralty chair, and wish him a most successful year as chief executive of the city."

Gloucester kept in the license column by a vote of 2202 to 1682.

The board of aldermen consists of Charles Homer Barrett, Frank H. Gaffney, George E. Merchant, and Samuel Montgomery.

There will be another meeting of the Italians at Beverly Farms Baptist church Saturday evening, Dec. 14. Francesco Malgeri employed by the Federated Churches of Boston, will deliver an address in Italian on "The Duties and Responsibilities of the Italian Immigrants to the American Institutions." Miss Louisa P. Loring will have charge of the musical program. A lecture on Tuberculosis is scheduled for a later date. A Christmas tree will be held at the chapel for the Italian children and their parents Thursday evening, Dec. 26.

An extremely large stock of cigars in boxes, suitable for Xmas gifts, has just been received at F. P. Gaudreau's barber shop, Central square. The boxes vary in size, 12 to 100 in a box. All the popular brands.

Next Tuesday evening, Dec. 10, the Girls club of the Baptist church will meet at 7.30 for their monthly work night. They are looking forward with pleasure to their New Year's party which will be held at the chapel the evening of Dec. 31.

Dr. Huntley of the China Free Missions gave an address at the Baptist church last Sunday evening on "Medical Missions, the Work Done by the Hospitals in China." Next Sunday evening there will be a pre-election address here by Dr. Arthur J. Davis of the Boston Anti-Saloon League on "The Duties of No-License Cities in Maintaining a No-License Sentiment." The pastor of the church will also preach a pre-election sermon, Sunday morning, with "The Christian and His Responsibilities to Good Government" as his subject.

Miss Elizabeth Putnam, a popular teacher of the Danvers Public Schools, returned home Sunday evening after having spent the Thanksgiving holidays with Mr. and Mrs. George F. Wood and Mr. and Mrs. H. Irving Dyer, Hart street.

F. P. Gaudreau, the Central square barber, is passing out a time table folder, containing a time-table of train service on the Gloucester branch, showing arrival and departure of trains at all stations. The list of fire alarm boxes of Beverly is printed on the reverse side of the card. *

The members of the Pastor's Hour for Boys of the Baptist church met Thursday evening and voted to invite the Boy Scouts of Beverly and Manchester to spend an evening with them sometime in January, at which time a speaker will be provided. Miss Louise Chapman is giving these boys instruction in music. They now desire an American flag.

Alderman James A. Torrey, candidate for mayor, held a well attended rally in Marshall's hall last evening. The other speakers were former mayor S. Harvey Dow and U. G. Haskell, Esq.

Preston W. R. C. met in G. A. R. hall Wednesday afternoon and elected the following officers for next year: Mrs. Addie Sutherland, pres.; Mrs. Mary V. Morgan, senior vice-pres.; Mrs. Mary Eddy, junior vice-pres.; Mrs. Alice P. Collamore, treas.; Mrs. Mary May, chaplain; Mrs. Hattie Hardy, conductor; Mrs. Grace Williams, guard; Mrs. Mary Eddy, delegate; Mrs. Alice Brooks, alternate.

The Bible School of the local Baptist church has a committee appointed to prepare the annual Christmas concert, which will take place Sunday evening, Dec. 22, at 4 o'clock, this year being a change from the evening to the afternoon. Their annual Christmas tree and festivities will take place Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 24. The choir of the church under the direction of the organist are preparing special music for the holiday services.

The young people of the Farms are beginning to make inquiries as to whether it is not about time to flood that part of the playgrounds which has been set aside as a skating space. They want it ready to take advantage of the first cold snap. It seems to be the duty of the Park Commissioners to take care of the matter.

The S. T. U. V. W. Y. committee of Friendship Rebekah Lodge of Beverly came to the Farms last Tuesday evening and were entertained by Mrs. Lewis G. Williams at her home on High street. Mrs. Williams has given the committee an oil painting, her own work, which is to be sold for the benefit of the lodge.

Edward Columbus of Whitman, is the new drug clerk at Varney's drug store, Central square.

Miss Agnes Leahy, the trained nurse, is at home on Hale street recuperating from an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen R. Kimball of Berlin, N. H., have been visitors at Beverly Farms the last week.

The voters of Ward 6 will be called on next Tuesday to decide whether they want Charles H. Hull or Augustine J. Callahan to represent them as alderman in next year's city government. Both candidates are men of excellent character and standing and both have many friends in this town.

The Monday evening weekly gatherings of Miss Jane M. Watson's adult dancing class are proving so enjoyable as social events that they are to be continued throughout the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Irving Dyer of Hart street celebrated the 12th anniversary of their wedding Thursday.

John West Colony, Pilgrim Fathers, will meet tonight at Marshall's Hall. After the business meeting an unusually good entertainment is promised.

Mrs. Charles Perkins, Mrs. Benjamin Ober and Mrs. James D. Hooper, three sitters, left Saturday afternoon for Chicago where they will spend the winter. Their home on Ober street has been closed.

Mrs. W. F. MacDonald and children spent the week-end with relatives in Manchester, N. H.

The Beverly Farms fireman held their regular monthly business meeting at the West street Engine House Monday evening. The members enjoyed a vension supper after the business meeting. The vension was provided by Arthur Harlow and Rex Hull and was prepared by Chef Walter Wright.

James J. Nugent, the popular livery stable man, was operated upon at the Beverly hospital Tuesday for appendicitis. He is improving rapidly.

The address on "The History of Old Glory" which Mrs. Isabel Worrel Ball, of Washington, D. C., delivered at the Baptist church last Tuesday evening was very exceptional in its interest and instruction and was heard by a large audience. The address was given under the auspices of the local G. A. R. Post, W. R. Corps and the Baptist church and all three factors were well represented in the attendance. Allen W. R. Corps of Manchester also sent a delegation. Illustrating her talk with stereopticon views, Mrs. Ball showed the flags and banners of the Spanish who came over with Columbus and then the flags of the several nations which influenced America through the succeeding periods of the country's development, down to the year 1777, when "Old Glory" was born. The nature of Mrs. Ball's remarks won for her the closest attention. Before and after the address, the John West orchestra played several selections. A duet by the Messrs. Publicover and Davis, entitled "Our Flag," was finely rendered and won generous applause. The evening closed by the singing of America. While in town, Mrs. Ball was the guest of the local W. R. Corps.

LIFE LENGTH OF LOWLY THINGS.

It has been computed that the day fly lives 24 hours; the May fly six weeks; the butterfly two months, as, alas, also does the flea; the common house fly, three to four months; the ant, the cricket and the bee one year each; the hare, sheep, six to ten years each; the nightingale 12 years; the wolf 12 to 15 years; the canary bird 15 to 20 years; the dog 15 to 25 years; cattle 25 years; the horse 25 to 35 years; the eagle 30 years; the stag 35 to 40 years; heron, lion and bear 50 years each; the raven, 80 years; elephant, turtle, parrot, pike and carp 100 years each. The ivy outlives 200 years; the elm 300 to 350 years; the linden 500 to 1,000 years; the locust tree and the oak 400 years; the fir 700 to 1,200 years, and the palm trees 3,000 to 5,000 years.

Beverly Farms people are looking forward to next Friday evening, Dec. 13, when the second entertainment of the free course of lectures will be given at the assembly hall of the Beverly Farms school. Mrs. Mary Craig Wentworth will give a dramatic recital. Refreshments will be in charge of Mrs. Chas. M. Cabot and the John West orchestra will furnish the music. The Daily Tribune of Manchester, N. H., speaks of Mrs. Wentworth as follows: "The writer does not recollect having listened to a dramatic recital by a woman that was so artistic, so replete with exquisite taste, so free from flaws, so melodiously agreeable, so worthy of high ecomiums, since he heard Charlotte Cushman in Steinway Hall, New York, in about the last, if not the final, public appearance that this great genius made."

Mrs. Mary Lee and Mrs. Abbie Marshall will leave Beverly Farms on or about the 17th of this month for California, where they will spend the winter.

Alexander Carr and family, formerly of Beverly Farms, are now at E1613 16th avenue, Spokane, Washington, and would be pleased to receive letters from their friends there.

Captain J. Frank Blaney has put his boat and fishing tackle in "cold storage" until spring. He plans to leave about Christmas time for Bermuda, where he has a situation for the winter in charge of a pleasure craft.

Besides selecting one of the two candidates running for alderman next Tuesday Beverly Farms voters will decide upon the following candidates: James A. Torrey, Herman A. MacDonald, Jeremiah F. Desmond, Frederick A. Dodge for mayor; three of the following—Henry E. Woodberry, George S. Hurd, William H. Ropes, Louis S. Smith, Williard O. Wylie, George H. Leonard, Jeremiah F. Brown, for alderman at large. The license question is also to be decided upon.

BEVERLY FARMS MAN RUNNING FOR MAYOR.

The Beverly city election next Tuesday has more than usual interest for residents in this section of the city, as a Beverly Farms man, Rep. Herman A. MacDonald, is one of the four candidates for mayor. Last Monday evening two meetings were held in the interests of Mr. MacDonald, one at the Beverly Farms engine house, the other at Centerville. Mr. MacDonald was greeted with large audiences at each place. Among other things he said:

"As a candidate for mayor, I am glad to set forth to you men certain views I have, concerning the administration of the city's affairs.

"Beverly is a city which has natural advantages possessed by but a few cities in our country. Beverly is also fortunate in having within her borders men of wealth, whose taxes on personal property is a source of much revenue. When the day comes when these men, disgusted with the reckless expenditure of the revenue of the city place their personal property under the taxation of another municipality, and the tax rate of Beverly will take a jump which will bear pretty heavily on its tax-paying citizens.

"If I am elected mayor, I shall oppose the construction of unnecessary sewers, and, when more are really needed, to see to it that a fair opportunity is given all firms to bid, thus insuring the lowest cost of construction to the city. I shall advocate the advertising of all contracts of $1000, or over, fifteen days prior to the opening of bids. All contracts of $100 to $1000, three days prior to the opening of bids.

"Beverly needs better streets, and ought to have them for the money expended. It will be my aim to secure a systematic way of caring for the streets, and running the street department, something which is badly needed in Beverly.

"On important matters, concerning the city's welfare, I would seek and appreciate the advice and assistance of capable men in the city; not, however of men who might have something besides a civic interest in the city, and I should also reserve to myself the responsibility of being mayor in fact as well as name.

"There are four candidates for mayor. It is generally conceded that two of the candidates, Mr. Dodge and Mr. Desmond cannot be elected. In regard to Mr. Torrey, I want to call your attention to the fact that he, as a member of the board of aldermen, has been violating the city charter in receiving money from the city treasury for work done for the city. I will admit that he made a clumsy attempt to disguise that fact by sending the bills to the city in his brother's name. Many city charters have penalties for this sort of a violation. Beverly's charter is silent on the point. To discourage this practice, I advocate a penalty clause to be added to the charter so that this provision of the charter will have some significance and force. No man who violates the instrument under which the people of the city are governed is fit for the office of mayor.

"The wonderful love that exists between Mr. Torrey and Mr. McPherson leads me to the belief that it is founded upon firmer ground than the mere similarity in names. The alderman from Ward One is a practical man and I cannot conceive of his working for Mr. Torrey, unless some definite agreement had been reached.

"Torrey says McPherson has not asked him for appointment as Chief of the fire department. Mark my word, he will make this statement stronger as election day draws near. There is a reason.

"Coming back to the question of sewers, I am going to ask you to keep in mind the action of Mr. Torrey as a member of that committee. Not until the speed artists were caught in the act of awarding a contract of more than a hundred thousand dollars, on insufficient notice, did Mr. Torrey say anything publicly. Then, in a manly way he let the other two members of the committee take all the blame. One or two things is quite apparent. Either Mr. Torrey did not protest very hard in committee, or else he has no influence with members of his own committee. Which is it Mr. Torrey? And if you have no influence with the members of your committee, why didn't you go beyond the committee?

"I appreciate the honor that will be mine, if elected mayor of this city. But not a single improper or unworthy act would I do to win this election."

Strenuous.

First Katydid—Why didn't you come before?

Second Katydid—Were you calling?

"Was I calling? Don't you see how hoarse my legs are?"

First Rabbit—Well, my wife and I are up against it.

Worth While Christmas Gifts

at Daniel Lowe's

Think of Christmas gifts that will spread the Christmas happiness over the whole year—over many years!

Think of gifts that will endure,—constant happy reminders to your dear ones and friends of your love and friendship.

Do not such gifts appeal to your judgment and your sense of the fitting in gifts?

Practical, sensible, useful things, withal dainty, artistic and refined, are the kind of gifts we invite you to consider. Our store is pre-eminently a store of gifts—gifts of the worth while kind which will spread the Christmas happiness over years to come and will be an enduring symbol of your love and friendship. The very nature of our wares—for the most part either to be worn or to perform a definite service—makes of them gifts of peculiar fitness.

In reality our store is a collection of half a dozen gift shops in one. It makes your Christmas shopping easy, and when you send a gift in a box bearing our name you know in advance that it is sure of an appreciative welcome.

And here is the best part of it all: Worth while gifts are no more expensive than things of a less durable and less serviceable nature. Indeed, we pride ourselves on the very large number of things in our stock at very modest prices.

A single visit to our store will be sufficient to give you a feeling of relief about your Christmas shopping. It will solve those perplexing problems that puzzle you now. Let the first shopping trip you plan start at Daniel Low's, and remember that no matter how many times you come in you involve no obligation to purchase.

SOCIETY NOTES

The persistent rumors to the effect that the Dr. J. H. Lancashires have leased the late R. C. Hooper estate at West Manchester are not founded in truth. Although they have several places under consideration, they have not arrived at a decision.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. Richard J. Monks has closed her house "Edgewood" at Manchester, but will come down the shore for week-ends throughout the winter. Mrs. Monks and daughter, Miss Grace Monks are at The Victoria, Boston, for the winter.

♦ ♦ ♦

One of the pleasant social functions of the coming week will be the reception at the Copley-Plaza, which Mr. and Mrs. Eben D. Jordan will give Thursday at 4.30 o'clock in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jordan. The cards announce music.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Andre Nicholas Reggio (Claire Means), have closed their cottage at Beverly Farms and are established for the winter on Bellevue street, Brookline.

♦ ♦ ♦

The death early Monday morning of Thomas B. Gannett, a retired business man at his home 3 Channing street, Cambridge, removes another old-time summer resident of the North Shore. For a number of years Mr. Gannett had been spending the summer at The Brownlands, Manchester. He was a member of the Essex County club. He was formerly a member of the sugar refining firm of Nash, Spaulding & Co., and was at the time of his death a director of the Revere Sugar Refinery. Only three days before his death Mr. Gannett had been at the offices of the company, at 2 Broad street, Boston, and seemed in excellent health. He is survived by his wife and four children; Thomas B. Gannett, Jr., Mrs. Edgar Crocker, of Cambridge, Mrs. Frederick A. Burlingame of Short Hills, N. Y., and Robert T. Gannett, a sophomore at Harvard. Deceased was a member of the Harvard class of 1870.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Barr are in New York for a week, as is their custom to spend a week or ten days out of each month at the Ritz-Carlton, since Mrs. Barr has given up her country home in Westchester, Co., N. Y., where she spent a part of the time before her marriage two years ago to Mr. Barr. Previous to that she had been in Paris for several months with her daughter, who was a student there. Mr. and Mrs. Barr will make visits to Washington in January and February, where Mrs. Barr lived for several years during her first marriage, in the home of her late father-in-law, George A. Fairfield, (son of the late U. S. Senator Fairfield) of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, whose house was a rendezvous for many distinguished scientists, statesmen and diplomats, as well as old Washingtonians. After Mrs. Barr's daughter finishes school, she will be in Washington a great deal when relatives and old friends will entertain her. Mrs. Barr's son, Richard Cutts Fairfield was named for his ancestor who married the sister of Dolly Madison and to which family the famous beauty and belle of Washington, Adele Cutts belonged. The latter was the wife of Stephen A. Douglas and afterwards married Gen. Williams.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. Arthur Little entertained at luncheon yesterday afternoon, at her Boston home, in honor of Miss Margery Lee. She and Miss Anne Means, Mrs. Little's daughter, are prominent debutantes of the winter, and long have been intimate friends. Both summer at Beverly Farms.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Ames have sent out cards for a fancy dress ball at 306 Dartmouth street, Boston, on Jan. 17, in honor of Mr. Ames' niece, Miss Olivia Ames, who is a debutante.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. P. Searle closed "Inglisby," their summer home at Ipswich, on Monday of last week and returned to their winter home, 280 Commonwealth avenue, Boston.

SOCIETY NOTES

Many of the golfers who are familiar figures on the links of the North Shore clubs during the summer are now being heard from at the various golfing clubs of the south. Last Saturday at Pinehurst, N. C., where Donald Ross of the Essex County club, Manchester, is in charge winters, George H. Crocker of Fitchburg, and a member of the Essex County club, won the President's trophy in the final round of the opening golf tournament, with 7 up and 6 to play. Robert Gould Shaw won in the second division, 6 up and 5 to play.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. John C. Phillips has cards out for a dance at Copley hall, Boston, Monday, Jan 6, to meet her daughter-in-law, Mrs. William Phillips, and Miss Margaret Putnam, the debutante daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. P. Putnam of Marlboro street, Boston. Mrs. Phillips only recently opened her Boston home after a long season at Moraine Farm, North Beverly.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard D. Ahl of Hamilton will close their house after the holidays and will go to Palm Beach for the remainder of the winter. They have a cottage there.

♦ ♦ ♦

The Sewell H. Fessendens of Manchester and Chestnut Hill, are occupying the house of the late E. V. R. Thayer, at 1 Raleigh street, Boston, this winter.

♦ ♦ ♦

Frederick Ayer of Boston and Pride's Crossing reached the age of four-score and ten years Sunday and the anniversary was quietly celebrated with a family dinner gathering at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Wood at 21 Fairfield street, Boston. Mr. Ayer is in remarkable health, for a man of his years. He goes down town from his Commonwealth avenue residence practically every day, to his business offices in Milk street. He enjoys riding and walking and by these diversions in part keeps his excellent health. He is always familiar on the North Shore roads and bridle paths. Mr. Ayer was born at Ledyard, Conn.

SOCIETY NOTES

The famous painting by Eric Pape of Manchester, which is attracting great attention among New York art critics and leading painters of the country, was painted at Lookout Hill, the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond, at Gloucester, last September, when Mrs. Grover Cleveland and her two daughters, Misses Esther and Marion were visiting the Hammonds. The painting, which is called the "S. O. S.," The Spirit of the Wireless, was posed by Miss Marion Cleveland, daughter of the late ex-President. It is an oil painting measuring 12 1-2x8 1-2 ft. Mr. Pape and his little son, Moritz Eric Pape, were also guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hammond at that time. The large painting was executed in the large central hall of the charming bungalow where Harris Hammond, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Hammond and John Hays Hammond, Jr., lives and works during the summer season. The bungalow overhangs the great rocks and the water of Gloucester harbor at "Lookout Hill" and which is directly opposite to the entrance to Gloucester harbor, where an excellent opportunity is offered to study the sea. Mr. Pape seems to have caught the true spirit of his subject. Out of the clouds of the night through the roar and scud of the leaping sea, the Woman-Spirit is rushing along towards the shore and distant dawn. Her head is foam-crested and her garments wind-racked; outstretched hands tipped by the weird light—the electric spark, her face divine with the hope of saving souls. It is early, very early morning. The first golden light of dawn flashes across the sky and the veil of fog and the clouds above are tipped by the pink and golden hues of the early morning light. The sea is mountainous and in the distance over the horizon tower several monster ice-bergs, like ghosts near which is shown, way off in the distance, a great ocean-liner disabled with searchlight, streaming its misty shaft of light in the direction of the monster ice-berg. The ship's port-hole lights are dimly visible through the fog and the ice-bergs are tinged with the first glow from the dawn. The great winged figure (for which Miss Marion Cleveland posed) is sweeping across a great wave which is thundering into the immediate foreground of the scene depicted. In her wake are other waves breaking about her in superb form. The sea is fairly leaping and she, the Woman-Spirit, seems to rise supreme in magnificent stateliness above the chariot like form of the huge wave at her feet. Her wings are those of a gull and are of immense size, covering the greater part of the immense canvas. They are tinged by pinks and greens and yellows of the early dawn and the shades of which are of a delicate grey and purple. Her garment is wind-racked, is unlike any earthly material. It is of a combination of sea-weed, wave-forms, sea-foam, fish-like forms and dripping water. It is an opalescent mass in coloring. In the sea, immediately in the foreground are great masses of broken ice, swept by the white foam and scum of the sea.

The performance of "Alice in Wonderland" at Copley hall, Boston, yesterday afternoon, and which will be repeated on Saturday afternoon and evening, and a concluding matinee next Monday afternoon, is attracting wide attention among the Boston smart set. Many of the North Shore's best known young men and women are in the cast.

The fair in aid of the South End Day Nursery auxiliary, held at the Copley-Plaza, Boston, Tuesday and Wednesday was one of the most beautiful fairs of the season in Boston and called out the Back Bay and Brookline contingent in large numbers.

EDDIE FOY IN "OVER THE RIVER."

Without a question of doubt, the appearance of Eddie Foy and his seventy-five players and special train load of gorgeous costumes, scenic and electric display announced for Monday, Dec. 16, at the Boston Theatre is one of the welcome bits, theatrically, of the day.

This immense organization, under the direction of Werba and Luescher, comes direct from the Globe Theatre, New York, where it broke all records for laughter and box office receipts for a solid six months' run. It is the one musical comedy attraction that does not boast of or advertise any particular feature, because from a standpoint of music, life, laughter and beauty, it has many attractive novelties.

Eddie Foy, himself, is a powerful feature and recognized as the drollest comedian of effervescent, natural-born humor on the American stage. He is a whole show in himself in his latest merry novelty, "Over the River," and New York critics were unanimous in proclaiming this latest role of his as his greatest success.

The song hits are all whistling favorites, while the "Cabaret" scene, with its riotous fun and the dancing "Berlin Madcaps" with their merry pranks, became the talk of Broadway during the engagement there.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. Francis W. Fabyan is giving a dinner of 30 covers for her daughter, Miss Eleanor Fabyan, at her home, 146 Commonwealth avenue, Boston, on Jan. 7, going later with her guests to the ball which Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Sears are giving for their debutante daughter, Miss Miriam Sears, at the Copley-Plaza.

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE

Second only to the opening of the season and rivaling the wonderfully complete production of "Tales of Hoffman" on that occasion will be the premier of Charpentier's "Louise" Wednesday evening, Dec. 18, at the Boston Opera House. "Louise" is more of a novelty than the Offenbach work. No other opera repertory requires such a deal of preparation. The cast calls for no less than forty principals in addition to a full chorus and ballet.

The Louise will be Mme. Louise Edvina, already a great favorite with the Boston public since her debut as Antonia. Charpentier himself has styled Mme. Edvina "the ideal Louise." The theme of "Louise" has been termed "the cry of Paris," but it is the cry which ever surges in the heart of youth,—the cry for the city of joy. Louise, a sewing girl, living with her parents in an attic on Montmartre, falls in love with Julien, a young poet whose chamber window opens on the same court. The parents fail to sympathize with or understand the moods of the girl, but try to stifle her hopes and longings. The lovers are forced to clandestine meetings. At last the poet goes to the shop where Louise is employed and persuades her to away with him. They are very happy in a tiny cottage on the crest of the hill of Montmartre, with all Paris lying at their feet. There on a fete day, Louise is crowned as the muse of Montmartre. In the midst of the festivities comes the mother bringing word that the father is ill and calling for his lost daughter. Louise agrees to go back only on the understanding that she shall be allowed to return to Julien. To this the mother agrees. Later, the mother retracts her promise. The father alternately pleads and commands, but the cry of the city and longing for Julien are greater than the filial feeling and when at last the door is thrown open and harshly she is bidden to go forever, she rushes out toward that city of joy on which her gaze has been riveted.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING.

The December meeting of the Parent-Teacher association of Manchester will be held in the Price school, Wednesday evening, Dec. 18, at 7.45 o'clock.

An interesting program has been arranged, consisting of an address on "The New Interest in the Child" by Rev. E. J. Prescott of Gloucester, and musical selections by the Girls' Glee Club of the Story High school.

Through the courtesy of the Woman's Club, the members of the association will also be privileged to hear the lecture at the Congregational Chapel next Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 17, when Mrs. Clara Beatley will speak on "Boys and Girls in the Home."

Real Estate and Improvements ... Up and Down the North Shore ...

"Green Gables," the large building on the corner of Hesperus avenue and Fuller street, Magnolia, has been sold by the McClure estate to H. L. Hannaford, the real estate dealer, and he in turn has sold the place to Margaret J. Nixon of Brookline, whose husband is the steward of the Algonquin club of Boston. This fact probably led to the report, widely published that the Algonquin club has bought the property and intended to make this a summer headquarters for the club. We have been asked to deny this report. The Algonquin club has no such intentions. It has not been stated just what Mrs. Nixon intends to do with the property. It is not unlikely that she and her husband will run it as a sort of tea room, as it has been run in the last three years, or, possibly, some sort of club may be established. "Green Gables," is below the former Hesperus Hotel (now Oceanside Annex), on the way to the beach, and is on the opposite corner from Col. W. R. Nelson's summer residence.

The preliminary work on Magnolia's big beach improvement—new bathing pavilion and swimming pool—has been done. The old bath houses have been torn down and a substantial sea wall has been built along the beach bank. The foundations for the new structure have not yet been built.

The beach at Magnolia is owned by private parties,—E. Haring Dickinson, the corporation of summer people building the swimming pool, W. H. Coolidge, and others. Magnolia people are beginning to wonder just where they fit under the new arrangement, now that the old bath-houses are removed. They have expressed the hope that the Town of Manchester in whose limits the entire beach is located, would do something to safeguard the public's interest in this instance. According to our understanding of the matter the only way a portion of the beach could be set aside for the public's use would be to take part of the beach for park purposes, under the park act. In the case of Singing Beach, at Manchester, this action cost the town about $150,000. It wouldn't cost as much to take over part of Crescent Beach, but it would cost considerable; and it is doubtful if Manchester citizens would vote for any such action, as it would not benefit the towns people to any extent. Magnolia is in the township of Gloucester. The only other way we could suggest is for the Village Improvement society to get to work and make some arrangements to set aside a portion of the beach for the public's use. This could be done somewhat along the line of the arrangement at Beverly Farms, where a portion of the beach is owned by the West Beach corporation, and is willed to the use of the inhabitants of Beverly Farms. It is practically a public beach. The rest of the beach is owned by private parties. Recently the corporation erected a large bath-house on its property. The Village Improvement society (or some such organization) could do the same thing at Crescent Beach.

It must be remembered that there is a "public landing" on the extreme easterly end of Crescent Beach. This is the public's now and for all time. No structure can be erected on it, however. This strip is some 50 or 60 feet wide, and is reached by a road. In former days, before we had railroads and other methods of transportation, these many "public landings" were in common use, but now they exist in name only.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new $70,000 summer home for Mrs. Charles A. Sinclair of Portsmouth, N. H., and New York, near Cole's Island, West Gloucester. Mrs. Sinclair is a niece of the late Frank Jones.

WENHAM

At the village church Sunday morning the minister, Rev. F. M. Cutler, will preach on "The Christian Sabbath." Sunday school at noon. Y. P. S. C. E. meeting at 6. The Department of Social Service will be in charge of the 7 o'clock meeting and will present a social service forum of general interest.

Wednesday at 6 the Ladies' Aid society will conduct a public supper. Church night, Thursday at 7.30, will be in charge of the Department of Missions, and will include a study of the text book on China.

The annual meeting of the Wenham Y. M. C. A. will be held in the old school house, with a good attendance of boys and local committeemen this Friday evening, Dec. 13. Chairman Albert W. Dodge will preside, assisted by the presiding officer of the boys' group. Treasurer H. E. Durgin reports a flourishing financial condition.

Last Sunday Miss Ethel Cook visited Miss Nellie Peabody at the Boston hospital, and found her improved in health. Miss Peabody expects soon to return home.

Rev. Harrison Peabody, for thirty years, and until recently, pastor of the Baptist church at Rome, N. Y., visited his boyhood home on Sunday. At the village church of Wenham he was greeted by old friends at the close of the morning service. Rev. Mr. Peabody is now in Salem.

The Essex County poultry show held the center of the stage in Wenham this week, bringing exhibitors and spectators from different towns.

At the scout council held by the Y. M. C. A. on Friday, Roger Knowlton qualified for merit badges in Public Health and Personal Health. The Wenham scout troop has adopted a white neckerchief as the troop badge. The colors worn on the shoulder knots as patrol badges are to be: Lions, orange and black; Snakes, red and white.

Another new fire chief for Revere—the fifth within six months. It is about all that the residents of the seashore town can do to keep up with the race of changes of leadership in their affairs? Wonder who they are emulating?

It is to be hoped that the theatre managers and hotel proprietors of Boston succeed in obtaining later trains out of that city for their patrons.

MANCHESTER'S OPPORTUNITY.

The meeting in Manchester last week of twenty-five young men and boys to devise ways and means for building and an organization is indicative of the great need that has long existed in town. The consummation of the ideal of these young men will not, however, solve the problem in Manchester. For experience has taught that the burden involved in an effective Y.M.C.A. in small towns has prevented large influence because of the expense involved in proper maintenance. It will require more money to operate an efficient Y.M.C.A. than is now expended by all of the churches and religious organizations in town.

When fully equipped will such an institution serve all of Manchester? A Y.M.C.A. or its substitute is desirable. Is there not a way in which all of Manchester may be served with an efficient social center?

There is a crying need of a new hall or "play-building" for Manchester's old as well as her young: A building which will allow the Boys' club and Girls' club and the Women's club to hold meetings and festivities,—in truth, a winter play-ground for all of us.

We already have our out-door play-ground for summer. We need a winter play-ground.

We believe such a hall would rent well for various summer concerts, exhibitions and the like; dances, mayhap. It could be made attractive. In this building there might be in connection with the hall a kitchen of small proportions, and the conveniences to allow of easy entertaining. Which one of the many societies in town is there that has not wished there was some suitable hall where banquets and suppers could be served with some sort of convenience? Perhaps there might be a show room or two where, in summer, we might tempt people from elsewhere to show us their wares—a very much sought-after thing in a summer resort.

Great progress has been made in the social side of municipal work and still greater studies may be made in the future. Communities are recognizing that a social center is as necessary to a community as the school-house. Boston has established two good municipal buildings of this character, one in Columbia road and another in Jamaica Plain. In Brookline the town has established an efficient group of buildings including a municipal gymnasium. This movement will be wide-spread as the years go on.

Here is Manchester's opportunity! It could remove the Town hall and police station and on the site of the present town hall construct a modern building to house the police station, provide all town offices, a Town hall, small halls and lodge rooms to be rented to organizations, and, a public gymnasium with shower baths for the boys and young men.

The cost of such a plant, bonded and carefully financed, ought not to affect appreciatively the tax rate. With a rate as low as Manchester's the town could well afford to make the investment for the returns that would inevitably come to it in providing a place for the young people.

Manchester's opportunity ought not to be neglected. Such an institution would not prevent the organization of gymnasium classes, or the development of different forms of organizations. It would provide in the most reasonable and economical way a good equipment, which could be placed at the disposal of the whole town and all its organizations. Such an equipment would increase the efficiency of the school department and place at its disposal a new building which could be used for educational purposes that would naturally suggest themselves as time goes on.

The town could appoint a special commission of five members,—two selectmen, a representative of the school department, and two citizens,—to study carefully the situation and present a report at a meeting of the town. Such a movement would not be new, but would simply be a step taken to follow the lead of the progressive towns all over the country, which are at work on similar problems.

The Breeze is entirely in sympathy with the organized efforts of these twenty-five young men and this article is not to be construed as a criticism of their activities. Their aggressiveness is to be commended. The point the Breeze would make is this: That it will be vastly more economical for the Town to father any building plan that is contemplated and provide not alone for the boys and young men, but for the girls and young women, and at the same time provide suitable meeting places for the lodges, horticultural and other societies, etc., which meet in town and which serve each its own part of the town's people.

In this rigorous climate, there are several months in the year when outdoor pastimes are much restricted. What will the boys do, in December, January, February and March, when the cold weather precludes baseball, swimming and tennis? Here is the opportunity for further but equally wise gifts. Every town should have not only a public playground but a public playhouse (or playing house), a building of simple construction, well warmed, gymnasium-like, with athletic apparatus and especially a good swimming tank. A fee should be charged, for self-respect's sake, but of only a few pennies. Cleanliness, which is next to godliness, thus would be encouraged. Many of us who pride ourselves upon our daily bath, would go unbathed more than we do if we had to face each morning in a cold room only a pitcher of cold water and a tin basin. Thousands of young men who feel a dawning pride in a good physique would welcome a commodious, well-lighted, well-warmed gymnasium of this sort. The Greeks and Romans were "short" on means of transportation and good lighting, but were "long" on those means of physical exercise and physical cleanliness which tend to put a sound mind in a sound body.—Boston Herald.

The Manchester Woman's club is fortunate in being able to obtain the services of Mrs. Clara B. Beatley at their meeting next week. Mrs. Beatley has a rare gift and is able to speak with plainness, tactfulness and persuasion on the topic she presents. The success of Mr. and Mrs. Beatley in their own home with their own beautiful family affords an effective support to Mrs. Beatley's views on "Boys and Girls in the Home."

"The waiter, the janitor, the boys of the butcher, baker and candlestick maker, the man who delivers the mail, the type-writer lady, the man who rushes the furnace in mild weather and neglects it in cold and every Tom, Dick and Harry in town are getting ready to hold out a strong firm hand for their annual subsidy."—Boston Herald.

Why need this be?

The Beverly Hospital should be a beneficiary of every North Shore resident, rich or poor. Everyone on the Shore, rich and poor should make it an annual subscription. Here is mercy, sympathy, good judgment, excellent service and patient nursing at our very doors. Before the books close the contributions should rain into the treasury to avoid a deficit.

Natick is paying a just tribute to its veteran teachers, Miss Emma F. Chater and Miss Eliza W. Hathaway for their forty years of service to three generations of children. No honors are too great nor words of praise expression enough to repay the debt any community owes to its faithful teachers who have grown old in service.

The Independence Hall in Philadelphia belongs to America and the organized efforts consummated by the city, under the direction of a competent architect, to improve the physical condition of the old historic structure without destroying its historical lines is good news to all America. Too good care cannot be taken of our old buildings.

If a million signatures will do it the citizens of California wish the Liberty Bell to take a trip across the continent for a season. It remains to be seen whether the city of Philadelphia will establish this precedent.

One of the valuable agencies of the North Shore is the Horticultural Society. The enterprise it has shown is commendable, and the semi-monthly lecture course which has been arranged will contribute much to the social and educational side of its activities.

The early Christmas shopping habit is a compound satisfaction for it affords the purchaser a better choice and does not afflict the merchants and salesmen with unnecessary labor. Shop early and put Christmas into your buying as well as giving.

There appears to be strong opposition among the women of America to women's suffrage, but one who reads the signs of the times cannot fail to detect the increasing public sentiment in favor of women's suffrage.

Christmas generosity ought not to make January 1st collections slow.

DR. BLAISDELL WARNS AGAINST WHOOPIING-COUGH.

Editor, The Breeze:

We are passing through at the present time an epidemic of whooping-cough. I thought it might be well to present a few facts about this disease which does not seem to be generally understood. Whooping-cough is not the simple disease that many people consider it; on the contrary it is one of the most severe diseases of childhood, not that many die of it, but from what it leaves behind. It is a disease considered to be dangerous to the public health by the State Board of Health, and so comes under that list of diseases which have to be reported to the local Board of Health by the parents of the child or the physician in charge under a penalty of $50 or more for each case not reported.

For parents to take no care in preventing a child from catching the cough is little less than a crime. In the year 1911 there were 183 deaths from whooping-cough in this state, while scarlet fever and measles contributed about 250 each. So in its death record whooping-cough takes rank with other children's diseases. Now the state wisely orders us to prevent the spread of this disease by keeping the child at home and out of school and the local Board of Health as soon as it receives notice of a case, at once notifies the School Board and that child is forbidden to return to school until the physician in attendance shall give it a certificate that danger of conveying such disease has passed. Whooping-cough lasts a long time; it is most catching in the first few weeks and probably slightly so throughout the whole course of the disease. The length of time a child should remain out of school will depend much on the severity of the case. Most cases are over the worst of it in seven or eight weeks and many cities and towns make this the limit of time, but it is left to the physician in charge to decide whether a longer period is necessary or not.

The sense of the law is that not only must proper care be given to the child to save its life, but the community in general must be safe-guarded from the disease.

Children with this disease should be kept at home, they should not be allowed to play with other children and every means should be taken by their parents to prevent its spreading. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Very truly,

George W. Blaisdell, M. D.

Editor, North Shore Breeze,

Dear Sir:

I should like to have you correct the erroneous statement published in your last issue concerning the proposed Athletic Association. While the item contained most of the essential facts of the movement it gave your readers the impression that the Association was a branch of, or was connected with a Young Men's Christian Association. For many reasons it has been deemed advisable not to be affiliated with this organization, but to make the Association purely a local affair for the mental and physical betterment of the young men of the town.

The prospectus of the Association is being prepared and will undoubtedly be taken up at the next meeting, when we shall be pleased to have a representative of your paper present.

Thanking you for the courtesy of this publication, I am, sir,

Very respectfully,

Frederick L. Smith.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

The annual business meeting of the Orthodox Congregational church, Manchester, was held last night. Oliver T. Roberts was chosen moderator. The reports of the various church officers, committees and organizations were presented. The clerk's report showed a total membership of 175, a gain of one for the year. The treasurer's account showed a balance in the treasury of $71.21. Encouraging reports were read from the S. S. superintendents, especially the Junior S. S., which now has a membership of 72, and an average attendance of 52. The treasurer's account of the S. S. showed a balance of about $92. Several of the teachers of the S. S. the past year have been attending lectures by Miss Slattery of Boston on S. S. methods, which have been exceedingly profitable. The treasurer of Harmony Guild reported a substantial balance after various activities have been successfully carried out. The Guild has a membership of 100, composed of young ladies of the town. The Missionary societies have continued their good work the past year and are in good financial stand-

At the meeting of the Parent-Teacher association held Oct. 23, requests were presented that the association use its offices to secure a conference with the other town organizations, with reference to the larger welfare of the young people of Manchester.

The Executive Board took the matter in hand, and on Nov. 11 letters were sent to all the organizations of the town, asking them to appoint delegates for this conference. The first meeting was held November 18, at which time the purpose of the conference was stated, viz: to make suggestions for the larger interests of the young people of the town. After a full discussion of the conditions existing, a committee consisting of Supt. John C. Mackin, Frank Foster, Rev. A. G. Warner, Mrs. O. M. Stanley and Miss Lila G Goldsmith was appointed to prepare a set of resolutions embodying the suggestions of the meeting.

This committee made its report December 2, and the first two of the appended resolutions were approved and accepted. The third was returned to the committee for further changes.

The committee made its final report Wednesday evening, when the resolutions in form appearing were accepted and endorsed by the organizations represented.

The conference was called by request of citizens of the town, and has considered its work to be that of suggestion. At its final meeting there was present a committee consisting of Messrs. F. Smith, F. Floyd, and Gordon Northrup, from the Young Men's Athletic Association, organized December 5. This committee presented a carefully prepared plan by which these resolutions could be carried into effect in our town. This plan has already been published in connection with the report of the organization of the Young Men's Athletic club.

It is hoped that the plan will receive the careful attention, consideration, and support of the people of the town, that the advantages hoped to be derived from it may become actual as early as possible.

Resolutions.

Whereas, there has been unnecessary carelessness and thoughtlessness on the part of some of the young people of the town, in their conduct in public places and in their treatment of private property, we, the organizations of the town, interested in the highest moral welfare of its youth, deem these actions wholly unworthy of them, and beg to submit the following resolutions:—

1. Resolved; That such conduct be suppressed, both by the exertion of proper parental influence and by the wise co-operation of the officials of the town.

2. Resolved; That cigarette-smoking is a menace to our schoolboys, and that the selling or giving of tobacco in any form to them, should be discontinued.

(Sec. 3, Chap. 346, Revised Laws Mass.)

"Whoever sells a cigarette to a person under eighteen years of age, or whoever sells snuff or tobacco in any of its forms to a person under sixteen years of age, or, not being his parent or guardian, gives a cigarette to a person under eighteen years of age, or gives snuff or tobacco in any of its forms to a person under sixteen years of age, shall be punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollars."

3. Resolved: That there is an urgent need in the town of an assembly-place for the young people, where indoor athletics may be encouraged, and other desirable forms of recreation enjoyed, and that we, the undersigned organizations are favorable to any plan that will bring about the desired results:

A number of young men are to hold a private dancing party in the Town hall Christmas night.

William Hall has a position as chauffeur with Mrs. C. S. Hanks at West Manchester.

At the divorce court yesterday Mrs. Lampson was not granted a divorce from her husband, Abraham Lampson. Judge White advised the latter to go to some cure.

Robert Hart, for several years prescription pharmacist at Allen's Drug store, has concluded his services there, owing to falling off of business during the winter months.

GOOD PIECE OF POLICE WORK.

The prompt action of Officer Thomas Sheehan last Saturday brought to an end the career of two young boys from Marblehead who have been causing the police all along the North Shore considerable trouble of late. Officer Sheehan saw two strange youngsters go by his house on Tappan street and becoming suspicious he followed them. He later found they had broken into the E. G. Black house, off Sea street. He caught one of them on the piazza and the other got away but was later caught and both were locked up. The boys names we keep out of print for the sake of their youthfulness. One was 15 the other 16. They confessed to breaks in Marblehead and Gloucester, and also one other house at Manchester,—the Wetherbee cottage.

They were bailed out Sunday by their fathers, who had been apprised of the action of the Manchester police by the Marblehead chief. In court yesterday the older of the boys was sent to Concord reformatory, the other was sentenced to the Lyman school, but he was let go on probation for one year.

Officer Sheehan has been receiving much praise for his good work, not only from Manchester people, but from Gloucester and Marblehead, where the boys have been breaking and entering for some weeks, without apprehension.

M. A. WALTON, THE HERMIT OF GLOUCESTER, ADDRESSES ARBELLA CLUB.

The regular meeting of the Arbella club, Manchester, was held in the Chapel Tuesday afternoon. In the absence of the secretary, Miss May Rogers, the President appointed Miss Beth Jewett secretary pro tem. The next meeting of the club will take the form of a Christmas party and will be held at the Town hall Thursday evening, Dec. 26, from 8 to 10. Each girl is requested to bring one gift, not to cost over ten cents, to the hall on the afternoon of the same day between 1 and 3 o'clock. These gifts will be distributed from the tree by number. An embroidery class under the direction of Mrs. Frank A. Rowe, who very generously offered her services, is to be started among the more advanced girls. A motion was made and passed that a Christmas letter expressing the spirit of the season be sent to Mrs. Fields, the club's honorary member, whose kindness to the girls has already endeared her to them.

The first number of the program Tuesday was a song, "The Rosary," by Miss Clara Corren. The song, always a favorite, was so well rendered that it gained enthusiastic applause for her.

The speaker for the afternoon was Mason A. Walton, well known as the Hermit of Gloucester. Mr. Walton's career has embraced every phase of wood and forest life. He was born at Old Town, Maine, in 1838. His education consisted of the public school course at Old Town and at Alton, Me., and he was graduated from the Hampden Academy. He married Olive Bradford of Alton in 1870 and her death seven years later made a vast difference in his life. His career has included hunting and trapping in the deep woods of Maine, lumbering in Maine, campaigning in 1878 for the Greenback party and for the next two years managing and editing "The Greenbacker" and the "Bangor Record," both campaign papers.

It was in 1884 that Mr. Walton came to Gloucester to lead the life of a hermit, which is the most fascinating as well as the most wholesome mode of life in his estimation. Since making his home at Gloucester, Mr. Walton has written many magazine articles, notably those for "Forest and Stream" and a number of books dealing with his friends, the animals, birds and even reptiles. "Woodcraft," which Mr. Walton had chosen as his subject, for the afternoon, was changed to "Intelligence in Animals" as more interesting to the company before which he was speaking. The theories of John Burroughs, who maintained that animals had no memory, power of reasoning or language, were refuted by the interesting anecdotes which Mr. Walton told of his pets. One strong point, which Mr. Walton brought out was that by Nature's laws there is "no result without cause" so the old theory of "instinct" is being discarded and the term "heredity" is being substituted. The Hermit told of interesting incidents which went to prove that the birds and animals had a language. The experiences of "Old Mother Ann," Mr. Walton's white mouse, were unusual, in some cases very funny.

A solo, "I Hear You Calling Me" by Miss Corren concluded the program. The meeting then adjourned to be entertained by a committee which served hot chocolate and fancy crackers.

A large hotel and forty cottages at Conomo Point were threatened by fire shortly after 5.30 Friday evening, when the garage and stable owned by W. A. Homans of Centennial avenue, Gloucester, was burned, lighting up the heavens for miles around, and giving the impression to thousands that a big fire was raging in the town. On the sound of a bell alarm the department responded, but owing to the distance, the garage was nearly burned to the ground before it arrived. Within 50 feet of the garage was a large hotel which, if caught fire, would have destroyed nearly every cottage on the Point before the department could be of any assistance.

The garage was 25x20 and has been unoccupied for nearly two months. It is valued at $1000, partly covered by insurance.

AGRICULTURAL STATION REPORT.
READY FOR DISTRIBUTION.

Part II of the Annual Report of the Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station is now being distributed to the public. It contains several valuable articles of both scientific and practical interest. Among them are the complete analyses of the different samples of corn grown last year in the Bowker Corn Contest; a discussion of the use of chemicals for preserving the ammonia in stable-manure; digestion experiments with corn fodder, alfalfa hay, red-clover hay, and some of the so-called balanced dairy rations; the proper type of nozzle to use in spraying; tobacco injury due to over-fertilization; and notes on elm trees and the conditions favoring their growth.

It is noted in these different articles: that the total yield of grain in a variety of corn is more important than its chemical composition, in determining its value as a crop producer, and that the proportion of kernel to cob is a factor of much importance; that keeping the manure moist and well packed is more economical as a means of preserving its nitrogen, than the use of chemicals; that the high-grade balanced dairy-rations on the market are fairly digestible; and that tobacco injury due to over-fertilization, occurs on land that is underlaid by a close sub-soil, poorly drained.

A copy of the Report will be sent to any citizen of Massachusetts on request. Communications should be addressed to the Director, Agricultural Experiment Station, Amherst, Mass.

COL. SOHIER TALKS ON ROAD CONSTRUCTION AT ROADS CONGRESS IN CINCINNATI

Col. William D. Sohier, chairman of the Massachusetts Highway commission, who was one of the principal speakers before the American Road Building congress at Cincinnati last Friday advised the use of oil or tar as a surface binder on roads subjected to automobile travel and instances the state highway between Magnolia and Gloucester as an instance of its successful use.

The experience in Massachusetts and elsewhere, he said, has shown conclusively that large numbers of swiftly moving automobiles cannot successfully be carried over a water-bound macadam road or over a gravel road. Such a road becomes ravellied very rapidly, rutted and disintegrated. Our traffic studies indicate that from 50 to 100 automobiles a day make use of some dust layer or binder necessary.

"With the motor traffic which we already have, we are forced, we think, both for economy and efficiency, where a road has heavy team traffic as well, to adopt in construction or resurfacing some form of bituminous mixture for the upper two or three inches of the road surface, at least some stronger road-like concrete.

"We have saved many miles of our old roads by spreading a coat of asphaltic oil—light or heavy—or tar over them. Today some asphaltic binder or dustlayer has been used on over 80 per cent. of our state highways, and the only roads on which it has not been used are those located in the country districts where there is very light traffic. This year we have used nearly 2,000,000 gallons of bituminous material in the construction or maintenance. Over 800 of the 930 miles of our state highways have received some form of bituminous treatment.

"We have a good many miles of old macadam road which have been saved and maintained by one-half gallon of hot asphaltic oil spread upon each square yard of surface and properly covered with sand and pea stone or gravel. These roads have, many of them, worn three years, and in their fourth year are still in good condition. The traffic study shows that it is not the number of teams, but heavy teams—two or more horses, heavy loads on narrow tires—that cause the failure.

"The failure of roads treated with heavy oil has occurred on a few miles of road at certain places where it was clear that heavy horse-drawn teams were responsible.

"One Gloucester road covered with a hot oil blanket, was rutting and wearing out quickly in 1909. Coal teams were passing to some hotels three or four times a day during the summer (carrying six or seven tons of coal on narrow tires). A motor truck was substituted for the coal team, and the surface of the road, which had been oiled, was again in good condition. It has worn three years and now only needs patching.

"A hot oil blanket surface, made of good asphaltic oil, will be economical and will carry large numbers of automobiles at high speed (over 1000 a day in summer) for several years, will carry large numbers of light teams (500 a day), and quite a number of motor trucks (50 or so a day), but will be destroyed by a large number of heavy wagons especially with narrow tires."

Mayor-elect MacDonald made the following statement after election:

"I am deeply grateful to the voters of Beverly for their kind and strong support on election day. To those men, some 'young and inexperienced' who worked so hard in my behalf without any hope of reward or any desire of reward except that of winning in a good clean fight, I acknowledge the credit for the victory is due. It will be my constant endeavor to give the City of Beverly a good, clean and efficient administration. No one realizes the obstacles in the way more than I; no one realizes the responsibility more than I, but I intend to live up to my promise even though by doing so I make enemies."

Respectfully
Herman A. MacDonald.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

"Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" at the Hollis Street Theatre, enters upon her second and positively farewell week beginning Monday, December 16th. During the past week "Rebecca" won each heart with her youthful charms. In these days when every play has a purpose or a preachment, and the uplift impulse is strong in our midst, the drama without a problem comes like the refreshing showers in a summer drought. And "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" is such a play. Episodical, in the manner of many dramatized novels, it depends for success upon the freshness of purity of theme, and the keenness with which the Yankee types are drawn.

The propensity of children—and, we suspect, of some who are not children, to deface our public and private property with inscriptions that often are obscene should be curbed. Oftentimes these inscriptions are put upon the property with materials that are indelible. Even when they may be read with out causing a blush of shame, the pencelings do not add to the attractiveness of the property and stringent means should be taken to enforce the law which penalizes such defacement.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION OF THE NEW YORK WORLD.

This is a time of great events and you will want the news accurately and promptly. The Democrats, for the first time in sixteen years, will have the Presidency and they will also control both branches of Congress. The political news is sure to be of the most absorbing interest.

There is a great war in the Old World, and you may read of the extinction of the vast Turkish Empire in Europe, just as a few years ago you read how Spain lost her last foot of soil in America, after having ruled the empire of half the New World.

The World long since established a record for impartiality, and anybody can afford its Thrice-a-Week edition, which comes every other day in the week, except Sunday. It will be of particular value to you now. The Thrice-a-Week World also abounds in other strong features, serial stories, humor, markets, cartoons; in fact everything that is to be found in a first class daily.

THE THRICE - A - WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and The North Shore Breeze, together for one year for $2.25.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $3.00.

A CHRISTMAS SUGGESTION.

To your friend who enjoys good reading you can make no better or more acceptable Christmas gift than a subscription to the Boston Evening Transcript.

The publishers have issued a neatly engraved subscription certificate to be given to those ordering the paper as a holiday offering, which may be sent by mail to reach the recipient at Christmas time.

Free sample copies and rates will be cheerfully furnished by the Boston Transcript Co., Boston, Mass.

Willing to Thing Of It.

Pat was a bashful lover; and Biddy was coy, but not too coy.

"Biddy," Pat began timidly, "did yer iver think or marryin'?"

"Sure, now, th' subject has niver interred mee thoughts," demurely replied Biddy.

"It's sorry Oi am," said Pat, turning away.

"Wan minute, Pat!" called Biddy, softly. "Ye've set me thinkin'."—Harper's Bazaar.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

Something decidedly novel in the way of vaudeville productions is announced for B. F. Keith's Theatre next week in Jesse L. Lasky's operette, "In The Barracks." This is a one-act military comic opera from the German, translated by Cecil DeMille, and Grant Stewart, with musical score by Robert Hood Bowers. With its scene laid in the barracks of the Royal Prussian Huzzars in an old castle near Berlin, the story affords exceptional opportunity for elaborate scenic and costume effects. The company is a large one.

Edwin Ford and his big dancing carnival will be still another spectacular feature of the week. Other big features of the bill will be Mack and Orth in their musical oddity, "The Wrong Hero;" Belle Story, the singing comedienne; Dolan and Lenharr in "Almost a Mind Reader;" Kitty Trancy and her trained horses and dogs; and Conrad and Whidden, two new-comers from the West.

When a man pays his wife's bills without grumbling her astonishment at his generosity is only equalled by her suspicion as to what he has been doing.

PRESENTS THAT ARE TREASURED HIGHLY

*"Whatever may lay in our power to do to make children glad on Christmas day, let us not neglect to do it. Since it is so cheap (at TITUS') to make a little child happy, let us not neglect to do it.
(With apologies to Frank Crane.)"*

Then Come to Titus' to Choose for the Children

We bought lots for them to gladden their little hearts and they're as appropriate and cute presents as they can be for a child! Every "papa" and "mamma" will be delighted to select at TITUS'. Please read over this list.

Express Wagons From 75c

He could be mamma's little expressman with one.

"Shoo Fly" Rockers From 85c

Cute little rockers they are too! See them in our basement.

Desks From $1.50

Some have slates in them and a chair to match the desk. If brother or sister had one how happy they'd be!

Rocking Horses From $3.50

How both he and little sister would "gallop" away on one.

Desk Chairs From $1.25

Made just right for him or her to sit to the little desk you'll buy here.

Morris Chairs From $1.00

Just think they have cushion seats and backs! How cute the little tot would look sitting in one.

Titus' Doll Beds Delight Little Girls Most

Every little girl likes to play "mamma" and so she wants to put "baby to bed" at night. We've got a little bed in the mission finish with mattress and pillows for as little as $2.75

Then we've those 4 post beds like grandma's as low as $3.25

And a real pretty canopy top bed in real mahogany, very stylish looking, for only $7.50 If she sees it she'll beg hard for it.

Vol. X

Manchester, Mass., Friday, December 20, 1912

No. 51

SOCIETY NOTES

North Shore visitors who go abroad, and who have been entertained at functions in London through the good graces of the American ambassador, Whitelaw Reid, were pained to hear of his death Sunday at his London residence. The ambassador and his family had a great many friends who summer on the North Shore. Several North Shore young men have been members of his staff since he was appointed to the Court of St. James. Stedman Hanks, son of Mrs. Charles S. Hanks of West Manchester is now in London as one of the secretaries William Phillips of North Beverly, son of Mrs. John C. Phillips, for three years first secretary under Ambassador Reid, and who is now in this country on a year's leave of absence, paid this tribute to his late chief: "In his death he realized his highest ambition—to die in the service of the country. For years he gave himself body and mind to the work of the embassy, and he upheld most splendidly the dignity and importance of its exceptional position in the world today. Personally I feel his loss keenly. For three long years I was with him acquainted with his intimate affairs and regarded almost as one of his family. His hospitality was unbounded, and in his democracy of spirit he associated with all classes. This spirit, coupled with his record of achievements as ambassador, did more than anything else to cement relations between England and the United States. In his death the country has lost an energetic and brilliant servant and thousands have lost a close friend."

◆ ◆ ◆

If Mrs. Charles A. Munn continues to improve she will be able to open her home on Scott Circle, Washington, the last of this month. Miss Gladys Munn will not have a formal debut this year on account of her mother's illness. Mrs. Munn is still in New York, where she was taken ill some weeks ago.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Boylston A. Beal and daughter, Miss Elizabeth Beal, motored down from Boston to spend Sunday at Manchester.

SOCIETY NOTES

Among the delightful functions at the Copley-Plaza, Boston, this week was a luncheon of one hundred covers which Mrs. W. H. Coolidge of Boston and Magnolia gave Monday for her daughter, Mrs. Samuel S. Stevens. Mrs. Stevens was Miss Isabelle Coolidge, a bride of a year ago this fall. She is home for the holidays and several little parties will be given in her honor during her visit here. The Stevenses are living in Holden, West Va.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Oakes Ames have leased the house of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Hall (Evelyn Ames) at 260 Beacon street for the winter. Mrs. Hall is to pass the season with her mother, Mrs. Oliver Ames, Sr., who has recently opened her Boston home. Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ames, 2d, settled in their Commonwealth avenue house recently. They have been spending the fall at North Easton after their summer on the North Shore.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. J. Bertram Williams of Cambridge has issued invitations for a dinner at her home Saturday evening, Jan. 4, for Boston debutantes and their Harvard escorts. The dinner is in honor of Miss Margaret Russell of London, a niece of Col. and Mrs. Henry E. Russell of Boston and Magnolia. Miss Russell's season in Boston is being made pleasant by many delightful affairs for her.

◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Mary Shreve Ames will leave for Europe after the holidays for an extended tour. Miss Ames gave a brilliant ball for her niece, Miss Olivia Ames of the North Shore, last week and she has been giving a series of house parties at her large country home at North Easton, which have been among the most enjoyable affairs of the sort this season.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Norman have leased their Boston house to Mrs. Robert McCormick of Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Norman are remaining in Boston this winter to present their daughter, Miss Hope Norman to society here. They have Mrs. Francis Cushing Green's house at 47 Beacon street.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Rantoul of Fairfield street, Boston and Beverly Farms, introduced their daughter, Miss Josephine Rantoul, to Boston society last Friday evening at a ball given at the Copley-Plaza. The ball room was decorated with a great number of Christmas trees and barberries, holly and pine. Everywhere the Christmas season was in evidence. About 600 guests greeted the debutante between the hours of 10 o'clock and midnight, when supper was served in the dining room and the Sheraton tea room. After the supper came the cotillon, which Miss Rantoul led with S. V. R. Crosby of Boston and West Manchester. Ivory fans trimmed with fur and dainty silk opera bags made the cotillon one to be remembered by the ladies. The men received favors of match boxes and other silver novelties. Dancing continued until four o'clock when a "buffet breakfast" was served. The guests included all of the members of the Sewing Circle, of which Miss Rantoul is vice-president this year, and many friends of the Rantoul and Saltonstall family. Mr. and Mrs. John L. Saltonstall entertained thirty guests at dinner prior to the dance. Many North Shore girls and men were present. George S. West was head usher and was assisted by Beverly Rantoul, Philip L. Saltonstall, Robert Saltonstall, John L. Saltonstall, Leverett Saltonstall, William Hooper, S. H. Fessenden, Edward Cunningham, Charles C. Auchincloss, Arthur Adams, C. C. Walker, Dudley Pickman, Jr., Henry DeFord, Reginald Gray, George Von L. Meyer, Jr., T. J. Coolidge, 2d, Grafton W. Minot, Walter Tufts, Jr., Francis C. Gray, Fred M. Burnham, George H. Balch, Richard M. Daverett, Theodore H. Frothingham, Jr., William P. Homans, Reginald C. Foster, Reginald Auchincloss, L. Stuyvesant Chandler and James C. Trumbull.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Francis W. Fabyan is giving a dinner of 30 covers for her debutante daughter, Miss Eleanor, Tuesday, January 7, after which all will attend the ball which Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sears are giving for their daughter, Miss Miriam Sears.

THE SPLENDID PRODIGAL

A SKETCH OF THE BOWERY AS IT IS TODAY

by

JAMES SWEINHART

(Copyrighted 1912 by James Sweinhart)

Shouter Allen's memory is to be trusted, "Count" Mykos struck The Bowery on a wild Christmas Eve, somewhere in the early nineties. A gale from the sea was driving rain and snow before it, and, in the wake of a long, screaming blast, "Count" Mykos came, with the skirts of his long cape clutched closely about him, to stop at The Alligator and take a drink.

Stamping into its smoky atmosphere, he barely noticed the creatures sprawled about the stove. He strode to the bar opposite, where the bulb-nosed Boss himself was dispensing, and, leaning far over, so that the snow from his cape and shoulders fell all about the floor, he stretched out a long, lean arm and pointed with an exceptionally long, bony fore-finger to a red-labelled bottle standing just across and said, hoarsely,

"Three fingers!"

The Alligator Lodging House, 326 The Bowery, was compassionate with its patrons—it had had misfortunes of its own. Its upper stories resounded with the clank of the tailor's shears and the thwack of the cobbler's hammer, but, downstairs, its old chandeliers, bedimmed by a myriad fly-specks, with their crystal reflectors tinkling in the wind; its mahogany bar and the wall-piece behind it, where Bacchus sat crowned and Venus sported, were mementoes of days when the gay and the reckless of all the world came to play for the gold of its poker tables, or went raving mad with joy or despair, at the luck of its clattering wheel. When The Bowery reformed, The Alligator declined and became a harborage for human derelicts. It was one of those happy surprises which Nature sometimes grants to mariners desperate in the moment of foundering. It asked little—ten cents for a meal, ten cents for a bunk on the wall. It gave all they desired—food, warm shelter and no questions; and many a derelict came drifting in there. Day usually saw its moorings deserted, but night always brought a fleet of wrecks to line its bar, or lounge, puffing and dozing, around its big, white-washed stove; and, when the fleet was assembled and the lights were lit, an enormous lamp, hung from the ceiling, glared down through clouds of smoke upon a company of faces roughened and scarred by every wind and rock that makes Life's sailing hazardous. And Mykos bore marks of them all.

He made a shocking picture as he stood before the bar—tall, lean, stooped, his face extremely haggard. His cheeks were shriveled white,—a furrowed background for a purple nose, swollen and vein-netted. He wore a plug hat, pulled far down, and, sunken away under its narrow rim, dark, glassy eyes gazed sadly. An old, military cape, which fell to his knees, he had thrown back at his elbows, revealing, beneath, a black Prince Albert, shiny from brushing. In its lowest button-hole, he had hung his cane.

The "Count's" thirst was prodigious—he kept the Boss busy some time. Finally he faced about, leaned his elbows against the bar, and with an amused half-smile, gazed at a score of miserable men who sat lounged, or lay sprawled asleep in every possible position.

At a small table between him and the stove, two men sat dicing—a consumptive with an abnormally large head and snow-white hair was explaining a point in throwing to a stubby fellow commonly known as "No. 91," who, sitting opposite, straddled his chair and leaned his elbows on the table, his face contorted into a fiendish grimace. Between the dicers and the stove a fat, chubby man, with head completely bald, sat asleep in a chair, bent over a basket of pocket-mirrors. An old, battered, shovel-hat lying beside his chair suggested something clerical about him. Through the smoky haze, other figures were dimly visible, farther distant.

Mykos mused for some time with a whimsically-cynical stare; then, suddenly starting, he seized his cane and dealt the bar a thwack that startled the loungers. They shifted in their chairs, half-awake, scowling confusedly at one another.

"Good friends!" called "Count" Mykos as he rapped impatiently at a few who still nodded. "Good friends—this is Christmas Eve—we should be gay and jolly. Come, Piffle, old scout"—addressing the Boss—"shoot the schooners! Let everybody lap! Here's health, happiness and God's own blessing to all on Christmas Day!"

A loud scuffling filled the room as the forlorn lot left chair and bunk, limped and shuffled through the smoky glare and lined the bar. Only one lagged—with his ruddy, bald head bent over his mirrors, he continued to snore softly.

"Stumpy—get up!" roared an acquaintance from the bar.

Stumpy sat up, clutched the arms of the chair and looked savagely about him, as his basket of mirrors slid clatteringly to the floor. Rising suddenly, he stood bewildered and hesitating.

"Dhon't kleep the chentleman whaiting," called "No. 91," smiling like a demon. "Chome, Stumpy,—sop hup!"

Stumpy stooped, picked up his shovel-hat, and put it on his head. Then, adjusting an old pair of eye-glasses, he scrutinized Mykos for an instant.

"Ahem-ahem-hm-hm-hm!" he coughed, wheezily. "A gentleman!—I should say a distinguished gentleman!" And, bowing to Mykos, he shuffled over to the only vacant space at the bar.

As they stood drinking, in through the transom, deep and soft from far across the city, came the midnight chimes of hundreds of Christmas bells. Presently a nearby belfry joined the chorus and, distinct above all others, chimed an old Christmas hymn. Stumpy, in the act of drinking, recognized the air at once.

"Ah,—what memories!" he exclaimed, sitting down his schooner. "What memories! Hy, Bachman,—are you here? It's Christmas again, Bachie,—give us 'Christmas Day at Bonn.'"

The consumptive gambler stepped from the line, placed glass and bottle on the table and, gazing up where Bacchus sat with devilish leer, began a song, in German, of Christmastide and student days at Bonn.

At the first notes Mykos started. For an instant he scrutinized Bachman, questioningly; then his features softened as if he were musing. The song ended, he sauntered to the window that looks out on The Bowery and stood watching the falling snow. When he faced about, his eyes were very red. He drifted over to the bar, now deserted, and, for some time talked quietly with the Boss. Finally, after another brandy, he went sadly to the long rack behind the stove and hung up his cane, cape and plug hat. Then pulling up an old, creaking arm-chair, close behind the stove, he sat down, stretched his legs over a pile of wood and, with head sunk on his breast, was soon lost in sleep or those melancholy musings which come to a wanderer far from home on Christmas Eve.

On The Alligator's register next morning, scrawled in a wild hand, appeared this entry:

"'Count' Mykos—Dusseldorf, Paris, Isle of Man, Siberia, Johannesburg and the lands of Devil-May-Care; ANCHORED, by the Grace of God, at The Alligator, for a period of 30 (thirty) days."

II

That was the greatest Christmas the Boss remembers. "Count" Mykos early secured run of the house by flashing a roll of bills. At his direction a long table was set down the middle of the back room and, in another hour, was piled with every Christmas delicacy The Bowery could afford, from tenderest roast turkey to brandy bonbons. The regular patrons of The Alligator were interested in the "Count's" preparations, surprised at his insistence that each partake, and astonished beyond all telling when, dinner over, he whispered into each man's ear, slipped a coin into his hand and clapped him God-speed on the shoulder. Never before in the memory of man had anyone at The Alligator given away real money.

In the afternoon, Mykos went out along The Bowery and invited a score of unfortunates, male and female, to dine with him at The Alligator. It was a little after ten o'clock when the first of the girls appeared—a plump, little brunette, in flaring green, with a big hat and jet ear-drops, a dancer at one of the dime burlesques. Mykos was advancing to meet her, bowing and smiling profusely, when the door opened and a dozen more came trooping in, laughing, chatting, singing in a devil-may-care way; and, from then until dawn, no one slept at The Alligator.

In the days that followed, wine and merriment made Mykos many friends. Among them were Stumpy and Bachman, whom Mykos found very learned, and "No. 91," who had an amazing number of reminiscences of kidnappings, counterfeittings, jail-deliveries and the exploits of river-pirates. Apart from these and closest of all was Shouter Allen—a great coal-heaver of a man, with big, black face, viking eyes and gnarled, tattooed fists. He seemed more to understand the "Count" and became a sympathetic companion. Before the week passed, Mykos bargained with the Boss to support these intimates at The Alligator. Stumpy went out with his basket and gave a pocket-mirror to every one he met until his stock was gone; then threw the basket in the stove. Bachman, who had maintained existence by selling pencils in the street, gave all his stock to the Boss and, when Mykos wasn't looking, hid his basket behind the office safe, "in case," as he whispered to "No. 91," "the nut may blow!" and nodded significantly in "Count" Mykos' direction. "No. 91" and Shouter had nothing to give away—for the former lived by a mysterious business that occasionally required a night's absence from The Alligator, while Shouter had for some time been the fearfully respected door-man at The Bowery Mission. Now they were all to be "gentlemen!"—"Count" Mykos had said so and the "Count" was a man of his word.

Toward the end of January, Mykos' funds ran low. From the Boss he borrowed an old suit, which didn't fit at all, and, by "soaking" his clothes, watch and tile at Hee Haw Charley's pawnshop across the street, raised sufficient to keep himself and his intimates "in spirits" for a week. On the last day of the month he went away and was gone all night. Next morning the Boss enlivened his sweeping by twitting the "Count's" friends on their prospective return to the street. Stumpy and Bachman cursed their luck, but "No. 91," who had been abroad all night, vouchsafed that Mykos had not "chone far" and suddenly confirmed his judgement by pointing out the window and exclaiming,

"See there!"

"Count" Mykos was crossing the street to The Alligator in tile and Prince Albert, twirling his cane as if he hadn't a care in the world.

"I only went to get that," he said—and placed on the bar a roll of bills as thick as a fist and bound with a broad rubber band.

With time this came to be a regular occurrence. The third week of every month always saw Mykos "broke," as invariably he pawned his valuables, and, on the last day of the month, always went away to be gone over night. On reappearing next morning, his first visit was always to Hee Haw Charley's, where he arrayed himself in his best, even to a violet boutonniere. Issuing forth, he promenaded The Bowery, swinging his cane and chatting with every burlesque girl he met. For each he pulled a violet and presented it with a bow. And the sight of him so attired always meant "something doing" at The Alligator.

While negotiating another month's lodging with the Boss one afternoon following such an occasion, Mykos demanded alterations.

"These rotten bunks are too public for a respectable gentleman of education and refinement," he said, as the Boss stood open-mouthed at his tone of command and flow of speech. "They're too damned public. What I want is a box with a lid—a room, with a door that closes!"

It was his last shred of self-respect. He had been a good spender, had brought lots of trade and there were indications that he was going to stay; the Boss decided to make him comfortable.

A back tier of bunks was torn out, sides were built from the wall toward the middle of the room, these were joined by a fourth side—and there was the "room with the door that closes."

It pleased Mykos immensely. Into it he had brought two beds for his intimates and a cot for himself. For all save Shouter, who persistently refused, Mykos bought a new suit of clothes. And from the moment the quintet moved into that room, they were known at The Alligator as "The Aristocrats."

Settled in ease, sleeping and drinking became the chief occupation of all save Shouter—and Mykos drank more and slept less than any other. Shouter, older by ten years, pleaded with him. Once, after much entreaty, he induced him to go to the Mission. When time for testimonials came, Mykos went to the platform and spoke with such earnestness and persuasion, showing how easy it is to live right by control of the mind, that his auditors mistook him for some great preacher. Shouter was overjoyed,—he saw complete reformation in the man. Mykos wept. Long after the convert had gone, Shouter remained to confer with a missionary as to the "Count's" future spiritual aid. When he returned to The Alligator, a sound of uproar came from the back room. Shouter pushed open the door. Mykos, wildly drunk, was waltzing with the girl in flaring green on top of the long table.

In moments of wakeful relaxation, however, each followed some diversion of his own. Bachman read Homer in the Greek. from an old and much-soiled volume. He sometimes collected The Aristocrats about the stove and translated aloud for the entertainment of the others. It was during such a recital, as the dawn of a winter's morning was breaking, that Mykos and Stumpy became entangled in a discussion of some abstruse question. Long debate, with much quoting of the masters, ended in Mykos telling Stumpy that he was a good fellow, but, when it came to a knowledge of Greek, he was a "prize mutt."

"Prize mutt, hey! Prize mutt" ejaculated Stumpy, fuming. "Well—we'll see as to that!" And, taking his feet from the wall, he rose and disappeared into the bedroom. He returned presently, untying a roll.

"Look here!" he said, holding the parchment under the flare of the lamp. "Don't read what it says below—who I am and what my name is doesn't matter. Whadyasay, huh?"

Mykos scrutinized the titles in illuminated letters at the top. He was visibly startled. A violent tremor shook him; then, turning away, he began pacing the floor, hands clasped behind him.

"Doctor of Divinity from Oxford," he muttered again and again. "Doctor of Divinity from Oxford—My God, my God!—Doctor of Divinity!"

He strode up and down, greatly excited. After a while he stopped, hesitated, looked around in Stumpy's direction—then began pacing again. Presently he halted directly behind where Stumpy sat, bent forward, his face in his hands. Bending down, he half-whispered, half-cried into Stumpy's ear,

"Well—well—what—of—that? I—I—can—show one—one of those things!"

Stumpy neither moved nor answered.

"Well—ah—ah—de—ya—wanta—see—it?"

"As you say," Stumpy answered huskily.

Mykos went to the bedroom, fumbled some moments, then came out and placed a roll in Stumpy's lap.

"The same condition," he cautioned. "My name doesn't matter."

Stumpy smoothed out the roll. There were two parchments, one above the other. He pulled them apart, and standing up where he could see, read their titles aloud to Bachman.

"'Doctor of Science' from Jena," read one.

"'Doctor of Letters' from Bonn," read the other.

There was a moment of silence. Stumpy held his forehead with one hand, clutching the parchments with the other, while Bachman seemed lost in vacant staring at the "Count." For an instant Mykos evaded the gaze of the others. Then he turned abruptly and held out his hand.

"Gentlemen," he said. "We should all respect each other!"

The others did not answer. They shook hands in silence—Stumpy, Mykos and Bachman—then, one by one, went to bed, each with thoughts that he could not utter.

(Concluded Next Week).

SOCIETY NOTES

If President Taft and family come to the North Shore next season it will not be to "Parramatta" they will come, for the estate is to rent. It would be too large a place for the then ex-President, anyway. It is not unlikely that the Tafts will come to the shore and that they will have a smaller estate, perhaps on the Manchester or Beverly Farms shore. President Taft and party will sail tomorrow for Panama on a two-weeks' trip for inspection of the canal, returning the last day of the year. The trip will be made by way of Key West and then on the U. S. S. Arkansas to the canal.

A number of families have opened their cottages on the shore for over the holidays.

Mrs. Eleonora R. Sears, wife of Frederick R. Sears of Boston and Beverly Farms, and daughter of T. Jefferson Coolidge of Manchester, died shortly before noon yesterday at her home, 122 Beacon street, Boston, after an illness of five days with pneumonia. Since her marriage to Mr. Sears, 30 years ago, Mrs. Sears had held a foremost place in Boston. Yet, though related to the oldest Boston families and of great wealth, she lived so quietly that to the public at large she was little known, save as the mother of Miss Eleonora R. Sears. Her friends, however, knew her as one of the most charitable women in Boston and spoke of her as "a saint on earth." Active in all the affairs of Trinity church, prominent in the Widows' Society, Mrs. Sears had in addition countless private charities to which she contributed constantly and without stint. For many years Mrs. Sears had lived in the house on Beacon street, near Berkeley, spending her summers at Beverly Farms. She is survived by her father, Mr. Coolidge; by her husband and her two children, Miss Eleonora R. Sears and Frederick R. Sears, Jr., and by two sisters, Mrs. Lucius M. Sargent and Mrs. Thomas Newbold. Her only brother, T. Jefferson Coolidge, Jr., died during the past year.

SOCIETY NOTES

The wedding last Saturday at 12 o'clock noon of Miss Leslie Bradley and Roger Wilson Cutler was of much interest to Boston society. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Bradley on Commonwealth avenue. The house, which is an admirable one for such an affair, was decorated with palms and southern smilax, with quantities of pink begonias. Miss Bradley made a handsome bride in her beautiful gown of white satin with court train. Miss Rosamond Bradley was her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Frances Bradley, the youngest sister, Miss Eleanor Roelker of Providence and New York, Miss Elizabeth Sears, Miss Evelyn Thayer, Miss Edith Fitz and Miss Dorothy Ball. All carried palest pink roses. John W. Cutler, a brother, was best man. The ushers were Elliott, Robert and George C. Cutler, Reginald Foster, Frederic M. Burnham, Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., Chester Burden, Richard Whitney, McKim Hollins, Robert Potter, John Shillito and James G. Blaine, 3d. After a trip to the Pacific, Mr. and Mrs. Cutler will live at The Elms, Charles River.

Among the work which is now in process at the boatyard of the David Fenton Co., Walter Calderwood, superintendent, is a yacht for E. H. Keith of New Orleans. E. A. Boardman is the designer, and the boat is destined for southern waters to race against the old Manchester, now the Seawanhaka, and the Massachusetts, the Seawanhaka Cup defender of a few seasons ago. These two boats proved themselves the fastest things of their length afloat and since Seawanhaka has been racing in southern waters she has carried all before her. The Massachusetts was bought this season to be taken south to race against Seawanhaka, and now this latest creation of Boardman is scheduled to beat the other two. The only restriction as to hull is overall length, which is 40 feet, so the new boat will have a waterline of more than 30 feet, whereas the Massachusetts is only about 22 feet waterline and the Seawanhaka 24 feet 8 inches. By careful planning Mr. Boardman has saved some 400 to 500 pounds of weight in the hull and the boat will be the last word in speedy racing machines.

Strange how the ethics of youth improve just before December 25th.

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE.

Monday will bring the first repetition of Charpentier's "Louise," that masterpiece of modern French opera, which was heard for the second time in Boston on Wednesday last. So enthusiastic was the reception and so beautiful and praise-meriting the production that it is assured that the work will henceforth have a permanent place in the repertory of the company.

For Christmas night the fare will be particularly attractive, "La Traviata" with the greatest living coloratura soprano, Mme. Louisa Tetrazzini as Violetta. In America the diva's numerous admirers consider Lucia her greatest role, but in England where her popularity is equally great, Violetta is most often called for.

"Aida" with its succession of gorgeous scenes and its glorious score will come to a hearing for the first time this season on Friday night. The cast will be an extraordinary strong one, Mme. Carmen Mellis effecting her return as Aida and Giovanni Zenatello making his season's debut as Radames.

As a holiday treat for children and grown-ups, the truly melodious "Haensel and Gretel" will be sung at the Saturday matinee. The cast will be largely that which made the Humperdick opera so justly popular last season.. As the opera is short it will be preceded by an act of the Delibes ballet "Coppelia" in which the entire ballet will appear with Mme. Dolores Galli, the premiere danseuse as Svanilda.

The mere announcement that the greatest of Irish tenors, John McCormack, will sing Rodolfo in "La Boheme" and at prices which are cut in two, on Saturday evening, without doubt will fill every chair in the auditorium.

Moving pictures seem to be taking hold of the churches to a great extent. A place of worship in Denver, Colo., is to have a building adjoining the present edifice for a model standard of theatricals for the adults and moving pictures that will be instructive for the children.

It cost real money to be ill in Lynn. The medicos have raised their scale of prices and are now joining hands, apparently with the barbers of the Shoe City, to show that it is cheaper to be well than otherwise. Lynn should worry.

Manchester Young Men and Boys Interested in Athletic Association Meet in Town Hall

About sixty of the young men and boys of the town met at the Town hall last evening to hear the reports of committees appointed at first meeting and to appoint a nominating committee of the Manchester athletic association. The crowd was orderly and a great deal of business was transacted. The meeting was called to order by Frederick L. Smith, chairman. The building committee, consisting of F. L. Smith, John Gillis, George Beaton and George Fleming, reported that the building on Friend's court owned by Lewis Killam could be secured for five years; the membership committee, William McDairmid, Gordon Cool, Frank Knight, Gordon Crafts and Joseph Carey, reported 61 names of young men and boys willing to join the association and 24 names of business men interested and the majority of whom will join; the organization committee, F. L. Smith, F. L. Floyd and Gordon Northrup, stated that they had met the Resolutions Committee, formed by the various organizations of the town, and had given the above named committee an outline of the proposed association, the building under consideration and plans for its alteration to meet the requirements of the young men of Manchester. The Resolutions Committee gave the plan its hearty endorsement and a vote was taken to support the work of the association when formed. The organization committee also made a report of the prospectus of the association which is as follows:

Building and equipment. Reading room 34x20 feet; fireplace, tables, chairs, etc. Daily newspapers and current magazines; Games, chess, checkers, games of like nature. Gymnasium 50 x 34 feet; Dumb bells, Indian clubs, bar bells, chest weights, punching bag, swing rings, horizontal bars, vaulting horse, basket ball, etc. Locker room, 34x15 feet. Lockers 12x12 in. x 3 ft. at $.25 per year; bowl,—hot and cold water. bath room, 10x10 ft. Four shower baths. Toilet room; two closets and urinal. Furnace room 12x15 feet, boiler for baths.

Arrangements of classes, lecture courses, etc., reading room, open every day to 10 o'clock p. m., Sunday excepted. Open Sundays from 2 to 6 o'clock. Lecture course. Series of 5 to 6 entertainments, including Talks on Travel, manufacture, business, musical program, gymnasium. Older classes, Monday, Wednesday and Saturday from 8 to 9 o'clock followed by basket ball to 10 o'clock.

Junior classes, Wednesday from 4 to 5 o'clock, Saturday from 2 to 5 o'clock. Yearly athletic exhibition, all classes. Basket ball. Weekly game with out-of-town teams when possible, or with home teams.

A nominating committee of five members,—Louis Hutchinson, Arthur L. Kehoe, George Beaton, Gordon Northrup and William Cawthorne, was appointed. This committee will meet at the home of the chairman, Louis Hutchinson, tomorrow evening and will make its report at the next association meeting when the officers for the ensuing year will be elected. Louis Hutchinson was also appointed temporary treasurer.

The interest which the young men and, too, the older men, are taking in the organization of an athletic association is most gratifying and there seems every reason to hope that Manchester's besetting evil—lack of occupation and recreation for her young men—will soon be abolished.

A good story is told of Raymond Hitchcock, who is coming to Salem in January in "The Red Widow." The actor was playing the small cities of the West, and when a week's booking landed him in Los Angeles, he met an old friend in the profession who was jealous of the success of Mr. Hitchcock in his play. Hitchcock's friend was running a stock company and had been playing to poor houses for several weeks.

After the first performance of "The Red Widow" in Los Angeles the stock actor met Hitchcock in a leather goods store where the latter was buying a number of new trunks. "Getting ready to take away the week's box office receipts," sarcastically remarked the stock-actor. Hitchcock said nothing, but next day he met his friend again on the street. His stock company friend was suffering with a toothache, and Hitchcock asked to see the tooth which was bothering him. He opened the actor's mouth and remarked, "Well, if you haven't gone and hid the box-office receipts of your own show in the cavity of your tooth." Which remark did not help said toothache one bit.

Women are very much in evidence these days, and two demonstrations that have shown their vigor and progressiveness are the march of the suffragists from New York City to the Capitol at Albany, and the efforts of women at Philadelphia to lower prices on the staple foodstuffs used by the housewives in that city. In the latter cause the women have been quite successful, and the suffragist phalanx which is marching to Albany makes even the non-sympathizer of the movement itself admire this unique advertisement of the cause of votes for women. The hike promises to make business good for the shoe dealers as the contingent intends to travel at least ten miles each day. All the frills usually forming a part of the lady's wardrobe have been taboored on this march of the suffragists, low-necks and pumps being saved until they return to their homes. Although Philadelphia is sometimes termed the "sleepy city" its women are stirring up the storekeepers to such an extent that prices are continually falling in the products the women are selling at low prices.

Most of us mortals are more or less forgetful, but the trick that a North Shore man's memory played on him one night recently, makes us award him the blue ribbon for bad memories. Mr. Blank had spent an evening at the Boston Opera House with his wife. He had enjoyed the music immensely and was humming snatches of a song that he had heard when he entered the North Station to take his train. After he had passed the gates to the train shed, he thought he had lost something, but after thinking hard, could not seem to recollect what he had left behind. As he boarded the 11.24 train a bright (?) idea came to him that his wife was among the missing, so he elected himself a charter member of the Forgetters' Club, and hied himself back to the Opera House, where he found friend wife patiently waiting for him.

The Question Has Recently Been Asked "Why the Sons of Veterans?"

Commander-elect Herman C. Swett of Camp 149, Manchester, has the following answer for the question:

Fifty years ago this country was on the "eve of war." The memories of those days are being recalled in the public press. The four red years that followed, the sacrifice of a million lives, the horrors of a deadly conflict, have been written on the pages of history, and stamped indelibly into the hearts of the men who bore the brunt of battle.

Fifty years ago the men whose name we bear, were the flower of the youth of the land, and with hearts aflame with the fires of patriotism and love of country, they sprang to the defense of the Union, and saved the nation.

Fifty years ago the country was in a tumult.

Today! A mighty nation, rich in wealth and population, foremost in education, and in the front in industry.

Today we enjoy through the sacrifices of our fathers the blessings of a free government. A "government of the people, for the people, and by the people." A nation of justice, equal rights and liberty.

Therefore the Sons of Veterans were organized to perpetuate the sacrifices that were made by our fathers for the maintenance of the union.

It is our principle to give true allegiance to our government, discountenance anything that tends to weaken loyalty to the flag or in any manner impair the efficiency and permanency of our national union. It is our objects to keep green the memories of our fathers, and their sacrifices for the maintenance of the union; to aid the members of the Grand Army of the Republic and all honorably discharged union soldiers, sailors and marines in the caring for their helpless and disabled veterans; to extend aid and protection to their widows and orphans; to perpetuate the memory and history of their heroic dead; and the proper observance of Memorial Day and Union Defender's Day, and all patriotic occasions; to aid and assist worthy and needy members of our order; to inculcate patriotism and love of country, not only among our membership, put among all the people of our land, and to spread the doctrine of equal rights, universal liberty and justice to all.

There is nothing in our organization that conflicts with the rights of others. We make no claim for special favor, in fact we seek no favors. We do claim the right that is ours by birth, and that is to ever carry forward the great principles and objects of our organization.

WENHAM.

A Wenham archaeologist has been studying Salem Indian names. Naumkeag has long been known to mean simply "fishing place." Naumkeag was governed by Chief Nanepasheet, whose principal residence was at Medford. This man's name seems to be merely a variant form of the native word for "the moon," or "moon-god," Nanepaushadt. After "The Moon-God's" death his widow continued to exercise authority as chieftainess.

At the village church Sunday morning the minister, Rev. F. M. Cutler, will preach a sermon appropriate to the Christmas season. At 11.45 a. m. there will be a special Christmas service for boys and girls when a children's choir will render suitable music and Mr. Cutler will tell a Christmas story. Sunday school at 12.15 p. m., Y. P. S. C. E. at 6. At 7 there will be an Outlook Meeting, to consider how far Christmas has progressed in China.

At the annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. last week the following officers were elected for the year 1913: President, Lawrence Patch; vice-president, William Glavin; secretary, Raymond Trott; collector, Jerome Flynn. Boy scouts carried off all the prizes for rabbits in the Essex County Poultry Show. Austin Flynn won first prize and Elwyn Cannon second.

Saturday December 21 the boy scouts will spend the morning procuring a Christmas tree for the church. In the afternoon they are visiting certain historic and other places in Salem, of interest to boys. In the number is included the Cadet Armory, through the kindness of Col. Ropes.

The Department of Meubership has prepared a directory of pew-owners in the village church, with a view to indicating where visitors will be especially welcome. Of the sixty-five pews the parish owns fourteen, and of course, holds them at the disposal of all comers. Twelve of the remaining pews are also listed as those in which "visitors are invited." For practical purposes the village church is on a basis of open pews.

Rev. Mr. Cutler, on Monday, attended a luncheon at the Hotel Somerset, Boston, as guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Gardiner, where representatives of many different Christian denominations assembled to confer about possible closer union of churches. As Wenham already has church union in full degree, Wenham people are especially interested to see similar conditions prevail elsewhere. Addresses were delivered by President Fitch of Andover Seminary, and Prof. Fosbrook of Cambridge Divinity School.

Although the total of salaries and other emoluments paid to customs officials during the last fiscal year aggregated half a million dollars, one collector, G. E. Cousins, of Kennebunk, Maryland, received less than $17 for the year's customs work.

LESS DENUNCIATION; MORE CO-OPERATION.

It seems to be the popular thing to do at present to make all sorts of insinuations against public and quasi-public corporations, to accuse them of bluffing and hoodwinking the public, and a host of other things that do not reflect with credit the sources from which they come. The latest target of public opinion and of the press is President Mellen of the New Haven and Boston & Maine Railroad. His recent petition to electrify the B. & M. from Boston to Beverly has been termed a bluff of his road to play a strong card against the Boston & Eastern. And the latter road is also the object of various and insidious charges simply because it wishes to change the location of one of its Beverly stations.

If some of the criticsers of Mr. Mellen and others would only act in a spirit of fair play, and think over the railroad situation of Massachusetts, they would find that the head of the New Haven and B. & M. systems has always kept his promises to the public. His application to the last Legislature to electrify the system to Beverly is nothing new; the same permission was requested two years ago by Mr. Mellen and was not granted.

This action was the first announcement that he made when he took charge of the Boston & Maine system. And his criticsers claim that it is a move to play against the Boston & Eastern.

The vision of some people is also warped by the delays in the construction of the Boston & Eastern. The proposed change of this road's location in Beverly is thought by some to be another counter move on the part of the officials of the road to obtain another delay to give them time to raise additional funds. But this does not seem to be so. With the public literally howling for better facilities for travel in this state, it would seem that the progress of the roads in this direction would be followed with a better feeling of friendship and co-operation, instead of viewing each move with prejudice.

The trade organizations of New England and of Massachusetts particularly ran after what proved to be a gold brick in the shape of the Grand Trunk and offered it privileges and concessions that they would not think of giving to a home industry. Our legislatures are quite ready to grant to foreigners privileges that our trade organizations are not awarded, and when the people are buncoed by such corporations as the Grand Trunk they come back on the local roads and quarrel about the deliverery of a package of goods which did not reach its destination as soon as they thought it should. They want better service, both passenger and freight, but in catering to the Grand Trunk they were unwittingly spoiling their chances of getting that which they sought.

Mr. Mellen had no trouble in New York in getting permission to electrify his road for many miles, and why should permission be refused his road here? Simply because there is no concerted loyalty to our own industries and our own section; we would apparently prefer to have a foreign road come in here without any guarantees.

If we want better service on our railroads let us grant them as good facilities as possible; then if the private individuals cannot "make good" let us take charge of the road ourselves. But we need more encouragement and less denunciation, more of a spirit of co-operation and not of bigoted prejudice, if we wish to see materialize the improvements we desire.

WILSON'S TASK.

The first Democratic President-elect in twenty years has returned from his trip to Bermuda and faces one of the hardest experiences in his whole career, namely the conferences with the various party leaders. The usual squabbles over appointments of office-seekers will take much of his time and more of his judgment, and in this matter he will have a chance to demonstrate his tact and executive ability, for each of the Congressional leaders will be after him tooth and nail to further their desires and political aspirations.

With the generally disorganized state of politics of the country at present, Woodrow Wilson's policy and all of his actions must have a stamp of originality in them, for the practices which have put the Republican party into disrepute for the last twenty years will hardly tend to make good Mr. Wilson in his term.

The task of making things in Washington agree which have not shown that tendency for years is Mr. Wilson's. Even the Democratic organization must be rebuilt by him in order to weather the storms of Congress; and this rebuilding is apt to be expensive.

President-elect Wilson must look out for the "old-timers." If the New York capitalists who supported him in his campaign are allowed to get possession of him and therefore outline his banking policies for him there is sure to be trouble coming to him from that quarter. He will probably have to resist similar overtures in regard to the tariff.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Wilson will prove a new type of leader. Better legislation and cleaner methods in politics demand such a man, and he must be able to withstand the demands of the ultra-radical pols and at the same time be not too full of conservatism. He must keep his own individuality and exert his own personal leadership if he will make good in Washington.

BEVERLY'S NEW MAYOR.

In Heranm A. MacDonald, the successful candidate for Mayor of the Garden City, the voters of Beverly believe they have obtained a panacea for the petty ills which have seemed to hover over the affairs of City hall for some time past. The citizens see in the Mayor-elect a man of extensive training and undoubted efficiency, one whose sterling reputation for honesty stamps him as the logical man among the various candidates for the position.

Mr. MacDonald, in gaining his election as head of the city of Beverly, fought against heavy odds, his rivals, Messrs. Desmond, Dodge and Torrey having each a strong constituency. But the vigorous single-handed campaign waged by the successful candidate stamped him as a ready worker and a man of considerable executive ability. Big things are expected of him in City hall next year.

The newly-elected Mayor has considerable training to fit him for the position, as he has satisfied his followers as representative to the General Court, and invaluable training as secretary to ex-Governor Guild. Mr. MacDonald has been a life long resident of Beverly, being educated in the public schools of that city, and fully understands the needs of all the departments of the municipality. He is well versed in the practise of law, having been awarded a degree from the efficient school conducted by the Boston Y.M.C.A.

The efforts of the McLean hospital to obtain a nurses' home should be crowned with success. Pleasant surroundings make a good nurse and a pleasant home increases her contentment. The welfare of the patient depends as much on the efficiency and contentment of the nurse as upon drugs and surgery.

Dr. Samuel MacComb makes a pointed quotation in a recent article on social service which is worthy of a second thought. He says: "The Englishman at last is beginning to think socially, to understand that fellowship is heaven and lack of friendship is hell." And that spells Revolution.

The joint committee in Manchester which reported on the "boy problem" ought to take up the matter of a Town hall, gymnasium building, etc., and work the matter down to a feasible plan and organize a campaign of town education. Manchester must eventually build a new hall and recreation center! Why not now?

All book agents are not frauds, nor book selling methods fraudulent, and the exposures of the past week will assist and not hinder the legitimate trade and trustworthy agents.

When a moving-picture concern can afford to wreck a vessel as they did off Mystery Island this week, and subsequently blow it up with dynamite, something of the realism of the motion picture enterprise is brought to our vision. There must be money as well as realism in the business.

The death of Whitelaw Reid, ambassador to Great Britain, was a shock to his friends on the North Shore. His career is another marked example of the opportunities which are available to determined and able Americans.

Mayor-elect Harry C. Foster of Gloucester, and a resident of Magnolia has fulfilled a pre-election pledge by appointing an advisory council to aid him in dealing with municipal problems. Most city officials will bear advice of the right kind.

The new "sun rooms" provided at the pavilion at Singing Beach are becoming popular. The park commissioners are to be thanked for this thoughtfulness that will make the pavilion available during the winter.

The Beverly firemen are laying awake at night trying to plan what to do with such luxury as one day off in five. The voters of Salem also afforded their permanent men the same consideration at the polls this week.

Dr. George W. Blaisdell in his warning against whooping-cough is doing his duty by the public. Such contributions to the common knowledge of all will help make Manchester "Wellville."

There are no Xmas greetings as good but may be improved by a "Red Cross Christmas stamp." The proceeds from their sale are devoted to tuberculosis prevention and education.

The election in Beverly was a clean sweep. The year 1913 ought to be a lucky one for the city government if the character of the men is any indication.

The long discussed beautification of Copley Square in Boston is reaching an end; or is the acceptance of the Bourne plans but a beginning?

Usually we do not print such unsigned communications, but this week we are running two short ones. Both bear on school matters, and are as follows:

Do you agree with this system? One doctor examined the children in one of the school-rooms for scarlet fever (my child was one), and put a spoon in each child's mouth that he might look down its throat. The Dr. used the same spoon for the whole room. Is this proper?

The famous old Liberty Bell is giving the officials of Philadelphia considerable concern at present, owing to the request of the San Franciscans to have it exhibited at their fair. The officials under whose care the bell is being preserved are afraid that the relic might be irreparably damaged by a trip across the country, and are therefore somewhat averse to its being taken out of Philadelphia. It would seem that the risk would be too great, as the Liberty Bell is something that is treasured not only by Philadelphia, but by the whole country, and everything should be done to preserve it.

Mrs. Clara Beatley Speaker at Manchester Woman's Club

The semi-monthly meeting of the Manchester Woman's club Tuesday afternoon was very largely attended, the club having invited the members of the Parent-Teacher association to hear the speaker of the afternoon. The Chapel was crowded.

Mrs. Clara Bancroft Beatley gave a talk on "Boys and Girls in the Home." At the outset Mrs. Beatley spoke of the influence of the individual upon children. Because the influence of even the passer-by upon the child is so potent, a great responsibility is placed upon us all, she said. The young child is very adaptable to suggestion and quick to imitate and through these native qualities he may be led. Pictures may be used as a suggestion of noble qualities and beauty. The comparison to the child's own character and conduct need not be mentioned, but the story of the picture will eventually do its work in the childish brain. It is a life work worthy of the greatest character to set a child a good example as a parent whom he will surely imitate.

Mrs. Beatley made a point of the acquired qualities by which a boy or girl may be governed. The child is forming habits which may be trained to guide him in the fundamental principles of good living. The speaker advised the parent and teacher not to say "don't" too often, but to be generous with judicial praise. A remark passed upon the improvement gained will be worth a great deal.

Many parents, according to Mrs. Beatley, hesitate to use their full authority. Children do not fret under a rightful authority; it is tyranny which they resent. A parent must have the strength to refuse that which is not good for the boy or girl. One of the most gratifying things in the life of a father or mother is to have a son or daughter say: "I am glad you refused me the thing which you saw was not good for me." Mrs. Beatley spoke of a boy's respect for his mother's mental strength as one of the qualities to be instilled into his mind early. Dr. Hale said, "consent cheerfully, refuse finally." If it is necessary for the mother to refuse her child something, let it be finally after due consideration, if she gives her consent let it be given fully and cheerfully.

The speaker then took up the different types of children. First, there is the dramatic child, who is perhaps the hardest to manage, because of his love of a scene. The best remedy for such a child, Mrs. Beatley said was to completely ignore him. To cure a child who indulged in fits of temper, Mrs. Beatley advised waiting until he was in a reasonable frame of mind before admonishing or punishing him.

Somebody once asked the mother of Philips Brooks her secret of success in bringing up her sons. The one point which this mother, whose sons were among the finest men of their generation, was that when a boy reached the age when he no longer gives his mother the full confidence he had formerly given her that she refrain from urging him. The bond between them will not be broken; when the boy comes back the confidence between them will be strengthened. Girls in the home should be given a certain amount of freedom.

The "good night hour" and "the morning hour" when the family is together for the first time in the day may be made much of, said Mrs. Beatley. Since the custom of asking blessing at the morning meal has largely passed away some substitute should be arranged that the boy and girl in the home may be impressed with the family bond and carry the memory of it through their lives.

Mrs. Beatley's address met with generous applause. The vocal selections by A. L. Sabin at the opening was also appreciated. At the conclusion of Mrs. Beatley's address the meeting adjourned to meet Mrs. W. L. Putnam, the hostess for the afternoon.

N. S. H. S. BANQUET.

The annual banquet of the North Shore Horticultural society will be held at the Town hall, Manchester, Wednesday evening, Jan. 22, at 6.30 o'clock, followed by an entertainment and social hour, of which dancing will be a feature. Miss Margaret G. Walsh has moved into the Leach cottage on Central street.

Rev. and Mrs. A. G. Warner will go to Wards Hill, Mass., for Christmas day, to be present at a family reunion, with Mrs. Carrie B. Chadwick.

Officer Wells of the state police was in town Monday working on the Roberts case again. It is understood the case is about to be re-opened on the solicitation of the husband of the deceased woman, who is supposed to have met her death by "accident."

According to a bulletin sent out this week by the Iron Cap Copper Co., of which Frank P. Knight of this town is president, we note the excellent showing being made by the company's mine in Arizona. During November seven cars of ore were shipped to the smelter for which the company received $4,218.00, or a little more than an average of $600.00 per car. As a matter of comparison we note that in September four cars were shipped, returning $1761.72, and in October five cars returned $1872.49.

The stores in town are in very attractive holiday dress and holiday goods are effectively displayed. In both Allen's and Walen's drug stores the decorations are especially good. Walen's is a bower of crepe paper and holiday decorations and presents a decidedly pretty appearance. The grocery stores, too, are in gay colors. The Manchester Fruit store is decorated with laurels and greenery and is one of the best dressed stores in town today. One ought to patronize the local stores before going out of town.

Frank P. Knight gave a very interesting account of his recent trip to Globe, Arizona, at last night's meeting of the Odd Fellows. Mr. Knight is president of the Iron Cap Copper Co., whose mine is in the vicinity of Globe. He told some of the hardships encountered in mining in the mountainous regions, and went also into some of the details of the actual operations of the mines. His talk was very much enjoyed and appreciated by the large number present.

Don't forget that Floyd sells his dolls, games and books in the basement of the store. *

COURSE OF POPULAR ENTERTAINMENTS IN MANCHESTER.

The Manchester club has decided to finance a course of popular entertainments for the season of 1912-13. These entertainments will commence Wednesday evening, Jan. 1, with a concert by the Huff Concert Co., of Boston, together with a tenor soloist and an entertainer.

The second entertainment will consist of an illustrated lecture on some one of our national parks, probably the Grand Canyon of Colorado, and will be given Jan. 23.

The third will be a talk by Joe Mitchell Chapple on "Flashlights of Public Men." Mr. Chapple is a newspaper man of most extensive acquaintance and answers questions concerning any public man off-hand upon questions from the audience. This will be given Feb. 5.

The fourth entertainment will be a concert by the Pilgrim Quartet of Boston, and a reader, on Feb. 26.

The fifth of the course will be an illustrated lecture upon China by Lieut. Charles Gammon, and will be given on March 12.

The sixth and last will be a lecture by Dr. A. A. Berle upon some interesting topic.

The above numbers form an attractive program and should give much by club members, but the course is have been quite well subscribed for by club members, but the course is open to all who desire to attend. The Manchester club is not conducting the course with any financial gain in view. They will be satisfied if the course shall prove self-supporting.

The price of tickets for the course is $3.00—or 50c per number. Tickets will be issued in coupon form and a ticket may be used for the course, surrendering one coupon each night, or several may attend any number upon one ticket surrendering a coupon for each person. There will be no reserved seats.

Tickets may be obtained at Allen's Drug store, and of the committee having the matter in charge: Raymond C. Allen, A. C. Needham and John C. Mackin.

It is hoped that these lectures and entertainments may be so well supported that they may be continued from year to year.

The Girls' Glee club of the Story High school presented their leader, Miss Bella Porter, with a dainty gold flower pin set with pearls at the weekly meeting Wednesday afternoon. Miss Gladys Semons expressed well the appreciation of the club for Miss Porter's unfailing interest in them and her untiring work with them and presented the pin to her as a slight expression of the girls' regard for her. Miss Porter, who is also the English instructor at the high school, organized the glee club last year and the girls have done splendid work. As a violinist, Miss Porter is also a member of the High school orchestra and has done much toward making it a success.

NEW INTEREST IN THE CHILD

Inspiring Theme of the Rev. E. J. Prescott of Gloucester, in Address Before Parents-Teachers' Association.

Rev. E. J. Prescott of Gloucester was the speaker at the December meeting of the Manchester Parent-Teacher association held in the Assembly hall of the John Price school Wednesday evening. In spite of the inclement weather an unusually large attendance heard Rev. Mr. Prescott, who is well known as a minister and public speaker. He chose as his subject, "The New Interest in the Child."

The change in the attitude toward children was the point the speaker took up first. "Formerly," Mr. Prescott said "the child was regarded as a depraved little animal; now we are beginning to realize the infinite possibilities of the child's brain. By the theory of evolution there was once no real childhood. The codfish at birth has the heritage of generations of codfish already instilled in his being. The newly hatched chicken stepping to the ground from the shell immediately performs the function of hens from ages back, that is, it begins to scratch the ground for food immediately without any teaching. A child born unto the world is absolutely helpless and it is only as his brain unfolds that he may be taught the things of everyday life. In teaching the children we, too, are growing with them.

"According to the old idea, as soon as a child was born it was placed in the care of a nurse. When the boy or girl reached a proper age he or she was sent to school to be cared for by the teachers. Upon its return home the nurse cared for it again while the mother was attending clubs or card parties. So the child grew, the teachers caring for it at school, the professors at college and afterwards caring for itself. Meanwhile the nurse, teacher and professor were growing in mentality through the contact with the child and the mother was standing still.

"Now, however, the mother and the father watch the unfolding of the child's personality with greater interest than before. They are joining with the instructors and nurses in a contact which must be broadening for all. The Parent-Teacher association is proving a great help to those in charge of the children to understand and enjoy each other as well as the child."

Mr. Prescott spoke of how little we are really instructing the child. "His intellect we attend, but the great emotional side is entirely neglected and the 'play' side too much so. It is true that recently an interest was shown in playgrounds but it too often happens that they are located in out-of-the-way places as in Gloucester." As he expressed it, "the playground might as well be in Marblehead."

"The children should have a place to meet in wholesome play, a place centrally located where all may come. Men and women of different creeds and denominations should and could work together for this end and for the town's good." Rev. Mr. Prescott spoke of Father Sullivan, who left the Catholic priesthood to join the Unitarian denomination during the last year. Fr. Sullivan has said that the Protestant churches do not come to meet each other enough and that the Catholics and Protestants do not work together as they could for the common good.

"There is not a teacher who is not benefited by watching the growth of the children under her. A teacher has an immense responsibility and a great opportunity for good." The speaker dwelt upon the great respect we should all feel for the profession of teaching and expressed it as his opinion that the teachers are underpaid. He said the parents of these days appreciate the teachers more than formerly because they are better acquainted. Rev. Mr. Prescott's account of an old-fashioned "visiting day" at schools was most amusing and called forth hearty applause from those whom the speaker's words carried back to a country school where the visiting day was more to be dreaded than Judgment Day. "That the schools to-day are better than they ever were before is generally accepted. The constant criticism in magazines and newspapers, means that we have had a glimpse of a higher ideal toward which we are constantly working.

At the conclusion of his address Mr. Prescott spoke of the moral development of the child. "As a man thinketh so is he." Therefore any suggestion that there is the slightest possibility that the boys and girls may grow up into anything but true, noble men and women should be kept from the children's mind. To say to a boy,

A movement at the local high school which is worthy of the highest commendation is the distribution of two towels to each pupil. One towel is to be laundered each week and the towels must not be borrowed. At the end of the year the pupil must return his two towels or pay the sum of ten cents to the school for same.

The Folk Dances of the Nations, held in the Town hall last Friday evening in aid of the Beverly Hospital and the Manchester District Nurse Fund was one of the most novel entertainments given here this winter. The work was under the direction of Mrs. George Dean, to whom much of the success of the affair must be accredited. There were folks and country dances by about twenty of the young women and older girls of the town and dances by the small children, which were greatly enjoyed. The tambourine dance, the Dutch dance, the Morris dance the castanet dance and a ballet dance by out-of-town girls were unusually good. Among the dancers were Miss Helen Bennett of Beverly Farms, Miss Priscilla Porter of Salem, Miss Esther Lynch of Beverly, Miss Margaret Dennison of Salem. About $200 were cleared. The preserves which were not sold were sent to the Beverly Hospital as a gift from the Manchester Woman's club.

Why go out of town when Floyd sells all that is pleasing for the children. *

"Oh! you'll never amount to anything; you're no good" is the vilest speech that can be made. I impress the boy with the fact that there is good in him, that he can amount to something. In helping the child to find interesting work we live again. Philosophers from the time of Christ through the ages of Plato, Spencer, Fiske and Darwin up to the great men of to-day have told us of the beauty of the child's mind 'And a little child shall lead them.'

That Rev. Mr. Prescott's address was enjoyed was demonstrated in the hearty applause he received and in the number of men and women who crowded up to meet him and say a few words of appreciation. The songs, "Mammy's Li'l Boy," "Forget-me-Not," and "Lovely Night" rendered by the Girls' Glee club were worthy of great commendation.

A social hour was spent with the committee who served tea, sandwiches and fancy crackers.

The joint installation of officers of Allen Post, G.A.R., and Allen W. R. C., will take place in the Town hall Friday evening, Jan. 3. A supper will be served for the Post, Associates, S. of V., and W. R. C. in G. A. R. hall previous to the installation.

"Renovating an old Orchard," will be the subject of the lecture at tonight's meeting of the horticultural society. Allen Swain of Boston will be the lecturer. The public is cordially invited to attend these semi-monthly meetings of the society.

Tuesday afternoon a fire started at the residence of Albert Lucas which threatened serious consequences. The fire started in the kitchen and had gained considerable headway before Mr. Lucas discovered it. With the aid of some of the workmen about the place the flames were extinguished without calling out the fire department.

Conomo tribe of Red Men elected chiefs at their meeting Wednesday evening as follows: Henry A. Moulton, prophet; W. F. Roberts, sachem; Mark Lodge, sr. sagamore; Clifford Doane, jr. sagamore; John D. Morrison, collector of wampum; Leonard Andrews, keeper of wampum; E. F. Preston, chief of records; Byron A. Bullock, trustee 3 years. After the meeting a very palatable clam chowder was served. The chiefs will be raised on Jan. 1, by Deputy Nathan S. Walker of Abanekis tribe, East Boston. Conomo tribe recently voted to buy new paraphernalia to the value of $250, which the order is able to do without drawing from its bank funds.

Now that Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston has politely censured Miss Mary Garden for her performance of La Tosca and has performed the honors for Miss Gaby Deslys, and given her the keys of the city, it is to be presumed that all will go right in the Hub. There are many persons who have accused Miss Garden and friend Gaby of being the best press-agent "copy" producers on the stage, but in the opinion of many Boston's Little General takes the blue ribbon when it comes to getting himself before the public. But his censure of Miss Garden's performance was very tame and his reception of Mlle. Deslys dispelled all doubt in her mind that her "artistic" performance would be disturbed. His Honor. Gaby is probably wishing the censors would say something about her show, for that is all it consists of. As she says, "I would make business good, and I'm out for all the American money I can get." She's frank about it, anyway.

The enterprise of motion-picture concerns is evidenced by nearly every photo-play that is shown upon the screen of a theatre, but it is seldom that this vicinity is chosen as the scene of the picture-drama. However, within a few days, the Edison company has prepared to enact one of its scenarios near Misery Island. The picture is a sea subject, and no better atmosphere could be obtained than that of the Manchester shore. The wrecking of a schooner by dynamite—not the type which is sold in Gloucester—is one of the "incidents" to be pulled off by the "movies" concern. A thrilling rescue of the crew of the ship by a life-saving crew with the breaches-buoy is one of the exciting features of the photo-play to be enacted on the North Shore.

GARAGE ON DENEGRÉ ESTATE TOTALLY DESTROYED BY FIRE.

The Manchester fire department was called out at 2.30 this (Friday) morning for a fire at the W. D. Denegre estate, West Manchester. The attractive garage on the estate was totally destroyed. There were two cars in the garage at the time. Both were destroyed. It is thought the fire started from a heater in one end of the building. Kenneth, the chauffeur, lost all his tools and machinists outfit.

The fire was discovered by A. A. Cushing, who lives on the hill nearby. He telephoned in an alarm. The auto truck responded and was on its way to the fire before the alarm had finished blowing. The fire had made big headway, before the alarm was sounded, apparently.

The all out was sounded about 3.30.

Rules Governing Parcels Post

Postmaster General Hitchcock Explains the Workings of the New Law which Goes into Effect January 1.

Regulations to cover the workings of the new parcels post system, which is to go into operation Jan. 1, have been made public by Postmaster General Hitchcock.

The new system will be effective throughout the entire postal service at the same time and will affect every postoffice, city, rural and railway mail transportation route in the country.

Every precaution will be taken by the postoffice department to have the mails moved with the usual dispatch, and all postmasters, superintendents and inspectors have been directed to thoroughly familiarize themselves and their subordinates with every phase of the new system.

Mr. Hitchcock expressed the hope that the public would familiarize itself with the nature of the new service before attempting its use. Information will be available at any postoffice in the country in a few days.

The regulations provide that parcels merchandise, include farm and factory products (but not books and printed matter) of almost every description up to 11 pounds in weight and measuring as much as six feet in length and girth combined except those calculated to do injury to the mails in transit, may be mailed at any postoffice for delivery to any address in the country.

Delivery will be made to the homes of people living on rural and star routes as well as those living in cities and towns where there is delivery by carrier.

Where there is at present no delivery by carrier the parcels will go to the postoffice as is the case with ordinary mail.

The postage rate for the first zone—that is, within distance not exceeding 50 miles—will be five cents for the first pound and three cents for each additional pound. The rates increase for each successive one of the eight zones into which the country is divided, the maximum rate being 12 cents a pound, which will carry a parcel across the continent, or even to Alaska and the Philippines.

For a fee of 10 cents a parcel may be insured and if the parcel is lost in the mails an indemnity to the amount of its value not to exceed $50 will be paid.

The law provides for the use of distinctive postage stamps and there is now being distributed to postmasters for use in the parcels post system a MEMORIAL TO HAWTHORNE.

HIS GENIUS RECOGNIZED IN FITTING MANNER.

The Hawthorne Memorial Association has become incorporated in Salem, for the purpose, "of the erection or establishment and maintenance of a memorial to Nathaniel Hawthorne in the city of Salem, Massachusetts."

The situation is set forth in a carefully prepared and finely printed circular-letter to be sent out to those, at home and abroad, who will take an appreciative and helpful interest in the matter. A fine reproduction of one of the best of the Hawthorne portraits and a photograph of a sketch-model of the figure for the memorial make the circular well worth preservation.

The Association has selected as its artists, Bela L. Pratt, Sculptor; and R. Clipston Sturgis, Architect, both of Boston. Mr. Pratt's design is described in his own words: "In designing the portrait figure of Nathaniel Hawthorne I have kept in mind the great genius isolated by conditions and his own brooding spirit from those about him. It was his habit when in Salem to walk alone by the sea and to sit for hours looking across the water. It is thus that I have chosen to portray him, sitting on the rocks by the sea. The architectural surroundings will be in harmony with this idea, which I shall endeavor to develop further in making the full-size statue."

Mr. Pratt has recently produced, in the clay, a full-sized development of his idea. The work is of heroic size, full of dignity and of a quiet but intense personality, absorbing in interest, and satisfying.

The location of the completed memorial has not yet been determined. The site most favored, if necessary assent can be obtained, is upon the westerly edge of Salem Common, facing the Brown Street approach, not far from the Mall Street house in which Hawthorne wrote, "The Scarlet Letter." The estimated expense will not exceed Fifty Thousand Dollars.

Those interested may get full information and literature by addressing Harlan P. Kelsey, Secretary, The Hawthorne Memorial Association, Salem, Mass., and contributions should be made in the name of the Hawthorne Memorial Association, and sent as above.

set of stamps of 12 denominations. Parcels post maps, with accompanying guides, are to be sold to the public at their cost, 75 cents, through the chief clerk of the postoffice department.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE

MAYOR-ELECT FOSTER HAS NOVEL SCHEME OF KEEPING IN TOUCH WITH CITIZENS.

In accordance with his platform pledge that he would appoint an Advisory Committee of citizens to examine and advise as to the finance and business methods of the city, Mayor-elect Harry C. Foster of Gloucester has sent out letters to 25 prominent business people and citizens, asking them to serve as members of such committee.

The mayor-elect says he intends to exercise every available means to give the people of the city a business administration and believes that much can be accomplished by keeping in touch with the citizens and consulting with them on matters of public policy and betterment.

The mayor-elect's ideas in this direction are amply set forth in the following reasons which he states in his communication to each gentleman whom he has asked to serve.

"The committee to examine the financial condition of the city and make such suggestions and recommendations to the mayor and council concerning the same, as they shall consider wise and for the best interest of the city.

"The committee to suggest and advise the mayor and council, concerning all matters relating to permanent improvements and such other matters as the mayor or council may from time to time refer to the committee for consideration.

"The committee to examine the manner or method in which the business of the city is conducted and to advise and suggest such changes, if any, as they shall deem expedient and for the welfare of the city."

The following gentlemen have been asked to serve: Loren H. Nauss, Charles E. Fisher, William H. Jordan, Fred Bradley, Fred A. Shackelford, Daniel T. Babson, John A. Johnson, Horace A. Smith, Charles A. Russell, Jonathan May, Edward S. Griffin, P. M. Longan, Simon Garland, Ezra L. Phillips, Joseph C. Shepherd, Fred L. Davis, William G. Brown, Thomas P. Bolger, William T. Gamage, Frank C. Pearce, George Rowe, Ephraim R. Andrews, D. Chester Tarr, Rev. Elvin J. Prescott, Patrick O'Brien.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

A stupendous array of brilliant attractions are promised for holiday week at B. F. Keith's Theatre, something that will appeal to young and old being included in the program. One of the most pretentious features of the bill will be Mlle. Minni Amato and her big company of French artists in the wordless playlet in three scenes, "The Apple of Paris." This is a thrilling and intensely interesting story of life on the boulevards, told in the most realistic fashion. In addition to Mlle. Amato, the company includes Signor A. Coccia, Yuki Yamanaka, and several other artists of international repute. The big comedy feature of the week will be George Rolland and company in Billie Burke's uproariously funny farce comedy, "Fixing The Furnace." This domestic travesty, or tragedy, as it is in any household, when the furnace balks in zero weather, is chock full of laughs from start to finish, and George Rolland as the furnace man, is excruciatingly funny. Two great features for the children that always flock to Keith's at Christmas time will be Gillett's Animals, including the Monkey Bowling Alley and Adam and Eve, the big chimpanzees, and Adonis and his wonderful dog, who present the most astonishing series of equilibristic and contortion feats.

WHERE TO STOP IN BOSTON.

Residents of this section, when they are obliged to remain Boston on business or otherwise, are interested in knowing where to locate in the right kind of a hotel, at prices satisfactory for the accommodations they desire. It has been the experience of many persons that there is no cleaner, healthier, quieter or cheerful hotel in the Hub than the Hotel Commonwealth.

The Commonwealth is diagonally across from the State House on Beacon Hill. The elevation on Beacon Hill affords a delightfully cool breeze of fresh uncontaminated air during the hottest and most sultry months of the year, and is the best hotel during the winter season because of its accessibility to the theatres and shopping districts. The location is within three minutes' walk of Boston Common, State House, Court House, Scollay Square, Tremont Street, and elevated and subway trains.

The location is as quiet both day and night as a suburban residential district, thus assuring undisturbed rest to all.

EDDIE FOY AT THE BOSTON THEATRE

Laughing Eddie Foy, the funniest of all Broadway comedians is now appearing at the Boston Theatre in the best musical show he has had in many years entitled, "Over the River." Werba and Luescher, the producers of this hilarious girl and song comedy, have staged their production in spectacular fashion and the piece comes after a smashing six months' success at the Globe Theatre in New York. The play gets its somewhat unique title from the fact that in New York City, there is a slang designation for the prison on Blackwell's Island where one of the scenes is located. Prisoners sent there are said to be doing time "over the river." A comedian in prison stripes is a novelty and Foy makes the role excruciatingly comical. Eddie Foy plays the role of Madison Parke, a man about town who entertains his friends so riotously on a certain night that he wakes up the next morning and finds himself sentenced to thirty days "over the river." The second act showing the interior of the prison with Foy's red hair clipped close, and a suit of prison stripes enveloping his heroic figure is one of the most humorous conceits ever staged in any theatre. The chorus appear in this scene attired as beautiful Salvation Army lassies bringing flowers to the prisoners. The third act shows a garden decorated Mexican fashion, with the chorus as beautiful señoritas greeting the wanderer after his thirty days, when he returns home with the fishy explanation that he has been to Mexico.

GRANITE INDUSTRY IN THIS STATE SHOWS INCREASED OUTPUT.

The granite produced in the United States in 1911 had a value of $21,391,878, an increase of $849,911 over the value for 1910. Fourteen states, according to the United States Geological Survey, produced granite valued at more than $500,000, in the following order: Vermont, Massachusetts, Maine, California, Wisconsin, Washington, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Georgia, Maryland, Minnesota, North Carolina, Oregon, and Connecticut. Of these states the first seven produced granite valued at more than $1,000,000, and six of the fourteen—Vermont, Massachusetts, California, Washington, Rhode Island and Connecticut—showed an increase in value of output.

The Ever Ready circle of King's Daughters, cleared a good sum of money for their charitable work by the sale of fancy articles which they held at the Baptist parsonage Tuesday afternoon and evening. Mrs. A. G. Warner and Mrs. Herman Swett were in charge.

The children of the Congregational Sunday school are preparing a cantata, "Santa's Little Boy," to be presented Christmas eve, (Dec. 24), at seven o'clock in the chapel. Parents and friends are cordially invited to attend. The presents are to be put in the manger at the Congregational Primary Sunday school, Sunday, Dec. 22nd at the regular session instead of at the entertainment.

The regular meeting of the Harmony Guild was held Monday evening in the Congregational chapel and took the form of a Christmas party. The chapel was attractively decorated in keeping with the Christmas season, Christmas trees and imitation snow quite transformed the rostrum. The gifts were distributed from a large snow-ball. Miss Marian Scott, who was in charge of the entertainment committee, had arranged a pleasant program of games. At the business meeting special mention was made of the Vesper Services to be held at the Congregational church Sunday, Dec. 22. The Misses Chapman, 'cellist and violinist, of Salem and G. Allyn Brown, organist, of Gloucester will furnish the music and an unusually good program is promised. The dolls which the Guild dressed to send to the Children's Memorial Hospital at Chicago in memory of Miss Adele Sjolund were packed for shipment.

Rev. A. G. Warner will preach at the Baptist church Sunday morning on "Going to Bethlehem." In the evening his subject will be "The Day Sprung from on High." Special music has been arranged by choir-master G. Allyn Brown for Sunday. In the morning there will be an anthem, "Joy Fills our Inmost Heart Today;" duet, "Watchman Tell us of the Night," and anthem, "Behold I Bring you good Tidings." A cantata, "The Righteous Branch," will be presented at the evening service, as follows: I. The Prophecy, tenor solo, quartet and chorus; II, Thy King Cometh, baritone, alto and tenor solos and chorus; III, Blessed is He who cometh, tenor solo and chorus; IV, the word Incarnate, alto solo and chorus; V, Behold the Man,, chorus for men's voices and baritone solo; VI, Love Divine, soprano, tenor, alto and baritone solos and chorus; VII, Behold Your God, chorus.

The annual business meeting of the First Baptist church will be held in the vestry of the church Friday evening, Dec. 27, at 7:30.

The annual Christmas tree will be held in the vestry of the Baptist church, at 7 o'clock, Tuesday evening, Dec. 24.

WITHOUT A LEADER.

The Republican party without a leader can count for nothing. Who shall lead it? Colonel Roosevelt declares, with very strong rhetoric and quite spicy expression, that he wants none of it. He will fight with "the spear that knows no brother;" he wants a party of his own.

The Republican party cannot be the Roosevelt party. But in three months, Taft, the present head of that organization, steps out. Who is to succeed him?

Taft can hardly rehabilitate the party. He must be accepted if at all, as a last chance, a successor to the leadership of a defeat in which he was an element. As it looks now, the Republican party must drift without leadership while Roosevelt hangs upon the flanks of its organization with deadly purpose.

A good story is told of a brakeman on the Gloucester branch of the B. & M. When he was a green hand he was instructed by the conductor in charge of the train as to his duties and was incidentally told to call the names of the stations.

"When we come to Sunapee," said the conductor, "I'll call 'Sunapee' and you call the same at your end."

When the train pulled into the next station, the conductor announced, "Sunapee." Passengers at the other end of the car were convulsed with laughter when the brakeman yelled at the top of his voice, "Same at this end."

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

John Mason, who is unquestionably one of the strongest Boston favorites who visit the Hub annually, comes to the Hollis Street Theatre for a limited engagement of two weeks only, beginning December 23. He appears in a new play, "The Attack," from the pen of Henri Bernstein, the foremost Parisian playwright of today. The English adaptation was especially made for John Mason by the well-known novelist, George Egerton and enjoyed a prosperous three months' run at the Garrick Theatre, New York, where Mr. Mason scored the most emphatic triumph of his career.

"The Attack" is a play that appeals in which politics and love are blended in a way that holds the sustained interest of every spectator. Mr. Mason appears as Merital, a political leader of the Social party.

"The Attack" is a play that appeals to women as well as men with extraordinary force, and with a star like John Mason it is sure to crowd the Hollis Street Theatre at every performance. The engagement cannot possibly be extended beyond the fortnight, Christmas and New Year's weeks, owing to previous bookings.

There will be Wednesday and Saturday matinees during Mr. Mason's engagement.

Letters remaining unclaimed at the Beverly Farms postoffice for week ending Dec. 19th. Miss Minnie Edwards, Harry Leo Fyre, H. Thayer, F. L. Williams. William R. Brooks, postmaster.

Charles Davis left this week for Detroit, Mich., where he has gone to learn the automobile business, having secured a position with one of the large concerns there.

BEVERLY FARMS

An unusual large assortment of gold-mounted briar and amber pipes ranging in price from $1.00 to $3.00, including beautiful case. Suitable for Christmas gifts. F. P. Gaudreau, the Central Square barber. *

It has been suggested, and the idea has the approval of a great many—that for the remainder of the season's programs at the Farms school, the refreshments be omitted. Among the reasons for cancelling this part of the program is that the people really do not care for it—it is an immense amount of work—and poor facilities for serving and it is also of considerable expense.

There will be a special Christmas tree and entertainment Thursday evening of next week at the local Baptist church for the Italians, and their families, who have been interested in the civic movement in their behalf. The tree will have presents on it for everyone. Through the courtesy of Miss Louisa P. Loring a fine program of entertainment has been arranged.

A large collection of callabash pipes at F. P. Gaudreau's barber shop, Central square. *

The Ladies Sewing circle met at the chapel yesterday afternoon. It was a sort of "quilting party," as much work was done in that line.

Miss Amy Thissell, a popular Beverly Farms young lady, who is teaching school at North Adams, is at home to spend the Christmas vacation.

Miss Emily R. Griffin of Burlington, Vt., has been visiting friends at the Farms the past week.

An appropriate Christmas gift to some distant relative or friend: The Breeze for one year. Sent anywhere for $2.00. It would serve as a weekly letter for 52 weeks.

Rev. C. S. Pond will deliver a special Christmas sermon at the Beverly Farms Baptist church next Sunday morning at 10.45 o'clock on "The Humanity of Christ." The choir has arranged a special program of carol music for this service. Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock there will be the usual Christmas concert for which a splendid program has been arranged. The usual Christmas tree and entertainment will be given Tuesday evening commencing at 6.30. There will be presents for all the younger people. Everybody is cordially invited to attend. Following the Christmas tree festivities the boys of the Pastor's Hour will hold a special meeting.

A party of Beverly Farms young men, who were among the most active workers in the city election campaign for Mayor-elect MacDonald, are arranging a ball to be given in the City hall on the evening of Inaugural day, January 6th. The new mayor will lead the grand march. While in the past there have been other "Inaugural Balls" there has been none to compare with this one, if arrangements are carried out as now planned. One feature will be the elaborate decoration for the ball, which is to be done in time so that the inaugural exercises of the day will also get the benefit.

The quarterly meeting of the Baptist churches of Beverly, Wenham, Manchester and Beverly Farms was held at the local Baptist church last evening.

The Girls' club of St. John's Episcopal church were entertained by Miss Jennie Bolam last evening at her home on Hale street.

The Beverly Farms Athletic club is to hold an important meeting at the rooms on Monday evening. There will be an election of officers.

The pretty home of Mayor-elect MacDonald was the scene of music and merry-making Tuesday evening. The Beverly Farms band with full ranks, accompanied by a large delegation of citizens, marched from the band's headquarters to the new mayor's house on Hart street, where a bon-fire was touched off and the band played several selections. The company was invited into the house where all offered congratulations. The band gave a fine concert on the enclosed veranda. Mr. MacDonald made a neat little speech thanking the party for their greetings and invited them into another room where a collation was served. The closing event for the evening was three hearty cheers for the new mayor.

The Beverly Farms schools close today for the Christmas vacation, which is to be for a week. The corps of teachers will all spend the holiday and vacation at their respective out of town homes.

There will be a Christmas tree at St. John's Episcopal church on Tuesday evening, Dec. 24th, for the members of the Sunday school.

Mrs. Mary Lee and Mrs. Abbie Marshall left Tuesday for the Pacific coast. They intend to make their first stop of any length at Los Angeles, Cal.

John West Colony, Pilgrim Fathers, will hold their semi-monthly meeting in Marshall's hall this evening. The entertainment committee it is understood has arranged an entertaining program for the good of the order.

The assembly hall of the Farms school last Friday evening was filled to its capacity to hear Marion Craig Wentworth's dramatic reading, in five acts, entitled "The Servant in the House," which was splendidly rendered. She was given a hearty applause at the end of each act and at the conclusion the applause was most emphatic. The John West orchestra rendered the musical program and their playing also received much praise. Mrs. Chas. M. Cabot was in charge of the refreshments and was assisted by a number of young ladies, including the following: Misses Dorothy Larcom, Louise Standley, Muriel Publicover, Mildred Gerrish, Charlotte Chapman, Emily McDonnell, May Chapman, Eleanor Hull, Helen Publicover and Ethel Pierce.

A party of Beverly Farms young men last evening gave a public social and dance in Marshall's hall. It was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed. Another party is scheduled to come off under the same management, at some future date.

O. W. Holmes Council, K. of C., will hold a meeting in Marshall's hall Sunday afternoon at which several new members will be admitted. As the regular meeting night comes on Christmas it will be omitted.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard D. Russell of Baltimore, Md., have been visitors at the Farms the past week.

Mayor-elect MacDonald on Tuesday received from Ambassador Guild the following cablegram.—"St. Petersburg, 17th, Hon. Herman A. MacDonald—Hearty congratulations from both—Merry Christmas — grateful thanks, Guild."

Congressman A. P. Gardner will address the men of the Beverly Farms Baptist church, Friday evening, Dec. 27th, commencing at 7.45 o'clock. The congressman comes here on the invitation of the men members of the local Baptist Bible school and a cordial invitation is extended to all men to be present. The subject will be "Conservation of our National Resources."

The third in the course of free lectures to be held at the Farms school assembly hall will be given January 10th. Rev. N. R. Walsh will give a lecture on Rome illustrated by stereopticon. Because of his long residence in Rome and his gifts as a speaker Fr. Walsh will present a lecture that will be interesting and educational. John West orchestra will furnish the music.

After January 12th the parcels post will be in operation at the local post-offices. An item of instructions which must be followed in sending packages through the mail is that the name of sender must be on all packages.

BEVERLY FARMSIMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.

An event worthy of special mention is the announcement that has been made that Congressman Augustus Peabody Gardner is to address the people of Beverly Farms on Friday evening at seven forty five on December 27, in the Beverly Farms Baptist church, Rev. Calrence Strong Pond, minister, under the auspices of the Men's Class, James B. Dow, teacher. This is an event in the affairs of the North Shore and a large attendance is assured. All adults are invited to attend. While under the auspices of the men of the Bible School it is open to everyone. The announcement of the acceptance of the invitation of Congressman Gardner has been received with enthusiasm and the committee in charge will leave no stone unturned to make the event notable this winter. Music will be provided by an orchestra. Congressman Gardner will deliver an address on "Conservation of National Resources." This is a timely topic and every citizen interested in the great problems of the hour will wish to hear this lecture.

At Wednesday evenings meeting of St. Margaret's court of Foresters the following officers were elected for next year:—Chief Ranger, Edward Grady; vice C. Mrs. F. W. Varney has been elected a member of the executive committee of the Mass. Association opposed to the extension of suffrage to women.

Have you been pestered by any book agents since the exposure of the de luxe book scandal? It is safe to say that the book business in general will receive a slight set-back as a result of the experience of the Bostonians who bought the "priceless" volumes of literature, and that the appearance in the office or home, no matter whether he is selling a dictionary or cook-book, of a book-agent will result in an invitation to make himself scarce. They were clever crooks, anyway.

The offer of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad to give $10,000 to the inventor "who shall first invent an automatic device that will safely arrest an express steam locomotive that has passed danger signals" seems to be a trifle satirical in its announcement in view of the fact that numerous suggestions given the road by the Interstate Commerce Commission have been totally disregarded. The commission, after the Bridgeport wreck last year, suggested the abolishment of the short cross-over, but no attention was paid to it until another wreck had caused loss of life. The New Haven should have taken the free suggestion, and it might not had to cover its short-comings with offers of prizes of $10,000.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SALEM

"THE SPRING MAID" THE XMAS ATTRACTION, AFTERNOON AND EVENING.

Local opera-lovers will have a gala musical event Christmas afternoon and evening, when Werba & Luescher's musical success, "The spring maid," will come to the Empire theatre, Salem.

"The spring maid," with its sparkling and alluring song hits, enjoyed a coast-to-coast triumph last season. There is musical charm in every bubbling note of its delightful score, and much interest is taken in the coming visit. The company is headed by the gifted prima donna, Gene Luneska.

"The spring maid" is a delightful operetta which must stand as the best of the Viennese trio, including "The merry widow" and "The chocolate soldier."

The management promises the same company and production seen last season, headed by Gene Luneska and J. H. Goldsworthy, and including the famous "Spring maid" chorus and ballet, and the special orchestra, including Madame Latisch, harpist.

Seats for the engagement will go on sale Saturday.

EXAMINATION FOR VACANCY AT NAVAL ACADEMY AT ANNAPOLIS.

Congressman A. P. Gardner will hold a preliminary examination at the rooms of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, No. 142, Post Office Building, Boston, Mass., on Monday, December 30th at 9:30 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of filling a vacancy at the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

This examination will be open to all boys who have been legal residents of the Sixth Congressional District for the past year, and who will be between the ages of 16 and 20 years at the date of admission to the Academy.

The examination will be of six hours duration and will include Arithmetic, Algebra, Geometry, U. S. History, Geography, Punctuation and Composition. The mental examination will be reckoned at a maximum of 100 points out of a total of 215. There will also be a physical examination, with a maximum mark of 100. In addition, a maximum mark of 15 will be given for general appearance, military antecedents, previous moral and physical training, etc.

Stationery and ink will be provided in the examination; but candidates must provide themselves with pens or pencils as they prefer.

A PROGRESSIVE NEWSPAPER

Springfield Republican

MASSACHUSETTS

HONESTLY DEVOTED TO THE SERVICE OF THE PEOPLE

Independent of Selfish Political, Personal or Financial Influences

COURAGEOUS, ENTERPRISING INTERESTING

ESTABLISHED IN 1824 BY SAMUEL BOWLES.

DAILY (morning) $8; SUNDAY $2; WEEKLY $1 a Year.

The Springfield Republican stands for political progress and social justice. It has stood for these causes consistently and strongly during the 88 years of its career. It stands also for honesty in all of the relations of life, personal, political, commercial, industrial, national and international. It considers that honesty is an essential basis of real political progress and social justice. It refuses to follow popular leaders who lack this fundamental virtue, however captivating and eloquent.

The Republican has a profound faith in democratic institutions, but it recognizes clearly that the safeguard of a progressive democracy is universal education, developing an enlightened electorate, which may deal justly with the difficult problems that modern civilization presents. It looks forward, through the agency of such an electorate, to an increasing restraint of the aggrandizing activities of powerful individuals and groups, to the end that there may be a juster distribution of the fruits of labor and a fuller realization of the ideal of the commonwealth.

The Republican seeks to embody its principles in its own service to the people as a newspaper. It strives ever to deal with its public honesty in its presentation of the news of the day. It tells no tales to promote its sales. It aims to educate, to enlighten and uplift its readers; and yet to interest and entertain them by honest methods. Its editorial page is one of the strongest, keenest, broadest, in the country. It deals with all the subjects that concern humanity in the spirit of helpfulness, of healthier, happier living.

The Republican gives a news service that is real, not flashy. It commands the best agencies for its general news, often supplemented by special correspondence. It covers its home territory with remarkable thoroughness, and it liberal treatment to literature and to the arts, sciences and industries. The Sunday Republican is especially rich in delightful literary and other diverting features and departments.

THE WEEKLY REPUBLICAN

Presents in 16 broad pages the best editorial, literary and special features of the seven daily issues, with carefully edited and rewritten summaries of the important news of the week. It is an excellent home journal for intelligent people who wish to keep of the best thought of the times, as well as of the news of the day, and it costs only ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

DAILY (Morning), $8 a year, $2 a quarter, 70 cents a month, 16 cents a week, 3 cents a copy.

DAILY and SUNDAY, $10 a year, $2.50 a quarter, 85 cents a month, 20 cents a week.

SUNDAY, $2 a year, 50 cents a quarter, 5 cents a copy.

WEEKLY (Thursdays), $1 a year, 25 cents a quarter, 10 cents a month, 3 cents a copy.

Specimen copies of either edition sent free on application. The Weekly Republican will be sent free for one month to anyone who wishes to try it.

All subscriptions are payable in advance. Address:

HOLIDAY IN 1913.

A look ahead at the next year's calendar is always of interest in more ways than one, but everyone is interested more or less in the holidays of the year. The first one in line will be Washington's birthday coming on Saturday. This will delight those who plan week-end trips extending over Sunday. This privilege will again be afforded on the next holiday in order, April 19, coming as it does on Saturday. Decoration Day will come on Friday, and the Seventeenth of June on Tuesday, while the "day we celebrate," July Fourth, will come on Friday, which comes near enough to Sunday to cause a lot of people to blot out the Saturday following, as far as business is concerned. Columbus day will come on Sunday, while Christmas like Thanksgiving, will come on Thursday.

Ninety Clerks to Serve You

AT

DANIEL LOW'S

Though our store is thronged with Christmas shoppers every day we are able to give customers prompt attention because of our large sales force.

As the time grows shorter and shorter in which to do your Christmas shopping we believe you will appreciate this service because it will make shopping quicker and easier. Of course, though, the earlier you come the easier it will be.

And let us remind you again that merely to walk around in our store, with its endless variety of new, unique and out-of-the-ordinary things, which in many cases are not to be found in any other store in the country, will very probably put an end to those gift problems which are puzzling you--solve them so satisfactorily that you will "go home with a feeling of thankfulness that there is such a store as Daniel Low's to depend on for gift inspirations," as one customer aptly expressed it.

Wouldn't you feel relieved if your Christmas shopping were all taken care of and you had satisfactory gifts for everybody? Wouldn't it be worth a special trip to our store?

SOCIETY NOTES

The engagement of Miss Elizabeth P. Lee, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lee of Brookline and Beverly Farms, to Harry Pratt McKean, jr., was announced last week at a reception given by Mrs. Lee at her home in Brookline. Both young people are among the most popular of the North Shore young set.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Merriam, who recently closed their residence at West Manchester, are at Portland, Maine, for a portion of the winter.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Munn (Mary Astor Paul), after a year's absence in Europe, have returned home in time for the holidays. Their return was hastened somewhat by the serious illness of Mr. Munn's mother in New York.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner Martin Lane of 53 Marlboro street, Boston, with their little daughter, Miss Katharine Lane, are spending the Christmas holidays, as usual, in Baltimore with Mrs. Lane's parents, Prof. and Mrs. Basil Gildersleeve.

♦ ♦ ♦

The death of Mrs. Frederick R. Sears, Thursday of last week, is especially painful and sad, coming as it did so suddenly, and at the approach of Christmas-tide. It sends a very large and distinguished connection into mourning, and casts a deep shadow in so many families where her affection and friendship meant so much. The children are Miss Eleonora and Frederick R. Sears, Jr. Mrs. Sears was a daughter of the Hon. Thomas Jefferson Coolidge, and a sister of Mrs. Lucius M. Sargent and of Mrs. Thomas Newbold of New York. Mrs. Francis Lee Higginson, Jr., is a niece. On Mr. Sears's side the sister is Mrs. Charles T. Lovering, and the brothers, Messrs. Herbert, Philip and Richard Sears. The late Mrs. Alfred S. Dabney was also a sister of Mr. Sears. Among his nieces are Miss Elizabeth Sears, who is to marry Bayard Warren in April, Miss Miriam Sears, one of the leading debutantes of the winter, and Miss Marian Lovering. Mrs. Geo. Von L. Myer is also a relative.

SOCIETY NOTES

The delightful Christmas weather is bringing many people to the North Shore for the holidays, some to visit the scores of families who are here for the winter; others to open house for the week. At Manchester are the Amory Eliots and the Richard S. Loverings, Philip Stockton and family, Francis M. Whitehouse, the Walter J. Mitchells and the Andrew Carnegie, 2nds. Mr. and Mrs. William Hooper spread much Christmas cheer among families at Manchester and Beverly Farms Christmas. They entertained some friends at tea Wednesday afternoon. At Beverly Farms the Gerard Bements gave a Christmas tree for their employees. Mr. and Mrs. John L. Saltonstall were at Round Plain Farms, Mrs. John Caswell's place for the day. The John S. Curtises, Gordon Means and Robert Means had guests at their Beverly Farms cottages. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Vaughn and Mr. and Mrs. E. Laurence White also spent the day at their year-round cottages at Beverly Farms. The Louis A. Shaws went from Beverly Farms to Walpole to spend the day with the Charles S. Birds, Mrs. Shaw's family.

Norman Read is home from Yale spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Read, Smith's Point, Manchester.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Evans R. Dick, Jr., after an absence abroad of a year and a half, returned on the Amerika last week. Mrs. Dick was Miss Joan Tuckerman, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman of Ipswich.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Coolidge are among the North Shore people spending the winter at the Copley-Plaza, Boston. Their house at Magnolia, is kept open all winter, however, for week-ends.

♦ ♦ ♦

After a long season on the Shore the Charles W. Tweeds have recently closed their house at Beverly Farms for the winter and are at their town residence, 12 East 36th street, New York city. They will be frequent visitors to the North Shore all winter, however.

♦ ♦ ♦

Miss Elizabeth Bigelow left Boston last Friday for Chicago, where she is spending the holidays visiting her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David N. Bigelow. Later she will be joined by her mother, Mrs. Prescott Bigelow, in Chicago. Miss Bigelow will be much entertained during her visit, as there are numerous gayeties in Chicago through the holidays.

♦ ♦ ♦

The wedding in Washington Thursday of last week of Miss Melvina DePena and Alejandro Herquinigo was of more than passing interest to North Shore people. Miss De Pena is one of the daughters of the minister from Uruguay. The family has spent the last two seasons on the North Shore, in one of the cottages connected with the Oceanside hotel at Magnolia. The groom is connected with the Chilean legation. Undoubtedly the young couple will spend next season at the North Shore.

The Oceanside Hotel at Magnolia to be Rebuilt; 5-Story Concrete Structure

Summer visitors to Magnolia will be interested to learn that plans are being made to rebuild a large part of the Oceanside hotel at Magnolia. The old part of the present structure will be torn down and a five-story concrete building erected which will contain 250 rooms and 150 baths.

The Oceanside is the largest summer resort property in New England, its present capacity being 800. This will be increased to 1000 when the new building is completed. It is owned and operated by the Oceanside Company, some of the leading business men of the country being interested in it.

THE SPLENDID PRODIGAL

A SKETCH OF THE BOWERY AS IT IS TODAY

by

JAMES SWEINHART

(Copyrighted 1912 by James Sweinhart)

III

The months of ease for The Aristocrats dragged around into December. It was again the day before Christmas an hour or two before noon, when, as they sat puffing around the stove, a messenger came in. After enquiries of the Boss, he went over to Mykos, who was filling an old, Turkish pipe, and handed him a message. Mykos, greatly surprised, opened it in haste. He read it twice; then, struggling with a growing agitation, placed the message in the envelope, folded it into a taper, lighted his pipe with it from the open stove and threw the stub to the floor. Then he rose and disappeared into the bedroom. A few minutes later he hurried out and away, down The Bowery.

He had scarcely gone when "No. 91" picked up the charred message and smoothed it out. It was addressed to "Baron Friedrich von----" the surname had been burned away. But the message was there plain enough. "Please come to the bank immediately on receipt of this. A matter of grave importance to you requires settlement at once." It was signed by a Broadway German-American banking house.

"Tidn't hi tell hyou?" he cried, showing the message to Bachman. "Tidn't hi tell hyou he whas ha rhemittance man hand shomeday he'd ghet flagged! Well---that shomeday's rright know."

It was late afternoon when Mykos returned. He was the picture of despair. When he had put off his wraps, he began pacing the floor moving slowly through the twilight, hands clasped behind him. Then he sat down and, for a time, looked into the street. He seemed scarcely to breathe. When the lamp was lighted, he roused himself.

"Well, well, well," he sighed, drawing his hand across his forehead so that it shaded his eyes. "It's all over now---all over---daffn it---it's all over---there's no use, now."

Finally he rose, crossed the room and leaned heavily on the bar.

"Jamaica---three fingers!" he said.

The Boss poured it out and Mykos took it at a swallow.

"Piffle," he said, addressing the Boss, who had turned to wiping glasses. "Piffle---you rotten, old dog, you---I've taken the count---I'm through! The old man at Dusseldorf is dead---the family's cut me off---I'll get no more money---I've got to blow! But---before I go, Piff---I'd like to ask a favor. There was a time with me, Piff, when Christmas was the happiest day of the year. Tonight's Christmas Eve, Piff,---it'll be my last one here. Let's celebrate it right!"

"Any mazuma?" enquired the Boss.

"A snitch---two hundred bucks, I think!"

"Your're on! Far as ya like!" and the Boss went on wiping glasses.

The responsibilities of master-of-ceremonies sobered the "Count" remarkably; for the first time in weeks, he was his old self. The floor was mopped and sprinkled with sawdust and the coarsest hob-nails fell with scarcely a sound. Then a roaring fire was built in the big stove. Bachman went out with Mykos' money and bought new tableclothes and napkins and the long table was set with a train of holly skirting its border. Plates were set for forty and, at each plate, a red carnation and a little candle.

It was eleven o'clock before the burlesques were over and the girls came in, laughing, joking, quarreling with one another. Mykos led the way, escorting a slender blonde in a big white hat and a dress of scarlet.

"Diamond Flo," said Mykos, bowing to the company.

Diamond Flo' kicked one of her little feet as high as Mykos' head, then bowed nearly to the floor and came up with a smile that showed a diamond sparkingly set in each of her incisors.

"Hi-yi!"

"Double it!"

"Once again, now---hip!" yelled the guests in a roar.

"Ha-ha-ha---Hi, there!" laughed Diamond Flo' as she kicked again, sending Mykos' hat spinning across the table.

"Hooray! Youse a scream" yelled the company.

At the same moment the Boss appeared at the kitchen door roaring directions at several scullions who hustled here and there loading the table down with steaming dishes. Dodging the waiters, the girls moved about, finding their places, the "regulars" moved up in a body and took theirs and, finally, with much noise and banter all sat down. Mykos and The Aristocrats, on a raised platform at one end, were set off, at the other, by Diamond Flo' on another and Hee Haw Charley, one broad grin, elevated beside her. Between the platforms,---the girls on one side, the men on the other by the special order of the "Count"---ran a double-row of faces, each lighted by a candle, showing frivolity, vice, hunger, crime, disease, madness! And, between these two rows, piled in confusion, some torn open with the wrappers still on, were every delicacy in food and drink that the mind of the Boss could conceive.

The hungered fell at once on beef and turkey, while others turned their attention to the wine. What an uproar at the discovery that "real champagne" was on the board! When the glasses had been filled all round, Mykos had the lamp turned low and opened the stove-door. A reddish glow flooded the room from the mass of coals within.

"The home-sweet-home effect!" blurted Hee Haw Charley, his mouth stuffed with food.

Shouter soon left his place at Mykos' right and busied himself among the men, extending invitations to the Mission. Stumpy, vivacious at the first taste of wine, became infatuated with a dark-eyed girl with a long, scarlet feather in her hat, sitting some distance down the table. "No. 91" walked up and down, absorbed in his own thoughts, a piece of turkey in one hand, a goblet of wine in the other. Bachman alone kept his place on the platform, gorging himself with wine and turkey dressing.

Only once was the conviviality disturbed; then it was the voice of Mykos calling shrilly down the room. Hee Haw Charley had cracked a questionable joke.

"Cut that!" Mykos shouted through the semi-darkness. "This is the night of the Nativity---rot like that don't go!"

Soon the lights were turned up, the feast went on and the room became loud with laughter and the clink of glasses. "Count" Mykos gulped one drink after another, now sitting down, now standing contemplating the company, his eyes occasionally closing for an instant and with the most whimsical of smiles playing on his face. Bachman had fallen asleep and Mykos was alone on the platform when the Boss sauntered over with a brandy bottle.

"Have one on the house, Guvner," he said to Mykos. "This is a glorious Christmas Eve---here's hopin' youse next'll be as jolly!" And he drank deep.

"Next Christmas Eve!" Mykos repeated. "Only God knows where I'll be then!" And he took the proffered drink at a swallow.

"Well,---I hain't no geek to say much," drawled the Boss as he smacked down his brandy. "And I hain't very soft by nature, but I want you to know, Mr. Mykos, that I like your style. You hain't no fourflushing gink alwus lookin' for somethin'---you's one swell gent and, no doubt, was a great man in your day. And if you happens to be near about next Christmas, why, blow in. Even if you haven't any mazuma, you's welcome to anything The Alligator's got."

The "Count" looked squarely at the Boss and a peculiar smile moved his features for an instant. He stood a moment, seemingly very much confused, not knowing what to say; then, beckoning the Boss to come closer, he leaned across the table and said, more softly than before:

"Why, Piff—there was a time when I was a great man—over there—in Prussia. My father,—proud old councillor to the King—took me from Bonn and put me in the army. They said I had a future. I climbed fast. In time I rode 'The Major,' the handsomest horse in The Guard, and when, on the drill-ground or the battlefield, I drew my saber and faced about for the charge"—the "Count" raised his arm dramatically—five thousand blades flashed into the air and away we galloped like a thunderbolt—the best blades, the best men, the best horses Prussia ever saw.—Why—we were the wonder of all Europe!" He stood a moment with arm upraised, glaring fiercely at the Boss before he went on.

"Then the war came. Our armies went, invincible, straight into Paris. I was there, Piff—recognized, honored, trusted by the great men of state. When we went back to the Fatherland, I was a hero. My breast was covered with medals, I sat at table with the King, I was loved by beautiful women. Then—Piff,—then—" he whispered it was a frightful, hissing voice. "Then, Piff,—I went wrong!" The "Count" bent over the table as if he had been struck. A shuddering tremor shook him. When he finally straightened up and continued, there was a note of hardness in his voice.

"Well—they took me out to Potsdam, to the drill-grounds that I loved and stood me up alone, before the whole army—the infantry on this side, silent and stern; the cavalry on that, with 'The Major' standing out alone, saddled but riderless. Then they snatched the helmet from my head—they tore the medals from my breast—they cut the buttons from my coat and sleeves and the epaulets from my shoulders. They took my sword and broke it and threw it at my feet. They ripped the coat from off my back and left me standing uncovered to the waist. Then, when all was done, a voice spoke sharp and stern: 'GO!'—Good God!—I shall hear that word through all eternity!"

"Down between the lines I went, a broken, dishonored man! The ranks seemed miles long—that they had no ending. As I went along I heard a whinny—and 'The Major' came galloping after me, just as if he felt my suffering and was sorry. Before I could turn to greet him, a horseman caught his bridle and led him back. I went on. Way at the end of the plain was a hill. As I neared its top, I looked back. Oh Piff!—there, on the plain beneath was the Army of Prussia at drill—countless thousands of marching soldiers stretching as far as the eye could see; heavy artillery plunging across-fields, throwing up clouds of dust; squadrons of cavalry in full career, or swinging round on the gallop, every man erect in his stirrups and their sabres flashing in the sun; bands playing, drums rolling, scores of standards snapping in the wind and all a whirlwind splendor of crimson, orange, white, blue, scarlet, green and gold—the flash of tens-of-thousands of helmets and sabres and a glistening forest of bayonets! And, dashing in and out among them all, leading the charge as in days gone by, I could make out 'The Major' with a new rider. I looked on it all and marveled. It had never seemed so splendid before. My heart broke then and there and all the man went out of me." The "Count" was silent—as if he were reviewing it all in his mind. Finally he went on.

"I went home to Dusseldorf, but my father would not see me. He sent out a package and a note that read: 'Here are a thousand marks—Go away! Go to the end of the earth and never come back! Let me know where you are and I'll send you money. This time my influence has saved you; if you return to Germany, it will avail nothing—You'll go to a dungeon for life!'"

"I went. I've wandered everywhere, seen everything, done everything. But, wherever I go, when Christmas Eve comes, my mind goes back to the days of my glory and the Christmas Eves at College and at home. They seem but yesterday—God!—where have the years gone!"

The Boss said nothing and the "Count" lapsed into melancholy musing. The uproar of the feast was at its height.

"Hit his ha rhemarkable cohincidence," came the voice of "No. 91" above all the others. To a beauty in pink, half-way down the table, he was describing the sermon he had just heard at the Mission. "Hit his rheally mhost rhemarkable. He tolt habout ha creat hmug-mill, where hevery geek hat whanted to could chome, chust like this. Honly hat the hend he ses: 'Take hye heed—there sits death hin the hmidst hof you.' Whasn't that ha strange—"

"Ah—ferget it!" interrupted the beauty. "Lick up your booze and be a gay sport! Don't go shaking any skeletons!"

The last word roused Mykos.

"Skeletons—Skeletons!" he shouted. "That's what's the matter here. Everybody's dead, dead! It's too damned gloomy. This is a time for gayety." Then, waving wildly for silence, he called out:

"My dear friend—my dear friends in mirth—I am about to address you. Everybody must listen!" and gave a playful laugh. With that he shakily mounted his chair, but, finding this not to his liking, he pushed aside a plate with his foot, overturning a goblet, and stepped upon the table.

"Hi-hi—he's a tiger!" yelled the 'regulars,' stamping and applauding uproariously.

The babel hushed immediately. Drawing himself up to his full height and throwing out his chest, Mykos began, in a quiet tone, to praise the company for its good behaviour. He was in splendid humor and his words never halted. In gesture his hands were as quick as his words. Amid sweeping rounds of applause and ringing gamuts of laughter, he bantered Hee Haw Charley on his unshapely ears and praised the excellence of Diamond Flo's kisses.

Then he turned to a discussion of the pretty faces about him. He vomited words and phrases of the most grotesque variety, becoming louder in tone and wilder in gesture with each moment. Under the continued strain, he lost his vivacity. Puns and jokes were set aside for serious subjects—a rambling medley of politics, universal peace and the probable origin of the earth. Presently, to please some passing whim, he began reciting poetry. Under its spell, he gradually calmed. Speaking quietly, but with the distinctness of an actor, he skipped from one poem to another, his face now radiant with laughter, now wet with tears. Every thought that stirred his brain he spoke, and whatever he spoke he acted. He had been speaking and acting for more than an hour when, by some mysterious suggestion he began to sing, in a soft, but thin and very jerky voice:

"I dreamed that I dwelt in marble halls

With vassals and serfs at my side;

And, of all who assembled within those walls,

I was the hope and pride.

I had riches too great to count,

And a high, ancestral name.

But I also dreamt, which pleased me most—

That you loved me still the same.

That you loved me, loved me, st-i-ll—"

He stopped. A dead silence fell over the room. Crouching backward, biting the fingernails of his left hand, the "Count" was staring fixedly at something at the farther end of the table. An old man had fallen forward, asleep. In his dreams, his arm had swept the table, overturning a goblet of wine—and the arm and the tablecloth seemed drenched with blood!

The spot, growing larger each moment, had arrested the "Count's" attention. Save for the solitary sleeper, the table was deserted; for half the company—the girls—had gone, and the other half, bent forward in their chairs or lying on the floor, were fast asleep. As long as the "Count" had joked, his gusts had understood and applauded; his serious discourse they could not understand. Not knowing where to laugh properly, they chose not to laugh at all, and, this becoming tiresome, they had fallen asleep, or gone, one by one, while the "Count" was absorbed in his frenzy.

The realization maddened him. He wrenched open his collar and uttered a cry that startled those about him from their stupor. Some, dazed and frightened, moved backward, brushing their faces until their senses caught what was going on. One group stood tottering about the door. Another, with arms akimbo, stood back of him, blinking and amazed. Only Bachman slept on—sprawled on his back, under the table, with the red dregs of the goblet dripping upon his forehead and over his snowy hair.

The "Count" burst out in an onslaught of rage. No one could remember what he said; that was not what impressed them. It was the spectacle of the man, standing on the table, waving his arms, one coat-sleeve ripped back to the shoulder so that it dangled by his side; shirt torn open, face livid, staring, sobbing, choking for expression, his whole frame shaking!

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. W. Scott Fitz of 75 Beacon street, Boston, and Manchester, will hold her Monday weekly musicales after the Christmas holidays. Mrs. Fitz has been hostess for similar musical afternoons for several seasons, and as she always invites artists of a high order of merit to furnish the programs, these occasions are looked forward to with much pleasure by those who attend them.

TEA HOUSE ON HISTORIC GROUND IN SALEM.

Visitors to Salem will be interested to learn that about New Year's there is to open a tea house to be known as the Federal Street Tea House, in the Henry K. Oliver house on Federal street. Mary H. Northend, the magazine writer, so well known along the North Shore, and Harriet Spofford, a niece of Harriet Prescott Spofford, the writer, are behind this new enterprise. The latter has run a tea house at West Medford and made it a grand success.

The Oliver house is one of the historic houses of Salem. The tea house is being called the Federal Street because it was in this house that General Oliver wrote the hymn "Federal Street." The Salem cadet band as it passes the house always stops and plays the air. The decorative woodwork is from the old Elias Hasket Derby house, and was brought to the Oliver house when the former was torn down. In one room is a beautiful old wall paper. The place is, withal, an ideal spot for a tea house.

Tea will be served from 3 to 6 p. m. A specialty will be made of southern chicken dinners and lunches.

SCHOONER DYNAMITED OFF NORTH SHORE.

Pirate's lust for gold and adventure caused the enactment of a heart stirring scene at Little Misery Island last Friday which before many weeks have passed will be seen on moving picture screens all over the United States.

For three weeks actors and actresses of the Edison moving picture companies have been going through a photo play in the harbor, using Manchester, Beverly Farms, Beverly and Marblehead for a background. Thrilling rescues and all the other features of the show were acted out and Friday came the climax when the old schooner Andrew Peters was made a prey to the flames to secure real action for the picture. Shortly after noon Friday she was blown up, the explosion being heard all along the North Shore.

Active Campaign Planned Against the Gypsy and Brown-Tail Moths

The state commissioner for the suppression of the gypsy and the brown tail moth, for all that he is not asking for as large an appropriation for the coming season as he has had in the years that have passed, is planning an active campaign for continuing the work against this pest which has done such havoc in Massachusetts.

He has been quick to avail himself of an outside assistance and has already entered upon a corporative scheme with the federal authorities of the department of agriculture who are engaged in a similar line of work. It was recognized at the start that there was great opportunity for a conflict of these two independent bodies at work on the same line of activities.

It has been arranged, however, that the federal commissioner and his force shall work more in the line of doing picket duty to prevent the spread of the pest over an enlarged area. That is the prime argument on which the federal appropriation was obtained in congress and, therefore, the officials of the national department are at work arranging for a corps of men who shall be stationed at different points on what might be considered the most remote points at which these moths have been observed. It will be their duty constantly to patrol their given amount of area and see that none of the moths spread beyond the border line, which, in a figurative way, has already been established about the infested area, so-called.

This line of federal work commences in south-eastern Massachusetts and extends outward towards Worcester county and then swings in a north-easterly direction into New Hampshire, through that state and somewhat into the state of Maine. The part of the national authorities in accepting this branch of the work has left Prof. F. W. Rane, the state commissioner, free from any worry as to the spread of the area and has allowed him to employ his force and to arrange for the employment the coming season in the more pronounced work of extermination.

DIFFERENT SYSTEM ORGANIZED.

Here again a different system has been organized and while in local communities one may see only city and town employees actively at work on the actual killing of these pests he will realize that they are working under the supervision of a district man who is continually going about in a certain group of towns and seeing that the work is properly done and endeavoring to discover new colonies whose destruction ought to be attended to.

These men are in the employ of the state under the supervision of Prof. Rane and they, in themselves, are only the lieutenants of some one higher up, who directs their activities and who is in turn responsible to the superintendent himself. In former years the state has allotted or donated to cities and towns a certain sum of money which in many cases was used to put as many men at work as possible. Now, however, the state has adopted a new policy and state money, so far as possible, instead of being spent for employment of labor is to be used to purchase machines and materials.

There is hardly a town of any great size in the infested area which does not have at its service a spraying machine equipped with a gasoline engine that will develop power enough to force the poisonous liquid to the top-most branches of the largest trees. While this machine, which represents quite a sum of money, is devoted to the use of one or possibly two or three towns, it is the property of the commonwealth and so far as possible the commonwealth money is expended on the purchase of articles that will have a permanent use and value. This includes, of course, a great amount of tools, etc.

The next step in the expenditure of the state money is in the purchase of the proper poisonous materials to mix with water to be used in this spraying machine. It is, therefore, the policy which has already been worked out and considerably extended to depend upon the cities and towns to furnish the money to pay the laborers who have actually been employed in the manning of these machines, and even there the activities of employment at certain periods of the year, suggestively around election time has been frowned upon by the state commissioner who has taken considerable pains to recommend to his subordinates that this feature of the employment be curtailed as much as possible.

NO BURLAP ON TREES.

Another change in the system of former years that is quite noticeable, if one will come to think of it, is the discontinuance of the old practice of putting burlap about the trees. This was commendable if the burlap could be properly attended to. That is, they should frequently be opened and the contents removed and destroyed. It was found, however, that in many cases the whole or the greater part of the money would be expended in purchasing and in putting this burlap on the trees and that subsequently they would not be properly looked after, so that in the course of time the moths found a way to get over this part of the protection and reached the tops of the trees and fed upon the leaves.

An additional argument for the discontinuance of this practice has been the improvement in the spraying machines which allows the reaching of the moths by a more thorough and less expensive means and in a way which it is claimed achieves as practical a result. Again the spraying machine has done away with the previous high climbing stunts of some of the employees. While this had a somewhat dangerous aspect it was not so much on that account possibly that it was discontinued as it was the matter of expense. It was slow work and the cost did not warrant its continuance when the "high places" could be as effectively reached by the employment of the gasoline driven sprayers.

GOVERNMENT AID IN BUILDING ROAD:

"The plan of enlisting Government assistance in the building of roads, as outlined in the activities of the Federal Aid Good Road Association, is one of the greatest factors in the future of the motor car industry," says Pres. John N. Willys of the Willys-Overland Company of Toledo, O. "The object of the organization is a highly important one.

"Though the United States has taken a world lead in the manufacture of automobiles, it has been in spite of her highways, rather than because of them. And the sooner these conditions are remedied—and they can be remedied properly only by the enlistment of Federal forces—the sooner will the industry take the forward leap that will place it among the foremost commercial activities of the universe.

"With Government assistance in building good roads, the United States can greatly increase its lead in the industry and add further glory to its standing in the commercial and manufacturing world. The next convention of the association, which will be held in Washington, March 6 and 7, 1913, should be closely watched by every motor car manufacturer, dealer and owner in America. It is of vital importance to each one of them."

Mr. Willys is a summer resident of Pride's Crossing.

CHRISTMAS WEATHER!

The real Yuletide spirit along the North Shore was heightened quite unexpectedly by myriads of snowy flakes which made Christmas of this year truly a New England one. The severe storm of Tuesday subsided in time to allow Old Sol to come forth with his beaming rays to round out a perfect Christmas. The good weather enabled many of the North Shore people to desert their winter residences for the holiday and to open their shore homes as the scene of the festivities which marked nearly every home locally.

Business in all directions was greatly hampered by the storm, however, tons of mail matter comprising Christmas gifts failing to reach their destinations in time for delivery because of the inability of the mail trains to make schedule time. Express companies and the men in Uncle Sam's service were the hardest hit by the snow flurry and the overtime holiday work was made all more arduous. In nearly all of the postoffices the largest delivery of mail on record was registered and clerks were obliged to work throughout the day.

But the tinkle of sleigh-bells along the Shore proclaimed the old-time Christmas day, and the Yuletide spirit was all the more pronounced because of the white-blanketed ground. The North Shore was a scene of general merriment, open house prevailing at many of the houses usually occupied by summer residents, who had come to this section to spend the holiday.

THAT WATER QUESTION.

With the eyes of both Salem and Beverly on Wenham Lake and each guarding their interests on this source of water supply with jealousy, the water boards of both the Garden and Witch cities are training their optics on the entrance of a new member to the Beverly board. There is much to do within the next twelve-month in settling the water-supply dispute between the two cities, and Beverly is anxious to obtain the best man possible to help protect her interests in the matter. The question will probably be brought before the legislature again within a short time.

John L. Saltonstall seems to be the logical candidate for the position, and his election is apparently assured without contest. Mr. Saltonstall is well fitted to look after Beverly's interest in company with his fellow members, and has followed the controversy with great interest. His interest in the problem was instrumental in promoting the action by the Beverly board, and he has since followed up his initial move in the fight with care. In Mr. Saltonstall Beverly will obtain a man who has an intelligent conception of the problem, which is rather intricate as it now stands.

The safeguarding of its water supply is one of the most serious problems of city building, and in protecting its interests at Wenham Lake, Beverly must handle the neighboring city with gloves. To further these ends a man of foresight and good judgment will prove a valuable asset to their interests.

The history of the water question between the two cities is now ancient but the latest phase of the question which is now troubling the water boards is the most serious one; the critical point has been reached and the findings of the legislature when the matter is brought before them will be of no little interest to both municipalities.

Beverly thinks the problem will be best solved by her purchase of Salem's interest in the present source of supply, and suggests that the neighboring city use the proceeds of the transaction in purchasing an interest to the Metropolitan water supply. This solution of the problem seems to Beverly to be the logical one. It is claimed that an adequate reservoir of water for years to come will be provided for both cities. Meanwhile, what will probably be the final step in the whole affair before the legislature is anxiously awaited by both parties.

REPRESENTS HIS CONSTITUENCY

The spirit of service to his constituents is further evidenced by Congressman Augustus P. Gardner's acceptance of the invitation of the people of Beverly Farms to address them tonight. The appreciation of the people of this district for their Congressman is also to be seen in the interest which has been aroused throughout the entire North Shore because of the opportunity presented them to hear Mr. Gardner during the Christmas recess of Congress. Although extra service is not to be expected from such a busy man, he has found time to be with his constituents and will speak on "The Conservation of our National Resources," a topic on which he is an acknowledged authority.

Service seems to be the keynote of Congressman Gardner's whole work for his district, and as this spirit is too often found lacking in public men it is all the more appreciated by the public. This district is indeed fortunate in having the years of service which Mr. Gardner has given them, and an examination of his record reveals his steadfastness of purpose and his ability to think not only for himself, but for his whole constituency. His regular service in congress has always been rendered with intelligence, good judgment and persistence, and the extra work, of which this evening's address is an example, is but an additional evidence of his unfailing service.

THE HOUSING PROBLEM.

"For the good of society" is a well-worn phrase that is made to do service as an excuse for kindred movements and philanthropic schemes supposed to have an "uplifting" tendency. But there is one movement along the lines of social progress which is quite modestly and successfully doing a most valuable work. This work is contained in the movement of the Massachusetts Civic League on the housing problem, and is by far the most important and deserving endeavor yet attempted along the lines of social construction.

Religion, education and all of the various functions coincident with our earthly existence have their places, but the home is the vital spot around which to build the others. When the home fails these other agencies are lacking; religion goes begging, education is given a passing glance, and all because of the undevelopment of the possibilities of that vital point, the home. The police courts of a community and various charitable and preventative societies are increased only in proportion to the squalidness of the housing of the persons in that district.

The work of the Massachusetts Civic League is accomplishing un-hoped for results under the leadership of Edward J. Hartman, and greater progress is assured in the future, for the communities in which the League is working realize that better housing conditions are necessary to their own progress. In the words of Mr. Hartman, "Good homes are the key stone of the whole social arch."

Aside from personal and individual benefit to be derived from proper housing conditions in all communities, the moral effect of attractive homes on the whole town or city is to give the particular locality some of the genuine feeling which the term "home" should imply. The sight of ill-kept streets, and schools is not attractive to new-comers to a community, and the initial impression that they are given of the place decides for them whether they care to become permanent residents there.

The work of the Massachusetts Civic League is not an idle one; it is not as some unthinking person has termed it, "throwing pearls to the swine." It is rather lending its valuable energies to the general public, the employer as well as the employee, in an endeavor to effect the preservation of the home with the subsequent benefits that are sure to come.

If we can persuade President Taft to return to the North Shore next summer, and President-elect Woodrow Wilson selects this district as his summer stamping-ground, we will get our share of celebrities. Mr. Taft will be welcomed for his own sake, while Mr. Wilson will not lack a greeting if he elects the Shore as the summer Capitol.

Congressman Gardner's work in successfully pushing through the Burnett immigration bill is indeed a personal triumph for the Hamilton representative of this district. While the bill does not promise much in alleviation of the immigration evil, it will undoubtedly aid the solution of the problem.

Encouragement should be lent the Manchester boys and young men in their desires for an athletic association, and if the town can materially aid them in furthering their wishes the project should be approved in earnest. A municipal gymnasium and town hall combined would solve the problem.

The women of Philadelphia and New York are making considerable progress in their attempt to rush the "egg trust." If they can but discover the secret of making the hen lay out of season they will have completed the solution of the problem. Hope none of the eggs were resurrected from Egyptian tombs!

The past week has been one of unusual Christmas festivity along the North Shore, more houses being open for the holidays than in former years.

"The last word in hotels," namely, the Copley-Plaza in Boston, seems to be a veritable Mecca for members of the Shore colony.

The citizens of Salem in general do not seem to be enthused over the placing of a memorial to Hawthorne,

A good resolution is worth while even if it be hard to keep.

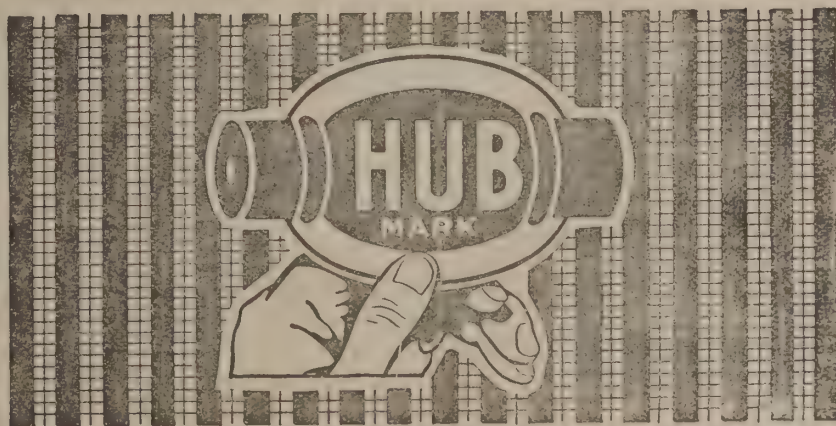

but the statue will be placed in the historic city, nevertheless.

Happy New Year!

That much-abused individual, the middleman, will probably be dispensed with in many cases after the introduction of the parcels post in effect next week. The possibilities of the system of parcel delivery are illimitable, especially for persons living in rural communities. There will probably be many more packages sent by this method than by the private express companies, who have already lowered their charges in response to an order from the Interstate Commerce Commission. The use of the parcels post to the rural resident will be found in the opportunity to dispose of products direct to the consumer which otherwise were collected by a middleman to the comparative financial loss to the original producer.

Robert E. Davie, another man gone wrong, desires "a change of scene." There are many more behind four walls who would welcome the same respite from prison life.

CHIEF CONVERSE PRESENTS BOY SCOUTS WITH FLAG.

The Manchester Boy Scouts held a campfire last Saturday evening in the vestry of the Baptist church. Through the kindness of electrician G. A. Knoerr a splendid imitation of a real campfire was arranged. Lieut. Robertson lead the boys in their march, formation and drill of the manual of arms. At this point Chief of Police Converse provided the surprise of the evening. A hollow square was formed and the chief addressed the boys, emphasizing the qualities of manliness, and urging that those qualities become more fully developed by the boys. He spoke, too, of the influence of patriotism on character, and that they might always have an inspiration for true patriotism he would present them with an American flag—a standard. The flag was 3x6 feet, mounted on polished staff.

Patrol Leader Irving Baker received the flag and Scout Master Warner responded for the boys, thanking Chief Converse for his kindness.

After singing America the remainder of the evening was spent in games. Refreshments of cocoa, peanuts and apples were served.

Drill Master Alex. Robertson is rendering the boys of Manchester a large service by his kindly interest and the giving of his time. The boys are getting the benefit of his training and experience.

Miss Lilla Lewis of Lynn, formerly of Manchester, has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Sinnicks, Ashland avenue.

The First Aid to the Injured class of the Red Cross society meets next Monday evening instead of a week from that date.

A visit of Chief of Police Converse to Forest street and North Yarmouth section of Manchester, Sunday, gave rise to the rumor that some of the Italians said to be selling liquor in that section had been raided. There was no truth in the story, however, we learned on investigation. The chief did visit that section though. The fact that he did not raid some of the "kitchen bar-rooms" does not mean that he ought not to do so. If he is so insistent on closing the hotels of the town, he ought to be just as insistent in closing the Italian "joints."

Miss Alice Blaisdell of Haverhill has been the guest of Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Blaisdell this week.

John Spinney came home from Boston to spend Christmas with his parents at West Manchester.

CARPENTERS MAY ASK 50C AN HOUR.

Union carpenters along the North Shore may request a further increase of wages. This will be determined by a vote of the various Carpenter unions in this vicinity which has been taken and is now being sent to the District Council headquarters at Salem.

The present wage paid union carpenters along the shore is 47 3-4 cents an hour. The proposition to increase the price of each hour's labor to 50 cents or $4 for each day's labor of eight hours is the matter which is now being considered by the unions.

The result of the vote of the various locals will be sent to the District Council. To become operative the new schedule must be sanctioned by a two-thirds vote of all members voting.

Should the schedule be adopted, it will become operative on May 1 of next year, at which time the demands for that price will be made by the union carpenters of the master builders.

MANCHESTER

Frank Floyd spent the holiday in Amesbury.

Mrs. Hattie Baker and family are visiting Mrs. Baker's mother at Reading.

Mr. and Mrs. James Beaten and son, Stanley, spent Christmas day at Annisquam.

GOING TO BETHLEHEM

Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord has made known unto us.—
LUKE 2:15.

We need a Christmas. Like the Shepherds of old let us go to Bethlehem and look upon Jesus as a little child. It was night, darkness shrouded the hearts and lives of men. It might have been said of Salvation as it was said in the beginning that the earth was without form and darkness was on the face of the deep. It was evening, and it was morning; for God said, "Let there be light" and there was light.

Two special revelations did God make to announce to men the birth of the Christ. One was the Star in the East shining for the rich and wise; the other was the angels coming to the poor shepherds, saying:—"Peace on earth, good will to men." Let us follow the lowly shepherds, as they search for that Great High Priest who was touched with feeling of our infirmity.

The shepherds left their employment to go to Bethlehem and see the reality of that which was taught in the vision. These two things we know of them to whom God sent his holy angels to announce with songs of praise the birth of Christ and to proclaim "Peace on earth, good will to men;" they were diligent in business but not so attached to it that they could not go and see the babe of Bethlehem. From the character and condition of these men let us learn something of these people to whom God reveals his truth.

They are men not slothful in business, but they are also men that can leave their work not only to go and see Christ the respected and honored promoter of knowledge of civilization, but men that can leave their flocks and herds, their houses and lands, their stocks and bonds, to look upon the little Babe lying in a manger.

And this has a meaning for us here and now. We will lose much of the blessing that ought to be gained by one who remembers Christ today, unless we can leave our worldly duties to "go and see." The relaxation coming to us at Christmas tide is more and more every year causing worldly care to increase just at that season when we would turn to our Bethlehem. The preparing of Christmas gifts and the entertainment of friends, are more and more every year crowding out the possibility of making this religious observance what it should be. We are too busy for the religious part of Christmas. Hands and heart and thought are so full of worldly things that we have no room for Jesus. Now I do not mean that we can or should give up these things. But the necessity of retaining them makes it more essential to turn aside—if not in reality at least in thought—that we may see Jesus.

In ancient times the solitary occupation of the Shepherd was honorable and profitable to mind and soul. Now things are changed and still changing; men are not alone with God as much as they should be. Sad is the lot of him whose world is made up of banks and ware houses, of stone fronts, railroad stations and paved streets.

We must learn to endure these changed conditions of life, without losing the natural freshness of humanity, without disregarding the works of God and the presence of a Creator in the universe. For this were given to us Christ and christianity, and for this we need a Christmas. Today we can receive, perchance into our hearts a reflection of that light which came to the Shepherds in the fields of Bethlehem. Like them let us go to the lowly Christ. No silken curtains, no gilded tapestry, no luxurious carpet surrounded his couch, too fine for the touch and tread of the rural shepherds roughly-dressed for the fields. And we learn that Christ in his maturer days watched the sower going forth to sow; drew lessons from the work of the fishermen, shepherds and gardeners, he went to poor, suffering people, yet in his heart he was never separated from the simplicity of the field, and the stable where his infant eyes first saw the light of day. Christmas, the Star, the Shepherds, the stable, all have a meaning for us. They call us back to our better selves.

The Shepherds went to Christ. They were members of a chosen race. They had seen a marvelous vision, but they went to search for Christ. And so today the revelation of the prophets of old, the development of the religious feeling in men, the wonders of science, the achievements of modern history, all that philosophy can conjure up all that thought can create, are of no avail without Christ.

We should every one be better for the presence of Christmas with us. Let the power of Christmas thought bring a freshness of life, a nearness of being, a healing and redeeming power that will help us to cast off the weakness and shame and sin and stand erect in the purity of Christ's righteousness.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

"Jack" Mason, has again conquered the Boston theatregoing public and his return to the Hollis Street Theatre with his new play "The Attack" awakened a demonstrative response from his legion of admirers. Boston has surrendered to "The Attack" as unconditionally as New York did. The play is probably the most powerful drama in which John Mason has ever appeared. Any play from the pen of Henri Bernstein, is sure to command attention.

CHURCH NOTES.

Rev. A. G. Warner will preach at the Baptist church Sunday as usual. The sermon both morning and evening will be appropriate for the New Year.

The Church Aid Society will meet with Mrs. J. Davis Baker Wednesday evening.

A very pleasant Christmas tree was held at the Baptist vestry Tuesday evening, Christmas eve. A sketch and program of music and readings were rendered by members of the Sunday school. The committee in charge, Miss Effie Stidstone, G. Allyn Brown, Miss Annie Lutz, Miss Annie Younger and Robert Baker, deserve much credit for the success of the affair. After the entertainment, each child received a gift and candy.

The Junior services of the First Baptist church, Sunday, Dec. 22, were of unusual interest. A large number were present to help in the special Xmas services under the leadership of Mrs. A. G. Warner, assisted by Mrs. Stidstone. The following program was given by the girls and boys:
Song, "On to Bethlehem" Chorus
Recitation, "A Xmas Carol,"

Dana Younger
Solo, "Little Stars," Ruth Brooks
Recitation, "The Christ Child"

Elsie Burgess
Recitation, "Peace on Earth"

Ruth Spry
Duet, "Shepherds Were Watching"

Pauline Semons and Ethel Spry
Recitation, "A Silent Messenger,"

Ruth Bullock
Reading, Robert D. Baker

Recitation, Helen Bullock
Chorus, "'Tis the Birthday of the King."

Recitation, "The Child That Makes Me Happy," Bernice Lee

Recitation, "Keeping Jesus' Birthday" Marian Preston

Solo, "In a Manger Christ was Born," Melissa Stanley

Reading, Mrs. Stidstone

Duet, "The One the Children Love," Julia Andrews and Melissa Stanley

Recitation, "Snow Days," Duncan Baker

Recitation, "Jesus, Our King," Ethel Spry

Chorus, "The King of Love."

A jolly little dancing party was held in the Town hall Christmas night by a number of young men in town. Music was furnished by Long's orchestra.

Miss Hattie Riley and Harold Rose of Beverly are visiting at B. F. Burchstead's this week.

MANCHESTER

Harold Brooks is quite ill at his home on School street.

Mrs. C. Peters of Beverly spent Christmas with Albert E. Peters and family.

Miss Dorothy Foley and Miss Edna Peters are spending their Christmas vacation in Beverly.

The annual meeting of the Manchester Trust Co. stockholders will be held Jan. 14, at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Seddie Follett of the local W. R. C. will be the installing officer of E. P. Wallace corps of Amesbury, Jan. 6.

Mrs. Long announces her dancing class in the Town hall next Tuesday evening. Instruction 7.30 to 9, general dancing 9 to 11. *

The Manchester Launch club will have some special entertainment at their rooms next Tuesday evening, to "watch the old year out," as well as "the new year in."

Every preparation is being made to have the complimentary dance, which the Story High school class of '11 is giving at Town hall tonight, one of the most successful parties of the holiday season. Long's five piece orchestra will furnish music.

Mrs. Harlan Preston is to sell her 7-room cottage on Brook street at public auction next Saturday, Jan. 4. The house is modern, with hot water heater and open plumbing. She proposes to move to Beverly.

At the district court at Salem yesterday, Judge Sears sentenced Dennis O'Sullivan of his town to Bridgewater, and afterwards, at Mr. O'Sullivan's request changed it to Foxboro, where Chief Converse took him yesterday.

A letter from Jos. Montesanti at Southern Pines, N. C., tells that he is very pleasantly located at Highland Pines Inn for the winter. Mr. Montesanti has been connected with Vasconcellos' barber shop in the past. He will keep in touch with Manchester this winter through the Breeze.

Much interest is being taken in the series of popular entertainments which is being conducted this winter under the auspices of the Manchester club. The first of the series will be given in the Town hall next Wednesday evening, Jan. 1, by the Huff Concert Co., of Boston, together with a tenor soloist and an entertainer. There will be six entertainments. The price for the series is $3.00, or 50c per number. Tickets may be obtained at Allen's Drug store, or of the committee: Raymond C. Allen, A. C. Needham and John C. Mackin.

MANCHESTER

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Johnson have been spending the holidays in Concord, N. H., visiting the latter's relatives.

A family gathering took place Christmas at "Homecrest" bungalow of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Morgan, on Great Pasture Road.

Civil Engineer Raymond C. Allen has kindly invited the Boy Scouts to take a series of hikes in company with him over the boundaries of Manchester. He has kindly offered to give the boys talks on the early history of the town on these occasions. The first tramp will trace the eastern boundary and will start from the residence of Rev. A. G. Warner Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The members of Allen Relief corps, No. 119, had a Christmas tree at G. A. R. hall after their meeting last evening. Allen Post members were present as guests. The hall was very attractive in its holiday dress. The entertainment, arranged informally, included piano solos, vocal selections by Mrs. Hattie Preston and readings by Mrs. Rita Mitchell. Remarks were made by members of the post. The big feature of the evening was the distribution of gifts from the Xmas tree. Nor were all the gifts of the useful and ornamental kind. Some of Santa's efforts brought forth much merriment as the gifts were disclosed.

ARBELLA CLUB HOLDS CHRISTMAS PARTY AT TOWN HALL

Nearly every member of the Arbella club was present at the Christmas party held at the Town hall, Manchester, Thursday evening. The hall was pleasing in its dress of evergreen appropriate to the Christmas season. At the head of the hall a Christmas tree was placed and from this and a large artificial snow ball gifts were distributed to the girls. Each member brought a gift and these were distributed by number. Each girl was presented with a Japanese box or a "Jacob's ladder" by the executive committee. The evening was passed with singing and dancing until ten o'clock. Miss Marion Scott presided at the piano. The committee served refreshments of ice cream and cake. When the hour for parting came the girls were enthusiastic in their expressions of the pleasure the evening had given them and the first Christmas party of the Arbella club will always be remembered by the young women of Manchester as one of the most pleasant of the affairs which the club gives to its members.

PRESENTED OIL PAINTING To POST.

The members of Allen Post 67, G.A.R., of Manchester, tendered the Woman's Relief Corps a surprise party Thursday evening of last week, walking in upon them while they were holding a recess in their meeting. A pleasing and noteworthy incident of the evening was the presentation to the post of a large oil painting of General U. S. Grant mounted on his charger as he appeared at Lookout Mountain and Missionary Ridge. The painting was executed by past Commander Edwin P. Stanley and the likeness of the great general that he has placed upon canvas is said to be a most excellent one. The picture was accepted on behalf of the Post by Commander Crombie, who spoke words of hearty appreciation.

In presenting the painting Mr. Stanley told the story of the famous battle and graphically pictured the whole combat, telling of the action of each division of the Federal as well as Confederate troops on that memorable occasion. General Grant is shown in the painting sitting on his charger, with Missionary Ridge in the back-ground and Orchard Knoll in the foreground.

The annual business meeting of the Baptist church will be held next Tuesday evening. The annual supper and roll call comes in late January.

The Ladies Social circle will meet with Mrs. Julia Curriea next Wednesday.

An unusually good vesper service was held at the Congregational church Sunday afternoon. The Misses Chapran of Salem, G. Allyn Brown of Gloucester and Mrs. Carolyn Allen of Manchester, furnished the music, and the Rev. Mr. Lockwood made a few remarks on "The Stifled Impulse." Nearly every seat in the church was occupied and the Harmony Guild, under whose auspices the vesper services are given, received much well-merited praise for the excellence of the services.

The cantata, "Santa's Little Boy," which was given in the Congregational Chapel, Tuesday evening by members of the Sunday school was very successful in every way and the committee deserves a full measure of praise for the way in which the whole affair was carried through. Following is the cast of characters:

| Santa Claus | Frank Knight |
| Mrs. Santa Claus | Kathleen Slade |
| Freddy Santa Claus | Allen Needham |
| Blanche | Helen Knight |
| Dorothy | Madeline Gray |
| Billie | Mark Sinnicks |
| Jimmy | George Knight |
| Mrs. Cratchitt | Marjorie Wilcox |

These were assisted by choruses of fairies, children and postal card girls. At the close of the entertainment "Santa Claus" distributed gifts to the members of the Sunday school.

PILGRIM WANDERERS AT BEVERLY.

The December meeting of the Pilgrim Wanderers was held with Speedwell Colony of Beverly last Friday evening, delegations being present from Masconomo Colony of Gloucester and William Jeffrey Colony of Manchester. The occasion took the form of a Christmas tree party a gift being placed on the tree for every one present.

The next meeting of the Wanderers will be held with John Endicott Colony of Salem on January 20 at which time a reception will be tendered to the entire board of supreme officers.

Real Estate and Improvements ... Up and Down the North Shore ...

The contract for building two combination garage and barn at Pride's Crossing, for R. T. Paine, jr., and Chas. K. Cummings, respectively, has been awarded to Publicover Bros. Formerly the same barn and garage served both families.

—O—

George R. White has purchased the Putnam estate at Smith's Point, Manchester, which adjoins Mr. White's attractive estate. Many improvements and changes are being made in keeping with the extensive improvements now in process.

—O—

Work is being rushed on the spacious cottage being built at Manchester for Philip Churchman of Boston. The house is Colonial style and being erected from plans drawn by William Downes Austin of Boston. It is situated upon the old Putnam estate at Smith's Point, and is very close to the W. L. Putnam cottage.

The foundation is of good rubble stone of local quarry, slushed and pointed inside and out. Above this is the brick work of well shaped hard brick. The house is shingled over all with an outside finish of cypress. The piazza columns are of 10 inch solid cypress with a piazza floor of matched hard pine.

The rooms of the cottage are large and numerous, bath rooms and closets being in evidence, both in the servants' part and in the owner's quarters. The finish throughout is of white wood. The base in each room is of a beveled top. The standing finish is of the best whitewood, the door openings being of architrave finish, with moulded back band, mitred corners and plinth blocks stopping on the finished floor. A chair rail runs about the front hall, living room and dining room. Picture moulding has been placed in all the rooms.

A large fire place faced with water struck red brick is to be found in the living room and in the dining room. A hearth of the same material is also noticeable.

The floors on the second story are of red birch, while the lower floors are of hard Georgia pine. The doors are of white wood.

The china closet is fitted with sliding doors, with a long counter of white wood, the shelves are of cherry, as are the drawers and cupboard. The pantry is fitted with all the latest contrivances for making housework easy.

—O—

Peter A. Sheahan has bought from M. J. Callahan the former Kerr property on North street, Manchester, and it is understood he will move into the house on the place soon. Mr. Sheahan has stated that he intends to move the building to the rear of the property and build a three-story structure on the street front, large enough for three families.

—O—

D. B. Hodgkins' Sons are having improvements made at their grain building, Tappan street, Manchester, incidental to the spur track being put in to facilitate the handling of grain. Chester L. Crafts is the contractor.

THE ROBERTS CASE.

The Gloucester Times of yesterday said: The finding of a screwdriver near the place at Manchester, where Mrs. Estelle C. Roberts of this city met her death on September 9, while it has revived the mystery, has not, Deputy Chief George C. Neal of the State Police says, offered anything tangible in the way of a solution beyond what the police have already offered.

"We have of course followed up suggestions which Mr. Roberts has made," said Deputy Neal, "but nothing whatever has been discovered to change the status of the case. When the screw-driver was found and offered as a possible weapon, State Detective Wells of Lynn made a further investigation, but he discovered nothing to indicate a probable connection with the woman's death.

"The district attorney has had his attention called to the case, and there has been an inquest. We have of course followed up every clew that has offered itself and will continue to do so, but so far there is nothing to show that the woman was a victim of murder. There is no motive that we have discovered upon which to base a theory that the woman met with violence at the hands of anybody."

Frank Morgan is building an addition to his bungalow off Bennett street, Manchester.

THE SPLENDID PRODIGAL.

He staggered toward the edge of the table, cursing in an unearthly voice, then back again. As he did so, his foot caught in the ruffled cloth. He stumbled, poised a second, then pitched, head foremost, with a frightful cry. There was a loud crash and the "Count" lay at full length, very still and quiet, among the food and bottles that strewed the floor.

The jar roused Bachman. He sat up, brushing his face and smearing it with wine.

"What's s'matter—hic—what's s'matter?" he said, plaintively. "'S-anybody smushed? Yes—hic — Bachie's smushed. Poor, poor Bachie."

The ambulance came, presently, and took Mykos to the hospital. Then a policeman came in and cleared out the place, taking a bite here and a nip there as he roused the "dead-ones" and drove them before him. That done, the Boss waddled over and put a padlock on the doors of the back-room—and the "Count's" celebration of Christmas at The Alligator was over.

IV.

They buried him next day over on Riker's Island in a little plat set aside for derelicts who never drift home. Stumpy, Bachman and Shouter went down to the East River Docks for their first day's in years to earn money to buy flowers to put on "Count" Mykos' grave.

They stood at the cemetery gate, on the way out, looking back where the pile of clay lay dark against the new snow.

"What a mystery is Life!" said Stumpy, solemnly. "Even in his vices he was gentle and magnanimous. He was what one might call a splendid prodigal."

"Well, I hope he's happier, now. God'll understand what us fellows couldn't," said Shouter.

No one spoke for some time. Then it was Bachman.

"I wonder—," he said, quietly. "I wonder if the Boss saved the pencil basket I hid behind the safe."

And then they started on toward the ferry.

The End.

PARCELS POST JAN. 1ST.

After years of agitation, the new parcels post act will go into effect on January 1 and is expected to be of great benefit to the public at large while it will be of especial benefit to those firms who do a mail order business. It is without a doubt the most tremendous business enterprise ever undertaken by the federal government in a century.

Under the present law parcels weighing more than four pounds cannot be sent by mail. Under the new system the government will carry parcels weighing up to a limit of 11 pounds, at a rate varying according to the distance they are to be carried, instead of the flat rate of "one cent an ounce or fraction thereof" of the present law. The Parcels Post Act approved August 24 last puts it very clearly:

That hereafter fourth-class mail matter shall embrace all other matter, including farm and factory products not now embraced by law in either first, second or third class, not exceeding 11 pounds in weight nor greater in size than 72 inches in length and girth combined, nor in form or kind likely to injure the person of any postal employee or damage the mail equipment or other mail matter and not of a character perishable within a period reasonably required for transportation and delivery.

The only complicated feature of the system is the matter of rates and the problem in this respect is one which undoubtedly will give the local postmasters a good deal of worry. Yet it is not in itself difficult to master.

Among the residents of Beverly Farms who spent the holiday with friends out of town were Harry Guinivan and family at Danvers; Howard E. Morgan and family at Manchester; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur J. Pierce at Manchester; Arthur Standley, and family at Beverly; Mr. and Mrs. William E. Elliott at Manchester; Mrs. Charles F. Preston, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Doane; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Pride at Winter Hill; and Frank Eldridge and Miss Lucy Eldridge at Manchester.

A cantata, "The Righteous Branch," by twenty young people of Manchester and a New Year's address by the pastor will be included in the programme of the vesper service to be held at the local Baptist church at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

A date for the annual "night off" of the local firemen will be selected at the regular monthly meeting on January 6. Committees will be appointed at that time to look after the entertainment of the guests. The "night off" always includes a banquet in Boston and an evening at the theatre for the fire laddies and their guests.

With the inaugural on Monday, January 6, and kindred other duties that must be looked after, Mayor-elect MacDonald will be unable to take the vacation which it is reported he had planned. Although the mayoralty campaign just past makes a rest almost imperative, Mr. MacDonald will have his time taken up until the first of the year.

The young men of the dancing class of Miss Jane M. Watson will serve a supper at an entertainment and social evening of the class planned for New Year's eve, Tuesday. Dancing and special music promise a full evening's enjoyment for those who attend.

Mr. and Mrs. David E. Sullivan of Stamford, Conn., have been visitors at Beverly Farms the past week.

Many family reunions were observed on Christmas by the Beverly Farms people, while many others visited friends out of town.

A rare opportunity is presented to the residents of this section this evening in hearing Congressman Augustus P. Gardner, who is to speak on "The Conservation of Our National Resources" at the Beverly Farms Baptist church. The evening's program will commence at 7.45 o'clock, with music by the John West orchestra. A reception committee including the following has been appointed to greet the speaker: Mayor-elect Herman A. MacDonald, James B. Dow, Rev. C. S. Pond, Charles H. Trowt, William R. Brooks, Elmer Standley, Robert E. Hodgkins, alderman-elect Charles H. Hull, John L. Chapman, George P. Wood, Lawrence J. Watson, Jr., James E. McDonnell, Dr. William J. Dougherty, Lewis G. Williams, W. B. Publicover, H. E. Morgan, Thomas D. Connolly, J. M. Publicover and Frank Cole.

John Rea, a well known Italian of this section, will leave on Sunday for Italy where he is to be married.

A part of the Beverly Farms playground has been reserved as a skating surface by Park Commissioner Benjamin F. Hawkins, and all that remains is for Jack Frost to do his part in making the reservation suitable for the winter sport.

The almost unexpected fall of snow on Christmas eve brought added Yuletide cheer to the members of the Pastor's Hour class of the local Baptist church, who enjoyed a pung ride about Beverly Farms singing songs of the holiday spirit which they have been rehearsing for some time past. In many places the boys serenaded the homes of residents of the section, and sang Christmas carols to the householder who responded to a lusty ring of his doorbell.

Ira E. Davis returned this week from Egypt, Mass., where he has been looking after the interests of Connolly Bros., for the past two months. He will leave town in about a week for Boca Grande, Fla., where he will locate for the winter. Mr. Davis has secured a clerical position with a well known engineer in that district.

grim Fathers, when scores of friends enjoyed the entertainment that was provided by the members. A pleasing program consisted in part of an exceedingly funny and well acted farce by local talent, reading by Mrs. Louis Hardy, recitations by Ezra P. Williams, and songs by Robert Smith. The Colony orchestra added several selections to the programme and played for the dancing which followed.

Miss Marie Linehan entertained a large number of her friends last evening at her home, corner Hale and Haskell sts. It was a Christmas party and all received gifts. Refreshments were served and all enjoyed the evening.

The Girls' club of the local Baptist church is looking forward with pleasure to the New Year party which will take place at the Chapel next Tuesday evening, New Year's eve.

The young people of the Beverly Farms Baptist Sunday school were happy last Tuesday evening, the occasion being the annual Christmas tree and entertainment. The tree, laden with its presents and glittering with decorations, made a very pretty sight. Andrew Dienstadt made a very splendid Santa Claus. The affair was a great success and was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Last evening there was another Christmas tree and entertainment for the Italian families.

At the St. John's Episcopal church on Christmas eve there was a gayly decorated tree for the young people of the parish. Ernest Townsend took the place of Santa Claus and made a great hit. After wishing everybody a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year he distributed the presents. There was an entertainment which was exceptionally pleasing. There was the usual Christmas service on Christmas morning at 10.30 o'clock.

St. Margaret's church held two special services Christmas morning.

Most all of the Farms young men who have been members of the Beverly Y.M.C.A. have recently renewed their membership for the coming year. Some of them have made records in the athletic events and are possessors of emblems, medals, etc.

Miss J. M. LaRue made her annual Christmas trip from Louisville, Ky., to Beverly Farms to spend the holiday with a party of friends at the home of Mrs. John H. Watson, Everett street.

WENHAM

At the Village church Sunday morning the minister, Rev. F. M. Cutler, will preach on "How to Celebrate New Year's." Sunday school at noon. Y.P.S.C.E. at 6. At 7 there will be a praise service with a stereopticon sermon on "Turkey, the Seat of the Balkan War."

The Ladies' Society will serve a public supper Wednesday at 6 p. m.

Thursday at 7.30 the church night meeting will be under the auspices of the Department of Social Service, and will consist of a stereopticon lecture on the beautifying of Wenham, delivered by Mr. A. Wesley Dodge.

The severe storm of Tuesday interfered with the success of the Christmas tree exercises in the village chapel. Still nothing can stop Santa, and the children had their presents.

Mr. Roland Patch, instructor in Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., spent the Christmas holidays at his Wenham home, and was most cordially greeted by his many friends. While Wenham grieves to see her sons leave town in order to find larger opportunities, she rejoices when the young men bring credit to the Wenham name.

The following committees have been appointed in the Y.M.C.A. for the year 1913: Membership, George Taylor, Carl Carey, John Cannon; social, William Glavin, Edmund Batchelder, Robert Jones, Louis Tarr; religious work, (to be appointed); rooms, Austin Flynn, Elwyn Cannon, John Barnes; athletic, John Perkins, Roger Knowlton, George Landers. The Y.M.C.A. plans to present a drama later in the winter, with Mr. William H. Flynn as manager.

Newly elected officers of St. Margaret's Court of Foresters will be installed at their meeting next Wednesday evening in Marshall's hall. Dept. Chief Ranger Heaphy of Beverly and staff will perform the work. After the installation a social hour will be enjoyed.

Past Commander Eben Day will install the officers for the coming year of Preston Post, 188, G.A.R., at their meeting next Wednesday evening. A smoke talk will follow the official work.

Miss Helen Scanlon of Burlington, Vt., has been visiting friends here during the past week.

A merry party of twenty-one relatives gathered around the festive board and Christmas tree of Mr. and Mrs. James E. McDonnell on the holiday.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SALEM.

JOHN DREW COMING SOON.

John Drew will be seen at the Empire Theatre, Salem, directly after his coming Boston engagement, in his latest success, "The Perplexed Husband," by Alfred Sutro. This four-act comedy which touches in a satirical way on the suffrage question and the "new woman," who becomes quite old-fashioned when confronted by the "new man," was the hit of the London season and scored heavily when Mr. Drew appeared in it at the Empire Theatre, New York. The problem that furnishes the comedy situations turns on the difficulties that confront a husband who comes home after a long trip to find that his wife has been filing her mind with modern theories—and determines to act upon them. As the sad and bewildered husband, Mr. Drew has one of the most delightful roles of his career. The supporting cast of distinguished players includes Mary Boland, Hubert Druce, Alice John, Nina Sevening and Margaret Watson.

The latest blue-law handed down to employees of City hall by Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston is an iron-clad rule against smoking during office hours. Street Commissioner Rouke made a similar rule a year ago, and Fitzzy has decided that cigarettes and cigars are not necessary to the successful carrying on of business on School street.

Nobody seems to pardon Governor Foss for his pardons.
